Carrs Testify Before U.S. Grand Jury

Deny Any Knowledge Of Secret Documents Taken From Files

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carr testified briefly today before a grand jury investigating Communist activity in the United States. Then they were taken back to Ellis Island.

The jury hearing was in camera and the Carrs' testimony was not available in detail. Newspaper men were not permitted to ask them questions when they came out.

Carr, former organizer for the Canadian Labor-Progressive party and a key figure in the postwar Canadian spy case was in the jury room about five minutes.

Miss Carol King, counsel for stocky, neatly-dressed Carr and his wife, was not permitted to accompany him inside.

She told reporters afterwards, however, that she understood Carr testified that he knows nothing about any secret documents taken from United States government files.

At no time has there been any suggestion that Mrs. Carr was involved in the Canadian spy case, Miss King said that at today's hearing Mrs. Carr answered all questions put to her. The lawyer said Mrs. Carr told the grand jury she was not acquainted with Alger Hiss or Whittaker Chambers, two of the principal figures in the current United States investigation of Communist activity.

In Washington today, a source who declined to be quoted by name said there might be a statement soon concerning the Carrs. Attorney-General Tom Clark and three member of the committee met behind closed doors today and it was expencted an announcement might result.

The House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee, has been seeking to question Carr before he is returned to Canada. The committee and the Grand Jury both have been seeking to establish what relation, if any, the Canadian spy ring had to similar groups operating in the United States.

Another witness scheduled to appear before the Grand Jury today is Alexander Stevens, also known as J. V. Peters. He has been denounced by the Un-American Activities Committee as chief of the Communist underground in the United States.

Mother Sees 3 Children Die In Flames

BRISTOL MINES, Que., Feb. 1 (CP)—While she struggled with neighbors who held her back, a grief-tricken mother Monday was witness to a fire in which her three young children perished.

Mrs. C. J. (Joe) Cleary was only gone from the house a few minutes when the blaze of undetermined origin gutted the one-storey frame dwelling in this village 50 miles northwest of Ottawa.

Dead are four-year-old Lorraine, two-year-old Dwayne and eight-month-old Andrew. Their father was at work at the nearby Stewartville Hydro project on the opposite side of the Ottawa River and was unaware of the tragedy until hours later.

Spotted Smoke

Mrs. Cleary was mailing a letter at the village post-office and was showing pictures of the children to friends when she happened to glance towards her home and saw smoke coming from it.

Seconds later the house was in flames. While neighbors held Mrs. Cleary, two others—Mervin Henderson and James Bohan—risked their lives by crawling into the burning home. In a carriage they found the baby, Andrew. He was dead.

Henderson and Ohan entered the blazing structure again. Dwayne also was dead when they brought him out.

The men tried to get into the dwelling once more, to search for four-year-old Lorraine. They were forced out by the flames. Four hours later, probing in the ruins, Henderson found the body of Lorraine.

2 More Children Die

RIVER HEBERT, N.S., Feb. 1 —(CP)—Two young children died Monday as fire destroyed their home at this village near the Nova Scotia-New Brunswick border. Victims of the fire were Wayne, seven, and Rodney W. MacAloney, three, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Romley MacAloney, who carried their one remaining child, five, from the flaming building.

Provinces Refuse To Take Rent Control—St. Laurent

OTTAWA, Feb. 1—(CP).—A second motion of non-confidence in the Government went on the parliamentary record today as the Throne Speech debate gathered steam. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, urged the Commons Monday night to vote lack of confidence in the administration on the grounds it had "failed" in these three points: Provision for an overall national health insurance program; provision for the orderly marketing of agricultural products and for the exchange of goods needed in Canada; and elimination of speculation in foodstuffs.

Actually it was a sub-amendment to a non-confidence amendment moved Friday by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader.

Both are traditional Opposition thrusts which will not come up for decision for several weeks.

Mr. Coldwell moved his motion after Prime Minister St. Laurent, concluding a 3½-hour speech started last Friday, deefnded his new administration and charged that Mr. Drew, who had based his maiden speech on Dominion-Provincial relations, had changed his stand on that question from time to time.

He wondered what Mr. Drew's stand on Dominion-Provincial relations would be "if the country was ever so imprudent as to put him in charge of its afafirs."

Has Lost Faith

Solon Low, Social Credit Leader, said the fact the government was negotiating an Atlantic security alliance indicated it had "lost faith" in the United Nations as an instrument for world peace.

Other speakers included Arthur Ross (PC-Souris), Claire Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South), and L. J. Raymond (L.-Wright).

In the opening stages, Mr. St. Laurent and other party leaders paid tribute to Norman Jaques (SC-Wetaskiwin), who died from a heart attack in the early morning.

DR. W. M. MacKAY DIES

WALTHAM, Mass., Feb. 7 —(CP)—Dr. William Mackintosh MacKay, 59, senior physician of the Middlesex County sanitarium for 17 years, died Monday. He was born in Cornwall, and was graduated in 1913 from Queen's University, with the Degree of Doctor of Medicine.

McGillis To Get His $5,479 Back

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 —(CP)— A Toronto "broker" was ordered by the Supreme Court of Canada today to repay $5,479 which he won in horse-race bets in 1945 from a Peterborough hoteiman.

Donald A. McGillis, the hotelkeeper, had brought suit for the betting losses against Ray Sullivan, described as a broker. According to the evidence, McGillis bet heavily on horse races through Sullivan. In one week in May, 1945, he dropped $5,479 and gave Sullivan his cheque for that amount.

Next week McGillis won $4,131, but the evidence was that Sullivan refused to pay off.

Lighthouse Keeper Reported Missing

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.— (CP).—Arnil Wilmot Jollimore, 41, a relief lighthouse keeper at Pearl Island lighthouse off the coast of Nova Scotia, has been reported missing, the Transport Department announced today.

Jollimore left his station in a dory last Friday, headed for the Tancook Islands, about 30 miles west of Halifax. The dory was discovered Saturday off the Tancook Islands, but no trace has been found of the lighthouse keeper.

The Department reported the RCMP are investigating, but that weather conditions in the area are "extremely hazardous."

No details were available here as to the condition of the dory when discovered. Officials said there is no assumption that Jollimore is dead.

Discover Wreckage Of Missing Superfort

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Feb. 1—(AP)—A Spanish naval commander announced today the discovery of wreckage believed to be part of an American B-29 Superfortress missing since Thursday. He said no survivors had yet been found.

The commander said he received a radio message from a Belgian ship reporting that the wreckage was located just before midnight Monday night at a point half way between the Canaries and Gibraltar.

The Belgian message said a number of life preservers and some wreckage were picked up but no signs of either survivors or victims had been sighted.

The Superfort had been on a training flight from Dakar, French West Africa, to the United States training base at Marham, England. It carried 16 men.

Toronto Man Walks Into Station

Police Conducted House-To-House Search Through Area

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—(CP).—A man identified by police as Virgil Barkman, 49, of Toronto, today gave himself up as the motorist wanted for an accident Sunday which resulted in the death of William Miller, 21, and the severe injury of Miller's fiancee.

Police said the man walked into an east end police station and said he was the wanted driver.

Further details were not available immediately. The man identified as the motorist gave himself up after rewards totalling $1,000 were put up today by the Ontario government and the city of Toronto for information leading to identification of the driver who severely injured Miller's fiancee in the accident.

Sergeant William Hill of the Toronto police said Barkman came in and asked if he could see him in a private room. Barkman was accompanied to the station with his wife.

"I took him inside," said the sergeant. "He told me he was the driver involved. He said that he wanted to get it off his mind, that it was nearly driving him crazy."

The car involved, a grey sedan, was reported to have been borrowed. Police of 13 nearby municipalities had hunted for its driver.

Police said a charge of manslaughter will likely be laid against Barkman today. The man was quoted as saying he didn't see the couple of the road.

Barkman gave himself up after rewards totalling $1,000 were put up today by the Ontario government for information leading to the identification of the responsible motorist.

Police earlier were reported conducting a house-to-house search in the area east of the city and checking all garages.

Statements by three eyewitnesses and the records of a manufacturer indicate that the killer drove a 1933-model gray sedan (Chevrolet), police said. A door handle and an interior fitting belonging to that model were found in a snowbank at the scene of the accident and turned over to medico-legal analysts.

Provincial police are aided in their investigation by police of Toronto and of 11 suburban municipalities.

Slowly gaining strength in hospital, Helen Billson still is unaware of her fiance's death. Doctors are waiting until she passes the crisis stage before telling her. No decision has been made as to whether it will be necessary to amputate her shattered left leg.

Li Warns Reds Ease Demands

NNKINGA, Feb. 1—(AP)—Li Tsung-jen's government, showing new life, sharply warned the Communists today to lay off irrelevant demands if they want peace.

A statement attributed to the acting president's office told the Reds the government was still able to fight, but that continuation of hostilities was undesirable "because the people can no longer bear civil war."

The message, presumably sent by radio, said:

"If you keep raising irrelevant issues, one today and another tomorrow, we will find it impossible to meet your demands. We believe since both sides agreed to (Communist leader) Mao Tze-tung's eight points as the basis of discussion it is proper that other condition should be subjects for discussion around the peace table.

What angered Li's government was three recent demands of the Reds—the re-arrest of Lt. Gen Yasutsugu Okamura, former Japanese commander in China acquitted by a Chinese military court last week; detention of an Red-described Chinese "war criminals"; and complete recognition of the local Peiping peace pact.

Say Buses Sabotaged

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP).—After a one-week investigation, Provincial Police believe sabotage was responsible for breakdowns in equipment and recent fires on buses owned by Eastview Bus Lines in Ottawa, it was learned here today. Inspector Leonard Neil of the Provincial police staff here is in Ottawa working with investigators of the Ontario Fire Marshal's department. Mysterious breakdowns on the bus line are said to have been caused by deliberate tampering with engines. Fires which destroyed one large bus and damaged four others, are also said to have been deliberately set.

Hopeful Norway Soon To Join Atlantic Pact

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(AP).—The State Department said today that the United States hopes Norway and other countries soon will be brought into discussions on the proposed North Atlantic security pact.

At the same time, the Department stood firmly on President Truman's announced position that American military assistance will be given only to those countries which co-ordinate their security arrangements with the security plans of the United States.

It was indicated that this position had been brought officially to the attention of Norway, Denmark and Sweden before the breakdown of their Scandinavian defence talks last week-end.

Attitude Determined

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 1—(AP).—The attitude of Scandinavia toward the North Atlantic security pact may be determined definitely in the next week or 10 days.

Although Sweden, Norway and Denmark were not able to agree on a joint program during months of conferences, they now are free to act individually.

Norway, which has favored joining the Western Powers despite Russian pressure, may be the first to make a decision. Sweden is expected to stick to her policy of neutrality. Denmark, which wavered between the two, may make up her mind soon.

A showdown on Denmark's attitude toward possible military co-operation with the Western Powers is expected next week when the Danish parliament convenes for a debate on foreign policy.

In preparation for the debate, there will be a closed meeting on Wednesday of the parliamentary foreign policy committee of which all political parties but the Communists are members.

Jailed 3 Months

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Feb. 1—(AP) — Max Reimann, West Germany's Communist leader, today was sentenced to three months in jail for encouraging discrimination against Germans who aided allied military government.

Reimann was convicted by a British military government court in a trial harried by Communist demonstrations.

U.S. Has Recognized Israel And Trans-Jordan, Hope To Settle Dispute

Jewish State Intends To Seek Friendship Of Both US And Russia; Also Ask Alliance With Arab States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(AP).—United States officials held out hope today that a settlement of the Arab-Jewish dispute may be a step nearer now with full American recognition of both Israel and Trans-Jordan. They looked for the dual recognition also to increase Israel's chances for early election to membership in the United Nations and encourage other governments to recognize Trans-Jordan.

(The Soviet Union vetoed Trans-Jordan's admission to the UN last year.)

President Truman late Monday granted full "de jure" recognition to both countries.

On the eve of last week's Israeli election the United States approved a $100,C00,000 loan for economic development of Israel. Truman had given partial "de facto" recognition almost at the moment the Israeli state came into being last May 14.

There was thus no question of strong American friendship for Israel.

De jure recognition means a government is recognized as the lawful one for that country; de facto recognition is recognition that a government is in fact a functioning government.

Officials said recognition of Trans-Jordan would have been forthcoming earlier except for concern that this might be taken as support for the Arabs against the Jews.

Supporting the official contention that no deal with Britain was involved, the White House made a separate announcement that the United States will soon exchange ministers with Trans-Jordan.

Seek Friendship

TEL AVIV, Feb. 1 (AP)—Israel intends to seek friendship with both the United States and Russia, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion said Monday night.

He outlined the policy of the government in a broadcast, his first since Israel's elections which gave his Mapai party the largest vote of any single party.

Ben-Gurion said Israel also intends to seek an alliance with Arab states and support the United Nations. The government must have a policy of full equality for all citizens, regardless of race, religion, and sex, he said, and engage in economic planning.

200 Flee Homes As River Rises Four Feet

MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—(CP).—More than 200 residents of suburban Longueuil, awakened and driven from their homes earlier by rising flood waters and ice floes, today appraised damages caused to their homes on the banks of the St. Lawrence river just opposite Montreal.

The water swept 350 yards inland and rose as high as four feet at some points. More than three-quarters of a mile of shoreline was affected.

Volunteer workers, wearing hip length rubber boots, poled their flat bottom craft from house to house where they took off men, women and children and escorted them to safety.

There was no loss of life reported, and as far as could be ascertained, no injuries, suffered.

The heavy ice floes, pushed by rising flood waters, cascaded into the streets. One Longeueil resident, rushed from his home in his underwear and stepped into four feet of icy water. Others climbed to roofs until rowboats rescued them.

At least 45 people were reported to be sheltered in Longeueil police headquarters today.

Report 6 Missing In Hotel Fire

RIPON, Wis., Feb. 1 (AP) — Six persons were missing and presumed dead in a fire which early today destroyed the Grand View Hotel here.

There were approximately 48 guests in the hotel when the fire broke out. Its origin was undetermined. Firemen from Ripon and three nearby cities still were pouring water into the ruins at noon today.

Police said it would be at least afternoon before searchers would be able to get into the embers.

The fire — of undetermined origin—ate steadily from the top of the structure built in 1870 down to the basement until it had levelled the hotel. The flames were prevented from spreading to adjoining structures.

Rev. John W. Foote To Launch Debate

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP).—Rev. John W. Foote, wartime chaplain who won the Victoria Cross at Dieppe in 1942, will launch the Throne Speech debate at the coming session of the Ontario Legislature which opens Feb. 10.

Maj. Foote, Progressive Conservative member for Durham, is scheduled to move adoption of the Reply to the Speech, which usually outlines the Government's program of legislation for the session. Allister Johnson, Progressive Conservative winner in the recent Parry Sound by-election, will second the motion.

Present Budget March Or April

OTTAWA, Feb. 1—(CP).—Early presentation of the budget was indicated in the Commons on Monday by Prime Minister St. Laurent and some observers took his words to mean it may come down in March or early April, possibly with a view to an early general election.

Mr. St. Laurent noted in the Throne Speech debate that some had taken the Speech to indicate that there would be some reduction in taxation. He added:

"I can assure them that the budget is not going to be delayed.

"Just as soon as we can get through with the matters which have to be dealt with by a given date at this session the budget will be ready for submission."

Hungary Becomes People's Republic

BUDAPEST, Feb. 1 (AP) The Republic of Hungary, on its third anniversary, today became a "People's Republic."

The National Front of Independence, the name of the coalition of Communist-dominated parites participating in the government, was re-named the people's Front of Independence.

Mathias Rakosi, No. 1 Communist of the country and its deputy Premier, will be chairman of the Supreme Council of the People's Front.

The move lined up Hungary in the actual form of the other "People's Democracies" in the Moscow orbit, although it has long had the outward trappings.

Stubby Little Minesweeper Turns Tables On Flotilla

By ARNOLD AGNEW

ABOARD H.M.C.S. NEW LISKEARD, Feb. 1—(CP)—A stubby, ice-coated little ship commanded by a young naval veteran turned the tables on a flotilla of pursuers Monday and gave them a lesson in strategy.

In a naval exercise off Nova Scotia's coast, the minesweeper New Liskeard played the role of a damaged Canadian cruiser trying to get into Halifax. The attacking force was composed of the destroyers Haida and Nootka and the frigate Swansea.

Damaged in an earlier encounter with the "enemy," the cruiser's radar was destroyed and some other guns put out of commission. Her speed was reduced to 16 knots.

The cruiser had to stay in a 40-by-60-mile area 25 miles off Cape Sable island at the southwestern tip of Nova Scotia. Original plans called for the cruiser to attempt to make her way to Halifax undetected, but the exercise was ended after a four-hour search.

Battling a 45 mile-an-hour gale through icy seas, New Liskeard, commanded by Lieut. Ian B. B. Morrow of Naramata, B.C., and Halifax, led the enemy flotilla a merry chase until 2 a.m. then he fired two rockets into the centre of the battle area to let it know he was still around.

"Now I'm going to chase them," he said.

Expect Railway To Appeal Saskatchewan Taxation

REGINA, Feb. 1—(CP) — An appeal by the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Supreme Court of Canada is expected to follow the decision by the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal allowing municipalities the right to collect taxes on $9,000,000 worth of railway property.

The property in question takes in roadway, lands, buildings and business of the CPR along 416 miles of main line and 1,603 miles of charter branch lines in Saskatchewan.

It was unofficially reported that an appeal would be made, with definite word from railway officials expected after the court's decision has been studied.

Monday's decision by the appeal court followed a lengthy dispute between the CPR and Saskatchewan government concerning the latter's right to tax the railway property in question.

The railway based its claim for exemption chiefly on a clause of the company's contract, which specified that for linking British Columbia with Eastern Canada the CPR's property would be "ever free" from dominion, provincial and municipal taxation.

In 1947 Saskatchewan's CCF government amended provincial statutes to permit municipalities to collect taxes, with the company contending such legislation was illegal. The question was brought before the provincial appeal court by the attorney-general's department.

In addition to ruling that urban and rural municipalities can levy property and business taxes on the CPR's branch lines and business taxes on the main line, the appeal court said that five amended provincial statutes legally empowered municipalities to levy the taxes.

Mysterious SOS Is Investigated

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 1 (AP) — A United States navy plane was scheduled today to examine a mysterious SOS traced in the sand of a tiny Bahamas Island in an area where two passenger planes and 52 persons have been missing for weeks.

The SOS was spotted on the eastern part of Plana Cay Monday by an Eastern Airlines Captain, Fred B. Cann, on a flight from Puerto Rico to Miami. Plana Cay is about 180 miles north northeast of the eastern tip of Cuba.

The United States Coast Guard said a plane from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, would check the island today. A spokesman emphasized Capt. Cann said he "raked" the Cay at low altitude but saw no signs of life, or any wreckage. He said the SOS appeared to have been traced on the beach some time ago.

The approximate cost of the increases over 10 years will be $995,000.

Vigorous Denial Given To Drunk Charge

Pleading not guilty to the routing charge of being drunk in public, Howard Fairfield of RR 2, Cameron, was found guilty in police court today, despite vigorous—if vague—denials of the charge.

PC Dennis Traynor testified that he had arrested the accused leaning against a fence near the centre of the city. He was in a "very drunken condition," said the office.

"I wasn't drunk, I wasn't drunk," the accused protested from the box, interrupting the evidence. When it came time for him to question the officer, he assured PC Traynor, "I only had a few drinks..."

Told that he was free to give evidence, or call witnesses on his behalf, Fairfield said: "No thanks."

Ten dollars and $2.50 costs or 10 days.

Fined $100 And Costs

Steve Malmack, 75 Park St., pleaded guilty today in police court to having liquor in a place other than a residence. At the request of the crown, he was fined $100 and $2.50 costs. A court order was issued for confiscation of the liquor seized. A second charge, of keeping liquor for sale, was withdrawn.

Colder air has moved into Northwestern Ontario from the Prairies and will cover the province soon after midnight tonight. The full force of the cold air will not be felt in Southwestern Ontario because of the modifying effect of the Great Lakes. Snowflurries are expected in most sections of the province today and in southern and eastern sections on Wednesday, but amounts will be small except locally along the southern shores of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay.

Livestock Breeders Discuss Ways of Improving Quality

TORONTO, Feb. 1—(CP).—The emphasis is on scientific breeding and feeding as Ontario's Livestock Breeders' Associations hold their annual meetings here. The Ontario Hereford breeders were told Monday that exports of the breed from Canada had increased four times in some instances and were advised to keep up breed standards if the current demand for Herefords is to be maintained.

D. H. Andrews of Calgary, president of the Canadian Hereford Association, said the number of transfers of the breed among Canadian breeders indicated a healthy industry.

The provincial group voted to retain a ruling which bans registration of the first heifer calf from a female under 26 months of age imported from the United States.

The meeting Monday of Ontario Swine Breeders heard criticism of breeding methods by William McMullen, field representative of the Ontario Agriculture Department.

Pigs Too Fat

He said Ontario's pigs were too short and fat to capture the best markets, and advised breeders to concentrate on longer hogs with less fat about the loins.

R. H. Graham, secretary of the Swine Breeders, urged farmers to increase the number of swine tested for record of production, as such records were the only yardstick to measure developments in the breed.

Oleomargarine entered the discussions of the Ontario Jersey Club. They passed a motion asking the provincial governments to ban butter substitutes that are colored to resemble butter, and said that the practice was likely to "deceive the public."

Two members of the Ontario Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association were given gold watches for having won championships at the Royal Winter Fair in the last two years. They are Lloyd Mack of Rockwood, and Kenneth McKinnon of Hillsburgh.

Hereford Breeders elected B. B. Warnica of Barrie as president and Howard Stutt of Forest as vice-president. A. C. McTaggart of Aurora is president of the Aberdeen Angus Association with Thomas Henderson of Guelph as vice-president. Joseph Featherstone of Streetsville is president, and Clifford Carscadden of Stroud vice-president of the Swine Breeders.

Golds Spurt Ahead On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP)— Golds spurted ahead for the second successive day as junior and senior producers showed strong gains. Industrials continued in their easier tone and base metals also slipped. A few western oils brightened.

Volume for the first three hours was 556,000 shares.

The gold list opened quietly with only a few juniors moving. Action increased towards midsession and soon a wide list of senior and junior producers were well ahead in active dealings. Lake Shore, Kerr Addison, Dome added fractions in seniors while gains ranged up to 10 cents in juniors.

Industrials moved downhill for the eighth day in a row with most losses held to fractions.

Smelters lost 1½ at 111½ in base metals and Hudson Bay dipped ¼. Waite Amulet was the feature, rising to 13½.

Witness Identifies Man Near Parker

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—(CP).—A Crown witness at Toronto's racetrack murder trial told of seeing the accused men bending over the victim the night of the slaying.

Kenneth Parrington, former jockey, said Monday he heard a noise that sounded "like a stick hitting a fence" and saw Vincent St. Lawrence, 24, bending over the fallen form of George (Cowboy) Parker on a parking lot near Woodbine race track.

St. Lawrence, racing stable groom, pleaded innocent Monday to the murder charge. He stands accused of bludgeoning Parker with a "twitch," a thonged wooden object similar to a baseball bat, used to lead unruly horses.

Parrington said he recognized St. Lawrence and saw him run across the street. Later he saw St. Lawrence in a hotel near the track, he said.

Scott Reports Steps Taken To Save Moose

TORONTO, Feb. 1—(CP)—The threatened disappearance of the moose, king of the forest, is worrying both sportsmen and the Ontario government.

The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, meeting here, were told Monday by Lands Minister Harold Scott that the government "is just as concerned as you are about the disappearance of the moose."

"We hope to assure that this animal does not disappear from our forests," he said. New Brunswick, once a moose-hunter's paradise, now is almost barren and the government is trying to guard against such developments in Ontario.

He said, however, that the department was opposed to an increase in the bounty paid for wolves. The increase had been asked by sportsmen who claimed that wolf packs are killing many of Ontario's moose.

Bear Black Market

The Ontario wolf bounty is now $25, $10 more than in Quebec, Mr. Scott said, and any increase in the Ontario bounty would likely develop a black market in wolves across the Quebec border.

He said the growing number of beaver was welcomed because the number of dams is increasing. "More dams mean slower seepage, which mean more fish for the fishermen."

Two Federation scholarships, valued at $250 each, were awarded to two biology students: D. G. Campbell of Harrow, student at the University of Western Ontario; and F. G. Cooch of Ottawa, a Queen's University student.

Ken Clarke of Sudbury was named as the individual contributing most to conservation in Ontario in 1948. He was awarded a trophy presented by a Brewing Company (Carlings). Honorable mention went to Austin Peters of Kingston, W. P. Shields of Schumacher, and Pete McGillen of Peterborough.

The Danforth Rod and Gun Club won the Mary Pickford trophy. Special mention was made of the Good Times Fishing Club of Hamilton and Hagersville Fish and Game Club.

He was allowed to return to his home after receiving treatment.

Labor Code Bill Action Delayed

QUEBEC, Feb. 1 (CP)—Final action by the Quebec Legislature on the contentious provincial labor code draft may be put off until next year, it was learned Monday.

Labor Minister Antonio Barrette said in a statement it is "within the realm of possibility" that the government may hold up Bill No. 5, containing the 324-clause draft, until the 1950 legislature session.

Labor circles said the bill would not necessarily be withdrawn by the government whose spokesmen have insisted right along that the code draft is simply a proposal subject to amendment.

The bill, introduced to the legislative assembly when the session opened Jan. 19 might remain on the order paper until after the second reading stage and then be left over for action next year.

Such procedure would permit a legislative assembly discussion on the principle of the bill—whether the province needs a labor code—but postpone detailed committee debate on its disputed clauses until 1950.

No Appeal Acquittal In Wounding Case

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—The Attorney General's Department will not appeal the acquittal of Melville Murphy, Sarnia, on a charge of wounding, it was announced today.

Murphy, chief engineer on the Canada Steamship Liner Lethbridge when the vessel was boarded last July by Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) pickets, was charged with wounding five pickets. The C.S.U. men boarded the liner at Point Edward dock at the height of the Lake Seamen's strike.

At the December trial, Judge E. A. Shaughnessy disagreed with the jury's verdict of acquittal.

"The jury have taken a very lenient view in your case," Judge Shaughnessy said.

The acquittal also brought protests from union officials who made representations to the attorney general. The department decided no appeal would be made because there was no point of law involved.

"I do not believe in an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," Mrs. Billson said. "He can't undo what has been done."

The mother said her daughter's leg is completed shattered. Doctors told her, Mrs. Billson said, bone and skin grafting will be necessary if the leg is to be saved.

Court Has Dismissed Charge Of Selling Beer To A Minor

A charge knowingly selling beer to a minor—the first such prosecution in the city—was dismissed in police court Monday. Evidence in the case against Gordon Scott, cashier of the McGillis Hotel, was heard January 17, and Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, delivered his judgment Monday. It was alleged by the crown that Scott had sold beer to 20-year-old Alvin Murduff in November, 1948. Pleading not guilty, he was represented by W. B. Gordon.

To establish guilt, said the magistrate, the crown must prove one of the two points: that the sale had been made by the accused for the action of the waiter who actually conducted the sale." Neither of these had been proved, he said.

(The evidence had established that Scott, as cashier of the beverage room, had not sold the beer directly to the youth. It was further given by the accused that when he had noted the youth's presence—and having been advised by Murduff's father that Alvin was under 21—he went to the table and told Murduff to leave. Later, he had advised D. McGillis, hotel proprietor, who had phoned police to remove Murduff.)

Not Shown By Evidence

Magistrate Philp said that such liability of Scott "could only arise where the relationship of master and servant is proven between the accused and the waiter—(which would then give rise to the assumption of law)...the guilty intention of the servant being attributed to the accused... and the servant acting within the scope of his employment". This had not been shown by the evidence, said the magistrate.

He said that the function of the accused in the beverage room was important to the decision in the case. Evidence of Murduff's father was that Scott had said he was "manager of the beverage room"; the police constable said that Scott worked in the hotel office and collected the beverage room money; the accused's own evidence was that he was "cashier and looked after the beverage room stocks."

"It is impossible to draw any definite conclusions as to the limits of his authority...there has not been sufficient evidence produced to adequately prove a master-and-servant relationship between the waiter and the accused..."

Bounties Now Paid By Township Clerks

COBOURG, Feb. 1.—(ENS). — Counties Clerk William Barr expects the fox pelt situation to ease up considerably as far as his office is concerned, now that the bounties can be paid by township clerks. Until the January session of Counties Council, pelts had to be taken to the counties clerk in Cobourg before the bounties were paid.

Hunters in the far reaches of the counties usually waited until they had enough pelts to make the journey worth while. Mr. Barr at times was very busy with pelts. By the time some of them were brought in the smell was far removed from a delicate perfume.

More than 200 bounties have been paid by him since November, when the $2 bounty was introduced. This has now been increased to $3.

CCF Demands Housing Parley

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 —(CP)—The C.C.F. Monday called for an all-governments conference on housing and at the same time spokesman for the two big parties took swipes at the C.C.F.'s chances in the next election.

Liberal and Progressive Conservative officials, commenting on the C.C.F.'s week-end decision to throw more than 200 candidates into the coming general election, said the third party would not be able to capture power.

Meanwhile, that party issued its call for a Dominion-Provincial municipal conference after a joint week-end meeting of its national council and its Commons members.

A C.C.F. statement said the Dominion government had reaffirmed its stand that it would not go in for home construction except of an emergency nature but that consideration would be given if the provinces requested action. The provinces could do nothing because of lack of finances.

"The great majority of Canadians, in the middle and lower income brackets, are unable to build their own homes," the statement said. "The Federal government refuses to build such homes; the provincial governments are financially unable to build them, and the municipal authorities vainly request action."

Price of whip butter charged to the consumer was 50 cents for one pound.

The company will start making cheese and whip butter in the middle of May.

Second Motion

Justice Minister Garson announced the establishment of a three-man commission to revise the Criminal Code, with Chief Justice W. M. Martin of Saskatchewan as chairman.

Trade Minister Howe said the government is considering whether to establish a floor price for flax for the 1949-1950 crop year, and warned farmers that flax is in surplus, with markets for the future clouded with uncertainty.

Mr. St. Laurent highlighted his Marathon address with two newsworthy disclosures.

Won't Delay Budget

He said the presentation of the budget will not be "delayed" at this session, leading many to surmise that it will be brought down in early April, possibly with a view to an early election in the federal field.

He also disclosed that the government is considering the possibility of establishing immediately some television stations which would not nterfere with a long-range television program.

Mr. St. Laurent labelled as "absolutely false" a statement made in the Ontario legislature by Mr. Drew to the effect that the federal government claimed to have power to change provincial rights on language, property and civil rights.

"I challenge any man in this house," said the prime minister, "to bring forth any iota of fact that can be invoked to support a statement of that kind."

Have Opportunity

He denied that the federal government had sought to centralize power in Canada and pointed as proof to the unwillingness of the provinces to assume jurisdiction over rental controls. Most of them said the controls should be handled from Ottawa.

Speaking of the government's offer of last September to hand over rent controls to the provinces, he read a long series of letters between Finance Minister Abbott and the governments of the various provinces.

These showed the provincial lineup as follows:

British Columbia, Alberta, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Ontario—no disposition to enter the rentals control field at present.

Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba—no final answer.

Need Information

Quebec—Wants more information; concerned over possible effects of court cases in which the constitutionality of federal rent control is being challenged.

Mr. St. Laurent noted particularly that Prime Minister T. L. Kennedy of Ontario, a Progressive Conservative, had said flatly that rent control should be carried on by the dominion government.

"There is no doubt," he added, "about the Ontario government's attitude concerning the terrible 'invasion' we have been practising on provincial jurisdiction."

Th fact that nothing had been done by the provinces on oleomargarine, he said, was another indication of the "apparent reluctance of provincial administrations to tackle embarrassing problems."

"It is all right to make broad statements about centralization of power," the prime minister continued. "But I invite anyone to point to one single case of 'invasion' since the cessation of hostilities."

Must Be Monopoly

Discussing television, Mr. St. Laurent said it must necessarily develop into a monopolistic enterprise since only a limited number of frequencies were available to Canada. If they were turned over to private interests, these interests would have a vested interest in the frequencies.

The frequencies should not be granted to private enterprise unless the conclusion was reached that the only way television could be provided was through private enterprise.

Criticizing the government's health program, Mr. Coldwell said the $30,000,000 voted last year for health expenditures could not be considered a national health plan because part of it was earmarked for a health survey.

Supports Pact

He expressed support for Canadian participation in the projected security pact and called for a statement outlining the Progressive Conservative party's stand. There appeared to be some doubt about the opposition's policies.

He urged the government to adopt intelligent marketing plans for all of Canada's products—particularly wheat and other cereals—and suggested the inauguration of a system which would overcome exchange difficulties through the barter of goods.

The chamber also should consider the provision of adequate housing and a return to controls and subsidies to maintain a reasonable price level. A subsidized low-rental home building program was urgently needed.

Charging that there was a "public and flagrant" attempt to "destroy" the CBC, he said the publicly-owned radio system is "receding" slowly from the original intention that it protect the airways for the public. Private stations had grown to a point where they now had transmitters of up to 50,000 watts.

Mr. Low urged the government to tell the Canadian people what the Atlantic Pact would cost and what commitments it would involve for this country.

Opposed U.N.

He said the Social Credit Party had opposed the United Nations because the party saw behind it "a number of the wretches who made the old League of Nations unworkable." There had been little chance of the U.N. ever succeeding.

On the domestic side of the picture, he said the Social Credit Party would establish a national currency and credit commission which annually would give parliament a balance sheet showing the relationship between production and the purchasing power of tre people.

When surpluses of goods accumulated, a national dividend would be paid to everyone and a retail price discount given to the people to enable them to buy from retailers. In this way, a depression would be avoided.

L. J. Raymond (L — Wright) said he did not think Canada should remain neutral in the event of a war between the United States and Russia. Some thought neutrality would serve to safeguard Canadian interests but this was not so. European countries which had counted Russia had lost their religious and economic freedom.

COBOURG, Feb. 1 (ENS) — Duncan Dunbar, aged 56, of Cramahe Township was charged Monday with an indecent offense against a five-year-old girl of that township and after evidence was heard in camera, the case was adjourned until Friday for disposal. Dunbar was arrested after an investigation by Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg. At the time of the alleged offense, Dunbar was employed as a hired hand on the farm on which the girl lived, and the mother was in the village shopping on the occasion in question.

Farmer Steals Chickens, Gets 3 Months In Jail

COBOURG, Feb. 1.—(ENS). — Roland Rowe of Camborne was sentenced to three months in jail on a charge of theft of chickens from Russell Fitchett of Vernonville, when he appeared in police court Monday. His arrest came after an investigation by Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg, the date of the offense being Jan. 13. Rowe appeared on a remand for sentence from last week.

Defence Counsel J. C. M. German asked Rowe who would look after his farm if he received a long term, and the accused said that there was nobody as his father was ill. If he were not out by spring there would be nobody to put in the grain and he would have to have his stock sold. Rowe blamed his troubles on drinking.

"He should have thought of these things before he got into trouble. It appears that this man has a good farm and there is no need for him to steal chickens," observed Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

The court was informed that restitution of $75 had been made. It was revealed that the accused had been up for stealing chickens before and was sentenced to six months, but was released after serving three.

"There was nobody to look after my farm and I was allowed out before my time was up," explained Rowe.

"It doesn't appear that you profit much by your mistakes," observed Magistrate Baxter. "However, after consideration, the sentence of this court is three months in jail. I am going to put you on the Indian list, and you'll stay on it for five years as far as I am concerned. If you ever come before me again on such a charge you'll get all I can give you."

Disguised As Police

COOMBO, Ceylon, Feb. 1 (AP) —A gang of armed robbers disguised as policemen held up clerks of the Ceylon Turf Club Monday and made away with nearly 400,000 rupees $120,000). They stopped the clerks at gunpoint between the race course and a bank, pushed them out of their car and took a trunk carring the money.

German Red Leader Gets 3 Months In Jail

KIEL, Germany, Feb. 1 (AP). —A twice-married school teacher of 52 is waging a determined share-the-husband campaign.

The teacher, Mrs. Dorothee Klage, wants the law under the projected West German constitution to permit surplus German women to bear children by temporary husbands.

In broadcasts and interviews, Mr. Klage is pointing out that some 7,000,000 German women now have no hope of getting husbands because the war has caused a shortage of men. She wants permission for such women to marry temporarily for specified lengths of time so they might bear children to "save the culture."

Mrs. Klage, herself childless, said in an interview with a German newspaper her aim is to make the German mother the centre of family life.

Under her plan, the women would keep their maiden names and hand the names down through daughters rather than sons. Eldest daughters, rather than sons, would inherit both property and family name.

Fathers, she says, "are unimportant in marriage."

Miners Condemn Action

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Feb. 1 (CP)—Scottish mine union officials voted unanimously Monday to condemn British Union action in quitting the Communist-controlled World Federation of Trade Unions. Scottish branches of the National Mine Workers have a heavy Communist membership.

To Discuss Controversy

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — The Ontario Law School controversy is to come up for discussion Friday and Saturday at the annual meeting in Niagara Falls of the Ontario Branch of the Canadian Bar Association. The dispute over whether student lawyers should take the greater part of their training in classrooms or in law offices led to the resignation of Dean C. A. Wright of Osgoode Hall, who wanted to place the emphasis on academic work, and of three Osgoode Hall lecturers.

A New Nation In The Sun

After two thousand years of gestation, a Jewish state has been born. Israel is now a nation with its own place among nations. It exists in fact, and in law. It has had democratic elections in which the provisional government was confirmed in power. After the Great War (1914-18) a dozen new nations came into existence, of which nine were in Europe. After this war many states disappeared, not one arose in Europe, and except for India and Pakistan—and the Indonesian Republic—only one has come into being elsewhere. That is Israel.

* * *

During the last two years we have viewed with some alarm the emergence of a Hebrew state, believing its advent untimely, the partition of Palestine dangerous, and fearing lest the Arab people be sacrificed, their rights ignored, and Britain's traditional role as protector vitiated. There are other points of view which our readers should not disregard. For this reason, and because it is from the pen of that able political observer R. H. S. Crossman, we publish in today's Third Column a report on Israel sent from Tel Aviv. Mr. Crossman writes with considerable vigour and even passion in praise of the Jews and their new State. His socialistic, pro-Israel bias is apparent. For instance, we doubt that in the last six victorious months of the war, the Israeli have been "outnumbered and out-equipped". It is true, as the writer says, that Egyptian, Iraqui and Syrian armies still stand on the soil allocated to Israel under the original U.N. partition plan. They are standing on a very small part. It is also true, and Mr. Crossman does not say anything about it, that Israeli troops stand on soil allocated to the Palestinian Arabs by U.N.—a large tract. Mr. Crossman also overlooks the thousands of Arabs who have been displaced and made homeless by the Israeli armies. The Israeli armies have been "invaders" as well as have Syrians and Egyptians.

* * *

It is impossible to withhold admiration for the tremendous achievement of the Jewish leaders and their people. Against great initial odds, with the fire of conviction, and resolute ability, they have brought to a victorious end — though with distressing bloodshed and destruction—the long struggle for a National Home, a Hebrew state. They have created a modern nation. Israel merits its place in the sun.

Soviet Answers And Questions

Prime Minister Stalin's latest peaceful overtures to the Americans are of more interest than importance. They would have been more important had the statements been made officially through diplomatic channels. They were made to an American newsman. They were made in answer to questions so carefully formulated by the American that they commit Stalin to nothing which is not first proposed or accepted by the U.S.A. For instance, there is the third question:

"If the governments of the United States of America, the United Kingdom and France agreed to postpone the establishment of a separate western German state, pending a meeting of the council of foreign ministers, to consider the German problems as a whole, would the government of the U.S.S.R. be prepared to remove the restrictions which the Soviet authorities have imposed on communications between Berlin and the western zones of Germany?"

Stalin answers this elaborately conditioned question by reaffirming the conditions, adding some others and then giving a negative 'yes' in this wise: "The Soviet Government sees no obstacle to lifting transport restriction". Stalin has not said that if the conditions are fulfilled by the western powers, the Soviet Government will lift the Berlin blockade. We are tempted to think that if if's and an's were pots and pans Stalin's answers would be more significant than they are. However, they do show more mildness and willingness to co-operate than we have become accustomed to expect from Moscow.

The Americans and ourselves should not be beguiled by the apparent sweetness of Stalin's disposition. The statements appeared in the news over last week-end, at the same time as a Soviet diplomatic note to Norway was made public. The Soviet Union demands to know whether Norway is contemplating joining the Atlantic union. When Russia is the question-master, the tones are different from Stalin's soft answers. It sternly tells Norway that it "regards the Atlantic union as a group of states which in point of fact is opposed to the United Nations and pursues aims which have nothing in common with the interests of strengthening peace". This formidable note is the official voice of Soviet Russia. Stalin's answers to the American newsman's questionnaire are like tea-table talk.

Mickey Mouse Of Age

Walt Disney's pert creation Mickey Mouse has now attained his majority. For twenty-one years he has been scampering across screens to the shrill excitement of children in play-suits and the laughter of older folk. No animal of modern fiction, no not even Peter Rabbit or Ferdinand the Bull, is so familiarly known to people of all skins and creeds as this creature of an artist's pen and fancy and a camera's lense and a projector's flickering light. To know that he has been with us more than two decades is to realize how quick is the flight of time. Strange it is that a sprat of a mouse who never lived on air or even cheese can make us conscious of our mounting years.

Mickey Mouse at twenty-one is a very old fellow indeed of his kind. Perhaps his joints are now creaking, or he is in semi-retirement to enjoy the fruits of riper year (Roquefort?). Whatever the reason, he has passed out of the limelight and other Disney breeds like Donald Duck and Pluto are on the boards. We hope that like other actors of fame and experience who come out of retirement for annual last flings, Mickey Mouse will continue occasionally to cut his capers for us and Auld Lang Syne.

American Gold, Russian Hush

We were looking at a magazine photograph of a new American weapon, the "NATIV". It is a guided missile which can be projected ten miles into the stratosphere from a specially-constructed launching tower—which was also in the photograph. This sort of publicity contrasts strangely with the Russian hush-hush policy. Perhaps the American method is as alarming to the Russians as the Soviet policy of silence may be to westerners. Nevertheless, it is more frank and honest. We do not think, of course, that the Americans are broadcasting all their secrets—even about atomic energy.

Two sayings have been incorrectly put together in this modern saw: "Silence is golden but gold is the root of all evil". (Actually, the New Testament phrase is: "The love of money is the root of all evil".) The Americans have the gold; they may be in love with money. If that is evil, the Russians have the other evil —the silence. We think it is more nefarious than the American. The worst feature of the Iron Curtain is its soundproofing.

Was It A Victory

Certainly the Opposition won their point when they persuaded the Government that the whole of this week's debating should be on the reply to the Speech from The Throne. But when some of our contemporaries refer to this as a "victory", we wonder if they are quite sure what they mean.

The Government wanted to limit the debate on the Throne Speech in order that the extremely important legislation relating to the inclusion of Newfoundland in Canada should be pushed ahead as soon as possible. The Opposition did not want that, and the Opposition got its way. But will this be good for the Progressive Conservative party in Newfoundland? What will the Newfoundlanders make of this insistence that their business—their vital first business with what will shortly be their Parliament—be forced to wait its turn while a traditionally windbag debate goes on? If it is a victory to alienate possible friends and supporters, this might be called a victory.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Chicago man who has reached the age of 106 says that he did it "by shunning women". If most of us tried that scheme we'd feel 106 within a year.

Spring fashions include a small bustle "that serves as a cushion when the wearer sits" In many cases, of course, Nature has already provided this convenience.

A new luminous bathing suit is said to "make the beach cutie visible miles away". If only those parts of the beach cutie are visible which are covered by her suit we think she may be mistaken for a small conference of fireflies.

Realities In Palestine

By R. H. S. CROSSMAN
In The London New Statesman and Nation

"IS Bevin insane or is he deliberately staging an incident to justify a declaration of war?" This was the first question fired at me over the President's tea-table when the news came that British planes had been shot down inside Israeli territory. We had just returned from a tour of Jerusalem. We had heard the news of a cease-fire on all fronts as we stood looking over the panorama of the Holy City from the roof of a shattered collective settlement, now a strongpoint dominating the Bethlehem road. Ever since I got here I have been pooh-poohing the alarmist rumours about British warplanes, and arguing that all London wants is to achieve a settlement fair to both Jews and Arabs. But this time I was hard put to it to find a reply. After the experience of the Mosquito shot down before Christmas over Tel Aviv, who gave the insane order to reconnoitre Israeli positions, which was bound at the very least to involve the risk of our planes crossing the frontier? Was it, as I still think, the stupidity of some Air Marshal in the Middle East or was it, as many responsible people here believe, part of a British plot to provoke an incident?

Now, even more than three years ago when I was here with the Anglo-American Committee, I am appalled by the gulf which divides even the best informed opinion here and in Whitehall. Passion and resentment overwhelm cool reason and produce fantastic misunderstandings. After only one week here I have no idea what London is thinking. All I know is that by believing the worst of each other we produce the worst out of each other. Starting from the fatal illusion that the Arab armies could easily overwhelm the Jews, our Palestine policy has been based on the foundation of a myth, buttressed by prejudice which now threatens to destroy our whole Middle East position. That position can't be saved by grandiose military gestures which we are quite unable to follow up, but only by sober reassessment of the realities here, and a policy based on that reassessment.

WHAT are those realities? First is the military and political collapse of the Arab League. The Arab Legion, numbering not more than 12,000, is intact, because Abdullah is wise enough not to commit it in any major action. All other Arab armies have melted into thin air. The Egyptian Army has virtually ceased to exist during the recent fighting. Today Israeli troops could march on Beirut, Baghdad and Suez, if Ben Gurion gave the order. If he wished he could occupy the Arab triangle in Central Palestine. The Mountains are now held by the Iraquis. In so far as British power depended on Arab military strength (which in terms of modern war was always mythical) we have inflicted gratuitously on ourselves a sensational defeat by compelling the Jews to fight for their lives—and to win.

The second reality is that the collapse of the Arab war of conquest in Palestine produces a social convulsion of every Arab state. On one hand, reactionary groups now in control are more inclined to appeal to Britain for protection. (Witness the appointment of a pro-British Iraqi Premier.) On the other hand, anti-British feeling reaches a new fever of intensity. British protection was never needed more nor hated more by Arab peoples. Arab leaders complain that Britain first encouraged them into this campaign, in which they were spectacularly defeated, then backed down halfway. Arab bitterness against Britain, as I found after talking the whole morning with notables in occupied Nazareth, is even stronger than the Jewish bitterness. This explains the behaviour of Egypt during the last few days. Forced by blundering British policy into an open choice between accepting British help under the deserted 1926 Treaty or entering into armistice negotiations with the Jews, the Egyptians preferred the Jews. Thus, Bevin's power politics have only resulted in a shattering blow to Britain's waning prestige.

THE third reality is simply the existence of Israel. The removal of the huge Palestine administration has produced not the expected chaos, but more law, order and civil liberty than the population has enjoyed since the Arab revolt in 1936. Most remarkable here, despite the appalling strain of a war in which the front line is nowhere more than thirty miles away, is the absence of tension in everyday life. The people are happy, good-humoured and relaxed. Even in Arab and Druse villages in Western Galilee, occupied only a few weeks ago by Jews, schools are all open, the olives are being picked, crops are sown in perfect peace without the presence of Jewish soldiers. I talked in Haifa with a municipal engineer and No. 2 Port Authority, two of the very few non-Jewish Englishmen who did not leave with the Army. Both had the same story to tell. Miraculous but true. "The only change since May 15th is that everything runs smoothly and we can now get on with our jobs without interference." The Port Engineer added: "With the Mandatory and Palestine police have disappeared the corruption and pilfering which were ruining Haifa's port."

It is impossible to appreciate this fact without seeing it and comparing conditions with three years ago. With the removal of the Police State, into which the Mandate had degenerated, the nation has emerged equipped with civil and military administration; sea, road, and rail transport, and full-scale social services—the whole equipment of a Western European Socialist State. May 15th faced Israeli with three tasks, each of which separately seemed, even to them, too big to tackle. First, to win the war as a nation of 800,000 against six nations with forty million. Second, while winning the war, to create a State out of chaos deliberty created by the evacuating authority. Third, while winning the war and building the State, to bring in and settle 130,000 new immigrants in one year, thus increasing the population by 15 per cent. Israeli has done all three. When you ask how it was done you are simply told "We had our secret weapon—no alternative."

This brings me to my fourth reality. After travelling in this country I find it sheerest nonsense to talk about Jewish aggression or imperialism. These people have been fighting, outnumbered and out-equipped, against six invading armies, for the bare right to exist. Their losses of life, both civil and military, have been appalling, and each month of war increases inflation, forces up the cost of living and brings the new State nearer bankruptcy. It will take years to restore the damage done to their orange and banana groves, their herds, factories and houses. They still feel it is a miracle that they won, and can conceive no desire but peace. But Egyptian, Iraqi, and Syrian Armies still stand on the soil allocated to Israel by Uno. In this tiny country, one feels the presence of the invader everywhere hemming in. Naturally, people assume that the end of the war must mean the withdrawal of the invader.

Militarily, the Jews have already licked the Arabs. Nothing but British armed intervention can remove the Jews from the Negev. From this war, forced on them by deliberate British policy, Israel has emerged as the one constructive force in the Middle East, a twentieth-century Socialist State in the midst of the Middle Ages. This new nation feels no attachment or particular loyalty to any Great Power. Speaking to many political leaders, I have found unanimity in that Israel must avoid entanglements with East or West. Indeed, Israeli neutrality is the fifth reality we have to face. We could have had Palestine as a loyal Dominion. Now we must accept the existence of Israel as a Middle East Switzerland, which may well in the not too distant future attract those Arabs who do not wish their countries to remain strategic pawns on the Great Power chessboard.

This is real, positive good, which has emerged out of the ghastly evils of the last three years. A Jewish state attached too closely to the West would always have been a trouble centre in the Middle East, suspected by the Arabs as an agent of Western Imperialism. Neutral Israel with frontiers guaranteed by Russia and Anglo-Americans, could become the focus for peaceful development. We have failed—thank God—to destroy Israel, although we tried hard enough. What is the use of cocking futile military snooks? Instead we should take our share, as every Jew with whom I have talked wants us to do, in the vast work of reconstruction which lies ahead. At a price Israel can do without our friendship. But our present policy towards Israel can only end in the British withdrawal from the Middle East.

THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING ERNEST

Letters To The Editor

QUARREL IS WITH COMMUNISTS

Sir: The continual stream of U.E. propaganda prompts me to write this letter. I must emphasize that the United Steelworkers of America and the Canadian Congress of Labour have no quarrel with the members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America. Our quarrel is with the leaders of the U.E., many of whom undoubtedly are good organizers, but who use their ability to promote a political philosophy in the Canadian Labour movement which emanates from abroad. That is the reason the leaders of the Canadian Congress of Labour and my Union are opposing the present leadership of the U.E.

Mr. Joseph O'Brien, secretary of Local 527, U.E., in a recent letter to your paper, asserts that the reason he and others oppose men like C. H. Millard, National Director of the United Steelworkers of America, is because he and his friends wish to tie the U.E. to the C.C.F. party. This is not so. We in the United Steelworkers of America believe that a man is entitled to belong to any political party. We have members who belong to all Canadian parties and also to the Labour Progressive Party. We are not tied to the C.C.F., although we support the C.C.L. policy of considering the C.C.F. as Labour's political arm. The C.C.F., not like the Labour Progressive Party, does not dictate policy to our Union. This is where we differ from the U.E., whose leaders from C. S. Jackson down, are members of the L.P.P. and who, therefore, must take orders from that party.

Mr. O'Brien claims Mr. Jackson took an oath recently that he was not a member of the Communist Party. I can accept that statement. The Communist party of Canada was declared illegal by the Dominion Government during the war years. In its place the Communists organized the Labour Progressive Party. Mr. O'Brien should ask Mr. Jackson when he left the L.P.P.

I thought it necessary to write this letter in view of the continual attacks made by U.E. leaders against the United Steelworkers of America. I emphasize, our quarrel is with them and not the members of the U.E.

Yours very truly,
M. J. FENWICK,
Representative.

TO PAINT A DREAM

Sir: I object to objection of Ben Nicholson's Still Life, why?; because I glanced, as H.E.T. had done Tuesday, only as I passed the page I once again turned to it in order to study it a little deeper; now, Mr. Sensible Art has suggested: "if it is art", he shall ride with H.T. in Washington and look (rather than feel of art) at "snapshots"; I dare say that art is in many forms, whether it be realistic or surrealistic; perhaps "Ben" has had a dream and has portrayed it on canvas, or perhaps he has imagined several types of archial draughtings melting together in wonderous insight; you can't question art where there is no question for it!

Mr. Sensible Art, are you sure that was not the Emperor of Japan in a Mental Hospital at Kingston? I know of several great artists that have painted scenes, that even the most objective of critics have acclaimed as beautious, yet were "nuttier than fruit cakes".

How can one judge a person's sincerity when a definite lack of understanding is incurred. Artists are temperamental, one can't say what they feel, yet comprehension comes only with ability. Mr. Sensible Art, I admire you, a realist for sure; I also, further admire your attitude to art, persons can believe only what they believe in, yet I would give my brush hand for the ability to paint in wondrous design—a dream, believe me it is hard painting a dream or an abstract thought. Please, Mr. Sensible Art, comply with modern art and take into your soul all that is His.

Keep up, "all that is art", Mr. Editor, and you shall see it as it is! Sincerely,
KARL E. FOWLER.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment? Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?....

And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: and yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?....

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened. (Matt. 7: 7, 8.)

Visit of Scottish Curlers Proves Outstanding Event

By HERB MARTIN

Without a doubt the visit of the Scottish curlers on Monday will go down in the annals of the Peterborough Curling Club as the outstanding event of the 1948-49 curling season. The visitors arrived in their sleeping cars Monday morning and were welcomed by President S. Lowe, R. Best, M. Cruthers and Tom McArthur. After a brief tour of the city they were entertained at breakfast at the Empress Hotel.

The morning games commenced shortly after 9.30 o'clock and were all over around the noon

Prior to the morning games the curlers bowed their heads in silence out of respect of one of the local curlers who died suddenly Monday morning, the Rev. Partridge.

Council Guests

They were guests of the City Council at lunch at noon, with Ald. Adam Sands presiding.

The afternoon game started pretty well on schedule, and then the visitors were again the guests of the Peterborough Curling Club at the Empress Hotel.

The speeches at both luncheons were brief and well received.

Mayor Swanston welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city, and Captain J. Monteith of Falkirk made a suitable reply.

At the evening luncheon Chairman Ray Best presided in his usual capable manner. Pres. S. Lowe, Rev. Wm. McDonald, Judge S. Smoke and R. F. Downey spoke on behalf of the local curlers, and again Captain J. Monteith replied. He said that while it was the last day of curling for them in Canada it would be remembered as the most enjoyable. He gave all a hearty invitation to visit Scotland and assured all that the Scottish curlers would do all in their power to repay the kindness that had been shown them while on their extensive tour of Canada.

J. Waugh of Falkirk gave a real take-off of Winston Churchill and it went over big.

Good Work

Too much credit cannot be given to the committee in charge. They looked after every detail—and did the job well.

Noticed by us during the day were Albert Bottum of Bobcaygeon, E. Gregory of Lindsay, and A. Paterson of Peterborough—all life members of the Ontario Curling Association. Also E. Parsons, Oshawa, 2nd vice-president Ontario Curling Association.

After the afternoon game the curlers were "piped" to the Empress Hotel by the CGE Pipe Band and were also "piped" to the train at the conclusion of the evening banquet.

It was a grand day for the local curlers, commencing at 8.00 a.m. and running right through until 9.00 p.m.

We like to pass along bouquets, and here is one for our boys: The visitors told us the local reception was the best that they had received in Canada. The rink was gaily decorated for the occasion, and the ices were all re-colored and in fine shape. The "Welcome to Scottish Curlers" was especially outstanding.

Those In Charge

The committee in charge of affairs were R. Best (chairman), S. Lowe, M. Cruthers, E. R. Shirley, B. Ashmore and O. Price. They had a big job on their hands, and they did it well.

The visitors left at 9 p.m. by train for Kingston, where they will be met by the other party of visiting curlers. They sail for home on Wednesday.

Lumley, Rayner Scrambling To Win Trophy

MONTREAL, Feb. 1—(CP) — With Chicago's crack snipers, Doug Bentley and Roy Conacher, making a runaway of the scoring race, the spotlight has shifted to the wide-open battle among the National Hockey League's goalkeepers for the Vezina Trophy honors.

The scramble for the Vezina, which goes to the goaler who played the most games for the team with the least goals scored against it, has suddenly become a nip-and tuck affair since the week-end games.

All because Bill Durnan, a four-time winner of the award, who was winging along with a comfortable 13-goal lead, watched 14 pucks whiz by as Montreal Canadiens dropped two games.

This moved New York's Chuck Rayner and Detroit's Harry Lumley into contention, with Lumley probably holding the upper hand at the moment, although he has allowed more goals than both Durnan and Rayner. Rangers have nad 99 goals scored against them in 39 games, Canadiens 100 in 41 games and the Wings 103 in 42 games.

Lumley Right In There

With a rock-ribbed defence and an army of back-checking forwards fronting him, Lumley figures to be right in there 'ere the wind-up. Last year he lost out to Toronto's Turk Broda in the final week of the campaign.

Durnan still leads the goal-against average. Big Bill has allowed 100 goals in 41 games for a 2.43 percentage. Next in line is Lumley with 2.45, and Rayner with 2.57.

In the scoring list, official statistics show Doug Bentley still topping the parade with 48 points, followe by Roy Conacher with 46. Riding along in a tie for third spot are Sid Abel of Detroit and Billy Reay of Montreal. Jimmy Conacher remains in the fourth slot with 35.

Bentley was the big gainer during the week among the leaders, collecting one goal and two assists.

Abel failed to score in the Wings' three games but maintained his lead in the goal-scoring department with 19 markers. Reay, Harry Watson of Toronto and Grant Warwick of Boston all have 18. Bentley is top man in the assists column with 31.

Bill Ezinicki of Toronto upped his penalty time to 103 minutes, while Canadiens with 514 minutes displaced the Leafs as most-penalized club.

Trojan AC Notes

Rangers bantams of the Trojan puck loop won 7-6 from Canadiens with Frizzelle scoring three for them as Pagett and Drury also went good. Foley was the big gun for Canadiens with five goals, Carveth getting the other and Lundy aiding in one. Ivan Wade's speedy Leafs took a midget win by default as Rangers didn't have a full team. The Wings beat Canadiens 7-1 as Deck and Clarke got two each, and Seabrooke, Dauncey and Lanciaux one. Collins was good in goal and Chapman went well for Canadiens. Ed Dunn got their marker. In peewee, Leafs gave Canadiens their first setback 4-2 on three goals by Douglas and one by Billings, Alex Stewart assisting. They meet again tonight.

Carnival winners were: Nancy Button, under 12; Eileen Wilson, under 14; Marlene Constable, under 16; Mrs. H. Campbell, over 16; for boys: Henry Button and Jack Doyle, under 12; Glen Pagett, under 14; Grant Marchen, under 16; judges were I. Black, J. Creighton, Ed Panter and F. Jennings. Miss Betty Guthrie and James Heffernan won the spot skating. Waltzing on ice winners were Miss Helen Curtis and Frank Ballantyne. Fred Jennings won the door prize. Dancing following with music by Herb Mullins and Geo. Rutherford over the P.A. The event was staged by Trojans AC and the committee was: L. Long, A. Pagett, H. Dunn, J. Wilson, the parks department and employees aided.

A broom ball game was an interesting affair. With lights out, Art Pagett led his team on in night attire and with a candle. Some odd costumes were seen to add to the hilarity. The game itself was a peculiar one with rules thrown out the window but everyone having a hearty time of it. The referee occasionally scored and Coach Jack Creighton brought out a lighted candle to "throw more light on the game." Blood turned out to be red ink, and on it went—with no final score totalled!

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Dave Kerr, now a staunch citizen of Peterborough—golf is his sport since he hung up hockey gear—is still recalled for his puck prowess. We noted this item the other day: "Baz Bastien of the Pittsburg Hornets in the AHL, top goaltender for the past two seasons, is once again a leading candidate for the best netminder award. Bastien, a wizard at performing the split in front of his cage, which enables him to kick out many a potential tally, reminds hockey followers of Davey Kerr, one-time New York Ranger star goaltender, who could also completely cover the cage mouth with his split."

From the banks of the Scugog comes three minor hockey teams tonight to do or die against three local PMHA clubs, starting at seven in our Civic Arena. Their bantams open against Outboard Marines, their midgets follow against Clapper's, and Lindsay juves wind it up by playing the Legion-sponsored Trojans. These series are all two-game ones with goals to count, and the return tilts are up Lindsay way on Thursday evening. Winners proceed further along the OMHA provincial playdown trail, while the losers are out. 'Tis hoped the boys draw a good gallery for vocal and financial support.

Rounding The Turn

Legionnaires trek to Lindsay tonight for a senior "B" joust with Toronto Meteors, and our junior "B" Oddfellows are off this eve for Uxbridge to do battle with Toronto Royals. Latter come here the next night. Friday sees Stouffville playing Legion a senior "B" interlocking fixture at Civic Arena, whilst the Petes play Meteors in Lindsay. Last listed game for a local senior "B" team is Feb. 9, which isn't afar off, though there are a few postponements to be run in yet. Juniors wind up their schedule on Feb. 11. And then the playoffs for group honors are on.

* * * * * *

Toronto Royals will show for the first time in Peterborough tomorrow night at 8.30 when they tackle the junior "B" IOOF-ers in a group game. From what we can learn, they're just about in the same class as the locals, so it shapes up as a good game. The Local Council of Women are presenting flags to Civic Arena at this game, with Mrs. J. R. Marshall, the national president, and also the mother-in-law of Syl Apps, making the presentation for the local ladies, who will all be present. A nice gesture, and it might be pointed out that the Local Council of Women is keenly interested in amateur athletics as a community asset. Likely, the junior tilt will draw a large crowd.

Real Smart Passing

Markham Millionaires turned in a smart passing display here last e'en to win 4-2 from the Petes. They're tied atop the group now with Legion, each squad having but one loss. A good team. The Petes played a lot better than in their last local start, hustling more and appearing less disorganized on the attack. If they keep hustling they should yet get clicking up to their real form comes playoff time. Their drive in the third was fine but it came a bit too late—had they fought in there earlier they might have tied it up. In any case, the fans—and it wasn't a big crowd—saw a nifty, fast fixture on good ice, with the Millionaires earning the duke by a goal or two.

Hap Emms escaped rather lightly when the OHA executive settled for a "severe reprimand" for his action in taking Barrie juniors off the ice at home in a game with Windsor. They returned eventually but were stalling around when the referees awarded the game to Windsor. Now the latter are burning up as the OHA says the teams will have to finish that game out again. OHA also panned the Barrie fans for throwing things at players. Ray Harding and others of the junior Petes of some 10 years of age will recall hot Barrie fanatics throwing stuff at them in a junior playoff when Frank Buckland was coaching the locals. They must still be hard losers.

The Chief Was There

Hastings took Madoc 10-6 in the TVL last night, whilst Norwood —accompanied by a lot of home fans—went to Lakefield and won a 7-5 decision. A swell scrap, we're told, with a free-for-all threatening in the dying minutes before large Police Chief Samis put out the fire. Some fans foolishly got on the ice and they've no comeback if they're clipped by a player's stick and injured—the ice is for players only, plus referee and linesman. Trent Valley Loop tussles tomorrow night: Tweed at Warkworth, Hastings at Campbellford, Madoc at Marmora, and Frankford at Lakefield.

2 Giesebrechts Pacing Scoring In OHA

TORONTO, Feb. 1—(CP)—Daddy Giesbrecht may have had something when he said he allowed only hockey players in his family—and it's a cinch Windsor Spitfires or their parent Detroit Red Wings won't argue with him.

Pop has had five players of his family in the chain of the National Hockey League Detroit Red Wings and the latest are a couple of bashing sons—Bert and Bruce.

The Petawawa-born brothers look like a good bet to bring the Spitfires their first Ontario hockey association junior A championship and individual scoring title since the club joined the nine-team league two years ago.

The scoring ability of the two forwards has been a large factor for the Spitfires gaining first place in the league race—eight points ahead of the second-place Barrie Flyers. Although not as yet signed by the Wings, Detroit has first call on the boys as sponsors of the Spitfires.

Take Scoring Race

The 19-year-old, 175-pound Bert and his 18-year-old brother practically have the individual scoring race sewed up. Bert has 81 points — 39 goals and 42 assists—while Bruce is three points behind with 78. In third place is St. Catharines Teepees Red Sullivan with 59.

Jack Adams, manager of the Detroit Club, recently said he liked all the Giesbrechts but Bruce was an "exceptionally fine hockey player." "Pop Giesbrecht (who operates a store in Petawawa, Ont.) told me he allowed only hockey players in his family," he said.

Gus was the first of the Giesbrechts to play with Detroit. He played centre for the wings in the late '30s before joining the army. Then there was Cully Simon, a defenceman, who married a Giesbrecht girl. Cully's brother, Thain—a former Detroit defenceman—also married a Giesbrecht girl.

102 Life Saving Awards

HAMILTON, Feb. 1 (CP) — Life saving efforts in 1948 brought 102 awards from the Royal Canadian Humane Society, it was announced Monday at the annual meeting of the association here. One silver medal was awarded posthumously to Lawrence Richard Whittington of Long Beach, B.C., who saved four sailors when their boat was swamped March 31, 1946, and was drowned in attempting to save a fifth. The second went to Mecyn M. Matheson of Tahsis, B.C., for saving two persons from drowning within two weeks in June, 1947.

SEEKS WORLD CROWN

Winnipeg's speed skating star, 21-year-old Betty Mitchell, left Montreal Monday on the second lap of an airplane trip to Norway where she hopes to add the world amateur speed skating crown to her lengthy collection of titles.

Miss Mitchell, holder of the North American and Canadian Women's Senior speed skating championships, will compete in the Women's event at Konensborg, Norway, next month. She is the only Canadian entered in the meet.

Markham Beats Petes, 4-2 In Speedy Senior 'B' Tilt

Markham Millionaires short-changed the Petes 4-2 here last night in their OHA Senior "B" clash at Civic Arena. A small crowd saw a neat number, speedy all the way, with the visitors earning their margin on smart passing plays. But six penalties were drawn, three apiece, with Brennan getting a misconduct for objecting too strenuously to a minor thumbing.

The visitors had a 2-1 edge in the first frame and they built it into a 4-1 lead to end the second. The Petes put on a powerful but belated drive near the end of the third and it paid off with one marker. The Creighton crew weren't nearly as disorganized as in their previous game here and the count would have been real close but for one Markham counter which glanced in off a Petes' skate with Harding having no chance on it.

Worked Hard

There were no particular stars on the local lineup, but they all worked hard. The second and third front lines often looked more effective than the first string, and the defence checked better than previously. Harding again kicked out some close ones. Singleton, Milroy and J. Scott were the pick of he fancy-passing Millionaires and their goalie made some fine saves. The forwards used deceptive drop and delayed passes in the Petes' zone.

The Peter pressed from the start and Tompkins came close, then a Mortimer-Kingdon thrust testing Carr. Later it was fast and even till Singleton scored from Backer on a hot angle drive. Petes got it back right away when Reid rapped in a neat one at close range, aided by Legrow and Jopling. Ray robbed Singleton and then Brennan as Markham poured it on. J. Scott put them ahead, aided by Singleton and Milroy, but it went in off a defenceman's skate. A rush by Bun and Jack nearly paid off, and F. Scott got the nod for tripping at the bell.

Real Fast

Scott returned with no damage done in the second heat and it was sizzling fast all through. The Petes had an edge for a space till Horton was gated for charging, and Milroy promptly scored as he poked away with Harding down. The latter claimed it wasn't in but it counted. Brennan was chased for charging and argued himself into a misconduct penalty. Jopling and Honey pulled a good rush and the Petes turned it on to threaten but Carr kicked them out. Ray thefted Milroy and a drive by Quigley, Mortimer and Kingdon was close, Milroy made it 4-1 with seconds to go on a partial breakaway with J. Scott's pass.

By flopping quickly near the net with Ray off his feet, Horton saved a goal early in the third. Play was speedy and pretty even, swinging fast from end to end. The Kingdon line threatened twice and Legrow had a good try. Quigley was gated for slashing and McMaster followed shortly for charging, leaving them two shy. But they returned, as F. Scott went off for interference, and the Petes tore in hard They finally got one back when Quigley slapped home Tompkins' corner passout. The Petes put on five forwards and did everything but score, with Kingdon and Jerry Creighton especially close. But it ended up in a 4-2 win for Markham.

The teams:

Markham—Goal, Carr; defence, J. Scott and F. Scott; centre, Singleton; wings, Brennan and Milroy; alternates, Linton, H. Forgie, B. orgie, Backer, Nesbett and Sellars.

Petes—Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Jopling; centre, Tompkins; wings, J. Creighton and Garvey; alternates, Kingdon, Quigley, Mortimer, F. Parsons, McMaster, T. Parsons, Legrow and Reid.

Referee, A. Grant; linesman, H. Payne.

Barbara Ann Scott Wins Marsh Trophy Third Time

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP)—Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa, Olympic figure-skating champion now in professional ranks, to-day was named winner of the Lou E. Marsh Memorial Trophy as Canada's outstanding sports competitor of 1948.

The award announced by Elwood A. Hughes of Toronto, the chairman of the five-man selection committee, was unanimous over a field of three other nominees. The trophy, perpetuating the memory of the late Toronto Daily Star sports editor, is open to men and women, amateurs and professionals, in any sport in the Dominion.

Announcement came just six weeks after sports editors picked the pert ice queen as Canada's outstanding female atlethe of 1948 in the Dominion-wide year-end poll conducted by the Canadian Press.

She has established history in both polls, winning each three times. She previously won the Lou E. Marsh Trophy in 1945 and 1947, and sports writers put her in the top slot in the 1946 and 1947 CP survey. The choice in nearly all cases was unanimous.

Other Nominees

Three other athletes were nominated for the 1948 Marsh Trophy. They were:

Jack Parry of London, Ont., University of Western Ontario football player, track and basketball star. Parry, chosen to represent Canada in the 1948 Olympic Games at London, was sidelined due to a leg injury a few days before the Olympics opened.

Viola Myers, crack sprinter from Toronto, who represented the Dominion in the 1948 Games, Kenneth Nunn, singles rowing champion of Toronto Argonaut Canoe Club.

Mike Sharpe To Tangle With John Katan In British Empire Title Elimination Match

JOHN KATAN

Black-jack John Katan, pictured above, will meet six-foot six-inch Mike Sharpe in the main bout of tomorrow night's wrestling card at the Brock Arena. It will be a British Empire elimination match.

Katan is an extremely rugged grappler and even the impetuous Michael may find him too hard a lump to swalow.

The 25-year-old Sharpe is regarded as just about the best prospect in heavyweight wrestling ranks but whether he has the experience and stamina to fight off Katan's body-bruising attacks remains to be seen. One thing the fans can count on and that is a rousing rip-snorter of a battle.

In the semi-final Mike's brother, Ben Sharpe, takes on sturdy Johnny Marrs of Minneapolis. Marrs is not to be confused with Marsh who was beaten by Pat Flanagan here last week.

To complete this all-star card Don McIntyre will start things off against Jimmy 'Red' Sims. It shapes up like a big night.

Horticultural Enthusiasts Report Success

OMEMEE, Feb. 1 — (ENS) — At Omemee and District Horticultural Society's annual meeting on Thursday a review of the Society's activities during its 10th year told of discussion of reforestation and the growing of seeds and plants, members had had opportunities of practising window and table display of flowers and had seen some beautiful vistas on trips sponsored by the Society.

Membership was reported to be at its highest with 89 adults and 26 juveniles. An award of merit had been presented to Wesley Willson in recognition of his work among the juvenile section. The work which had been carried out on the bridge approaches was said to have reflected favourably on the Society's efforts at civic improvements. The Society's aim was to beautify Omemee.

Reference was made to a church service held in St. Paul's, when the church was decorated with flowers donated by members of the Society.

The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt addressed the meeting on the propogation of plants dealing with propogation by seeds, pollen, underground shoots, slips and leaf cuttings.

Books Gain In Popularity Throughout North America; Peterborough No Exception

People in North America are reading more than ever before and Peterborough residents are no exception. Circulation of books from the Public Library has increased by 14,000 in the first four weeks of this year and the story is much the same all over this continent.

In Europe, where books are less easily obtainable, the reading public is on the decline numerically.

Canada's shops and libraries are packed with books—many do not realize the extent and value of these treasure houses called libraries — they are generally taken for granted.

But not so in Europe for the simple reason that there are few books to be taken. Wherever war has passed, books and libraries have been destroyed. Many countries which became battlefields lost anywhere from 50 to 90 per cent. of their books. In many cases, vital research is being delayed or suspended through lack of published information.

Ironically, it is only when something is lost that it is really appreciated. So it is with books and libraries. Today, a generation of students in Europe and parts of the East are without the books essential to their education.

Peterborough readers prefer fiction to any other type of reading. The ratio is three to one in favor of fiction and books on useful arts head the non-fiction section with fine art books, travel, biographies and histories coming next in that order.

Today, millions of people are rebuilding their homes, their schools, their industries, their countries and their lives. But when you work without the proper tools, the job is a slow one.

A book is a tool in the process of education. Without books, teaching is a difficult business, but thousands of schools and universities in war-ravaged countries are getting along as best they can with the few books that remain.

Professors are preparing their lectures without being able to refer to the priceless reference books they enjoyed before the war. Students take notes from the lectures, but when they seek further information at the school library they find only the rubble of once proud masonry or a few shelves of miscellaneous books saved from the looting enemy.

Canadians lucky

Canadian libraries were safe from the war. The students, the teachers and professors still enjoy the use of thousands of fine book collections. To teach a class of any sort without the use of books would be unthinkable in Canada.

But they're doing it at Louvain in Belgium, where the Nazis took special care to destroy completely the wonderful library of the Institute of Economic and Social Studies.

They're doing it at the University of Canton and other Chinese colleges which lost their entire collections of western literature and the greater part of their oriental works.

They're doing it at Milan and Rangoon and Poris and Coorfu and in the schools of Norway, Holland, Belgium, every country that knew war intimately.

At best, few libraries have been able to save or salvage more than a quarter of their pre-war collections. The rest have been lost in the destruction of shelling, bombing by both the Nazis and the Allies, damage by weather and looting and deliberate burning of books by the enemy.

To make the current situation worse, countries in the war zones have received no new books from more fortunate parts of the world since 1939. The paper shortage makes it possible for them to publish few books themselves. And currency regulations make it impossible to buy books from those countries like Canada which have them to sell.

It will be impossible to replace many of the books that have been destroyed. And the libraries will be slow in rebuilding their collections irregardless of help because of the losses have been so great. For years there will be a book famine in Europe and parts of the East.

Give Aid to Europe

But help is coming from outside. War spared countries are contributing books to feed the hungry minds of Europe. In Canada, the Canadian Library Association and the Canadian Council for Reconstruction through UNESCO have launched the March of Books, a nation-wide campaign to collect books and periodicals for the libraries of war-devastated countries.

Through this campaign, Canadians can help rebuild the libraries upon which education is dependent. The appeal, directed too everyone from the Governor-General to the average citizen who may have a dozen books he calls his library, requests any book which might be of educational value.

The language it is written in is unimportant. If it is a standard reference or classic or treats any subject such as medicine, science, art, economics, agriculture, history, philosophy, religion, law or music, some library in Europe can use it.

Along with the development and growth of the United Nations, there has been a good deal of talk about cooperation between peoples and nations and brotherhood of man. In this appeal to share their books with those who most need them today, sponsors of the March of Books feel that Canadians have been given opportunity to show themselves citizens of international good will.

Upon the rebuilding of battle scarred countries and battle scarred lives, the future welfare of the world depends. Restoring the libraries is a vital part of that rebuilding.

Lay New Sewer, Water Mains To Ashburnham

The laying of parallel sewer and water mains across the river from Burnham's Point to McDonald's Point is being proposed, "if feasible," to the city council by the Utilities Commission.

Actually, it appears to have been discussed by City Engineer Chalmers and Ross L. Dobbin, Utilities manager, who tentatively agreed upon its economy to both bodies. Then, Mr. Chalmers mentioned the conversation to council last week, and the council turned it into a suggestion to the Commission.

The Commission on its part, Monday afternoon, decided to ask the council whether they would consider including the water main in the proposed sewer contract, combining two jobs into one.

G. S. Matthews presided, and the two other Commissioners, Fred Hills and G. A. Macdonald, were present.

Contract to One Company

Mr. Dobbin said the contract could be let to one company, and the mains laid six feet apart in a common trench which might be dug with dredging equipment.

Utilities Commission has been looking for a river crossing to increase the water pressure in Ashburnham, following the representations last summer by J. H. Vernor, general manager of Western Clock Co. The water main will be 12 inches in diameter.

"We investigated several possible routes above Inverlea Bridge and made soundings," Mr. Dobbin recalled. "It was our opinion at one time that, by pulling logs at the Quaker Oats dam, we could uncover the river bed sufficiently to permit the excavation of a trench by gasoline power shovels such as are used on land."

Mr. Dobbin said an old dam, probably built in the days when Peterborough industries flanked the river for the advantage of direct harnessing of the water power, would hold back water at the projected crossing.

Consulted Engineer

"Lately, we have been in touch with City Engineer Chalmers, and have found that the city council is contemplating the laying of a cast iron sewer pipe across the river at Burnham's Point, as part of their general sewerage improvement scheme."

"Our main would be laid eventually from Aylmer St. along Perry St. to the river, and thence to Mark and Maria Streets where it would be tied into the Ashburnham distribution system."

"We contemplate extending the existing 18-in. main on Bethune St. to Lansdowne St by way of Aylmer St., and the new 12-in. main could be connected to this main, thus giving ample supply."

"The new 12-inch main would reinforce the pressures in Ashburnham generally, and in particlar in the areas where low pressures are existing in the summer. We have the 12-in. pipe in stock."

It was suggested in the Utilities discussion that they might be willing to undertake the letting of the contract, if that was the wish of the council. Each body would pay for its pipe materials and half the cost of the work.

Centre Formed At Dixon House

A new type of organization in the city — the "Dixon House Neighborhood Centre" — was formed at a meeting Monday night. Forty-two persons, either as individuals or representatives of various community bodies, attended to organize the neighborhood recreation group, which will operate for the residents within a half-mile radius of Dixon House. Elected to act as executive members were: J. A. Miller, William Goodswan, Mrs. W. Westran, Mrs. E. Lines, Paul Hillier and Leo Belanger.

Jack Dane, Peterborough Director of Recreation, conducted the meeting. He said that a house-to-house survey of the area had been taken to study requirements for the new body. Several hundred reports were turned in by 13 volunteer workers. From this, a program will be developed to the recreational interests of the area residents.

The questionnaire answers list many craft activities and athletic endeavors, as well as special interest groups which included: dramatics, balet, public speaking, choral singing, community social nights, movies and book club.

The survey is not yet completed, said Mr. Dane, but many of the reports turned in indicate a keen interest, especially by adults in social community projects. Many signified an interest in handicrafts such as needlecraft, millinery, knitting and rugmaking.

Besides the executive committee elected, which will appoint its own officers, there will be an advisory committee, including a representative of each group using facilities of Dixon House.

First project of the new body is already under planning. It is a Family Social Night, to be held in the near future.

Parks Committee Discusses Opening of Rinks on Sunday

Use of the public open air rinks for skating on Sundays from 2 to 9.30 p.m. was contemplated by the parks committee of the Council Monday night. Destructive boys broke into the rest room under the bridge at Riverside Park last Sunday, broke the stove used for heating the room where skaters put on their boots and skates, broke up a pile of barrels that were being held for the Boy Scouts, took toilet paper and flung it around the Quaker Oats Park north of the bridge. The stove needed a considerable welding job.

Other youths smashed into the dressing building at the rink on McDonnel St. at Stewart. that same afternoon.

"If we were open on Sundays we might be money in pocket," was the comment of Armar Butcher, parks foreman.

The expense of employing the caretekers on Sunday afternoons and evenings would not involve double time., Mr. Butcher said. There are sixteen of them and they would have to be paid for the 7½ hours.

The committee was unanimous in their proposal that the rinks should be under control Sunday afternoons. It was said that many people are now skating at some of the rinks on Sunday.

A motion by Aldermen Dodds and Raine recommended that the chairman and Mr. Butcher interview the president of the Ministerial Association, explaining the circumstances and inviting the approval of the clergy.

The members present with Ald. Young were Aldermen Dodds, Burrows, Doug Miller and Raine.

NORTH END RINK

Complying with a neighborhood request, the parks department has opened an outdoor rink at Aylmer and Wolsley Streets. This is the 16th public rink. Armar Butcher said it was only for skating, and was made at the request of parents in that area.

More than 200 hunters armed with shotguns and No. 2 shot are expected to assemble at the parking lot on Charlotte St., just west of the McGillis Hotel, at 8 a.m. on Saturday. Details of the hunt have not yet been arranged. The hunting area remains a secret.

They are William Bennett, Carl Heinzman, Robert Batley, Arthur Beauclerc and William Flint. The five officers who are still on the executive from last year are Lowery McQuade, Joseph Stewart, Jack Cranfield and Stewart Mcaren.

Reports of the last year were read by chairmen of the various committees. The name of the Club has been changed to The CGE Veterans' Association.

Norman Hurrle Heard At Organ

A Peterborough man studying music in Toronto was organist at two concerts presented by the Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto in Convocation Hall on Friday and Monday. He is Norman Hurrle, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hurrle of 476 Bolivar St., who is at present studying at the studio of David Ouchterlong at the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto.

The concerts featured the All-Varsity Mixed Chorus with Harold Neal as conductor and were under the patronage of the chancellor and the president of the university.

Mr. Hurrle's contribution was an organ group. He played Bach's Fugue in G Minor, a Ballade in D by J. E. Clokey, the modern composer, and was organist for Handel's Concerto in B Flat Major, which he played with the University of Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Hurrle formerly studied under M. B. Chenhall, ARCO.

Charges To Follow Fight At Lakefield

Charges of causing public disturbances may be laid following a spectator-player ruckus at a Norwood-Lakefield hockey game Monday night. Lakefield Police Chief Garnet Samis said that the disturbance—the first in the village in several years—"will not be tolerated."

"We have a fine new arena for hockey and I am giving fair warning that anyone who attempts to turn it into a roughhouse will find himself in court," said the Chief.

The Monday night incident happened during a quarrel between players in the penalty box. A spectator attempted to interfere and was checked by the Chief. Four or five others involved may also be charged, he said.

Any spectator going on the ice or interfering with players or officials in any way can expect to face charges," the Chief said.

Cricket Club Given Use Of Nicholls Oval

A. H. Radford and Robert Harvey of Peterborough Whitakers Cricket Club were assured by the parks committee of the Council Monday night of practice and games allotments of the use of Nicholls Oval this season.

They are given Tuesday and Thursday practice evenings instead of Wednesdays and Saturday afternoons for their matches excepting when the park is required for the industrial picnics. For their workouts they may rope off their playing field boundaries if they wish to do so. The club won the Ontario county championship in 1948, and with additional players who have come to the city since last season they are looking forward to another successful cricket year. The Ottawa team is expected to play here May 24, although that date has not yet been decided.

Civic Luncheon Given Visiting Curlers

Both the lobby and Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel echoed to the sound of Scottish voices on Monday noon when the 22 members of the West Team were guests at a civic banquet.

At noon the visitors led by five points the five district rinks — Lindsay, Oshawa, Lakefield, Bobcaygeon and Peterborough. This was evened in the afternoon, and the 'spiel ended in a tie 87-87.

"We appreciate you including Peterborough on your tour," said Mayor Max Swanston who officially welcomed Scottish curlers. "If you hadn't come we would have been disappointed."

He told them that Canadians owed much gratitude to the Scottish people over the past years for their hospitality to Canadian servicemen during two world wars.

"Do not feel like strangers; feel at home," invited the Mayor.

His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke, welcomed them on behalf of the County. And he added, "we hope that this little function today in some small way repays you for what you have done for our boys."

Stanley Lowe, president of the Peterborough Curling Club, thanked the city for the luncheon. He reminded his listeners that the Peterborough Club has a relatively long history, dating back to 1876.

John Monteith, captain of the Scots, thanked the local club as well as civic and county officials for their hospitality. He was followed by Gilbert McClung (a distant relative of famed Canadian journalist Nellie McClung). Mr. McClung said the trip to Peterborough had been "a real pleasure." He concluded: "this great tour of ours is coming to an end. We have made many new friends and hope these friendships will be lasting. I hope it will not be good-bye, but au cevoir, and we will be back again sometime."

Noted Sportsman

One of the best known sportsmen among the visiting Scots was a husky farmer Douglas Scott "Duke" Davies, from Hawick, 40 miles south of Edinburgh.

It is the ambition of every rugger-minded youth in the British Isles to some day "win his cap" by playing in a rugby international. "Duke" Davies set up an enviable record by participating in no less than 25 internationals.

In 1923 he played on the Scottish-Irish team that was defeated by the English-Welsh 21-16. He also toured South Africa, where rugby is the major sport, and when he appeared at the curling luncheon on Monday he was wearing the special blazer he had worn on the South African visit.

Scottish numbers by Bob Henry and Jack Smith entertained the curlers at the luncheon.

Patrick F. McNulty Buried At Norwood

Funeral of Patrick Francis McNulty, 91, of 248 McKellar St., was held on Monday from his residence to St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Norwood, where requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. C. J. Carroll. Burial was in St. Paul's Cemetery, Norwood.

Pall-bearers were Richard Heffernan and Michael Heffernan, Harry Fife, Alexis and Harry English, and William O'Leary.

Mr. McNulty was born in Asphodel and had an active career in municipal politics. In 1907 he was Warden of Peterborough county.

He leaves his wife, the former Elizabeth Kelly; a son, Neil P. McNulty of Peterborough; a brother Charles of Peterborough, and another brother Joseph of Toronto and a sister Mary of Peterborough.

Close West Road In Nicholls Oval

Parks committee of city council proposes to close the west road into Nicholls Oval, from Park Hill Road, and convert the strip into lawn in front of the new band stand.

They also decided Monday night to ask the council to extend Rogers St. into the park from the south side.

Erection of a background shell on the stand will not likely be undertaken. Ald. H. Dodds said the public address system had reduced the advantage of band shells. In its stead a background of trees will be substituted combining natural beauty with sound effect.

Education Grants Reduced To Peterborough City When Schedules Changed

Despite a general 10 per cent. increase in school grants in the province, Peterborough Board of Education will receive more than $10,000 less from the Department of Education this year. Announcement in Toronto Monday by Education Minister Dana Porter included changes in grant schedules and conditions which will adversely affect the city schools situation.

Grants to collegiates, high schools and Grades "A" and "B" continuation schools are computed on the mill-rate. Where the mill-rate is 14 mills or higher, the grant from the province is equal to 70 per cent. of the budget (based on the previous year's expenditures).

Where the rate is under four mills (as is the case in Peterborough this year) the percentage paid is 15, instead of 20 per cent. which was paid in 1948.

For every additional mill, the percentage is increased by five to the maximum of 70. Because of the drop from 20 to 15 for the under-four classifications, this is a general drop of five per cent.

Last year, Peterborough Board of Education received a 25 per cent grant on roughly $120,000—the amount for Academic PCVS, as the rate was just over the four mill mark. With a five per cent cut because of the changed mill rate, and another five per cent with the general scale reduction, there will be 10 per cent less in the Academic PCVS grant. This would have been about $12,000, if the new year's costs were the same as the previous year's.

A $10-per-pupil attendance grant to secondary schools has been abolished in this year's provincial program for education. This amounted to about $6,900 to the city schools in 1948.

School grants for vocational purposes (including night school) has also been cut five per cent. The grants are calculated on total salaries paid — about $70,000 in 1948. Of the first $20,000 85 per cent is paid (it was 90 per cent last year); on the next $20,000, 75 per cent; on the next $20,000, 65 per cent; and on any further amount 55 per cent. This will mean a drop of about $3,500 in Peterborough's grant for its vocational school. As the budgetted figure is higher this year, the loss will not be so large.

The changes in public school grants will not "greatly affect" the city situation, said Superintendent K. S. Wighman.

Paid on Higher Costs

Mr. Wightman said that the cut in the rate of grants is offset to a certain extent in that the grants will be paid on higher figures of the new budget. The cuts mentioned—$12,000 for academic and $3,500 in vocational—would have applied if expenditures had remained the same, which is not the case.

Exact figures are not yet available, due to new regulations coming out, as to exactly the mill rate for academic. However, said Mr. Wightman, it is evident that it will definitely be less than four mills.

Board Had Surplus

Last year, he said, the rate was over four mills by a small fraction. The degree below that mark woud be equally small this year, he said. If the Board — which ended 1948 with a $22,460 surplus—had spent a "few thousand" more during 1948, it is believed that it would have gone over the four mill mark, bringing it into the other percentage payment grouping.

The Ontario Government will pay an estimated $265,000,000 in school grants this year, Mr. Porter's announcement said. This is an increase of $3.3 million or 10 per cent over 1948.

In order to simplify the calculation of grants, they will be paid on a straight percentage basis of the approved budgets of the various school boards. In 1947 and 1948, there was a system which provided for reductions once the grants were computed.

The grants to urban public and separate schools range from 26 per cent in municipalities of 100,000 population to in places of less than 2,500 persons. For rural public and separate schools, the grant is based on assessmen per classroom. When the assessment is under $30,000, the grant shall equal 89 per cent of the school board's budget. It is then scaled down to 45 per cent in centres where the assessment is at least $80,000 per classroom.

May Increase Lighting Bill

Utilities Commission gave $3,600 to the council with one hand recently and were hinting Monday they might take most of it back with the other.

They had a street lighting accumulated surplus which they decided they should give to the council several weeks ago. Scanning their finances and credits Monday the Commission's eye fell on the $25,000 charge for street lighting. That was an increase a year or so ago. And rightly so, it is readily argued, because Peterborough has more acres requiring illumination.

So, thinking of the odd dollar they might pick up here and there some suggestion was made that the lighting charge to the city could be increased to $28,000. The idea didn't seem to sting the conscience of Messrs. Matthews, Macdonald and Hills, but they had been recently feeling rather gratified in their relations with the city by the fact of digging up a contribution of $3,600.

But, Monday they talked of increasing the street lighting bill, at least to the extent of $3,000. Having regard to the previous item of $3,600, that would leave a mere $600 for the Swanston company.

"We shouldn't take it all away from them," said G. A. Macdonald with a note of humor in his voice, probably imagining his own experience in the council the reaction to any increase in the lighting bill. For the present record it should be emphasized that the charge has not yet been upped. Council still has the entire $3,600, but their hold on it seems precarious.

YM Sunday Group Friendship Forum

From numerous and varied names suggested at a social gathering in the YMCA Sunday afternoon, Sunday Friendship Forum was chosen most suitable. "Forum" was the name given the popular meeting place in early Rome and, coupled with "Sunday Friendship," ideally describes the nature and aims of this group.

Ed. Stephenson was master of ceremonies and introduced the newly-elected president, Mr. Clair Dayman. The program opened with singing of "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" and an hour was passed in song, Gordon Thexton accompanying at the piano.

Staff members of the Y served a light lunch, and a silver collection was taken to defray expenses.

Program convener, James Record, announced that Harry Tasker will be MC next week, and closed the meeting with a friendly message. There were 40 present.

Formed to fill a pressing need in this city for newcomers and young people living away from home, the group shows promise of becoming extremely popular. Active boys and girls are in the lead and will assist in making introductions and promoting friendly communion.

Anyone interested will receive a cordial welcome at the YMCA Sundays from 4.30 to 6.30 p.m.

Service Women Of Britain Get New Status

LONDON, Feb. 1 — (CP). — Women members of Britain's Army and Air Force took on new names and a new status to-day.

From now on the Women's Auxiliary Air Force will be known as the Women's Royal Air Force. The Auxiliary Territorial Service becomes the Women's Royal Army Corps.

Distaff side of the Royal Navy —the Women's Royal Naval Service—keeps its present name.

The Times of London said in an editorial that the women could consider it a high compliment that these services have been given the right to enter the "honorable ranks" of those entitled to use the word "Royal."

Saluting now will become compulsory in the WRAF. Up until now, saluting between the members of the RAF and the WAAF has been a matter of courtesy.

Discipline will be tightened in the WRAF. Airwomen ultimately may be detained in cells for certain offences.

70 Years Married Think Its Time To Settle Down

WINCHESTER, Ont., Feb. 1.—(CP).—Mrs. Henderson is 94 and her husband, Robert, who's Irish on his father's side, is 92 and they're not as spry as they used to be, but they recall very well their marriage — just 70 years ago.

Still bustling about, Mrs. Henderson buying the groceries and Robert listening to the radio, the nonagenarians marked their 70th wedding anniversary quietly on Sunday. They've lived 34 years in this town, 30 miles southeast of Ottawa.

They're the oldest couple in the Ottawa district and one of the oldest in Canada, but mind you, they say little about it. They like living alone, with Mr. Henderson helping with the chores and Mrs. Henderson doing the ordering on the telephone and relying on her husband a little more than she used to—because she's blind now.

But 70 years ago, they were spry young ducks. Still remember that day that Robert took one of his father's best driving mares from the stable, hitched it to a cutter and called on his bride-to-be. She was Miss Margaret Davis of North Augusta, Ont.

Away went the young couple to Prescott, 35 miles from Winchester Springs where Robert lived. Gay and reckless they took the side-wheeler ferry across the cold St. Lawrence to Ogdensburg, NY, and married at the Anglican rectory.

They honeymooned and then farmed for 10 years. Robert assisted in clearing "all the dense bush which covered the Winchester district 70 years ago, right on the site where Winchester Springs now stands."

For two years, Mr. Henderson managed the Winchester Springs Sanatorium, at one-time famous for its sulphur springs.

And now they've celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary and they think its a right fine thing to be able to settle down.

Despite this, Miss Paterson declares the Latin American country is a gay place to live in normal times. At 26, she has visited 23 countries and is leaving shortly to tour Europe, while on leave of absence from her position with an oil firm.

DOROTHY DIX

Couple Told Early Marriage Invites Big Divorce Risk

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with one boy since we were in hig.. school. He is 21 and so am I. I want to get engaged but he wants me to wait until 1950. My friends and family tell me to break off, or get engaged, for if I don't get a husband now I will be an old maid.

Dorothy Dix

What should I do? Please try to help me, for I don't know which way to turn now.

PUZZLED

ANSWER: I earnestly advise you to wait until you and your sweetheart are prepared to meet all of the responsibilities of marriage. Probably there is no other one thing in the world that causes so much unhappiness and the wreck of so many lives as boys and girls rushing into marriage before they are ready for it.

Every day we see immature youngsters getting married, although they haven't the slightest idea of what is going to happen to them after the knot is tied. They have no money, no trade or profession by which they can support a family, no homes in which they can set up housekeeping. They have to crowd in on their parents' over-full houses and depend upon their fathers and mothers to support them.

Sorry Spectacle

Apparently these unsophisticated children think that marriage works a miracle that automatically will provide them with clothes and food and cars and good times, but that is wishful thinking that never materialize. And so we have the sorry spectacle of child-wives fighting with their mothers-in-law; of young mothers going back with their babies to their parents; of young husbands running wild, all because they were not willing to wait to marry until they could finance it.

So I would urge every girl who is engaged not to push her fiance into a premature marriage when his own judgment tells him to wait until he can support a wife before he takes one on. The happy marriages are those in which the husband and wife were willing to wait until they could afford it. The hasty marriages nearly always end in divorce.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Do you approve of any husband, particularly one who has gained prominence and a high position in political and church life, driving his secretary home from work in his own personal car? He is a devoted husband and father. Occasionally night work is necessary and he has called for her at her home and taken her back late at night.

What is the answer?

A PUZZLED WIFE

ANSWER: My opinion is that any man who can't be trusted to drive his secretary home after she has been doing extra work at night is such a poor creature that he isn't worth watching. Anyway, it is folly for a wife to think that she can keep her husband faithful to her by spying on him. She can't watch him every minute of the time nor keep him from seeing girls who are younger and better-looking than she, so she had just as well relax and trust to her husband being true to her.

And here's something that every jealous wife should take to heart: The wife who is always suspicious of her husband is first aid to his roaming. She puts ideas in his head and makes him think that if he so fascinating that no woman can resist his charms, he had better have the fun of trying out his technique.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My mother objects to the man I love and forbids me even to see him. I am of age, but I hate to hurt her by marrying without her approval. What can I do when she refuses to even talk about the matter?

HELPLESS

ANSWER: You are an intelligent woman of mature age and that gives you the right to pick your own husband, instead of taking mother's choice. After all, you are the one who is going to live with the man, so it is more important that he should be your taste than Mama's.

Mother are poor pickers and are influenced by such silly things. I knew one girl who was desperately in love with a fine young man, but whose mother broke off the match because she didn't like the lad's nose. She wouldn't let the boy even come to the house, but he lived to see him one of the famous men of the world.

GOING,GOING, GONE!—Lancaster Avenue residents at Saint John, NB, have been watching their homes move nearer the brink of destruction as the ground in the surrounding area started to sink. The earth-walled cliff has inched to within a few feet of several homes. This series of three photos shows the progress of a barn into the chasm, in some places more than 30 feet deep. Trucks dumping tons of earth into the cavity have made little impression. Reason for the depression has not been determined.

Congregation of St. George's Plans To Build New Church

A quest of nearly 40 years ended last night at the southend parish church of St. George, when the congregation unanimously decided to dispense with the church assistance which had labelled them a "mission" and henceforth to become a self-sustaining entity.

Coupled with this historical move was the resolution of the body of the church to commence the large operation of building a new church to house the greatly enlarged congregation which at times now overflows the present modest accommodation. Evidence of the far-sighted work of the church planning committee was the decision to build the new church in instalments, the first section to cost in the vicinity of $20,000.

Brought into being in 1911, St. George's had struggled along with a sparse population to support it and had had to rely on the subsidy of the mission fund of the main Anglican body. An active campaign to bring the church to a self-supporting basis was started in earnest seven years ago when Rev. E. C. Moore, well-known rector of the church, took office, and last night's decision was the culmination of this effort, aided by a planning committee which had put many months of study and work in on the project.

Decision to both go over to the new status and to build the new church in instalments was evidence, Rev. Mr. Moore said, that the church had received the full benefit of the great building program which has characterized this up-and-coming section of the city.

Vestry Meeting

The decisions were made at the annual Vestry meeting of the church held before a bumper attendance of adherents, and the broad plan for the new church was adopted unanimously. It will include a modern basement layout, to be built first, which will house facilities, kitchen for church suppers and meetings, meeting rooms and an auditorium to seat about 250 persons. Building of the remainder of the structure will be carried on in successive sections.

Total cost of the new church will probably be more than $100,000 and funds for the first unit will be raised in a campaign now being arranged by the Planning Committee in which a city-wide appeal will be made.

One of the highlights leading to the decision was the committee's report given by Joseph Gaskell, in which he traced the events which led to the decision to use the unit system and called for a ratification of the committee's work. Planning committee members include Rev. Mr. Moore as chairman; Joseph Gaskell, secretary; Ernest Gibson, Edward Rye, E. Gibson, R. Shouldice, E. C. Cooper, Walter Bannon, T. Westwood, W. White, C. Barnes, C. Harloff, A. Green, C. Crouter, Keith Pilkington, P. W. Sargeant, A. Cuffe, W. Firth.

Main report of the evening of church activities of the past year was given by Clarence Harloff, rector's warden, and the report showed the church to be in a sound financial position.

Another feature of the session was the report by Edgar Moore of St. Alban's Mission, an adjunct of St. George's Church, and serving the extreme south end of the parish, which showed the mission had completed the building of its chapel, had increased many times in attendance, and was on a sound operating basis. Mr. Moore is student-in-charge of the mission.

Officers of the church elected included the following:

Rector's warden, Clarence Harloff; people's warden, Arthur Green; lay delegates, Robert Shouldice, Albert Cuff; alternates, Keith Pilkington, Dr. H. Carleton; envelope secretary, Walter White; auditor, John Arnold.

Reports heard included Women's Auxiliary, by Mrs. Robert Arnott; Junior WA, by Mrs. Frank Sullivan; Sanctuary Guild, by Miss Dorothy Mills; Afternoon Guild, by Mrs. Albert Howarth; Evening Guild, by Mrs. A. P. Caccavella; Men's Club, by Arthur Sims; choir, by Thomas Garland; scouts, by Mrs. L. Moore; Ladies' Bowling Club, by Mrs. Moore.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*
can rob you of energy and ambition!

WE ALL KNOW people whose stamina and spirits seem always under par — who lack ambition and drive — who look like pale, tired failures. Often, such effects come from a blood condition. They may indicate a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron. They may mean that your red blood cells may be too faded and puny to transmit full energy to your body. Many women, men and children go dragging through life with this Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor

Take Ironized Yeast Tablets if you're too pale, too tired because of this blood deficiency. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells—thus restore vigor.

Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may come from other conditions—so consult your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood. Take them to start your energy shifting back into "high"—help restore your color! Take them so you can enjoy life again!

Lion's Governor Visits His Home Club

The importance of individual human relations was emphasized by Lion's Governor of District A-3, Stanley Darling, making his first official visit to his home Lion's Club since his election as District Governor last summer.

"Men can build aircraft which ride the stratosphere, but they can't rise above petty animosities. He can develop communication methods which put him in touch with men thousands of miles away, but he can't develop a mental contact with the man next door . . ."

"The only salvation for permanent peace," said Governor Darling, "is the United Nations. In it, 58 nations talk out, rather than fight out, their differences." To suceed, he said, the world organization must be backed by public support.

Develop Goodwill

Work of Lions Clubs and similar groups in providing playgrounds, camps and other facilities for the young people of the community are aiding much in the development of the spirit of goodwill, he said. There must be two points emphasized in the training of youth: "An active interest and confidence in the subjects which interest them, and the entrusting of responsibilities to the youth." This develops the qualities of leadership and participation in their world.

"They must be taught to solve their own problems—not to rely on a government to do it. They must take their place in a world of specialization, technology and business."

Noting the need for public interest in the work of the United Nations, he said that delegates feel there a sense that the world's people do not take an interest in the work. He mentioned the problem of food famine for the growing populations and the basis of Human Rights which is being built under UN.

Strive to Maintain System

"Canada and the United States enjoy liberties not possible in lands opposed to capitalism. We must strive to maintain our system." He cited figures on the relative standards of living in Canada and Russia.

In the Canadian scene, he said that we must stress the factors of unity between the two groups, not the differences.

"We service organizations must help to substitute, for the spirit of ill-will, the universal spirit of good-will. It cannot be denied that the cause of war is the spirit of ill-will as between class and race. This must be wiped out."

James E. Girven introduced the district governor. Thanks of the club were expressed by Roy Crocker. Vice-President James Marshall was chairman of the meeting.

Cars Hit By Freight Three Escape Death

ARNPRIOR, Feb. 1.—(CP). — Two prominent Arnprior men and a brakeman escaped death Monday when a C.N.R. freight train being shunted back and forth near the depot, smashed into two motor cars. The accidents occurred within minutes of each other. Percy J. Lindsay, head of the Arnprior Unemployment Insurance Commission and chairman of the Board of Education, failed to see the train as it was being moved backwards from the station.

Lindsay emerged uninjured except for a shaking up.

Ten minutes later J. A. Macklem, Arnprior tobacconist, emerged uninjured as the approaching train struck the rear left section of his auto.

Reformatory For Women

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — Ontario soon is to have a new reformatory for women, located in the countryside near Toronto, George Dunbar, Provincial Minister of Reform Institutions, announced in an address Monday over the CBC's Ontario network. The present building, the Mercer Reformatory, is outdated, he said. It is located on 6½ acres in west-central Toronto.

Expensive Dinner

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — A well-dressed man came to dinner at Gustav Papson's restaurant in North Toronto Monday and departed $75 richer. The bandit, described as about 25, toyed with his dinner until only one customer was left in the restaurant. He then brandished a revolver and demanded money.

COURAGEOUS ATHLETE

Gene Bearden, Cleveland Indians' pitching star who carries a platinum plate in his head and another in his leg as a result of war injuries, was named "most courageous athlete of 1948" by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association Monday.

Bearden, World Series hero and American rookie of the year, was honored at the Annual Writers banquet along with his manager, Lou Boudreau, who was named the "outstanding athlete of the year."

LOOK WHO'S TALKING

A small group of shoppers were today listening to an indignant citizen orate in a downtown store on the lack of sporting spirit in Peterborough. "Why," he said, "the citizens of this town bellyached for ages about getting an indoor rink to play hockey. Last night at the game between Markham and the Petes there was hardly anybody there. They don't deserve either a rink or a hockey team if they're such poor supporters." The man nearest to him nodded his head as though agreeing with him and then asked "What was the score?" Replied the red-faced booster: "I don't know; I wasn't there." —D.W.

IT'S A LIBEL

After expressing the thanks of the Scots for their hospitable reception in Peterborough on Monday, John Monteith, captain of the visitors, turned to a grimmer subject. The stern finger of duty was pointing and there was no doubt about that. Chairman Adam Sands had innocently referred to a Toronto press dispatch quoting several of the Scots as being tired of the bagpipes, particularly in "unmercifully small rooms." Realizing that the Canadian tour is now at an end and not wanting to be fired upon as he sailed up the Clyde on the return trip with the touring curlers, Mr. Monteith decided to nail that canard once and for all. His voice was sounded in measured tones: "The report is not true, we all love the bagpipes. We're never tired of them." This statement was received with perfect calm and naturalness by all the Scots, second-generation Scots and pseudo-Scots. Only one man smiled, and he was an Englishman masquerading under a tam.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Tony Golab, Ottawa Rough Riders star flying wing, said at Ottawa Monday that Winnipeg Blue Bombers are looking for him as coach and although they have come up with "a very attractive offer,' he hasn't made up his mind yet.

He said the terms of a contract being dangled before him include "$5,000—givet or take a few bucks." There had been no mention whether his playing services would be required.

"I'm not fussy about leaving the Riders," he said, "but I nevertheless intend to give this offer every consideration."

Golab now is serving with the RCAF.

Losing 14 wickets for only 164 runs, India was beaten by the West Indies at Madras Monday in the fourth test cricket match by an innings and 193 runs. Final scores: West Indies 582; India 245 and 144.

The previous three tests had been drawn and one more remains to be played.

Rhodesia was 101 runs ahead of the English touring cricket team at closet of play at Buluwayo in a three day match with which end tomororow.

The English eleven gained a first-innings lead of 19 runs. Then they dismissed half the Rhodesian side in their second innings for 120.

England was all out for 193 after Rhodesia had tallied 174 in the first innings.

Despite the need for lots of money and players, there is nothing but optimism being voiced by enthusiasts behind Edmonton's football Erkimos, returning to the Western Interprovincial League after an eight year absence.

R. Murray Montague, Club President, said at Edmonton today Eskimos have no "grey cup or bust" ideas. "If we can hold public interest, we'll be doing fine," he said.

Executives are confident the Club will turn out a team capable of putting up a good show against the League's other teams — the Canadian champion Calgary Stampeders, Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The largest purse in the history of Ontario harness racing will be at stake in the Canadian Pacing Derby at New Hamburg next Aug. 10. The purse was set at $5,000 by the New Hamburg Turf Club. The Derby trial prize will be increased from $750 to $1,000.

Edward Pfaff was re-elected president of the Club for his ninth term and E. C. Katzenmeier was returned for his 14th term as secretary.

Ex-Tennis King Faces Moral Offence Charge

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—(AP). —William T. (Big Bill) Tilden, king of the tennis world an athletic generation ago, Monday night was charged with a moral offence against a boy for the second time in two years.

The charges are contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old and violation of parole imposed in the previous case.

"I don't know anything about this, therefore there's little I can say except that I think a great error has been made and I think I can prove that conclusively later," Tilden said when he was booked into the county jail last night.

Tilden was accused of picking up an Inglewood youth who was hitch-hiking last Friday, driving the boy to Santa Monica and making improper advances to him.

Rabbit Plague Hits New High

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 1. — (Reuters).—Australia is suffering from what is regarded here as the worst rabbit plague in her history, although record numbers of rabbits are being killed.

Years ago Australia imported the rabbit. Despite the contribution he makes to the dollar funds of the sterling area, it would pay Australia to exterminate nim, because his bill for room and board is much greater than the money he brings in.

No one knows how many rabbits Australia has. The commonwealth department of agriculture said that 140,000,000 were killed last year. But this caused no noticeable decrease in their numbers.

Reports from all states indicate that the pest is multiplying rapidly.

Six to 10 rabbits are believed to consume as much pasture as would feed one sheep. A sheep produces wool which will sell for nearly twice as much as the skins and carcasses of the 10 rabbits. The rabbits also eat grass roots, reducing growth and contributing to soil erosion.

Spitfire Officials Unhappy Over Outcome Of Emms' Uproar

By The Canadian Press

Officials of Windsor Spitfires aren't happy over the final outcome of the so-called "Farcical conduct staged by coach Leighton (Happy) Emms and his Barrie Flyers fans.

The Windsor manager, Lloyd Pollock, announced Monday night that his club will protest the Ontario Hockey Association executives ruling on a Junior A game in Barrie last Friday that was called by referees in the third period. Windsor was leading 4-2.

O. H. A. President J. J. (Tiny) McFadyen ordered the two teams to complete the game when the two clubs clash Wednesday night. There were six minutes remaining when the officials called the game because the fans frequently littered the ice with miscellaneous objects and Emms temporarily ordered his team off the ice over a disallowed goal.

Lots to Say

Pollock said that for less serious charges than those brought against Emms, Windsor coach Jimmy Skinner was handed a 15-game suspension last year. Windsor has not yet been notified officially on the ruling but when they are "we will have plenty to say about it," he said.

The ruling which dismissed charges of missile throwing against the fans and misconduct against Emms with a reprimand and warning were "lukewarm" Pollock added. He said that Emms had appeared before the Board in the past and has been handed similar warnings without any direct action being taken.

Second-place Tie

But while the leading Spitfires argued it out, Stratford Kroehlers jumped into a second-place tie with the Flyers defeating Oshawa Generals 8-1 Monday night. They are eight points behind Windsor. In the Senior A race Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen downed the last -place Stratford Indians 10-3.

The Kroehlers moved into a 1-0 lead in the first period, held a 4-1 margin at the end of the second and then added four unanswered goals in the third frame.

Pierre Cadieux paced the point-getters with three goals while teammates Danny Lewicki, Dinny Flanagan, Armstrong, Jimmy Pernfuss and Joe Bragagnolo got singletons. Ted O'Connor earned Oshawa's only point.

The Indians made their last scheduled appearance at Waterloo as they took the defensive throughout the game. Kitchener drove into a 5-0 lead in the period, added five more in the second and then were outscored in the final period 2-1. In the third period Dutchmen used five forwards in an effort to fatten the score.

Don Bauer, Billy Curick, Mickey Roth and Mike Dzuira scored twice for the Dutchmen. Bill Dinning and Sparky Weller tallied once apiece. Jackie Brooman, Ken Stemmler and Dune Daniels scored for Stratford.

Your bank account is one of seven million. You keep it in the bank of your choice. A bank exists by the confidence of its depositors. You're the boss.

YOUR banks operate under charters granted by Parliament, which every ten years reviews and revises them.

Above all, the depositor is the controlling factor—the safety of depositors' funds is a bank's first concern. As a depositor exercising your free choice—yours is the power which keeps the bank alert to your needs.

And it works out. Impartial authorities have called Canada's banking system one of the soundest and most efficient in the world.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied—where every bank is a political tool, every banker a State official! State monopoly of banking, proposed by socialists here, would open your banking transactions to political intrusion.

Hollywood Costs Are Too High For Fairbanks

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1 (AP). — Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is postponing his Hollywood productions because of current conditions.

"It costs too much here to make the kind of picture I want to make," he told me, "so I am concentrating on a couple of films in England. Meanwhile, I will continue preparing pictures and will make them here when the situation becomes more settled."

Doug soon goes out on the road to sell his latest production, "The Fighting O'Flynn."

Red Skelton says the deal for him to jump from NBC to CBS hasn't yet been settled. But it looks probable. Red is particularly interested in the new set-up because of the television angle. He has big plans of video.

Reports of Walt Disney going into television are premature. He has been keeping his eye on the new medium for some time, but so far has made no move toward it.

Despite his living with so many, Bob says, "I still don't understand women any better than I did when I married, which understanding was nil at the time."

Irish Fear Tourist Trade Slump Say Decline Started Christmas

By STUART UNDERHILL

DUBLIN, Feb. 1—(CP).—The Irish have a suspicion that their tourist trade is going into a decline. First hint of a slackening came at Christmas when Dublin hotel-keepers found themselves with scores of empty rooms. Some of them put their staffs on a part-time basis. Explanation may lie in the fact there is less spending money in Britain.

Most tourists come from the neighboring island, hungry for Eire's cream, eggs and beefsteaks. Taxes and the high cost of living now absorb their travel money.

Dubliners are still a little stunned by the post-war popularity of their city. It's the goal of most tourists—a matter of concern to Government officials, who would like to see the visitors distributing their pounds more evenly throughout the country.

Increased Revenue

Even so, the revenue has claimed to about five time what it was before the war. The best pre-war tourist year was 1938, when between £5,000,000 and £6,000,000 found its way into the country.

In 1945 the visitors disbursed £12,000,000. In 1946 they spent £18,000,000 and in 1947 £28,000,000. Figures for 1948 are not yet available but probably are as much, if not more.

Irish tourist officials realize that competition for tourists is becoming keener, particularly in Western Europe. They themselves are anxious to attract more Americans and Canadians to Eire.

Once it gets visitors into the country, the Irish Tourist Board hopes to chase them into rural areas.

Railways Lose Money

A call for nationalization of Irish transport comes from the national executive of the Irish Trade Union Congress.

A statement said under the existing setup, public companies, particularly railways, had to maintain expensive systems even in slack periods, whereas private operators worked only when traffic was heaviest.

"Small wonder that, competing under such inequitable conditions, no transport company has found it possible in peace time to maintain solvency," it added.

The terrible cost of war will continue to be paid by those who suffer in their bodies and minds as the result of the service they rendered to their country."

Operator Promises To Provide Service

Ivan Fletcher, operator of the Keene Bus, denied today that children were being left in the vicinity of Downer's Corners and not being taken to school. Last week residents of the area complained that the buses failed to operate, but he said that cars were sent to get the children but they had not waited. He also intimated that instead of 19 using the bus daily it was only eight or nine.

However, he promised that an additional service is being organized and that in the future every child who wants to use a bus to go to school will be accommodated.

Release Model Plans For Home For Aged

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP) — As a guide to municipalities the Ontario Welfare Department Sunday released plans of a model institution for the aged, envisaging groups of one-storey buildings, fire-proof and providing all the comforts and conveniences that aged people could wish for.

The province is ready to contribute 25 per cent of the construction cost of such new homes. Deputy Welfare Minister B. W. Heise stated that the whole arrangement provides for constant supervision, and such institutions should be self-supporting.

Apart from these suggested homes however there still is a place for boarding and foster homes, said Mr. Heise, particularly in the larger centres.

Skipper Gets To Shore Saves Crew

Men Lashed To Mast As Ship Sinks; Lifeline Saves Seven

ISAAC'S HARBOR LIGHT, N. S., Feb. 2—(CP)—In ocean-ringed Nova Scotia, where tales of heroism at sea are common, the story of Capt. Land Lace's rescue of seven men yesterday will do down with the best of them.

The 22-year-old Lunenburg, N. S., skipper plunged into the pounding surf from his shipwrecked dragger to carry a life line ashore. Hand over hand, his seven crew members followed the line through an icy sea to safety.

His 29-ton ship, the Marie Brenda, out of Lunenburg, dragged her anchors in a howling gale early Tuesday and piled aground on a ledge near this spit of land on Nova Scotia's north shore.

Gale-driven snow whipped across the freezing sea. Battering seas ground the wooden hull of the tiny dragger against jagged rocks, punching holes in the bottom. The ship began to break up under the crew's feet.

Lashed to Mast

Soaked and numbed by the wind and the seas that piled over their craft, the crew clung to the wreck for nearly eight hours. Some of them lashed themselves to the mast to prevent being washed overboard.

With no help in sight—the men could not be seen from the lighthouse—Seaman Joseph Fry attempted unsuccessfully to swim ashore with a line.

Then Capt. Lace, the son of a Lunenburg sea captain, tied the line to his waist and dived overboard. After a herculean battle with the sea, he reached shore.

He tied the line to a tree as the Marie Brenda threatened to go under after the terrific punishment she had absorbed.

One at a time, the men caught the line and passed along it to safety. It took two hours for the seven men to reach shore.

Two In Hospital

In hospital at the nearby university town of Antigonish were Gordon Acker, the cook, and Fry. They were suffering from frostbite. Acker, weak from exhaustion, almost collapsed as he reached the ledge. It was Fry who reached down and yanked him out of the water.

TODAY IS GROUNDHOG DAY and according to this stuffed character casting his shadow across a calendar pad, there will be another six weeks of today's kind of weather. Another indication comes from the Filtration Park zoo where it is learned that the bear is still in deep sleep. RCAF Begins Mercy Flight

EDMONTON, Feb. 2—(CP)—Two RCAF planes today are bound on a mercy mission to a tiny Eskimo village in the Canadian Arctic where last reports said half the 17 persons were dead form a mysterious disease.

Loaded with medical supplies, the Dakotas took off from Edmonton Tuesday and headed for Cresswell Bay on Somerset Island, 400 miles inside the Arctic Circle. The flight was arranged when a three-months-old report, carried out by dog team, disclosed the tragedy.

Preparations for the mercy mission took almost two weeks. A plane from Central Command at Trenton, Ont., was flown to Edmonton where another was being fitted with special landing gear.

Gets 10-Month Term For Shooting Brother

WHITBY, Feb. 2 — (CP). — Earl Hopkins, 27-year-old Uxbridge farmer, to-day was sentenced to 10 months on a charge of wounding his brother Marlin, 32, during a drinking bout at an Uxbridge farm house last November 25. An Assize Court jury reduced the charge against Hopkins from attempted murder and brought in a recommendation of leniency.

Evidence was that Earl quarrelled with his brother during a party and left the house. He returned later with a shotgun and fired a blast through a window.

Norway Refuses To Grant Bases Unless Attacked

OSLO, Feb. 2—(AP)—Norway has politely but firmly informed Russia it is necessary for Norway to seek "increased security" through defensive co-operation, such as ties with the western powers.

The Norwegian reply to a Soviet note asking about Norway's position on the Atlantic Security Pact reassured Russia, however, that Norway would not grant bases on her soil to foreign powers unless she is attacked or threatened with aggression.

The United State state department said the United States hopes Norway soon will be brought back into discussion of the Atlantic pact, which would link the defences of the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Norway said she will study the possibilities for joining a regional defence alliance with the Atlantic powers. The reply pointed to Norway's interdependence with the west and the fact that she borders on the Atlantic Ocean.

The Norwegian reply, delivered by Foreign Minister Halvard Lange to the Russian ambassador in Oslo yesterday, said Norway had hoped the United Nations would provide the strength necessary to maintain peace and security for the world, but this had not materialized.

Concern for her security had convinced Norway of the necessity to seek increased safety through regional defensive co-operation.

Attempts to create a defensive alliance of the three Scandinavian powers — Norway, Sweden and Denmark—failed, the note pointed out.

"Norway will make further studies to establish under which forms and conditions Norway possibly could participate in a regional security system," Norway said.

Commons Refuses Debate On Danger of New War

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CP).—The ominous, anxious question of war fell like a scarlet thread across the fabric of an otherwise untroubled Throne Speech debate in the Commons yesterday. It appeared periodically, but persistently, through the patchwork of debate as members on both sides of the Chamber aired grievances of their constituents and disclosed a consciousness of the troubled situation abroad.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, brought it to the fore in the very opening minutes of the sitting when he sought unsuccessfully to open an emergency debate on the possibilities of war with Russia, possibilities which he said had been indicated by a Government member.

Speaker Gaspard Fauteux ruled his motion out of order on the ground the question could be discussed in the debate now in progress. Mr. Drew contested the Speaker's decision and, in the ensuing division, Dr. Fauteux was upheld by a vote of 133 to 55.

War In 3 Months

Mr. Drew said Walter Harris, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister St. Laurent, had been quoted in the Toronto Star as saying in a speech at Brantford, 10 days ago that war with Russia might come in three months. If this was true, the chamber should be given all the facts in the government's possession.

Mr. Harris later told the House he had stressed the fact that the igning of the Atlantic Security Pact, which may come in three months, would be "the most effective step that Canada could take to protect herself against aggressors and to insure the peace of the world."

Fire Damages Lakefield Home

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 2—A electric heater thawing a frozen water pipe in the home of Councillor Ken Morris caused a fire that spread to two upper rooms about 11 o'clock this morning.

A gunny sack was wrapped around the pipe in the basement, and the heater was placed near it. Mrs. Morrison noticed the odor of smoke but at first thought it was from the furnace. Extensive damage resulted in the northeast corner of the house as, apparently, the wrapper bag caught fire and flames crept up the wall into the living room and bathroom. The Morris house is on Concession St.

Lakefield fire brigade responded promptly and confined the flames to the corner rooms. Both fire engines were used. Comments were complimentary to the effective work of the firemen. Estimate of damage could not be obtained at noon.

Police Say Arrest Leads To Safecrackers

TORONTO, Feb. 2—(CP)—Police believe the arrest last night of Milford Nash gives them "A definite lead" on the safecracking gang which robbed the Pickering, Canadian National Railways station of 65 money orders.

Nash has been charged with uttering forged money orders and receiving more than $1,000 in cash and merchandise. The money orders were cashed in Toronto and suburbs, Hamilton, London and Windsor.

Police are certain Nash didn't take part in the station robbery, but acted as a "passer".

Coast Guard Finds Vessel In Distress

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 2 (AP)—The United States Coast Guard said today that a motor lifeboat had reached a vessel which had been sending out distress signals off Anclote Key, Fla., but that it was not yet possible to determine how many persons were aboard or any other details.

The 25-foot lifeboat, directed to the scene by a circling army plane, reached the vessel at about 4:30 a.m. EST after dramatic combined sea and air operations.

The ship's distress signals were heard from New York to Miami and up the Gulf of Mexico to New Orleans. Anclote Key is about 25 miles northwest of Tampa on Florida's west coast.

Stoke Up Furnace For Six More Weeks Cold Groundhog Expected To See His Shadow

By The Canadian Press

From Halifax to the foothills of the Rockies the groundhog stood a good chance of seeing his shadow if he poked his head out of his burrow today. And that, according to the old wives' tales, means six more weeks of cold weather. In the north the bear performs the same function.

The weathermen—who profess not to believe in old wives' tales—says skies are clear today from the Atlantic to Alberta. In British Columbia sunshine was fitful.

But if the furry little rodent stuck his nose out of his hole today he was likely to get it nipped. Some temperatures were well below zero. At White River, Ont., it was 40 below; Winnipeg and Regina, 22 below; Edmonton, 4 below; Calgary, 13 below. Vancouver enjoyed a comparatively mild 33 above, Halifax, 31 above, and Toronto, 16 above.

Say Damage Half Million In Two Fires

Basketball Players And Crowd Flee Blazing Chesley School

By The Canadian Press.

Fire damage estimated at half a million dollars is the result of two fires in Western Ontario Tuesday night at Chesley and Jordan Station.

Chesley loss is estimated at $400,000 in the fire which gutted the 17-room combination public and High School, leaving only blackened brick walls standing. Insurance carried amounted to only $150,000.

"We were licked from the start," declared Thomas Soper, chief of the 10-man volunteer fire brigade in this town 25 miles south of Owen Sound. Smoke was so heavy that firemen found it impossible to stay in the building to fight the blaze.

Several firemen and volunteer helpers were almost overcome by smoke, but managed to escape the building without assistance.

H. A. Doubt, member of the Board of Education and a past chairman, first noticed the smoke issuing from the ventilator and from cracks in Public School Principal H. S. Sanderson's office during a meeting of the Board. He turned in the alarm.

Players See Smoke

At almost the same time smoke was noticed by players and spectators in a Kincardine-Chesley High School boys basketball game in the gymnasium, located in the basement of a $65,000 addition erected 10 years ago.

Laughter greeted th efirst cries of "fire" but it quickly became evident that the shouts were no joke. None had difficulty in escaping, but several players lost their street clothing, and some Kincardine students rode home clad only in running shoes and gym shorts.

The fire originated in a cupboard under the stairs leading into the basement from the old part of the building. High School Principal O. A. Kalbfleisch emptied two fire extinguishers into the flames, and at that time the fire was so limited in area that this action came close to quelling it.

Then it spread like quicksilver. In spite of prompt arrival of the fire brigade it raced up partitions and broke through the roof, where it was fanned by a stiff wind. It floodlighted the town and brought spectators from miles around.

Blame Oily Rags

Principal Kalbfleisch blamed faulty electric wiring for the fire, but Fire Chief Soper disagreed, expressing the belief it was caused by combustion among oily rags Th building was completely rewired in 1938 when the addition was erected.

Floors of the school were oiled regularly. Elizabeth Buckley, a teacher, reported that she smelled smoke at noon on Tuesday.

All Jerusalem Under Israel

JERUSALEM, Feb. 2 (AP). — Formal inclusion of the modern part of Jerusalem within the sovereign boundaries of Israel may be announced soon.

Authoritative Jewish sources said to-day they believed the government's decision to end the emergency military governorship in the new city of Jerusalem and introduce a regular Jewish civil administration was preliminary to such a step.

Military Governor Dov Joseph, native of Montreal, began winding up his emergency administration to-day. He established his governorship last August while Jerusalem's 85,000 or more Jews were under Arab siege.

The Palestine Post said it was believed the Israeli government discussed the civil administration with American, Russian, and the French representatives before taking the step.

The newspaper said neither France nor Russia was strongly attached to the idea of making Jerusalem an international city, as proposed under the 1947 United Nations partition scheme.

Similar charges against his common-law wife, Betty Ryckman, 28, also of Hamilton, were dismissed. Both were arrested in Peterborough last week.

Russians Shift Tactics, Bolster Chiang

By JAMES D. WHITE

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2 (AP) — Chiang Kai-shek's plan to fight on in South China, if peace efforts fail, appeared today to be getting snarled in a tangle of intrigue.

All parties appear bent on trying to split the others into factions, with considerable prospect of success.

The picture becomes clear only if one basic assumption, which cannot yet be proved but for which there is considerable evidence, is granted. This is the probable Soviet fear that the Chinese Communists are getting too powerful, or biting off more militarily than they can chew politically.

Observers are asking why else —with a Chinese Communist victory in sight—should Russia bother now to conclude a trade agreement with the Nationalist government for Sinkiang? This could be just an appeasement to Moscow to deprive the Communists of that rich northwest area.

Russians Co-operating

However, the Russians appear to be co-operating by moving Ambassador N. V. Roschin to Canton with the government from which Chiang retired at least for the time being. Roschin left Nanking by plane today for Canton.

The move cannot help but bolster the Nationalists' waning prestige and cause heartburn in the Communist camp.

It is believed the Chinese Communists are split into pro-Soviet and Nationalistic factions. The Manchurian Communist, being nearer Russia, would naturally follow a more pro-Moscow line. The Agrarian Reds of Mao Tze-lung, top Communist leader, would be more concerned with purely Chinese problems.

May Fly To Reds

NANKING, Feb. 2—(AP). — Acting President Li Tsung-jen may fly to Communist territory to try for peace.

Sources close to Li said today he had the flight under consideration but that it would be made only if all other peace efforts collapsed.

Li is high on the Communist list of war criminals. Many doubt that he would make more than a local peace involving Nanking, Shanghai and Hankow and the rest of the lower Yangtze valley.

"The time has passed," said one Chinese leader, "when Li or anyone other than Chiang Kai-shek can make a National agreement. There is doubt that Chiang could make a pact binding on all areas of China."

Have Wanted To Pay Visit To Washington For Long Time, Stalin Says, But Doctors Advise Against Ocean Trip

PARIS, Feb. 2—(Reuters).—Prime Minister Stalin today invited President Truman to meet him either in Moscow, Kaliningrad, Odessa or Yalta—"wherever the President chooses." The invitation was made in a telegram sent to the International News Service Paris office and reproduced in a special edition of the evening newspaper France Soir. Stalin's telegram said the meeting could be alternatively arranged in Poland or Czechoslovakia if there were any objections to a meeting in Russia.

The message, marked "Telegram, Official, Urgent," was addressed to Kingsbury Smith, European director of the news agency. It apparently was in reply to a telegram sent by Smith to the Kremlin yesterday.

Stalin said he had for a long time wanted to go to Washington, but he was medically advised against a long journey by sea or air.

Given Priority

Smith was the journalist who put the four questions to Stalin, answers to which were broadcast by the Moscow radio Sunday.

He asked whether Stalin would be prepared to confer with Truman at a mutually suitable place to discuss the possibility of concluding a pact with the United States asserting that they "have no intention of resorting to war against one another."

Stalin replied: "I have already stated before that there is no objection to a meeting."

A White House spokesman said Monday that Truman was willing to see Stalin provided the meeting was held in Washington.

France Soir, under the banner headline "Stalin invites Truman," carried the text of Stalin's cable, which it said had been delivered in duplicate in English.

The first copy bore the words "government of U.S.S.R. priority."

Curious Note

Hendry C. Cassidy, NBC commentator in Paris, said in a broadcast to the United States this morning there was "one curious note about the message from Stalin."

"He tells Kingsbury Smith he is grateful to President Truman for his invitation, apparently referring to remarks the President has made in press and radio conferences," Cassidy said.

"Stalin may be laboring under the wrong impression that Kingsbury Smith is acting as an official intermediary, an impression that Smith here in Paris would be the first to deny.

"But the new message, despite the skepticism that greeted the

Police Try To Gratify Dying Mother's Wish

OSHAWA, Feb. 2 — (CP)— Police in two provinces today sought to gratify a dying mother's wish to see her son. Mrs. Austin Hooper, given two weeks to live, keeps calling for her 18-year-old son, Douglas. The family hasn't heard from him since last September after he went west to work on a cattle ranch. His last letter was postmarked Winnipeg.

Queen's Interest In British War Bride Speeds Family's Return Home From Canada

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 2—(CP).—Queen Elizabeth's interest in the plight of a British war bride and her four children here speeded their return to the mother's former home in England.

To prevent any new "incident" in the wartime wedding that failed, city welfare officials delayed announcement until today that Mrs. Mary Klinkhammer had left Monday for the home of her mother, Mrs. Ada Lyons, Wiston, Eng. The family had been on relief here.

Worried over her daughters' problems, Mrs. Lyons wrote to the Queen for aid. Her Majesty in turn wrote to Viscountess Alexander in Canada, who asked Brig. G. W. Robinson here to look into the case.

It resulted in the welfare branch and the family service bureau arranging with city council for funds to return the family to England.

Health Costs Up 400 P.C. In 21 Years

An outline of the Federal Government's $30,000,000 National Health Program, consisting of grants to the provinces on Tuesday night was given to the Peterborough Branch, Health League of Canada, by Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, Deputy Minister of National Health.

Dr. Cameron, son of Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Cameron of PePterborough, was the speaker chosen to launch National Health Week. His subject was "Trends In National Health Activities".

The $30,000,000 to be granted each year is to assist the provinces in strengthening their health services and extending their programs, he said.

He gave high praise to the work being done by phovincial and municipal health authorities, and affirmed that theirs was the primary responsibility. But the increased expenditures on health have made it imperative that the federal government lend financial aid.

"In 1926 the provinces were spending $1.12 per capita on all forms of health work, in 1947 this had risen to $5.05 per capita. Clearly this trend made the problem of health also every much a problem of finance to the point where provincial budgets could not easily tolerate additional health activities, not for health policy reasons, but for lack of additional financial resources."

Apart from Marine Hospitals the Federal Government was given no jurisdiction over matters of health in the British North America Act of 1867; that responsibility was given to the provinces.

It became gradually necessary that this be changed, he said. "The authors of the B.N.A. Act went as far as they could with the knowledge at their disposal. To suc-

Toronto Driver Gets $4,000 Bail

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP).— Virgil Barkman, 49-year-old barber, was remanded for a week when he appeared for preliminary hearing to-day on a manslaughter charge arising out of the highway death of William Miller, 21, early last Sunday. He was released on $4,000 bail.

Police said no charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident would be laid. Barkman voluntarily ended a widespread search yesterday by walking into a Toronto police station and saying: "I am the man you are looking for."

Get $15,000 Damages For Accident Injuries

WHITBY, Feb. 2—(CP) — An out-of-court settlement today gave Hollis W. Williams and Kathleen I. Irwin of Oshawa a reported $15,000 damages for injuries suffered in a traffic accident near Peterborough last Sept. 5.

They had sued Ruth Adams of Toronto, owner of the car that collided with one in which they were riding, and the case was slated for trial at the current Suprmee Court assizes. Mr. Justice T. Smily accepted the out-of-court settlement.

Warn Breeders Show Cattle Unprofitable

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP)—Ontario livestock breeders whose animals carry off the blue ribbons at the big fairs may be losing sight of their best source of income: meat sale at the corner butcher shop.

Prof. R. G. Knox of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph yesterday told the Ontario Shorthorn Club's annual meeting that show ring standards and commercial demands are becoming too far apart. He said the difference between the commercial Shorthorn steer and the beribboned champion of the sohws usually is a matter of fat.

Desirable characteristics of livestock are those which will pay off for the farmer rather than those which might catch the eye of present-day show ring judges, he said.

Favors Marginal Land

Prof. Knox said he felt that Ontario could maintain more cattle to the acre by use of so-called marginal land and hills.

Such lands could contribute enormously to the intensity of farming on better lands," he said. "Education and research are futile unless they result in an action program which, like the spring rains, sinks well down to the roots."

Prof. Knox said he believed United States beef prices soon would fall. He said U.S. production of pork and poultry during 1949 is expected to be heavy.

T. C. Amos of Moffat was re-elected president of the Shorthorn breeders.

The Canadian Jersey Cattle Culb passed a resolution criticizing yellow coloring of margarine. Ontario directors of the association named for the coming year are: Co. Bartley Bull of Brampton, F. M. Chapman of Pickering, Harry Collins of Woodstock, J. W. Pawley of Caledon, and W. D. Thompson of Brooklin.

Anything To Keep Client

MOFFAT, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP)—Grocer R. S. Eisley, 60, would go through fire to keep a customer. Noticing flames shooting from a house across from his store in this village 15 miles from Guelph, he raced inside Monday and dragged out Harry Smith, 45, unconscious just before the fire engulfed the three-room cottage. He told interviewers: "he's a good customer."

ceeding generations has fallen the job of interpreting their intent and evolving a working pattern for the developing problems of our time."

In 1944 an Act was passed to establish a Department of National Health and Welfare, in which it was stated that "co-operation with provincial authorities with a view to the co-ordination of efforts made or proposed for preserving and improving the public health"..... should be one of the duties of the new department.

Increased Responsibility

Dr. Cameron said that two other evidences of increased Federal responsibility are proposals relating to health laid before the Dominion-Provincial conference in 1945 and the grants program announced in May, 1948.

Financial aid from the Federal Government thus supports the provinces in extending their health programs beyond the range of provincial resources.

He then reviewed Canada's present health problem. And he chose the mortality rates as a conventional index.

"A glance at the chief causes of death is revealing," said Dr. Cameron. "Among infants, the two leading causes, in order of importance, are prematurity and respiratory infections; in children from one to four years old, respiratory infections and accidents; in those from five to 14, accidents and tuberculosis; from 15 to 40, tuberculosis and accidents; and from 40 on, heart disease and cancer.'"

"This list is notable for two features: The absence of the old-time scourges like diphtheria and typhoid, and the prominence and deadliness of accidents, tuberculosis, heart disease and cancer."

Control Diseases

He asked his listeners to note that some of the diseases are controllable if available knowledge is systematically applied—such as venereal disease, tuberculosis, diphtheria and typhoid.

"The remainder: chicken-pox, measles, mumps and scarlet fever go on their merry way, although fortunately scarlet fever has greatly moderated in recent years."

Dr. Cameron referred briefly to mental diseases, and asserted that there are now 50,000 people in mental institutions. Each year 10,000 more are committed for the first time for treatment.

"In addition," he said, "there are many in every community who are in difficulty, but who cannot or will not go to mental hospital.

Accidents, tuberculosis, cancer, heart disease and mental disease present a real challenge to our determination and resourcefulness," the Deputy Minister concluded.

"The contagious diseases which once took such a frightful toll, especially in childhood, have receded to the background, but we must remember they have not disappeared and can re-attack if we let down our defences. There are still great destroyers to be overcome such as influenza and poliomyelitis, and venereal disease is far from beaten."

"Finally, we must acknowledge a woeful lack of precise knowledge about non-fatal, non-contagious illness in the community."

The 10 grants to the provinces are all governed by the same principle: payable only to provinces for the support of health projects which they propose and carry out under their own direction.

Two Conditions

Two conditions are attached before they are made: first, they must be for new services or expansion of existing services, or, in the case of hospital construction and cancer grants, they are to be matched by provincial expenditures; second, although generally made on a population basis, an adjustment has been made in the case of the smaller provinces by establishing a minimum grant.

Grants may be regarded as falling into two groups: those to assist in providing additional public health facilities, and those directed at specific diseases or conditions.

A list of the grants follows:

The Health Survey Grant, amounting to $625,000, of which Ontario's share is $196,570, is designed to assist the provinces in assessing their present facilities and arrangements and deciding on ways and means of improving and extending their services and of determining priorities.

Ontario's share of the $4,395,000 General Public Health Grant is $1,466,150. It is to assist in strengthening the general public health services. Allocation is on the basis of 35 cents per capita to be raised at the rate of five cents a year to 50 cents per capita.

To assist the provinces in training public health and hospital staffs a Professional Training Grant has been made. Ontario's share is $158,777. Projects amounting to $65,000 or about 40 per cent of the total have already been approved.

Of special interest to citizens of Peterborough is the Hospital Construction Grant, the largest one. It amounts to $13,000,000 annually, and Ontario's share is $4,336,439. This is an annual grant for five years and, unlike the others it is cumulative. It is to assist in the provision of urgently-needed beds.

For each active treatment bed provided there will be a grant of $1,000, and for each chronic or convalescent bed $1,500. The province makes an equal grant.

Used For Research

A Public Health Research Grant of $100,000 which may be increased by the same amount annually to a maximum of $500,000 is to assist the provinces in stimulating and developing public health research. This will be available to the provinces jointly or individually. All projects will first be approved by the Dominion Council of Health assisted by a technical reviewing committee.

Research Health Costs Grant

Dr. Cameron emphasized that this grant is specifically for public health research and not for medical research. Thus it does not conflict with the growing research program of the National Cancer Institute.

Under the specific grant group are:

Tuberculosis Control Grant of $3,000,000, Venereal Disease Control Grant is $91,732. The money is used to increase detection and treatment facilities and to provide drugs.

The Mental Health Grant of $4,000,000, increasable to $7,000,000 is to assist in the prevention of mental illness. Ontario gets $1,284,235.

A cancer grant of $3,500,000 to be matched, dollar for dollar by the provinces has been made. Ontario's share is $1,167,503.

The last of these grants is to aid in the establishment of an intensive program for prevention, correction, rehabilitation and training services for crippled children. It amounts to $500,000, of which Ontario gets $158,777.

Constant Vigilance

The price of freedom is constant vigilance—and this too is the price of freedom from disease. In this city, under the energetic leadership of Dr. Kelly, the health department, strongly backed by provincial health officers, is doing all within its power. But there is a greater power that resides in the people—and this is best made vocal and organized into effective action by voluntary agencies such as the Health League of Canada."

"Your task is to develop an informed and interested public opinion to support all forward movement toward better health. This is truly a great objective and one that is deserving of generous and untiring support."

Dr. Cameron was introduced by G. Winder Smith, Headmaster of Lakefield Preparatory School and he was thanked by several speakers at the head table. George Gillespie was in the chair.

OFF TO NORWAY—Miss Betty Mitchell, Winnipeg Canadian and North American ladies' speed skating champion, photographed at Montreal Airport with W. E. Catching Train At Three, No Four O'Clock Gets Abusive With Officer, Lands In Jail

A brief flurry of words in police court today included the statement of a prisoner in the dock that a city police officer was "a bully." Edward Pinch, Toronto, found guilty on a charge of vagrancy, was referring to PC Reg. McMillan who had arrested him.

PC McMillan testified that he had met the accused at four o'clock in the morning. Pinch had informed him that he was going to meet a three o'clock train. Reminded of the time, he then said that he was meeting a four o'clock train. The officer told him there was no train at that hour. Pinch, said the witness, told him it was "none of your business." He said the accused's talk had been abusive and that he had been brought to the station.

From the box, Pinch said "he's a bully and he's always been a bully." He declined to go into the witness box to repeat his story under oath, although Magistrate Philp told him that otherwise it was of no value to the court.

Base Metals Slump On Stock Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP). — Base metals moved downwards at an increasing pace on the Stock Exchange to-day as selling pressure increased recent easier sessions. Golds weathered early profit-taking, climbing steadily and industrials firmed for the first time in more than a week. A handful of Western oils dipped into lower ground.

The Exchange's 1 p.m. index showed industrials up .38 at 177.08, golds up .68 at 98.70, base metals down 1.19 at 104.44, Western oils down .63 at 54.57. Volume for the first three hours was 653,000 shares, about 97,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period. Almost all base metal issues sagged in active trading.

Golds opened weakly, bucking profit-taking, but resumed their last two days of advances. Lake Shore, Kerr Addison, and Hollinger rose fractionally in the seniors and gains ranged up to 10 cents in junior producers.

Paisley and Hanover fire brigades, from nine and 13 miles distant assisted the local firemen. With four hydrants and water from the nearby Saugeen River, there was no lack of water.

Fears were felt for a time for surrounding buildings, including houses and apartments, although none of them was close to the school. With the school's tower and the floors collapsing, sending the contents of the school crashing into the basement, sparks and burning debris flew in every direction. Flames spread from the old section to the new part.

Frances Elliott, Home Economics teacher, was preparing refreshments on the second floor for the visiting students and their Chesley rivals when the fire broke out. With her were two other teachers, Marjorie Doubt and Luella Prues.

Chesley business men and private citizens served hot soup, coffee and sandwiches to the firemen.

The fire was still smouldering in the ruins at 10 a.m. today. A barricade was being erected around the walls to keep curious children out, as fear was felt the walls might collapse.

Factory Burned

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 2—(CP)—Fanned by a 40-mile wind, flames roared through the Corbett basket factory near Jordan Station Tuesday night reducing the $100,000 factory to a heap of glowing embers and twisted machinery.

Hampered by a lack of water, firemen used their feeble supply to soak a nearby house and prevent further damage. Thousands of people gathered from the nearby communities of Beamsville and Jordan as the mounting flames could be seen clearly in St. Catharines, 10 miles away.

A house owned by Oscar Disher of Jordan was directly in the path of the flames less than 50 yards from the burning factory and was bombarded for two hours with a hail of basket-sized glowing embers. Streams of water were kept playing on the face of the building, and snow was thrown against the outbuildings in an effort to keep them cool.

No one was in the factory at the time of the fire and when firemen arrived in response to a telephone call flames were already licking out through the roof next to the chimney. There was a furnace kept going all night at the factory.

Firemen could do little but stand and watch as the flames roared up through the roof which collapsed soon after.

Trinity College Boy To Attend Conference

TORONTO, Feb. 2—Seventeen-year-old Charles Margrave Taylor is going to see some of the world beyond the borders of Canada sooner than he expected.

Third-year student at Trinity College School, Port Hope, has been chosen to represent Canadian secondary school boys at an international forum in England organized by the London Daily Mail. One boy and one girl from each of 13 countries will be flown to England where they will spend two months gaining the fullest possible knowledge of Britain, her people and institutions.

"He is a particularly gifted boy and is extraordinarily well suited to represent Canada in an international conference," said Headmaster P. A. C. Ketchum yesterday.

Hospital Workers Strike In France

PARIS, Feb. 2 (AP)—Approximately 10,000 hospital workers started a 48-hour strike in the Paris region today, but no urgent medical services were interrupted. The strike affected only hospitals aided by public funds."

"Registered" personnel such as doctors, nurses and dispensers of medicines were not involved. In most hospitals strikers stayed near their posts and answered urgent calls from the medical personnel.

The hospital workers asked wage boosts, but the amounts were not specified.

previous one, puts more emphasis on the Soviet peace offensive. Reaction is not yet available but European diplomats can hardly be less skeptical of this than of the other."

Premier Henry Queuille today offered Paris as a meeting place for Prime Minister Stalin and President Truman.

Queuille was replying to a questioner at the Anglo-American Press Association luncheon here.

He said during a speech: "To assure the peace of the world and see all conflicts settled is what I want most in the world. But to do this we need actions, not words."

Nothing Received

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—(AP)—The White House said today that President Truman has not received an invitation from Prime Minister Stalin for a meeting to discuss United States-Russian differences. The President's position against leaving the United States for such a discussion is unchanged, it was added.

Record Tourist Year

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 2—(CP). — Ontario experienced its third consecutive record tourist year during 1948, Tom McCall, deputy Travel Minister, Tuesday told the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association. He expressed confidence the 1949 season would be equally successful. Estimated revenue from tourist trade last year placed receipts about $25,000,000 ahead of 1947, the previous record year.

Experiment On Drug To Cure Alcoholism

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—Research has started in Toronto of a new drug which it is believed makes a patient allergic to alcohol.

The drug, called Antabus, was imported specially from Copenhagen, where it was discovered recently by accident. It is being used by the University of Toronto Pharmacology Department with the co-operation of a city foundation for the study of alcoholism.

Experimental work began last week for the first time in Canada.

University officials termed antabus "dangerous" and declined to release information on the form of treatment or results expected.

"Much work is necessary before its place in the treatment of alcoholics is fully assessed," said W. Smith, pharmacology lecturer who is working on the drug.

Take Food To Crew

HOLLAND, Mich., Feb. 2 (AP)—Three coast guards, feeling their way over treacherous, heaving Lake Michigan ice, carried food and coal Tuesday to three crew members of the stranded fishing tug Cherrio. With these provisions, the fishermen decided to spend the night on the tug and try to power it out through the slush ice today.

Edward Sterne Dies Suddenly

BRANTFORD, Feb. 2 (CP)—Brantford lost one of its most distinguished citizens, an outstanding leader in the field of industrial chemistry and research in Canada, with the sudden death early today of Edward Tyghe Sterne, 59, vice-president and general manager of G. F. Sterne and Sons, Limited.

He played an important role in Canada's war effort in two wars—particularly in the Second World War, when he served with distinction in the office of chemicals controller for Canada.

Since the close of war he had continued to play an important part in national defence planning, as a director of Dominion Arsenals, a crown company set up to co-ordinate all facilities for the manufacture of munitions, in order that they might be speedily set in operation again in the event of any new emergency.

Mr. Sterne's wartime services won him the O.B.E. Born and raised in Brantford, the youngest of four sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Francis Sterne, he received his early education here, attended Queen's University and graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Science, and then took a post-graduate course at the University of Chicago.

Fame Happened Not Planned Actress Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP).—Another Hollywood legend shot to pieces.

Paulette Goddard, a girl who has worked for Florenz Ziegfeld, Charlie Chaplin and Cecil B. DeMille, is generally conceded to be something of a female wizard. Her Hollywood reputation rates her as a little Miss Moneybags who has managed her career with unusual aplomb.

Concerning this, Paulette merely giggles and comments: "Ridiculous!"

She goes further: "It's all press agents' dreams. I own nothing but a piece of beach property, and I haven't even had time to improve it. I limit myself to signing one paper a year."

Just Happened!

What about her paintings? She admitted she had quite a few in her apartment. And her gems? (Value of her jewellery has been estimated at $200,000 and upwards.) She admitted she didn't have to sign for that.

"I just say 'Thanks'," she grinned.

As for her career, "It all just happened. I never have sought after a role."

Supporting her on that point was Producer John Wildberg.

"I first saw her in San Bernardino when we were making phone calls during a train stop. She said, 'Don't let anyone tell you I don't want to do 'Anny Lucasta.' For two years it was touch and go. I met her in trains, airplanes and in a Paris cafe. I could never get her to say she would do the picture."

Good Deal

Finally, a few weeks before the picture started, Paulette said "Yes."

"I knew all along that 'Anna' is one of the greatest roles ever written," she admits. "But I just don't like to be tied down. I like to think about one thing at a time."

Paulette's deal for "Anna" is reported at $17,500 a week plus a percentage of the profits. Which are pretty pleasant working conditions for a girl who just "stumbled on success."

GREENLAND FLORA

Greenland has 400 flowering plants growing wild in addition to trees such as the birch, alder and willow.

THE GAPING 15-FOOT-LONG, five-foot-wide hole behind the cockpit of this Pan American World Airways Clipper was torn by the engine of a two-seater private plane. The small Cessna crashed into the transport, flying 4000 feet over Port Washington, N.Y. The two men in the private plane were killed. The 23 passengers on the Constellation were uninjured.

Liberals Open Bid To Get Women's Vote

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Feb. 2 (CP) — The Conservative Party is drawing up a "Women's Charter." The Labor party invites women to work for its re-election. But the Liberal party is more chivalrous than either of them.

Instead of formal charters and appeals for help, the iberals announce that this resolution will be discussed at their March assembly:

"The Liberal party, believing in the importance of human beings as individuals, whatever their sex, race or religion, will take whatever action is necessary to give women full opportunities of citizenship, both at home and abroad.

"Emancipation of women is incomplete until partnership of men and women, in every respect of private and public affairs, is recognized.

"In particular, their work for the nation as home-makers is of vital importance, and steps must be taken to relieve the physical strain brought about by present conditions."

Spokesmen for the Conservatives and Labor parties, which together hold almost all the seats in the 640-seat House of Commons, insist the Liberals have no prospect of forming the government after the next election. They note that the Liberals now have only 11 seats.

Argentina Retains Succession Provision

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 2. — (AP). — Argentina's majority Peronista party has decided in favor of retaining a constitutional provision which would prevent President Juan D. Peron from succeeding himself.

Reversing a stand announced Jan. 11, the party yesterday agreed to continue in force a provision of the 1853 constitution providing that the president may not serve consecutive six-year terms.

The Peronistas control 109 of the 158 seats in the constituent assembly, which is rewriting the old constitution.

45 People Sick

COBOURG, Feb. 2.—(ENS). — Forty-five cases of communicable disease were reported for the week ending January 29 by the counties health unit. Chickenpox continues to be prevalent, with 35 new cases, of which 13 are in Darlington Township. One case of measles, two of mumps, two of scarlet fever, two of septic sore throat and three of jaundice have been reported.

Say 30 Million Damage To Fruit Crops

CHICAGO, Feb. 2— (AP) — Wintry weather delivered a series of staggering, costly blows over the United States from Texas to California in January, but the full extent of the damage is not yet known.

A survey over the storm-battered section today unfolded to some extent the enormity of the economic loss from the worst weather in severa lyears in many of the States.

The death toll in 16 States hit by blizzards, sub-zero temperatures and ice and sleet storms was at least 112.

The damage to citrus and vegetable crops runs into millions of dollars—$30,000,000 in California alone.

Cattle Loss Undetermined

The livestock loss still is undetermined and probably will not be known until spring. The job of saving the thousands of cattle and sheep which were snowbound on the western range lands by January blizzards still is not finished. Neither is the huge task of bringing relief to the thousands of marooned ranches and Indians. The emphasis in the western blizzard belt still is on relief operations, not on counting the losses.

Some communities in the western blizzard area were isolated for days— some for weeks. Roads choked with huge snow drifts halted all travel over hundreds of miles.

The Federal Government joined with the western blizzard States in the relief and rescue work. Bulldozers and snow plows opened the snow-locked highways and secondary roads. Planes carrying tons of hay flew over the isolated regions, dropping their cargo to the starving livestock. Planes also took food and medical supplies to snowbound communities and Indian reservations.

Toronto Gas Workers Ask For Conciliator

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—(CP). — Toronto gas workers voted yesterday to take their wage dispute before a conciliator.

Members of Local 161 of the International Chemical Workers' Union (AF) seek wage increases and a shorter work week for 800 employees of the Consumers Gas Company.

The union is asking for an hourly wage increase from $1.08 to $1.19 for laborers and from $1.25 to $1.40 for skilled workers.

Car And Truck Meet; Head-On Collision

COBOURG, Feb. 2.—(ENS).—A gasoline truck said to have been driven by Lawrence Perry of Renfrew and a car which police said was driven by Flavin Cliffe of Gananoque met in a head-on collision on Tuesday near Colborne.

Taken to hospital with injuries described as not serious were Cliffe, John Garrah, Miss Margaret Garrah and Miss Nancy Lloyd. The car was badly damaged.

Provincial Constable Frank Cluffe of Cobourg investigated.

First Settlers In Seymour Were Campbells

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 2 — (ENS)— The story of the first settlers in Seymour Township in the reign of Queen Victoria, is told in a book of Canadian biography published in 1888 by the Rose Publishing Company of Toronto.

In that year George MacClean Rose wrote "the late Major David Campbell of Her Majesty's 63rd regiment and his brother, Lieut. Col. Robert Campbell of Her Majesty's 52nd regiment were the first settlers in the Township of Seymour."

"They gave their name to a little hamlet that was the nucleus of the now flourishing town of Campbellford."

The Campbells settled first in Cobourg where Major David Campbell's adopted daughter married Lieut.-Col. John Vance Gravely of the famous old 40th regiment of Northumberland county. Later they moved to Seymour and settled on land recently surveyed by Aaron Greely, whose wife was the daughter of Major Rogers, commander of the Queen's Rangers. Rogers also played an important part in the early settlement of this district.

"It was Lieut.Col. Robert Campbell," Rose says in his biograph "who was famous in the face of fearful odds, for the storming of San Sebastian in 1813 in the Peninsular War."

For the famous charge and other brilliant services he was mentioned in Lord Wellington's dispatches. Later he received a gold medal and clasp and his majority. Only three such medals were ever issued and all were awarded for bravery in the country's service.

After his death in Campbellford it is told that four bullets were taken from the body and were preserved with his gold medal and clasp, his sabre and epaulettes Friendly and complimentary letters from the Duke of Kent, Duke of York, and Duke of Richmond, Lord Palmerston and the Prince Regent were also preserved.

Major Campbell survived his more renowned brother and died in 1881 at the age of ninety seven years.

In the first quarter of the 19th century many retired military men from the Old Country settled in Northumberland County and became leaders in its social, political and religious life. Campbellford has a glorious heritage in the story of the achievements of its founders.

Cobourg Rink Site Still Being Debated

COBOURG, Feb. 2.—(ENS). — Engineering advice received by Robert Holland of the Recreational Centre committee is not in favor of constructing a recreation centre on the Victoria Park site which the committee earlier stipulated must be selected or they would resign. The committee pointed out that it had already received expert advice in favor of the park site.

Two weeks ago Mayor Joe Smith commented at a Council meeting that Mr. Procter, consulting engineer, had said that it would be folly to put the recreational centre in the park. However, the committee preferred the advice which they had secured and came out in support of the park site.

"Mr. Davis, who has had experience with rinks in the Old Country, examined the proposed site in Victoria Park, and he does not like the permanent water a few feet under the ground," Mr. Holland told The Examiner last night. "This is not like water further inland which can be drained. It is more or less permanent and rises and falls with the lake level."

Mr. Davis said that in the course of five or six years, unless special steps were taken to counteract it, the arena would have a tendency to shift. To prevent this, Mr. Davis said, tile would have to be laid with inlets and outlets above ground to air-condition the ground and all this would cost around $10,000 extra. Mr. George Garnett of Port Hope says that he too understands what we are up against, Mr. Holland stated.

The committee will meet the Town Council Thursday night.

Former Cripple Wins 36-Mile Marathon

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 2 (CP).—Once a partial cripple, 19-year-old Viljo Wirkkunen yesterday walked 36 miles in nippy Lakehead weather to win the Fort William Carnival marathon race.

The Port Arthur youth outsped a starting field of 95 contestants, 70 men and 25 girls, to cover the distance in seven hours and 26 minutes. Many of the contestants failed to finish.

Kirkkunen was stricken with a malady some years ago that deprived him of full use of his limbs, but overcame the handicap through exercise. In yesterday's race he finished with a swing-pace that gave him a lead of two miles at the finish.

Register By Feb. 10 Hockey Players Told

The postponed New Year's night Junior A contest between Barrie Flyers and St. Catharines Tee Pees will be played at Barrie Arena Feb. 7. The Senior A game between Stratford and Kitchener, scheduled for Stratford Feb. 11, will be played that night at the new Simcoe arena.

A meeting of the O.H.A. subcommittee will be held here Feb. 8 to arrange for Junior A series playoff games.

Player Dunham of the Sarnia Junior B club has been suspended by President J. J. McFayden for an attack on Referee Binns at St. Thomas Jan. 28 pending further investigation by the O.H.A. executive.

Provincial Rightists

When Mr. George Drew was Premier of Ontario he was a strong "centralist" as far as Ontario affairs were concerned. At no time in the history of Ontario did the municipalities have less control over their own destinies. The powers of the Ontario Municipal Board were increased; Toronto took more and more control from the municipalities in matters of education, health and social service. Yet, paradoxically, Mr. Drew was an ardent Provincial-rightist during the same period. During the Conservative leadership convention last autumn, Mr. Drew taunted the Liberals for being "centralists". This sounded strange from the lips of the man who is the greatest "centralist" in Canada, apart from his comrade-in-arms against Ottawa, Mr. Duplessis of Quebec. When Mr. Drew as Premier of Ontario was setting himself up as the guardian of Provincial rights, what he was doing was actually preserving his "centralist" prerogatives as Premier of Ontario—centralizing more and more municipal rights in Queen's Park and trying to add to Queen's Park as much as he could get of federal jurisdiction.

* * *

It was Mr. Drew and Mr. Duplessis who hamstrung the nine-months' Dominion-Provincial conferences which ended in failure in April, 1946, and it is obvious to unprejudiced observers that they did it primarily to centralize power in their own provinces. Now Mr. Drew has bigger fish to fry. He is in Federal politics and the leader of a great national party. It is significant that almost his first words as a member of the House of Commons were several thousand about his views on Provincial-Dominion relations. He has not yet veered from his oratorical platform on Provincial rights and the evil of centralizing power in Ottawa. However, when he was merely Leader of the Opposition in Ontario he made public statements about the need in Canada for a strong central government and shifted his stand when he became Premier, wanting none of the power he could lay hands on go to Ottawa. Thus he may make a reversal again, and should he become Prime Minister of Canada, we may expect to find him once again a strong centralist. After all, Conservatives have always been proponents of a strong central government, from the days of Sir John A. Macdonald onward.

* * *

We hold no brief for centralization of power in a Provincial Government against municipalities, in a Federal Government against Provinces. Governments which are locally controlled are far more sensitive to the needs of the people, and better able to meet them than remote bureaucracies. We are in accord with this view presented in the Ontario brief to the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations in April, 1938:

> Canada presents a paradox of unity and diversity, and the necessary political counterpart of this paradox is Federalism.... A strong and united Canada can never be built upon an overcentralized bureaucracy.

As Dr. J. A. Corry has written: "Federalism is a dual form of government calculated to reconcile unity with diversity". We are against centralization, but convinced of the serious need and the great value to Canada of a strong federal government. It is possible to have this, and yet to avoid the perils of centralized control. Two questions may suffice to show this: Is the Department of Veterans' Affairs less in touch with the people, less efficient because it is run from Ottawa as a Federal Department, than the Provincial Department of Municipal Affairs? The D.V.A.'s local representative can serve the people of the municipality as directly as any representative of the Department of Municipal Affairs. Our second question is this: is not the M.P. of a riding as much a representative of the people of his constituency and with potentially as much voice in Parliament, as the M.L.A. in the Provincial Legislature?

* * *

We believe in "Provincial Rights" as heartily as we believe in municipal rights. We also believe in National or Federal Rights, and do not want to see them, or this country, sacrificed to so-called Provincial Rights, which, in analysis are essentially provincial and sectional. We are Canadian first, and a resident of Ontario second. The Prime Minister, Mr. St. Laurent, spoke with much truth when he said that the Liberal Party was a guardian of Provincial rights. Its record shows that it is more than that; it has been the custodian of Federal rights and exponent of a united Canada. Mr. Drew's many admirers will hope that now he is in the Federal field, his vision will extend beyond merely Provincial rights.

The "Star" Burns Out

The New York Star has ceased publication; it was the successor to PM, which lasted for seven years; the Star folded up after seven months.

These two interesting ventures failed, we believe, because they did not fulfil the functions of a newspaper. They were principally papers of comment; they were filled with signed articles on national and international affairs; they expressed extreme political views and they set out on ill-considered crusades; they did not condescend to print amusing articles or comic strips, and PM refused for many years to print advertisements, as the publishers were obsessed by the foolish notion that advertisers exercise undue influence upon newspaper policy. Both papers died of the worst kind of journalistic anaemia — dwindling circulation.

It is not a newspaper's proper function to deal so generously in opinions as PM and the Star did. A newspaper's first job is to print news — all kinds of news, great and small. Opinions are expressed in its editorial columns, but these opinions are rarely pushed too far, for a competent journalist knows that the public may be led, but will certainly not consent to be driven. And newspapers make many concessions to the ordinary wants of mankind for funny pictures, odd bits of information, frivolous entertainment, and occasional bits of sensationalism. By such means newspapers build and hold their circulation, and by their circulation they hold their advertisements (which are among the best read things in the paper, and welcome news to people who want to know what they can buy, and what it will cost).

The Star and PM tried to do what weekly and monthly magazines can do much better. And they worked on the mistaken notion that many people want to read ponderous comment on great affairs every day. They thought, in fact, that there was a large, serious-minded public which liked to worry all the time. They were wrong, and they are in Limbo now.

Indifference To Macdonald

We were greatly surprised to read in the Ottawa Citizen recently, in an article by Mr. Austin Cross, that there is a good biography of Sir John A. Macdonald which cannot find a publisher. According to Mr. Cross's information, this work was written by a lady in the West, who showed it to a Canadian publisher who seemed at first to be greatly impressed by it, and who described it as "a sparkling piece of work". But later he refused the book, saying that "among the present generation" there was not enough interest in Macdonald to warrant the publication of a book which would cost at least $3.50 a copy.

According to Mr. Cross the lady then tried to interest the Progressive Conservative party in her book, but without success.

This astonishes us as much as it does Mr. Cross, but we do not wholly agree with his conclusion that Canadians are not interested in their history or their great men. We should like to know more about the book before making so large a generalization. There are two well-known lives of Macdonald; one is by the late Sir George Parkin in the "Makers of Canada" series, and it was written in 1907; the other is The Day of Sir John Macdonald, written by Sir J. Pope in 1915. Did the book to which Mr. Cross refers add anything to our knowledge of Macdonald which is not already in these books? Did it offer any fresh appraisal of his work or his personal character? Had it any new, authentic anecdotes to tell about him? Did it, in short, throw any new light on Macdonald?

If it did not, we can understand the publisher's refusal, for brilliant writing alone will not ensure the success of a new biography. There must also be new material or a new opinion. And although we think that Canadians are, upon the whole, neglectful of their great men, we do not think that they are quite so neglectful as this story suggests.

A headline in the Montreal Gazette reads: "Canadian Women of Major Parties to Drive for More of Sex in House". We are shocked that the conservative Gazette should give any prominence to a suggestion of petting in Parliament.

CANADIAN CAUSERIE

Our "Little" Magazines

By GEOFFREY VIVIEN

"THE appearance of little magazines is usually a sign of a new literary movement". This is the view of a person who should know something about literacy movements, for they all fetch up at her door. She is Freda F. Waldon, Hamilton's Chief Librarian. Canadian literary history seems to bear out her statement. Two of the early Torontonian "little" magazines, "The Canadian Monthly" and "The Week" appeared in the eighties of last century, when our first group of poets was putting Canada onto the map of literature. These two ventures both rounded out ten years' of life and then quietly died. That is the way with the "little" mags, especially in Canada. If they maintain the high standards with which they set out they are too good to last long. If they do not they no longer remain "little" magazines.

* * *

WHAT exactly is meant by a "Little" Magazine? It is not simply a question of size. The most recent Canadian arrival, Toronto's "Here and Now", is a large, almost grandiose affair. Perhaps the most important characteristic is adventurousness. The Little Magazines are the natural home for all those who are sure that they are the geniuses of tomorrow. Some are. Many more are not. It is the Editor's task to say ahead of history which are the significant writers of an epoch. This is a formidable undertaking for it was never easy to tell a genius from a madman or a charlatan, and it is even harder today when the rules are relaxed and the range of acceptance is so wide. Whistler's paintings, which for Ruskin were a paintpot in the face of the public, are now seen to be ingenious evocations of a mood; and T. S. Eliot whose "Waste Land" was met with an almost universal chorus of abuse, is become the winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature.

* * *

THE editors of the avant-garde are brave fellows and they sometimes catch a packet. A little while back there occurred in Australia one of those incidents which delight people who are against avant-gardes. It concerned a poetry journal which flaunted the extravagant title of "The Angry Penguins". Two young Australians, whose opinion of the worth of this publication was well below zero, decided to make those penguins very angry indeed. They therefore gathered together a miscellaneous pile of printed matter—seed catalogues, medical dictionaries, tourist pamphlets and the like—took a phrase here, another there and strung them together as "poetry". The next stage was to invent the poet. This they did by discovering a poetical garage-keeper, Ern Malley, who had recently died and whose sister had found the poems in his bureau drawer. The story with the poems was then thrown like a bait to the Angry Penguins. They took it hook, line and sinker; produced a special edition to commemorate the great new Australian poet, and wrote some very fine phrases round him: "tremendous power....cool, strong, sinuous feeling for language...." and so on. And then the two young men sprang the trap.

* * *

THE moral of this is not that we should refuse to support our little magazines. It is simply that we should take them as one of the hazards or adventures of life, as one takes a new dish or a new doctor. Every life should have its quota of hazards, follies and adventures, and it is unfortunate that as Canadian life offers us so many material hazards we tend to cut down on the intellectual ones. For anyone who has not yet taken their New Year resolutions — or for those who have dropped their first lot as too idealistic—I offer this suggestion: become a subscriber to one of Canada's little magazines. Apart from the enjoyment you will get there is a good chance that you or your family will find you have made an investment. The more interesting ventures of this kind quickly become "Canadiana", and then often grow miraculously in value, being subject to the mysterious and eccentric economic laws which govern such things as works of art and stamps. A brochure put out by "Here and Now" brings me the agreeable information that my copy of the first issue "has now become a collector's item and copies are changing hands at twelve to fifteen dollars."

* * *

LITTLE Magazines, like those who contribute to them, vary greatly in the attention they give to their personal appearance. Some are neat and businesslike, as the Canadian Poetry Magazine and Contemporary Verse; some are given to sudden little splashes of extravagance as The Northern Review; some are sloppy, some simply dull; some shaggy and Bohemian. "Here and Now" sets quite new standards of typographical magnificence, and it is pleasant to see that Paul Arthur, who is responsible for this excellence, is being given further scope in the new series of Canadian poets inaugurated by MacLelland and Stewart under the general title "Indian File". How the finances of the magazine can stand such outfitting is their own affair. All one can do is to wish that the standards may be maintained.

* * *

THE past history of our little magazines is not unduly encouraging. Their tombstones go back in the perspective of the years. But sooner or later a point is reached in the cultural life of a country at which a sufficient readership exists to keep "little" magazines in permanent existence. America has now a fine handful of them, some tracing their origins back into the previous century. Such, for example, is the Sewanee Review, founded in 1892 and now spreading itself over 180 pages of text. The Kenyon Review though much more recent (1939) has a solid backing which enables it to put out about 170 pages of text in each issue. Such opulence is not for Canada, anyhow not for many years. But meanwhile we have our own fledglings and we should support them.

Letters To The Editor

REPLIES TO SECRETARY OF LOCAL 527

Sir: I wonder if I could impose on your generosity and use some of your valuable space. To answer, and correct, and try and enlighten the Secretary of Local 527, UER and MWA. First I am not "beating the drum" for any particular union. I believe in letting the barbs, or bouquets, fall where they are deserved. Nor am I a stooge of big business. I believe I know more about the background of unions and the various labour unions than the Secretary of 527 does. It certainly is ridiculous of unions wrangling and fighting over jurisdiction matters, when so many workers remain to be organized. That is why some unions forget what they were founded for, and lose the sights of their objectives. I am afraid if they don't mend their ways they will lose the confidence of the workers altogether. When the Secretary of 527 says the record of their organizers speak for themselves, it certainly does. After organizing 4 plants in Peterborough the last two years, they haven't organized any more. Two years is a long time. It reminds me of a story I heard in Peterborough one time. Two small boys were playing; Jimmy said to Johnny, "What does your daddy work at?"; Johnny said, "My daddy doesn't work. He is a union organizer". The Secretary of 527 takes exception to my statement about his national or Canadian president. I am very sorry to hurt his feelings again, but in the last issue of the Canadian Tribune last week (that is the Communist party paper in Canada) the head organizer a director of organization for Canada for his union, has an article in the forementioned paper under his signature, describing his visit to Czechoslovakia and lauding the workers there. That is the country which last year, threw in their lot with Russia. The national president is or was at one time a trustee on the Canadian Tribune. I believe that Canadian union leaders should forget about any foreign doctrines, and keep his mind on the interest of the workers at home here.

I grant you unions have done a lot for Peterborough in the last few years, also they have helped workers who have not helped themselves. But I think they could get down to business more, and do what they were founded for. Hoping I have enlightened the Secretary of 527 and thanking the Examiner for their space. I again remain,

IMPARTIAL LABOUR MAN.

MUSIC A NECESSITY IN PETERBOROUGH

Sir: In as much as progress in Peterborough is climbing steadily we must realize the need for fine music and drama. It is my fortune to have been able to play in assistance to many drama, operatic and musical productions in the past, I feel it only fair to give the people of Peterborough an idea of what hard work has gone into producing musical enjoyment for their listening pleasure.

At Kingston last year, I was pleased at having the most opportune moment of my life, playing under the conductorship of Dr. Graham George, in his composition "Evangeline", the very first Canadian opera, complete. You can imagine the joy I felt at being able to play in a brilliant opera of Canada's own first, but even though the joy of it being a beautiful tragic opera was not enough, in order for it first to become a success, months of composing on top of months of rehearsals; heart-breaking at times, to a composer who certainly deserves every bit of glory he attains, whether it large or small. Dr. George has taken it upon his shoulders, on several occasions, the burden of becoming a failure or a success, in every such occasion he has become a marvelous success; due to only, hard work, perseverance, stamina and understanding to his musicians; who of all, had done countless times their all best, and even as their best it was not enough to compensate for the fine music of our era, or of the fine music of the yester-era. As I bring into account the fine music of Dr. Graham George, it brings me to wonder of the hard work and long patience of the composers, of whom bring us the greatest musical art of all times, and of the necessity of continuation of understanding of what music truly means. It means simply that it is the beautiful transformation of natural splendour.

I believe all persons should endeavour to comprehend the meaning of music, and in order to do so leave it to the many music lovers in Peterborough to fixate in this community a form of continuation of musical concerts, not only in the form of recordings or symphonic broadcasts, but in promotion of encouragement of young musicians to attend home town dramas, operatics and symphonies and create music into each and every person's heart. The need for people to know how to find music when they need or want it is a very important factor in the building of musical interest in Peterborough.

Music is truly beautiful and many will agree with me that it necessitates recognition here in this city. Help me, Mr. Editor, in helping the citizens here to grow with fine music.

Respectfully,

KARL E. FOWLER.

FEARS DECEPTION BY WIFE

Sir: Margarine should have its original colour. How else can we stop the deception practiced on us by wives and restaurants? I like my weeds manufactured by cows not machinery. And if I want oleo I want to know its oleo; the way it is I wouldn't know. First thing we know we will be making milk out of milkweed.

Give the farmers their dues. I guarantee most of that money they made in 1948 has gone back to the city for machinery, repairs, feeds etc., and hence to labour. The money they made only proved they worked. And considering the shortage of labour I bet it was hard labour, too bad they could not keep more of that money.

A CONSUMER.

But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them because they are spiritually discerned. (I Cor. 2: 9, 10, 14.)

Harold Baptie Widely Mourned

Funeral services for Harold Baptie, 554 Bolivar St., who died in hospital on Sunday after a lengthy illness, were held on Tuesday afternoon at the Comstock Funeral Home. The services were conducted by the Rev. H. G. Douglas, minister of Knox United Church, and he was assisted by the Rev. William McDonald, an old friend of Mr. Baptie's. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Friends and neighbors of Mr. Baptie from Springville, where he resided until he retired, were present in large numbers, as were friends in this city, filling the funeral chapel to capacity. The pall-bearers were Bruce Johnston, Ernest Wall, Dr. George Penhall, William Allen, Robert Hay and Arthur McClellan. Mr. Baptie is survived by several nieces and nephews scattered in many parts of Canada and the United States, while others reside in the immediate district. His wife, formerly Edith Forester, died three years ago.

Women Play Euchre

HASTINGS, Feb. 2—(ENS)—Miss J. Veals, Albert Street, entertained at a progressive euchre party recently, when Mrs. L. Humphries won first prize for the cond, and Mrs. W. Dodd the consolation prize. Mrs. Veals served lunch. A vote of thanks was proposed to the hostess by Mrs. W. Dodd, who invited the women to meet at her home next Wednesday.

British Papers Get Higher Quota

LONDON, Eng., Feb. 2 (CP).—London's popular newspapers, with slightly more newsprint at their disposal, seem to be concentrating on winning new readers among women and young people.

That's the impression emerging from a month in which penny papers have been able to expand three days a week to six pages instead of their usual four. A large proportion of the extra space has been devoted to features especially for women and youth.

Besides expanding, the papers have been permitted to sell as many copies as they can instead of limiting circulation to their sales of the Summer of 1947, when a dollar crisis cut short the last period of free sales.

The result is that the tabloid Daily Mirror, the only London newspaper to run a full page of comic strips, and Lord Beaverbrook's terse, feature-crammed Daily Express, each claim to have passed a daily circulation of 4,000,000.

The News of The World, published every Sunday, still claims the world's largest newspaper circulation with sales exceeding 8,000,000.

Reduce Circulation

Two exceptions in the daily papers' scramble for additional readers are The Times and Daily Telegraph. During the period when newsprint was restricted, both papers reduced circulation so that news presentation would not be further cramped.

Britain's Papers

Both now are readily obtainable at their customary size. The Telegraph, sometimes nicknamed "The Poor Man's Times," is thought to have passed the 1,000,000 mark. It sells for 1½d. compared with 3d. for The Times and 1d. for all other London dailies.

Before the Second War British newspapers, averaging from 16 to 24 pages in size, had a total circulation of 19,000,000 daily. This figure now is estimated at 29,000,000.

A reduction to four pages came soon after war broke out and it was not until 1946 that six pages were allowed every other day, and sales were unrestricted. In the period that followed The Daily Express and Daily Mirror gave a preview of their drawing powers, but restrictions were reimposed in 1947 to reduce dollar expenditures for Canadian newsprint.

Comic Strips Expected

Before they were lifted again this year prophets forecast a rash of comic strips, but only two or three have been added to pages which usually are bare of such features.

The general trend has been towards columns and articles with popular appeal to the family as a whole rather than the wage-earner. Sports which in many cases already occupied almost a quarter of the four-page paper have been given little new space.

THE MARTIN AM-1 MAULER, nicknamed Able Mabel by the men of the US Navy, carries a destructive payload of 9,000 pounds—three full-size torpedoes, 12 five-inch rockets, and, in the leading edge of the wing, four 20-mm. aerial cannons. Those weapons make Able Mabel the most heavily-armed carrier-based dive-torpedo bomber. The total weight of 25,520 pounds it carried when photographed is believed to be the heaviest ever flown by a single-engine aircraft.

Toronto Royals Beat IOOF In Rousing Junior Joust

Toronto Royals took a 7-3 OHA junior "B" victory over the local Oddfellows in Uxbridge last night. It gave the winners a firm grip on third place in the group standing. Play was much closer than the score indicates as the Royals got several soft counters. It was an exciting tilt, marked by a number of penalties as play roughened up in the third period, with a fist fight between two puckists after the last gong.

Royals had a 2-0 edge in the first frame, but Oddfellows fought back to outscore them 3-2 in the second. They held their own till late in the third when the Toronto huskies forged safely in front. Play was fast and tight throughout, and 19 penalties were handed out, the winners drawing 10 including a misconduct to Fiddler.

Minus Some

Minus several of their regulars, Archie Weir's pack turned in a good chore against strong opposition. They all battled hard throughout, with Tom Birch and Chum Fryia outstanding. The other forwards and defenders also looked good, and Byers was okay in the net most of the way, but fanned on a few in the third. Montgomery, Turner and Nicholls stood out for the winners, and Lindsay was tough to beat in the cage. The victors played it pretty ragged and did a lot of holding and elbowing all through. A slim crowd saw the speedy scrap on fast ice.

The line of Fryia, Truss and Whitnell neary scored early and Byers robbed Eames. Then Glazier tallied at close range, with Clegg and Montgomery assisting. J. Berwick went off for tripping and Turner cashed in on it to make it 2-0 from Peterson on a nice rush. Nichols was gated for slashing and Fryia came close. Clegg got the finger next for tripping and Floyd followed for a similar offense. They were back when Montgomery and W. Berwick were chased for high-sticking.

Scored Three

Early in the second, J. Berwick got the nod for tripping and a Fryia-Truss thrust nearly paid off. Peterson got it for tripping and Birch followed for charging as the pace got hotter. Clegg went next for tripping and Collins scored on a neat pass from Floyd. All were back when Nicholls got in alone at an angle to count. Gault got another on the short side from Montgomery. With Nicholls away for elbowing, Birch slapped home Grainger's passout. Wyatt nearly got one and Pagett threatened, but Truss scored the last one of the frame in close after a fine rush by Fryia.

Collins had a good try to open the third but Toronto pressed when J. Berwick went off for tripping. Floyd went down once to save a sure goal, Mackin was gated for charging and Clegg followed shortly for boarding as it got rougher. The Triple Links pressed and looked like they'd tie it up. Peterson had his leg hurt and left the game. Birch pulled a neat try but Montgomery batted in one for Royals when Byers was slow clearing. Turner tipped in another shortly on Nicholl's pass. Fiddler went off for holding, and he had a misconduct added for arguing. He resumed the argument in the box and was given a match misconduct by Referee Max Reesor as tempers flared. Nicholls scored on a breakaway, with the Oddfellows all up, to make it 7-3. Birch went over for tripping, and Fryia and Gault got it for roughing. Then Wyatt joined the parade for tripping. After the bell, Nicholls hit Birch and they swung on each other briefly till it was broken up.

The teams:

IOOF—Goal, Byers; defence, J. Berwick and W. Berwick; centre, Pagett; wings, Floyd and Collins; alternates, Fryia, Truss, Whitnell, Wyatt, Birch and Grainger.

Midget Fixture

Rangers edged out a 5-4 midget Trojan AC win over Canadiens in a neat game Monady. The victors had a bit more luck around the net in a well-played match. Jerry Speirs and Jim Heffernan were a couple of new players in action. Referee J. Church handled the game well.

In another midget melee, Wings blanked Leafs 5-0. The losers were off-color and couldn't get in close. Hewie led the snipers. Ron Collins and Pat Belsey were new players on hand. L. Foster of Wings is out with a sore leg. Art Pagett refereed competently.

Local Minors Get Wins Over Lindsay

By FRED MAYBEE

Young Peterborough proved what they could do at Civic Arena last evening as three well-coached minor hockey teams in the bantam, midget and juvenile groups defeated Lindsay teams of the same classes in the first round of OMHA playoffs. The teams meet in Lindsay Thursday night for the second set, with total goals to count on the round.

Speed and more speed featured all games, to the delight of a splendid crowd of fans who saw their favorites win by scores of 5-2 in the bantam game and 9-1 in each of the second and third encounters.

Ed Woodcock's bantams played clean, fast hockey to win out by a tidy margin in the first game. They led 1-0 at the end of the first as Jerry Frizelle lifted a neat one past Truax while he and his mates held off every Lindsay thrust. He, Gerry Strickland and Jim McGrath added three more in the second period with their rivals notching one. In the third, the locals added a fifth, Ball from Turner, while Lindsay scored another in the final minute, O'Neill from Hutton. It was a clean, fast game will all the locals good and Lindsay trying hard.

Lindsay—Goal, R. Truax; defence, Graham, Pullen; centre, Hutton; wings, Burns' O'Neill; alternates, Barkwell, Hennessey, Dickery, J. Truax, Sinclair, Stratham, Finley, Williams.

Peterborough Bantams — Goal, Delahay; defence, Burns, McCormack; centre, McGrath; wings, Strickland, Frizzelle; alternates, L. Ball, Lilly, McGillen, Gurner Holden, McDougall, G. Kearns.

Referee, Lloyd Ebert; linesman, Tony Giardino.

Looked Smart

Dit Clapper's Midget Bruins looked smart in winning the second game. In the third, Ken Floyd scored two quick goals in one minute and 20 seconds for what may be a record, while Woods and Seabrook added one apiece to turn the game in a rout.

While the entire team played well, Floyd with four goals and an assist deserves honorable mention while Claire Ferguson scored two and Kenny Pammett at centre had three assists. Ray Seabrook, Don Scriver and Ken Floyd each netted one while Bill Stewart garnered two valuable assists.

Lindsay—Goal, Foshay; defence, D. Magee, N. Magee; centre, Lewis; wings, Wallace, Bevin; alternates, Reesor, Cain, Wakelin, Stockler, Bonisteel, Dawson, Logan, Johnson.

Peterborough Midgets — Goal, Curtis; defence, Stewart, Reynolds; centre, K. Pammett; wings, Scriver, L. Sullivan; alternates, Murdock, Seabrook, Wood, K. Floyd, Kimball, D. Clapper, Mongraw, Ferguson.

Referee, L. Ebert; linesman, A. Giardino.

Win Handily

Manager Jerry Coughlin, former NHL player, looked on with pride as his juvenile Trojans won handily. Brian Robinson blazed a scorcher from just inside the red line to beat Fitzelle early in the first. Brother Gary made it two as he took Gerry's pass to flip in a neat tally. Mercurys held on well for 20 minutes but were again beaten by Gary Robinson from Buckton. Dorris from Buckton made the score 4-0 to end the second stanza while Burns, Gary Robinson, Jensen, Roy Armstrong, Lefty Dorris and Gary Robinson salted the game away.

Roy Armstrong and Douglas looked good on defence for Trojans while Gary Robinson potted four goals to lead the snipers.

Lindsay Mercurys—Goal Fitzell; defence, D. Lucas, Stewart; centre, Caley; wings, Burn, Sinclair; alternates, Greg, Walling, Bellamy, Strathan, Butts, Quibell, Hickson, Spratt, B. Fitzelle.

Peterborough Trojans — Goal, Batley; defence, Armstrong, D. Bigford; centre, Jensen; wings, Dorris, G. Jones; alternates, B. Jones, Fowler, Douglas, B. Robinson, G. Robinson, Buckton.

Referee, L. Ebert; linesman, A. Giardino.

Hutchinson Refuses Sign Tiger Contract

DETROIT Feb. 2 — (AP). — Detroit Tigers ran into another balk to-day as they counted four more signed contracts in and 29 players in the fold for 1949.

The balk was by Freddie Hutchinson, 29-year-old right-handed pitcher, who refused to sign for the same $18,000 salary he is believed to have drawn last season when he won 13 games and lost 11.

Outfielder Walter (Hoot) Evers, first baseman George Vico, and rookie pitcher Lou Kretlow also expressed dissatisfaction with the club's first offers.

They were among 10 Tigers who have not yet signed.

Signed contracts of four others arrived yesterday, including infielder Eddie Lake.

Others accepting terms were utility-man Jimmy Outlaw, rookie outfielder Johnny Creel, and rookie second baseman Bob Mavis.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It could be just a coincidence but, right on the heels of a hefty offer made by Ottawa Roughriders to have Frank Filchock of Hamilton play football there this year, Tony Golab of Riders reports a good offer to act as player-coach of Winnipeg Bombers. The hard-smashing backfielder (local grid fans will recall him when with Sarnia Imps) says he is considering the offer carefully. It could be that Tony figures this will put the squeeze on the Riders' executive and his gridiron pay will be upped to compare more favorably with that offered Filchock. Unquestionably, Golab is a great footballer, too.

Quinte columnist says: "Hockey should not permit hoodlism. There seems to be a mild epidemic of roughness breaking out in the minor leagues of the district. Back in the mid-county and northern areas, according to OMHA executive member Sam Curry, a number of games have developed into free-for-alls with all players swinging fists at one another. Stern measures should be taken by referees and league officials to curb this unnecessary rough stuff before some youngster gets a permanent injury. Warnings are not enough in some cases. If belligerent kids want to fight, let 'em take up boxing. A strong deterrant to this unwarranted brawling would be suspension from hockey for one, two or three years."

The Playoff Setups

Several have asked us what the playoff setups are in senior "B" and junior "B" up this way. In the latter case, the junior "B" teams fight it out in two semi-final series, best of three, with first and third meeting, and the second and fourth. Finalists go in a best-of-five sawoff. In senior "B", Toronto Bells play the leading team in one semi-final bracket, while the second and third clubs up this way also go in a best-of-three semi-final affair. Finalists clash then in two out of three games for the group title and the right to proceed into provincial playdowns. In both groups the teams work on interlocking schedules.

Toronto Royals tangle with the local Oddfellows at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an OHA junior "B" fixture. It is the second last scheduled game here before group playoffs commence. On good ice, it should be a swell struggle and rates a goodly crowd of fans. These juniors dish up more action frequently than their senior "B" brothers, turning in a slambang performance and going at top speed every time out. Many of the IOOF-ers will be wearing senior "B" livery within a few years, and some of them look pretty nearly ready now to step up. Yeah, we always get a kick out of a junior hockey game.

* * * * * *

Hang On Like Leeches

Those Toronto Royals are an aggravating bunch. They hang onto you like leeches and get away with a lot of holding, hooking and elbowing. They drew 10 of the 19 penalties—one a match misconduct—handed out in Uxbridge last p.m., and deserved more. But they're big and fast, too. We think they earned a win o'er the Oddfellows but only by about one goal—in fact, halfway through the third we thought the IOOF-ers would win. But the breaks went against the visitors and that was that. They played good hockey and continue to improve each game as playoff time approaches. Chum Fryia looked extra good out there, and so did Tommy Birch. It should be a dandy here tonight.

Legionnaires rolled on their merry way in Lindsay last eve to beat Toronto Meteors 9-2 before some 700 fans. It was late starting and turned into a rather rough encounter, but Ned Vitarelli's pack had too much for Hank Goldup's gang. It was 3-1 for Legion in the first and 7-2 for 'em going into the third. Bob Parnell and Bill Crowley shone on the attack and the latter turned in some nifty back-checking, too. The line of Coombs, Hill and Stewart proved most effective, and the whole Legion squad from the goalie out looked impressive. Legion are good when they're clicking and they sure were last p.m. The refereeing wasn't so hot. Stouffville plays Legion here Friday night.

Bully For The Three

Despite lack of sufficient schedule and practice — due to mild weather in January—three PMHA teams turned in fine performances here last evening against Lindsay teams, where they have artificial ice. In first-round OMHA playdowns, our Marine bantams beat the invaders 5-2, the local midget Clapper's won 9-1 from their Scugog rivals, and the juvenile Trojans triumphed 9-1 over Lindsay to make it a clean sweep on the night and take comfy leads to Lindsay tomorrow e'en. This is a mighty good showing and the coaches and their players deserve credit; we trust the boys don't slip now on Scugog ice Thursday. A good crowd of fans turned out to cheer the local lads along.

Two local rinks, skipped by Dr. R. Clark and R. P. Best go to Oshawa on Thursday to play in the next round of the Ontario Tankard competition.

When the Scottish curlers were here on Monday it was noticed by many, that their code of signals were altogether different from those used by Canadian curlers. They would place a piece of chamois on the stone they wanted removed or would place this chamois on the ice to indicate where they would like the stone played. And then their brooms were quite different from ours. Their's were, to all intent and purpose, just like small scrubbing brushes with four-foot handles. They would rub the ice hard immediately in front of the stone and polish the ice to a high degree.

At Monday night's banquet our good friend R. F. Downey referred to these brooms as "Pushy-shovies" and so elaborate was he in his remarks about them that, at the conclusion of the banquet, he was presented with one of them by the captain of the Scottish curlers, J. Monteith, and just to show spectators that he could use this new "gadget" he gave a real demonstration on the 9 o'clock draw last evening, and believe us he did a smart job using the new broom. And now we hear he is going to learn to play the pipes and start wearing kilts.

Over at Beaverton Tuesday, Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Tollington took part in the ladies' bonspiel. They won all three games and came home with the second prize.

AT BROCK TONIGHT—Don McIntyre, pictured above, who meets Jimmy (Red) Sims in the opening bout at the Brock Arena tonight. Chief interest of course centres on the main event bringing together Mike Sharpe and John Katan. It is a British Empire Title elimination match, and should be a dandy. With a future chance at Whipper Watson's title both contesants will be out for a win. Ben Sharpe and Johnny Marrs hook up in the semi-final to round out one of the best balanced cards of the season. It rates a big crowd.

Legion Trounces Meteors In Lively Senior 'B' Fray

Coached by Hank Goldup, former Toronto Maple Leaf and New York Ranger player, Toronto Meteors bowed to the Peterborough Legion 9 to 2 in Lindsay Tuesday night. The thrill-packed game, full of highsticking and every other misdemeanor, was played before only 700 fans. Although there were six penalties handed out by Referee Jack Hard, Whitby, about 20 more could easily have been given out. The game was 35 minutes late in starting due to the late arrival of the Legion team.

Slow raged hockey was played by both teams at the beginning of the first period. There was highsticking, slashing, punches and elbows by all the players. Finally at the seven-minute mark after a clever passing play, Delaat pushed the rubber past Nicholls on a pass from Williams. Two minutes later Legion broke the goose-egg to tie the score when a shot by Crowley was deflected into the Meteor net by Tommy Campbell. Fourteen seconds later a poor pass was intercepted by Crowley who put Legion one up on the Meteors. Then Bob Parnell intercepted another Meteor pass to go in on Lynn, pull him out of the net and tuck the puck into the twine.

Repeatedly passes were missed by Legion players in front of the open net. Meteors turned on their power plays keeping the Legion well hemmed in. Finally Ned Vitarelli literally tackled Gordie Delaat in front of the Legion goal to receive the only penalty of the first period. While Vitarelli was off, the Meteors were prevented from scoring by the alert Ross Nicholls. The line of Bell, Valliere and Williams for the Meteors missed the goal by inches time and time again.

Added It Up

Good passing by the first line of Legion, netted them their fourth goal of the game. In the second period, Bob Greenlaw scored on a pass from Crowley. After a rush by Delaat, the puck was snared by Bill Thoms who passed to Don Veigel who rammed the puck past Nicholls to end the Meteor scoring for the game. Robertson tripped Parnell who was in on the open goal and received

Dutchmen Paste Mercurys Win 12 Consecutive Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS.

Toronto Marlboros had better take more than a second look at the powerful Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen. They're going to be a tough squad to knock off in the playoffs.

Last night Billy Woodward's Dutchmen ran their winning streak to 12 consecutive games as they downed the fourth-place Owen Sound Mercurys 8-2 in their Ontario Hockey Association Senior A tilt. The win moved the Dutchmen four points ahead of the second-place Marlboros.

In a Junior A game last night, Toronto Marlboros moved into sole possession of fifth place by battling to a 3-3 tie with the eighth-place Galt Rockets in overtime play. The Dukes are one point ahead of the sixth-place Guelph Biltmores.

The Dutchmen have proved they can take care of any club in the five-team loop—at least for a while. In their last three meetings in Toronto with the potent Dukes they've come up with three decisive wins. In those three games, the Dutchmen have rattled home 14 goals. The Dukes have managed to get the puck past Kitchener netminder Marcel Pelletier once.

Owen Sound Weak

Last night Owen Sound was weak in every position and only a good performance by netminder Bobby Gilson kept the score down. The Dutchmen held a 4-1 edge at the end of the first period, went ahead 6-2 in the second and then scored two unanswered markers in the third.

Art Hurst tallied twice for the winners. Others went to Doug Verity, Mike Dzuira, Don Baues, Mickey Roth, Ted Grasser and Bobby Bauer. Buck Forslund and Pat McCreavy scored for Owen Sound.

The Dukes used shifty Eric Pogue for the first time since he broke a leg at Toronto Maple Leafs pre-season training camp last night. While not in top shape, he was always a threat and picked up an assist on Marlies' second goal.

The Rockets opened the scoring early in the first period on two goals by Ken Green and Pat Lumley. Bob Hassard answered for the Dukes minutes later, Marlboros tied the score when Larry Egan beat netminder Sommerville in the second period.

Hassard got his second goal early in the third period and put the Dukes up 3-2. With five minutes left in the game, Pete Tkachuk scored on a solo rush. A total of 13 penalties were meted out, eight going to Toronto.

Marmora Routs Warkworth By A 21-3 Score

MARMORA, Feb. 2—(ENS)—The Trent Valley leaders obtained a runaway victory over Warkworth on the new Marmora rink on Monday evening, the score being 21-3 in their favor. The visitors were not at full strength due to injuries, yet they played doggedly without getting one penalty. The few meted out to Marmora were for trivial infringements. Brooks played in goal for the homesters in the place of Borland, the regular goalie, and saved well. Warkworth brought off a few scrimmages in the closing moments but failed to add the finishing touch. Three Marmora players got four goals apiece, the brothers Trumble and McInroy. The attendance was down to 500.

K. Trumble got two goals in the first and Cousins and Kerr one, as Lavender and K. Trumble each had an assist. In the second, Kerr, K. Trumble, Cousins, E. Trumble and Goodchild counted for the winners, with assists going to E. Leonard, Lavender (2), McInroy (2), Kerr and Goodchild. The losers got goals by Makepeace and Welsher with one assist going to Makepeace. In the third, goals were scored by Lavender (3), McInroy (4), E. Leonard, K. Trumble, E. Trumble (2), as assists were marked by G. Leonard (4), E. Trumble, Goodchild (2), K. Trumble, McInroy, E. Leonard (4), and Nicholson. Dudley tallied for Warkworth. Teams:

Warkworth: Goal, O'Halloran; defence, N. Dudley and J. Greenly; centre, Weatherson; wings, Welsher, Makepeace; alternates: Laver Edwards, A. Dudley, E. Greenly.

Marmora: Goal, Brooks; defence, G. Leonard and E. Leonard; centre, Cousins; wings, Lavender and K. Trumble; alternates, E. Trumble, McInroy, Goodchild, Kerr, Nicholson.

Queen Alex Loses

Queen Alex took the slim side of an 11-3 count earlier this week when meeting Confederation in senior school hockey play. It was tight in the first frame but the winners settled away to speedy combination after that to pile up the score. Woods, McIlwain, Reid and Oliver went best for the losers. Daniels scored four, Dunstan three, and Crouter and Outwater two each for the victors. Miller and Tyndall also shone. The teams:

Queen Alex: Goal, Kingston; defence, Nicholls and Oliver; centre, Daniels; wings, Crouter and Outwater; alternates, Holden, Dunstan, Bryan, T. Post and Simmons.

Referee: J. Barnard.

Giesebrecht Brothers Lead Junior Scorers

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP). — The Giesebrecht brothers, Bert and Bruce, still hold first and second place in scoring in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series. Figures released by the OHA, including games of January 29, show the brothers have contributed 73 goals — slightly more than one-third of the league-leading Windsor Spitfires' total.

Bert has 79 points from 38 goals and 41 assists, and Bruce is two points behind with 35 goals and 42 assists.

Red Sullivan of fifth-place St. Catharines Teepees is their nearest rival for top honors with 61 points from 25 goals and 36 assists.

Legion Trounces

a penalty. Only the quick footwork of Lynn, Meteor goalie, stayed off the Legion.

Coombs scored on a passing play from Stewart and Hill. Seconds later Ned Vitarelli passed to Hill who banged the puck past Lynn. Mortimer was cracked on the head by a high stick belonging to Sadler. No penalty was given. The only broken sticks in the game were broken at this point in the game by the Meteors. From an end faceoff Parks was hit on the head with a slapped puck. He continued playing although quite wabbly. Parnell took a loose puck in front of the Meteor goal to rap home the seventh Legion goal. Campbell was cut under the left eye by a flying puck. Coombs, Hill and Stewart were outguessed by Lynn six times in a row.

Nice defensive teamwork by Ned Vitarelli and Johnny Godfrey prevented Bell and Valliere from fattening the Meteor's score at the beginning of the third period. Referee Heard warned players who were shoving each other around. After three shots at Lynn, Coombs banged home the puck. Gordie Delaat stickhandled through a maze of players only to be robbed by Nicholls. Parks slashed Parnell, no penalty. Toodie Greenlaw was pushed into the boards head first after a rush on the Meteor net, Parnell ended the Legion scoring. After a Legion rush a free-for-all broke out, Bell, Burns, Parnell and Parks were the main offenders. Burns was the only player who received a penalty. Sadler and Hill went seconds later to the sinbin for slashing each other. Ned Vitarelli turned aside repeated attacks by Veigel and Delaat.

Led Scorers

Parnell led snipers of both teams by performing the hat trick. Crowley had two goals and an assist. His backchecking and Johnny-on-the-spot play accounted for many Legion thrusts into Meteor teritory. Coombs, Hill and Stewart were the most effective line on the ice. There was more passing in this one line than in all the rest together.

Lynn, Meteor goalie, rose to meet the Legion attack turning them back without scoring, especially at the end of the second period when he was kicking rubber thrown at him from all directions. Don Veigel played a nice two-way game for the Meteors.

Refereeing and lining by Heard and Wakelin was far under par. Pushing skates from under player's feet, batting at high pucks, repeated holding that a blind man could see going on in front of the referee went penalty-less.

Lineups:

Legion—Goal, R. Nicholls; defence, Vitarelli, Godfrey; centre, Rochetta; wings, Bob Greenlaw, Crowley; alternates, B. Hill, R. Stewart, S. Coombs, Parnell, Dootch Vitarelli, H. Greenlaw, Mortimer, Burns.

Toronto Meteors—Goal, R. Lynn; defence, Thoms, C. Robertson; centre, Veigel; wings, R. Robertson, Williams; alternates, cott, Sadler, Campbell.

Bouchard, Lach To See Action Against Toronto

By VIC MORRIS, JR.,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

After a nightmarish week-end, which Montreal Canadiens and their fans cannot forget quickly enough, the team's high command came up with the bright announcement that veterans Emile (Butch) Bouchard and Elmer Lach would see action against Toronto Maple Leafs on Thursday night at Montreal.

The Montrealers, who lost face on home ice Saturday night when they suffered a 5-2 defeat at the hands of Detroit Red Wings and then went on to receive a humiliating 9-0 trouncing the next night at New York, report that Defenceman Bouchard has recovered from a knee injury that kept him off the ice lanes for the best part of the present campaign.

Lach, victim of a fractured jaw before the Christmas holidays, will rejoin teammate Maurice (Rocket) Richard for the Leaf encounter.

Victory Important

Victory to either team is important. Toronto, in fifth-place with 36 points, is only one point away from the cellar-dwelling New York Rangers, while Montreal is grouped in a three-way split for second place with Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins.

Toronto's Turk Broda thinks he still has a change to capture the Vezina Trophy, emblematic of the award to the goaler with the least goals scored against him during a season.

"If the club really started rolling I could win it," said the "fat man," on his return from a 4-2 loss at Chicago last week-end.

Broda has 115 goals scored against him, 16 more than Charlie Rayner of New York, the top netminder.

"That's a lot," agrees Broda, "but I was down some this time last year and I still won the trophy.

"If the guys get in there and hit 'em, really start going, we'll get in the playoffs and win the Vezina again".

Rayner, although netman for the cellar team, leads with 99 goals against. Next is Durnan one goal behind and Lumley is third with 103.

Mayer Breeding Farm Sold To E. M. Statler

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2 (AP)—The thoroughbred racing empire that Louis B. Mayer spent 10 years and millions of dollars to develop is no more.

All that remains is a herd of about 50 yearlings to be auctioned later this year.

Sale yesterday of the movie magnate's 504-acre breeding farm at Perris, Calif, for a price estimated at more than $1,000,000 was the last major step in the break-up of the Mayer racing realm, started in 1938.

Buyers of the farm were Ellsworth M. Statler, son of the founder of the Statler Hotel system, and Mrs. Meredith Howard Harless.

Ben Matthews, a Statler trustee, in announcing purchase of the Peris farm, said the new owners will continue it as a thoroughbred breeding centre, opening it to other interested horsemen.

Many Like To See Return Of Drop Kick To Football

By ROBERT CLARKE

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2 (CP). — Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the drop kick.

Uncle Abner and Cousin Ed, both of whom have beards that brush their knees, are about the only people around who can remember seeing this football rarity. Extinct? The Dodo bird is a bush leaguer compared to the drop kick when it comes to being dead.

The drop kick passed into the football scrap pile when the forward pass came into the game and chuckers needed a slimmer ball. They got it. The kickers found it more convenient to boot the new ball from placement.

Many old-time football fans, recalling the days of such drop kick experts as Pep Leadley of Queen's feel that an effort should be made to revive the play. Some even are in favor of making the drop kick count for more points than the placement.

Regret Its Death

E. Kent Phillips of Saskatoon, President of the Canadian Rugby Union, says there has been "no definite suggestions in official quarters that any change be made in the field goal scoring." But he adds he has heard many fans "express regret that the drop kick seems to be a lost art."

"Rather than increase the three point score for the drop kick, I would suggest reducing the score for a field goal from placement to two points," says Phillips. "If you increase the field goal score from a drop kick to four points, I think a valid objection might be that you are bringing it too close to the touchdown score."

Other football men who would like to see the drop kick make a comeback are Joe Tubman, renowned kicking half of Ottawa Rough Rider teams in the '30s, president of Winnipeg Blue and E. A. (Eddie) Armstrong, Bombers.

"It's accurate, faster than the placement and gives just as great distance as the placement — if not greater — with a trained kicker," says Tubman.

Need More Coaching

Both Armstrong and Lew Hayman, coach of Montreal Alouettes, feel that drop kicking has passed into the discard because there is no coaching of the art.

One of the things that prompted talk about a possible drop kick revival was the instance last season when Quarterback Don Hiney of Blue Bombers used the play — by accident and not design.

Hiney was set to try a field goal from placement against Calgary Stampeders but the snap was misdirected and got away from Bob Sandberg, who was down on one knee to do the holding job. Hiney scooped up the ball and sent a perfect drop kick spinning between the posts for three points.

Hundreds of the youngsters and 'teen-agers in the park had never seen a drop kick before!

Gabby Ferland Battles To Draw

MONTREAL, Feb. 2 (CP) — Montreal's Gabby Ferland battled to a 10-round disputed draw here Tuesday night with Pete Zaduk of Toronto and Guelph in a welterweight main bout fight. Ferland weighed 145 and Zaduk 155½.

Fans and judges appeared to be bewildered at the end of the hectic battle as to who was the winner.

It was first announced that Ferland had gained the verdict by a split decision. Later the judges announced they had decided in favor of a draw.

An official of the Montreal Athletic Commission was called upon to determine the decision. After reading the three judges' scoring slips he ruled the fight "a draw." Two of the judges had ruled in favor of a draw while the third gave the decision to Ferland.

Boucher Finds 6 Prospects For NY Rangers

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (CP) — Frank Boucher has found six prospective New York Rangers.

That is the report the manager of the National Hockey eague's cellar dwellers gave today after an 11-day tour of Western Canada and the United States.

During the trip, which took him to Winnipeg, Regina, Vancouver, Tacoma, Wash., and St. Paul, Minn., Boucher interviewed eight scouts and saw three games involving 30 of the 285 players in the Ranger system.

In Winnipeg, Boucher saw a junior game between two Winnipeg teams—the Canadiens and Monarchs. Two defencemen of the Canadiens, Don Lucyk and Larry Thompson, both under contract to Rangers, caught his eye.

Asked if any other Winnipeg juniors looked like NHL talent, Boucher smiled and said: "Oh yes. But I wouldn't like to tip off any other club."

At Tacoma, he watched the Rockets of the Pacific Coast League, managed and coached by Murray (Muzz) Patrick, a son of Lester Patrick, one of the founders of professional hockey and now vice-president of Madison Square Garden.

Fern Perrault, a left-winger, and Bill Giokas, a defenceman, were the players there that Boucher spotted. Perrault has been one of the league's leading scorers.

Screen Stars Unworried About Crisis

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Feb 2 — (CP). — Talk of a "crisis" in Britain's film industry left at least two screen stars unmoved to-day.

"Let them cut our salaries if they wish," said Margaret Lockwood, long Britain's leading lady of the screen.

"Agreed," said blonde Valerie Hobson. "Something must be done if we are to stay in business."

They were commenting on reports that screen stars in the high salary brackets may be harshly treated by proposed new economies in the industry. One suggestion was that actors and actresses who make £12,000 ($48,000) a picture may be pruned to £1,000 and a share of the profits.

"What of it?" asked Miss Lockwood. "Money means very little —except on paper— when your income tax is 19s 6d ($3.90) in the pound."

The threat of an economic strait-jacket emerged yesterday. Leaders of the film trade unions told the government that 11 studios were empty this week and more than 50 film workers were being dismissed. These movies, union officials said, meant "potential ruin" for the industry.

It was understood that even the powerful interests of J. Arthur Rank feel the pinch. Rank, who has an extensive theatre chain in Canada, reported he is determined to make films at a top cost of £100,000 apiece. Present average is £160,000.

IN THE BAG—Austin, Texas, teenagers Mickey Franklin (left) and Clare Jean Gresham model the newest style in footgear for snow-blanketed central Texas. The girls have stepped into paper bags, which are tied around their legs, before taking a stroll in Austin's streets, covered with five inches of snow, Jan. 30.

Has No Objection

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP)—Trade Minister Howe, the minister in charge of atomic energy, told the Commons Tuesday night the government has on objection to establishing a joint Senate-Commons committee on the new power. He said he had discussed the question with those responsible for atomic energy and they felt it would be desirable if the members of the two houses could be given more information.

Prices Report Delayed

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Tuesday in the Commons the government has not yet received the report of the Royal Commission on prices. He said the Commission, which sat during the off-session period, has advised him that the report had been written and is in the hands of the printer.

Arthritis Discussed

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP)—Greater facilities for the treatment of arthritis were urged in the Commons Tuesday night by Mrs. Gladys Strum (CCF Qu'Appelle). Entering the throne speech debate, she said the disease crippled hundreds of thousands of Canadians and yet had not drawn the attention which it ramifications would seem to warrant.

White Protests Tax Collection From Farmers

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CU)— G. S. White (PC—Hastings-Peterborough) Tuesday night in the Commons protested against the way income tax is collected from farmers.

Farmers were "up in arms" over the income tax and they had protested against the campaign by the Revenue Department.

Mr. White said he had warned a year ago that income tax would cause a drop in farm production. In his constituency some seven or eight cheese factories had already closed.

Mr. White said income tax rates are excessive. He urged that exemptions be increased from $750 to $1,250 for single persons and from $1,500 to $2,500 for married persons. Allowances for children also should be increased, he said.

Price Snoopers

Mr. White also criticized the activities of the Prices Board. He said the Board's "snoopers" were still carrying on their activities in his constituency,

Orders of the Board were issued so frequently that a grocer could not keep up with them.

Mr. White, a lawyer, told of a case where he defended a grocer charged with breaching the Board's regulations.

Board investigators had attempted to have the grocer sign a statement pleading guilty before he appeared in court.

Under oath, a board investigator had admitted that there were few stores in which there were not breaches of the regulations.

Yet not all were prosecuted. Mr. White said he did not wish to suggest that politics entered the prosecutions. However, he knew that those prosecuted in his constituency were those who had always opposed the present government.

Criticizes Young

Mr. White criticized Rodney Young (CCF-Vancouver Centre) for describing Members of Parliament as a "bunch of crooks."

Mr. White said there was a similarity between the "slanderous" statement and the tactics used by the Communists to descredit Democratic institutions and to undermine confidence in the representatives of the people.

(Mr. Young made the statement in a speech in Vancouver during the off-session period. James Sinclair (L—Vancouver North) unsuccessfully attempted last week to have Mr. Young withdraw the statement in the Commons. When the CCF member declined to make the withdrawal Mr. Sinclair said he would bring the matter before the Commons Committee on Elections and Privileges and attempted to have Mr. Young unseated.)

Mr. White said he hoped Mr. Sinclair will persist in getting Mr. Young before the Committee

Recreation Bill Set At $19,525

The city's Recreation Commission estimated Tuesday night at $19,525 its requisition to the Council for this year.

"Our present figures are only tentative," R. J. Bolton, chairman, said. "They indicate that we will likely be asking for less money than we received from the Council last year."

The total does not include the provision for the Citizens' Band. If that allowance is $3,000, an assumed sum until the band's request is received after their meeting Thursday night, the amount required by the Commission will be approximately $22,525.

Proposed expenditure for this year was shown in the following outline: Administration $6,450, activities $8,000, Dixon House $3,000, grants $1,725, new projects $350.

The statement was fully itemized for consideration by the members, and will likely be revised at the next meeting before being submitted to the Council.

Mr. Bolton recalled that the Commission had asked the Council last year for $29,000 and received $18,000. However, during the year an additional $3,000 grant was obtained for the maintenance of Dixon House as a community centre in the west Parkhill Road section. The provincial contribution was $3,030, bringing the total to $24,000, of which $4,000 was spent on the band, the bulk of that sum being for new uniforms.

Gordon Armstrong, chairman of the Property Committee, was asked to examine Ashburnham Town Hall for a report on any necessary changes and repairs.

A motion by Mr. Armstrong and Ald H. Dodds set down as policy that any organization receiving a grant from the Commission this year will be required to present a statement of disbursements and also a budget for 1950 if further aid is asked.

No Trace Of Bomber

LONDON, Feb. 2 (AP)—United States headquarters said Tuesday night planes and ships of four countries had failed to find a trace of a United States B-29 bomber missing with 15 men aboard. The plane disappeared last Thursday.

THIS IS THE "CAVE OF THE THREE FOUNTAINS" in Rome, Italy, where a little girl, playing there in 1947, said the Holy Madonna appeared to her. Her parents also said they saw the apparition. Now hundreds of ailing visit the cave, pray and kiss the earth, like this elderly woman. Those who have been healed leave presents which decorate the interior. The cave may be sanctified during the 1950 Holy Year.

Bat Introduced As Evidence

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—The case of Vincent St. Lawrence, 24, on trial for murder in the race-track bludgeon death of George (Cowboy) Parker, is expected to go to an Assize Court jury tomorrow.

The Crown yesterday introduced as an exhibit a red-stained softball bat which it claims St. Lawrence also a track employee, used Oct. 9 to beat Parker, 37, a racing stable groom. When Parker was found unconscious near a racetrack parking lot, some $200 in race winnings was missing from his pocket, police said.

Crown counsel W. O. Gibson placed before the court an empty wallet and a liquor permit which he said belonged to Parker.

Detective Barry Lormier said the empty wallet was found two days after the slaying. The wallet, the permit and the bat had been tossed over a fence into some weeds, he said.

One of the main points discussed yesterday, the second day of the trial, was an assertion by Kenneth Parrington, an ex-jockey, that on the night of the slaying he recognized St. Lawrence 200 feet away in indifferent lighting. He said he saw St. Lawrence standing over the fallen Parker.

Det. - Sergeant Arthur Keay, who searched the racetrack for clues for several days after the slaying, said that at 200 feet he wasn't sure whether a certain sign said "No smoking or no gambling."

Crown counsel Gibson observed:

"They certainly wouldn't have a 'No gambling' sign at a racetrack."

Bank Of England 254 Years Old

LONDON, Feb. 2—(CP)—Britain's richest and most secretive old lady celebrated her 254th birthday—behind closed doors.

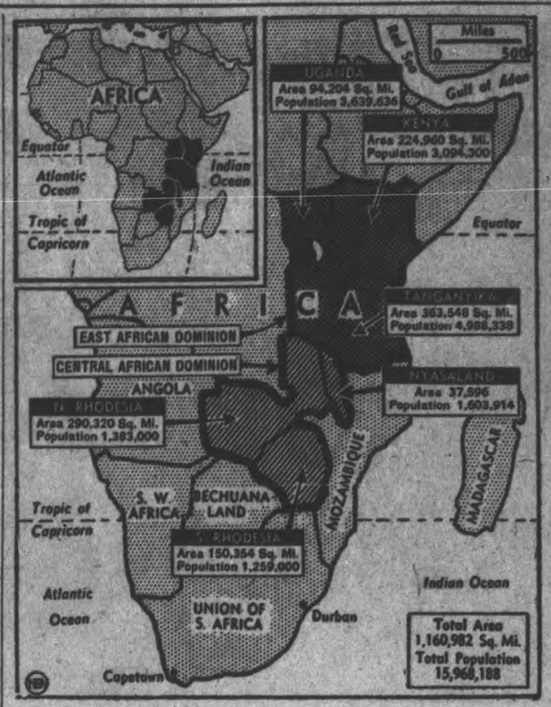
Only her court of directors and a few top-ranking officials were invited to the birthday party of the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street," as the Bank of England is called in financial London. All are pledged to silence on anything connected with her private life and celebrations.

Following the custom of generations, they received a courtly invitation to "repair to the sanctum" for a glass of fine old sherry and dinner.

Ornamental Tradition

On Governor C. F. Cobbold's table, besides refreshment, stood a bottle of anti-cholera mixture concocted 150 years ago to ward off the plague. It is now merely an ornamental tradition.

While the party went on, the regular guard of one officer and 23 men patrolled the building. Their job is to make sure no one tries to rob the old lady of the £500,000,00 ($2,000,000,000) in gold tucked away in the triple-barred strongroom.



REPRESENTATIVES of Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland will meet in February to draft a proposal for creation of a new dominion uniting British lands between the Equator and the Tropic of Capricorn, as shown in dark shading on map above. The plan calls for a Central African Dominion, composed of the two Rhodesias and Nyasaland and an East African Dominion, composed of Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda, with final federation of the two as "Capricorn Africa." Supporters of the plan, pointing to potential strategic, economic and political advantages, say such a federation would be one of the most important events in African history.

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver South) pointed to the Pacific with a warning that it may be "more dangerous" to Canada than the Atlantic in the years ahead. He asked the government to enunciate a Pacific policy.

A voice from Quebec was heard when Real Caquette, Union des Electeurs members for Pontiac, said his party believes Canada should remain neutral in another war unless she is attacked. He opposed conscription in any form.

Sees No Neutrality

His opinion ran counter to that of J. L. Raymond, Liberal member whose constituency of Wright adjoins that of Mr. Caquette's. Mr. Raymond told the Chamber Monday that those who believed Canada could remain neutral in a conflict with Russia were "very wrong."

Other participants in yesterday's debate included Roland Beaudry (L-Montreal St. James), William Irvine (CCF-Cariboo), Mrs. Gladys Strum (CCF-Qu'Appelle), H. O. White (PC-Middlesex East), Claire Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South), G. S. White (PC-Hasting-Peterborough), Ludger Dionne (L-Beauce) and A. Wesley Stuart (L-Charlotte).

Justice Minister Garson said no action has been taken by his department to disallow the 1948 Prince Edward Island legislation which outlaws unions having national or international affiliations.

Mr. Drew, in seeking to produce an emergency debate, said that if Mr. Harris had knowledge which justified his statement as reported "nothing else should take precedence over the placing before this House of the information upon which that statement is based."

Reads Quotation

Mr. Drew read from the newspaper report which had Mr. Harris saying that war might come from the signing of the North Atlantic Security Pact which he estimated would be in about three months.

"If the Russians feel they must make war it will come at that time," the newspaper quoted Mr. Harris.

Mr. St. Laurent said he had no knowledge of the statement or the report of it. He welcomed a division of the House on an appeal from the Speaker's decision, or rather on his ruling that there could be no appeal from his decision not to accept the motion.

Mr. Harris issued the following statement to newspaper men and later read it in the House:

"In view of the incorrect impression that might be created as to what I said at Brantford 10 days ago, I should like to make it clear that far from suggesting that war might come, I stressed the fact that the signing of the Atlantic Pact would be the most effective step that Canada could take to protect herself against aggressors and to insure the peace of the world.

"I expressed the opinion that the signing might take place within the next three months. I said that I did not believe that we would have war, nor did I suggest that I had any knowledge about the matter other than what is generally known.

"I did say that the agreement of the nations which would be evidenced by the signing of the pact would place such a preponderant strength on the side of peace that it was highly unlikely that any aggressor, including Russia, would try to make war after the signing.

"I emphasized that the pact was essential for the peace of the world and for the protection of Canada, and that its signing might even mark the begining of better relations with Russia."

Rapid Exchange

After he completed it in the House Mr. Drew rose and said:

"I take it then that the honorable members was misquoted?"

"You have no right to ask him a question of that kind," interjected Transport Minister Chevrier.

"Oh! yes I have," retorted Mr. Drew. "Since when are you running the House?"

Mr. Harris said he thought his statement was clear to all including the leader of the opposition.

The incident was another example of the opposition's strategy at this new session—the "constant" attack method of keeping the government on the offensive.

It was the second division forced by the official opposition in the first week of the session—a procedure that usually takes up nearly a half-hour of time while all members present are counted individually, for and against.

Wants Full Partnership

Mr. Green said recent press dispatches indicated that a Pacific pact, similar to that now being negotiated for the Atlantic, might be formulated. If that was so, Canada should become a full partner. He also called for government assistance in setting up a steel industry in British Columbia.

Mr. White, the member from Middlesex East, sounded a call for preparedness in national defence and said it would not be too great a price to pay to ensure peace. The last two wars had started because the "enemy thought us weak".

As one step in this direction, he suggested the defence department give greater support to flying clubs, a source of men for the RCAF in the Second World War.

Likely Targets

In the event of another war, there were certain areas in Canada and the United States which would be likely targets for the enemy's air force. One of the areas possibly would take in Windsor, Ont., and Detroit, where there was a great industrial concentration. Another might be Sarnia, Ont., where the synthetic rubber plant was located.

He suggested that when consideration is being given to the construction of steam power plants that the possibility of a war and bombers attacks be taken into account. He believed that Port Stanley, Ont., would be a good site for a steam power plant that would serve the Windsor-Detroit area.

Mr. Beaudry proposed that the government slash personal income taxes by 50 per cent in the forthcoming budget and outlined a new taxation principle, involving changes in the method of taxation, which he said would remove some 724,000 taxpayers from the tax rolls.

Mr. Beaudry said Mr. Drew has changed hsi views on family allowances. He charged that Mr. Drew, as premier of Ontario in 1944, had said that the Ontario Government would do everything in its power to defeat the "inquitious" family allowances bill.

Mr. Drew declared himself not only opposed to the principle but to all sections of the bill, passed by parliament in 1945.

Change Minds

Now, said Mr. Beaudry, Mr. Drew and his party were in favor of revising family allowances upwards.

Mr. Irvine criticized so-called monopolies and said various governmental investigations had failed to curb their activities. There was no doubt that they existed and continued to fix prices to the disadvantage of the consumer.

Some monopolies and cartels were under one management while others functioned by agreements between groups. The agreements often were unwritten, making it difficult to prosecute their members.

Steel companies were behind the "silken curtain of free enterprise hypocricy". They raised the price of steel and this brought price increases in every article the consumer had to buy.

They were the "dictators" of Canada's living standards and from time to time created depression, unemployment and want.

Church Wins Members Finances Also Boom

SPRINGVILLE, Feb. 2—(ENS)—Annual congregational meeting of the United Church was held on Wednesday.

The chair was occupied by the minister, Dr. C. S. Reddick, and Harry Young was appointed secretary. After devotional exercises reports were received from the various organizations of the congregation. There was a net increase of five members; contributions for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund showed an increase of nearly $100, and the W.M.S. increased its contributions by approximately $20.

After accounting for approximately $1,000 for capital expenditurde on property, the church had a balance of $380. It was reported that the Women's Association raised more than $270.

During the year the church has been insulated and oil stoves have been installed. With the co-operation of Fairmount congregation a complete water system was installed in the manse.

Clifford Johnston was re-appointed treasurer and Bruce Sargent, financial secretary for the congration. Melville Morrison was elected to the Committee of Stewards.

WITH FOOD PRICES dropping rapidly, market proprietors are forced to resort to those almost forgotten arts—salesmanship and merchandising—to lure customers. At a meat market in New York, hostess Renee Kleiman, left, passes out free coffee and sandwiches to shoppers. Police had been stationed outside the door to keep order, but the expected mobs didn't materialize.

During the month of December there were 45 cases of chicken pox in the city. Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, said this morning the number of cases for January runs about the same as December. There are many cases not reported to him, it is believed.

Written Notice of Marriage Asked of Divorced Persons

Ministers of the United Church must have in writing two weeks' notice of a marriage of divorced person which they may be asked to perform. This new by-law was emphasized in the Christian education report at the meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church here Monday.

"The United Church does not require a minister to officiate at the marriage of a divorced person or persons should it be contrary to the dictates of his conscience to do so," Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox Church, secretary of the Presbytery, quoted to the Examiner from the report.

It is now mandatory that United Church ministers who are asked to perform the marriage ceremony of a divorced person or persons contemplating matrimony be required to secure two weeks' notice in writing. The minister requested to marry a couple, one or both of whom have been divorced, may refer the matter to a standing committee of Presbytery."

The meeting Monday was restricted to only some pressing business and was adjourned early owing to the sudden death of the Rev. A. M. Partridge of Mark St. United Church.

Rev. Dr. Mackay, superintendent of missions for Montreal and Ottawa and Bay of Quinte conferences, reported on the efforts being made by the laymen of the church to increase ministerial salaries. This initiative will involve the raising of half a million dollars.

Council May Seek More Low-Cost Homes

Local building permits in January amounted to $38,874 as compared with $39,700 in the first month of last year. Building supply firms report many enquiries since the first of the year, suggesting activities that may develop as the season approaches.

The permits issued at the city hall last month were: one house $4,500 and 21 miscellaneous for $34,374, and in January last year: one house $4,000, and ten miscellaneous permits $35,700.

Mayor Swanston said recently that the council should give some consideration, probably after the budget is disposed of, to the question of any additional contract this year with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Applications to the Crown company will be received up to May 15. Whether Peterborough needs any more of the low rental houses, of which 226 are now in course of construction, may be indicated from the records at the local office of the Corporation. Some of these houses are expected to be ready for use by the middle of this month.

FEWER JANUARY DEATHS

Peterborough vital statistics for January were less than for the first month of last year as reported at the city hall. For Jan. 1949 the figures were: births 119; marriages 21; deaths 52. The milder weather last month may have been an influence causing the decline in deaths as compared with the month of severe weather a year ago.

They Like School Especially In Winter

Mothers and fathers of children attending Central School have little trouble in sending their children off to school in the wintertime. The big slide is there, except when a mild spell takes the ice away.

This is no little slide. It runs more than half way down Victoria Park, about 125 feet in length and varies in width from four feet to six inches.

When the slide is at its peak of business, the ice can hardly be seen for children. They go down on pieces of board, paper, and cardboard. Depending on the size of the paper or cardboard the children go down singly or in a group The more adventurous youngsters stand up, holding onto the boys sitting down. Others go down on their stomachs.

On arrival at the end of the slide—if they manage to stay on that far—the children pile into each other, get up and trudge back up the hill. It's great fun.

Quota System On Power Is Discontinued

Municipal power quotas have been discontinued by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, but restrictions in power use are retained in effect.

The notifying telegram received by Utilities Commission this morning from the Hydro office at Belleville was: "Deliveries from Gatineau substantially increased. Commencing today and until further notice, allocation of power is discontinued. Regulations restricting the use of electricity are still in effect, and voluntary conservation is still necessary."

Lighting of commercial display windows, illuminating signs, use of hot air heaters are still frowned upon by the Hydro. Voluntary conservation must be continued. Robert Saunders, Hydro chairman, said yesterday "we are still short 10,000,000 kwh per week in deliveries from Gatineau and Maclaren."

Ask Premier Kennedy Reconsider Grants

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CP)—Premier Kennedy of Ontario will be asked to reconsider the cut in Provincial grants to Ontario high schools, the Ottawa Board of Control decided Tuesday. Mayor E. A Bourque said the cut in grants will mean a loss of $28,750 in school revenue this year. A letter will be written to the Ontario Premier voicing the city's objections.

Lindsay For Beauty

Lindsay, the thriving town on the Scugog river has always been noted for its beautiful girls. Recognition of this is shown in the selection of a beautiful brunette, Miss Isobel MacDonald, a Lindsay girl whose picture adorns thousands of pamphlets which are seen by every resident of Montreal in a $1,500,000 YWCA appeal. Miss MacDonald is Montreal's Miss YW—she is now living in Verdun—and her attractive picture invites every citizen to contribute to the building fund which has just been launched. A fire last spring gutted the dormitory floor and attic of the old building, which cannot be enlarged because of its age and structural weakness and an intensive campaign for funds is being waged during the first two weeks of this month.

15 City Groups Approve Recreation Plan

Development of a 500-acre tract of land 20 miles north-east of Peterborough into a recreational area was endorsed Tuesday night at a meeting. Called by the Kawartha Conservation Association, the meeting was attended by representatives of 15 civic organizations, who gave unanimous approval to the project. The meeting also went on record as favoring such development to be carried out as a city and county citizens' undertaking, rather than as one conducted by the Provincial Government.

Fred Marshall, president of the association, was chairman of the meeting. He outlined the background of work towards the project and gave some indication of the nature of the proposed holiday spot. The area covers between 500 and 600 acres of land located between Little Cedar Lake and Big Cedar Lake, north of Burleigh Falls. It includes a small lake and a creek which connects the two lakes.

He said that Hon. Harold R. Scott, minister of lands and forests, had assured the association that the area would be held for a reasonable time to see if some community-planned organization could be developed to use the park. There would be no private applications for land in those lots accepted while that decision was reached.

Land Being Purchased

Mr. Marshall said that the association had been concerned with the question of public recreation areas in the county. Of recent years, he said, many have experienced difficulty in finding a spot for a brief trip or picnic in the lakes area north of the city. With extensive purchase of lands for cottages and other private uses, much of the land was being taken up.

The section suggested for the public recreation area, he said, was felt to be suitable for that purpose. Larry McKeever of the association and the Nature Club, also detailed reasons for the project.

Time For Action

James Geraghty, in support of the project, said that "there has been a terrible wastage of our natural resources in the past and we must move to preserve what is left." He expressed the hope that the project would be the first of many more.

Mr. Marshall said that the first concern was to obtain the land and to get the backing of all civic organizations in development. Details of financing, and extension of the area could be worked out later.

A. B. Wheatley, district forester at Lindsay, and Wilson Cram of the Department of Lands and Forests were present to explain map locations and answer questions pertaining to the area.

Mrs. William Addyman, president of the Local Council of Women, moved the endorsation of the park by the meeting. Seconded by James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, it was passed unanimously.

Mr. Fraser emphasized that the area was meant mainly for residents of the city and county—not as a tourist attraction.

For County People

"Tourists are welcome, of course, but in this our own people should have the first call—it is for them," Wilson M. Gemmell, president of the chamber, expressed the same opinion.

Reeve Melville Johnson of North Monaghan paid tribute to the work of Mr. Marshall in bringing plans to their present stage. The growth of the idea has been due to his work, he said.

A motion which also received the unanimous approval of the meeting was that "the project be undertaken by the citizens of Peterborough City and County, rather than by Provincial Government development."

Others attending the meeting were:

Ald. A. B. Burrows, City Council; Florence G. Hutchinson and

Need 250 Men For Fox Hunt Next Saturday

Campbell Rowatt, president of the Peterborough Fish and Game and Capt. Phil Sargent, A and T officer of the 50th HAA regiment reported today that 250 hunters are needed for the fox hunt scheduled for Saturday.

"The area to be covered is large, and the hunt will be broken into two sections, with hot coffee being served at each break," Capt. Sargent said. "We will require 250 men to do a thorough job" he added.

The area to be hunted is a secret, and hunters are asked to meet on the Charlotte St. parking lot at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. The vehicles will move off at 8:30 in two convoys.

All those who are young and active are asked to gather at the south side of the lot, where the beaters will assemble. Others will be grouped by the eight captains already selected.

On Friday night, captains will get a final briefing at the Armouries. The 50th Heavy AA regiment and the 37th HAA Workshop both plan to be well represented. Through permission of Lt.-Col. Max Clarke, officer commanding the 50th HAA Regiment, five radio sets and some military vehicles, will be used. This fox hunt will be run on a military plan, and only shotguns can be carried. Those taking part are urged not to use any loads any heavier than No 2 shot.

Provincial police will assist in traffic control, and Game Overseer Stanley Windsor is accompanying the hunters as an observer and captain. No rabbits are to be shot, and any hunters who have itchy trigger fingers as far as rabbits are concerned are asked to hunt in some other area.

Early reports reveal that six wolves were seen in the hunt area, and the officials hope to shoot it clean and have no gaps in the cordon this time."

Took Race Bets, Police Say 2 Men Pay $250 In Fines; Sequel To City-Wide Raid

Members of the Anti-Gambling Branch of the Provincial Police on Tuesday gave evidence in court here which brought two convictions against two city restaurant operators. Charles Griffin, 477 Rubidge St., an employee of the Glen Lunch at 186 King St., was found guilty by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, of keeping a common betting house and fined $150 and $18 costs or four months in jail. His employer, Robert Fairs of 332 Burnham St., was fined $100 and $5 costs when he was found guilty of knowingly permitting the use of his premises for such a purpose. Another charge against Griffin was heard and judgment reserved to February 10. Thirteen other charges against nine persons in the city were adjourned for hearing on the same date.

Public interest in the cases was indicated by a jammed police court which was filled for the morning and afternoon sittings, which took more than three hours.

Evidence of the officers was that Griffin had been receiving telephoned bets on horse races in the United States. Exhibits included written notations seized on Griffin's person when they searched under warrant the premises which is a lunch stand and taxi office. The slips of paper carried names of horses, bettors and the amount wagered to win, place or show, the officers alleged.

Provincial Constable John Cronin, Toronto, a member of the Anti-Gambling Branch, was principle witness. He said that first articles seized in the search—in the third week of January—were current copies of an official racing paper. He said that he observed Griffin answering the phone, making notes on a pad while referring to the racing forms. Once he marked off the names of several horses which had been scratched from races, he said. The names of the horses written on the slips corresponded with entries in races in the paper.

Griffin was arrested the following day by Inspector William G. Tomlinson, Toronto, head of the branch. Seven slips of papers, with bets totalling $99.50 were found on the accused. Fourteen persons had placed bets on a total of 49 horses, according to the evidence seized. Also located on Griffin was a black notebook which contained names of city residents with debit and credit accounts entered.

Dubbed Serious Offence

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, who conducted the prosecution in the first case of its kind in Peterborough in a number of years, said that the charge was "a serious offence" and suggested a combined jail term and fine. Countering this, defence counsel Thomas J. Carley said that "it's a very ordinary charge—it is seen day after day in Toronto courts. There is nothing unusual or flagrant about it."

Fairs, found guilty on the evidence of permitting use of his premises for the offence, denied in his evidence that he had any knowledge of what transactions Griffin was making over the telephone.

Evidence of Constables Cronin and Delmer McLaughlin, also of the Toronto unit, testified that Fairs had been in the lunchroom while the alleged bets were taken over the phone and had called Griffin to take the calls several times.

Nick Is A Customer

They recounted one call which they said Fair made to someone called "Nick." They said the part of the conversation they heard sounded like: "Give me 50 . . . he running at Fair Park." Fairs also denied this.

Mr. Bradshaw argued that the small size of the establishment gave rise to suspicion that Fair was aware of the betting. He cited a case in which the court held that "wilful blindness to the illegal act" can constitute guilt.

Higher Moral Plane?

Speaking against a stiff fine in this case, Mr. Carley remarked:

"Perhaps we are on a higher moral plane here . . . but I don't think that Peterborough should bear the brunt of heavy fines, when we read daily of small fines in Toronto for similar offences." Alternative to Fairs' $100 fine was given by Magistrate Philp as 45 days in jail.

The case on which judgment was reserved was a charge against Griffin of keeping a common betting house. The police testified that they had spent more than $16 playing a pin-ball machine at Glen's Lunch, and being paid off by Griffin for "free games" by $1.40.

English Farmer Seeks Advice From City Claims Shabby Treatment In Cattle Deal

A farmer in Worcester, England, has protested that he received a "raw deal" from a cattle-breeder of Peterborough. The Englishman paid $750 cash in advance for a pair of animals. Their condition on their arrival has led to his action to return the cattle and he advises that he intends to sue for the return of his money.

"Both are substandard," said the farmer in writing to the city for advice as to a veterinary to examine the cattle when they return.

"The female was ill when received at London airport. She cannot chew as her teeth are in bad shape . . . we are feeding her with a dropper."

The farmer said that he twice refused by cable to accept the cattle, but that they were sent in spite of that.

"No man would be content to take such a deal lying down . . ." the letter concludes.

Senate Gives First Reading To Five Bills

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 —(CP)—The Senate, heading into a new session, gave first reading Tuesday to five government bills, a record for initiating that type of legislation.

It named a special committee to select the standing committees which will study the measures in detail. Notice was also given of a number of private bills and petitions.

The chamber paid solemn tribute to the work and memories of seven members who died during the parliamentary recess, including Senators J. J. Donnelly (PC—Ontario), Donald Sutherland (PC—Ontario), G. V. White (PC—Ontario), J. A. McDonald (PC—New Brunswick), J. Alexander and MacDonald (PC—Prince Edward Island), C. P. Beaubien (PC—Quebec) and Brewer Robinson (L—Prince Edward Island).

Warm expressions of sympathy were also extended to Senator J. H. King, the Speaker, in the loss of his wife.

The government legislation was topped by a bill stamping of a national trade mark "Canada" on commodities specified by the cabinet which are capable of meeting regulations and standards laid down by the government. The National Research Council will have the job of prescribing the standards.

Provides Penalties

An amendment to the cheese and cheese factory improvement act provides for penalties for improper distribution of a government premium paid for quality cheese.

A bill to amend the pension funds society act would permit employees of subsidiary companies to share in the benefits and obligations of pension funds maintained by their parent companies.

Reappointment of G. A. Touche and Company of Toronto and Montreal as auditors for the C.N.R. would result from a fourth bill. The other one amends the game export act to clarify the definition of a game officer and their powers of enforcement.

Senator Norman Lambert (L—Ontario presented a petition for an act empowering the city of Ottawa and its transportation commission to hold and operate the former facilities of the Ottawa Electric Railway Company.

3 Minor Crashes Crumples Cars

There were only three minor traffic accidents investigated by city police during the past 24 hours. This was despite driving conditions made dangerous because of ice formation and the snow coating over the slippery surfaces.

Late Monday evening, cars of Dennis Crowhurst, 21 Park Street, and William Lowell, 592 Douglas Avenue, collided at Park and Albert Streets. Bumpers and grills were damaged in the tangle. PC Claire McGillen investigated.

About noon Tuesday, a stopped truck and car were in collision on Park Street, near Westcott, with slight damage to the truck and about $50 damage to the car. The truck driver was Maclean Logan, South Monaghan, and the car was driven by Fred Allair, of Claraday. PC V. J. O'Donoghue investigated.

London and Donegal Streets was the scene of a collision between two cars about 2 p.m. on Tuesday. Drivers were Sam Calladine, 446 Wolsley Street, and Harry R. Wilson, 535 Reid Street. There was minor damage—a total of about $40—to both cars. PC V. J. O'Donoghue investigated.

Mimosa Pudica, a plant of the tropics, wilts on being touched.

ALMOST 200 RESIDENTS OF LONGUEUIL, just off the Island of Montreal, had to be rescued from their homes on Tuesday when the St. Lawrence River spilled over the south shore bank. Men, women and children were hardly removed to safety on high ground by hastily-formed rescue squads when rising waters sent tons of ice crushing into their evacuated homes. Several houses were splintered into matchwood. At least two were carried by the moving ice and crushed against a telephone pole. Splintered like matchwood, top left, these homes fell victim to the tons of ice that bore down on them without warning. The owner, top right, almost got this car to safety ahead of the swirling waters but he didn't quite make it. He was forced to leave the car behind and bolt for higher ground. Shown above, is Queen Avenue, Longueuil.

Shortage Of Nails Again Arouses Fraser Asks Howe, Told Supply 'Fairly Adequate'

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CP).—Gordon Fraser (PC—Peterborough West) Tuesday gave the Commons an early introduction to his favorite perennial subject — the nail supply.

Mr. Fraser, hammering at the Government for years about the nail shortage, asked Trade Minister Howe if he had heard that the supply was even shorter now, and he wanted to know what the Minister proposed doing about it.

"This is the first complaint I've heard for some months," the Minister replied amid laughter. He said production had improved considerably, and as far as he knew, supplies were "fairly adequate."

"The Minister evidently hasn't his ear to the ground," retorted the Peterborough member.

Frazile Ice Formed At Pumping Station

Four nights last week the Utilities Commission had men raking frazile ice from the steel racks at its dam opposite the pumping station, R. L. Dobbin reported to the Utilities Commission Monday.

With the descent of the weather into the colder levels, frazile, a kind of granular ice floating beneath the surface, sticks to the steel grids that protect intake ducts from floating objects. It not only sticks but it also stays there, and gradually fills in the spaces of the grid, becoming a dam. They can build up a head of water, the accumulation of which is bound to destroy the racks because they were not made to stand up against that weight of water pressure.

Men have to keep the rack grid clear of frazile when it begins appearing, usually in the weather conditions of the last few weeks. Utilities Commission has a dam near the waterworks which provides the force of water to drive their water wheel and pumps. It is usually called a direct hydraulic drive as in the old days of manufacture before electric power came into use.

22 British Clergymen Disapprove Criticism

LONDON, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Twenty Church of England clergymen and two Congregational ministers disagreed Monday with British criticism of the Hungarian government for the arrest of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

In a statement, they pleaded for restraint in the case, saying "Christians . . . should not make judgment without a careful study of facts beforehand."

Among the signers of the statement was Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury.

Glittering German Clubs, Hotels Make British 'Poor Relations'

By GEORGE BRIA

HAMBURG, Feb. 2—(AP).—The sign on the door of the plush Atlantik Hotel still says verboten to all Germans. Sickly kids beg cigarettes as the British cars roll up. Half a mile away stands another hotel, the Esplanade. There are no signs here because this is a German place.

Inside the panelled rooms of the Esplanade, waiters in tails hover over prosperous - looking men with beautiful, expensively-dressed women. A dance band plays far better jazz than you can hear in a British-requisitioned club.

Outside stand the kids, this time begging from Germans.

This is Hamburg, 1949. The feverish pulse of currency reform has given the city a Parisian glow. Everyone agrees it's the most luxurious place in Germany. One reason may be that it's a port, another that the bombs which wrecked the outskirts spared the centre.

If it's night life you want, you can go to the Esplanade, or the Tarantella, or a place called Er Und Sie (He and She), done in cream and dark blue.

A bottle of good champagne costs 35 Deutsche marks. At the export-import rate of exchange, the only official one, this is $12. On the black bourse, which is the way most foreigners get their marks, it figures to about $2.

The aura of prosperity has got under the skins of the British occupation people.

Poor relations

The Esplanade had a fashion show just before Christmas. Statuesque blondes paraded about in rich costumes for the bejewelled clinetele. A British woman who had parked her Volkswagen behind a German-licensed Mercedes said, "Why, we're getting to be just poor relations."

Actually, it's the rare German who can afford the clubs or the clothes. The man who can't says the others are black-market operators or business men who cheat on taxes, or foreigners. Now and then you are reminded of the poverty. Germans still scramble when you dump your automobile ashtray in the streets.

But it's hard to see the dreary valleys when you have your eye on the luxury peaks — which weren't here a year ago.

Three Prettie Sisters Enjoy Life In Cobourg

COBOURG, Feb. 2 — (ENS)— Since Audrey and Betty Prettie transferred from Peterborough to the Cobourg plant of the CGE, Cobourg has three Prettie sisters working there. Valda started in the inspection department in May, Audrey came later from the plastics division of Peterborough plant to work in the wage rate office, and quite recently Betty left Peterborough to work in the accounting office at Cobourg.

Migration to Cobourg has brought the three sisters nearer their Centreton home and they are all making many friends among their fellow-workers in the plant.

Refuse To Pay Tax

WINDSOR, Feb. 2 (CP)—President Howard Sprung of the Windsor Commuters Club, made up of persons living in Windsor and working in the United States, has announced that members will not pay current income taxes until the Canadian government revises its policy for persons in this category. He said that the more than 1,200 commuters in the border aret, not including their families, will leave the country after the next Dominion election "if something isn't done to relieve the tax burden."

AFRICAN VIOLETS: "Can you give me the name of the secretary of the African Violet Society of America? I would like to become a member. Also, is there a swap club for African Violet owners which I could join?"

The Secretary of the African Violet Society of America is Boyce M. Edens, 2694 Lennox Road North East, Atlanta, Georgia, U.S.A. With regard to the swap club, Mrs. Frank Copeland, Indian Valley Trail, Post Credit, Ontario, might be able to help you. Write her, telling her what varieties you have and those you would like to obtain.

STOVE ENAMEL: "About a month ago I bought a white enamel stove. By accident I dropped some Javex on the black enamel trim and burned off the enamel. What can I do to make my stove look like new?"

If the burn in the enamel is deep, the stove will need refinishing. That means a journey back to the factory. But, say stove men, Moffat's shiny black stove-pipe enamel, obtainable at any paint shop, should do a smart cover-up job.

MILDEW: "What will remove mildew from cotton sheets?"

Mildew stains should be treated when fresh, before the mold growth weakens the cloth. However, try Javella water on the sheets; it should help. Dip the stain in the Javella solution for one minute, then rinse well in warm water. That should remove the marks.

PAGEANT: "I wrote a Christmas pageant which was most successfully used in our church. It was really staged, too. Could I sell it to a company producing playlets?"

Samuel French (Canada) Ltd., 480 University Avenue, market just such plays as yours, have consented to read your manuscript. Have it typed and send it along to that company. There might be a future for you in such work.

Fish And Game Group Censures Government For Its Failure To Curb Stream Pollution

TORONTO, Feb. 2—(CP)—A split decision on closing the moose season in Ontario came out of the north country Tuesday to plague the central body of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters hearing resolutions at its 21st annual meeting.

Two of the three zones in the north—Sudbury and Port Arthur—urged a two-year closed season. Delegates from the South Porcupine-Timmins area opposed the move. Final decision on the Federation stand will be made known before the annual meeting of the Fish and Game Committee of the Ontario Legislature this spring.

William Shields of Schumacher, speaking in support of an open season, said: "we don't want a closed season on moose until there are enough game wardens to enforce the laws. At present there are 75 per cent more moose killed illegally than are taken during the legal time and by legal means. At present some of our game overseers are 162 miles apart."

Stupid Move

Dr. L. Giardine, South Porcupine referred to a recent conviction against a man who killed two moose near Timmins and was fined $20 for each animal. "This was a stupid decision and is typical of the attitude of magistrates sitting on fish and game cases across the province. We have been assured by the Hon. Harold R. Scott, that this verdict will be appealed."

Another resolution introduced by Sam Osborne of Sudbury threw the meeting into an uproar. It censured the Ontario Government for lack of action to curb and control pollution of streams and lakes, and insisted that "positive action be taken at once, not alone against the little sawmill operator who pollutes a stream with sawdust but against big industrial firms, which are the worst offenders."

Unanimous Support

Delegates from Windsor, Toronto, Brantford and Peterborough spoke on this measure which won unanimous support.

Len Hughes of North Bay voiced warm appreciation of the progress made by the Federation. "For 25 years I worked and argued, urging the northern clubs and groups to amalgamate with the south. Today, I am the proudest man on the continent, because such a thing has happened."

A resolution from Western Ontario asking that the partridge season be not opened until the leaves are off the trees, drew caustic comment from Pete McGillen of Peterborough, who said: "If the presence of leaves on the trees gives the partridge a better chance to escape, then this resolution is certainly not one for a conservation organization to be supporting. Then again, who is going to say when the leaves are off."

Next annual convention will be held in either Sudbury or North Bay, in consideration for the delegates from the Port Arthur, Dryden and Fort Francis area, who have so far to travel.

Opposes Change

A contentious resolution on fishing sought an increase in the size limit for black bass to 12 inches, instead of 10. Dr. Wesley Curran of Queen's University opposed the change because of difficulties of enforcing it and because it was not possible to judge exactly what size fish should be in different regions to have a chance to spawn successfully.

Another resolution asked a $1 family fishing licence fee for Ontario residents, who now fish without licences.

Mr. Osborne said part of the trouble with conservation in Ontario lies within the fish regulations. "When we go out fishing we take our limit whether we can eat them or not. We spoil fishing for the next day."

Dr. H. H. MacKay, biologist of the Ontario Fish and Wildlife Branch, said most authorities believed restocking above and below dams would do more to maintain the fish population than using fishways, or fish ladders, past the dams.

REVENUE PRODUCER

The annual marketed value of clams taken on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts of Canada is about $600,000.

Germans Start Tourist Campaign In Bid For Hard Currency Fund

By JAMES DEVLIN

FRANKFURT, Feb. 2—(AP).—Western Germany is hanging out the welcome sign to foreign tourists for the first time since the war. Allied and German officials are planning on an influx of tourists this spring to Bavaria, the Black Forest and the Rhineland. They expect the program to get really rolling in 1950 when the Wagner music festivals at Bayreuth and the Passion Play at Oberammergau will be resumed.

The stumbling block to tourism since the war has been chiefly a lack of hotel space and transportation.

Open 82 Hotels

German officials, in co-operation with the Joint Export Import Agency, consisting of allied representatives of the American, British and French zones, have opened 82 hotels for tourists in "Trizonia" — with more to be opened constantly. All are well stocked with a variety of food.

Tourists to Germany will be required to pay in dollar instruments at the legal rate of exchange for marks.

This is because Allied officials want Germany to build up a hard cash fund to pay for imports. It is intended to take some of the burden off British and American taxpayers.

One difference the traveller will find in Germany is that he will be expected to sleep and at only at the hotels affiliated with JEIA. Usually, however, these are the best available.

Other than this, the tourist will have virtually the same freedom he would have in any country even though Germany is still under military occupation.

One estimated the cost for a couple touring Germany would be about $25 a day for hotel rooms, meals and taxicab transportation.

Approve Juries' Bill

LONDON, Feb. 2 (Reuters) — The House of Commons Tuesday approved in principle a bill to abolish special juries and allow jurors to charge expenses for attending court. Special juries now may be empanelled at the demand of either party in the more complicated type of civil action. Their members must fulfil property qualifications higher than those of normal jurors.

Hint October Vote

HALIFAX, Feb. 2 (CP) — A Nova Scotia general election next October was hinted in government circles Tuesday night following sessions of the cabinet and a caucus of Liberal legislators. Some members of the 30-seat House gave that month as a likely date for a contest although no definite decision had been reached at the meetings, they said.

Find 2 Bodies In House

NEWARK, NJ, Feb. 2 (AP) — The bodies of an aged recluse and his blind wife were found Tuesday in their home which was cluttered with antiques and art treasures valued by police at $200,000 or more. Police said the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Diffany, both about 85, had been dead about three weeks. Neighbors said the house had been closed to visitors since 1918 and that the shades had been kept down.

Withdraw Charges

PORT STANLEY, Feb. 2 (CP) —The village council Tuesday withdrew its charges of inefficiency against Chief Constable Clare E. Hilliard, laid in a letter Saturday in which Hilliard was requested to resign, effective Jan. 31. Council's action climaxed a stormy three days in the village during which ratepayers were at one time faced with the situation of council having dismissed its police chief and the police chief refusing to be fired without a public hearing.

Truman Believes U.S. Can Avoid Economic Blow

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—President Truman said last night he believes the United States can head off economic disaster.

It must not only do that, he said, but must follow through with the job of "world planning."

"I think that before any disaster with which we may be faced comes about," said Mr. Truman, "we will be in a position to meet it."

He voiced his thoughts at a dinner of the National Planning Association in an extemporaneous talk that was alternately humorous and deadly serious.

Efforts to make government serve the people more efficiently go hand in hand with economic planning to avert the disaster of depression, he declared.

The President spoke of the dark days from 1929 through 1932, of earlier depressions, and said planners, in and out of government, are working to prevent a recurrence of disaster.

Planned Economy

"But, when we talk about planning the things we want to do economically, we are charged with being Communists and fellow-travellers," he said. There was a distinction between a "planned economy" and a "controlled economy."

It is "absolutely essential" that the American economic structure remain "sound and prosperous," so it can meet its responsibilities the world over.

If the United States does not, it will be a question of "going back to the ninth century."

Praising former President Herbert Hoover's government reorganization proposals, he said they would reduce the number of boards and bureaus reporting to the President.

The son of Churchill's daughter, Mary, and Captain Christopher Soames, sits on table in his home at Westerham, Kent, England. He has six teeth, can stand and tries to walk. MP's Question US Command

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP) — A question of whether a United States Air Force officer is in command of a Canadian Airport brought no information in the Commons Tuesday.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (PC-Nanaimo), military critic for the Progressive Conservative party, asked Defence Minister Claxton of "a U.S. Air Force officer is in command of the airport at Mingan in the province of Quebec."

"I will have to look into that; I had no notice of the question," the Defence Minister replied.

A little later, Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North) asked if anyone in Canada has the power to appoint a U.S. officer as commanding officer of any depot or any arm of the Canadian forces.

"Has anybody in Canada that authority at this time except the Minister himself?" he added.

"If it was considered desirable in the interests of our common defence that that course should be taken, it could be taken," Mr. Claxton replied.

Two Men Fined For Slaying Deer

Two Bobcaygeon residents were fined $50 and $2.50 costs each in court today when they pleaded guilty to killing deer out of season. They were Charles C. Martin of R. R. No. 2, Bobcaygeon and Robert Kimball, Bobcaygeon. Two charges were laid by Game Overseer Ray Simpson of Bobcaygeon. With him when the two were caught was Game Warden C. S. Windsor of Peterborough. The two accused had shot a two-year-old buck in Harvey Township. When met by the officials, they were carrying half the carcass back to a car. The other half was found lying in the woods.

Quash Murder Charge

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Feb. 2—(CP) — A charge of murder against 15-year-old Allan Newton of Rumsey, Alta., was quashed Tuesday on a legal technicality. He was ordered held in custody. The young farm laborer was charged with the shotgun slaying Dec. 1 of Mrs. Mary Moore at her farm home near Rumsey, about miles northeast of Calgary.

Denies Carlin Refused Thanks

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 2 (CP) — A labor official Tuesday night denied that R. H. Carlin, international board member of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CCL) had been refused a vote of thanks after a speech at a Labor meeting here Sunday.

(The Canadian Press reported erroneously Monday that Mr. Carlin had been refused a vote of thanks at a meeting of the Cape Breton Trades and Labor Council because he had "attacked Canadain Labor leaders including our own men in Cape Breton.")

John R. MacDonald, former presdient of the council and chairman at the meeting, said in a statement Tuesday night:

"Bob Carlin...spoke at some length...there was a motion made that the meeting extend him a vote of thanks, but before I spoke on the motion I had ruled it out of order. I said it wasn't necessary to give Mr. Carlin a vote of thanks as I didn't think he came here for that purpose.

Find Plane Wreckage

EDMONTON, Feb. 2 (CP)—An RCAF spokesman Tuesday night confirmed that the wreckage of a plane found near Yellowknife, YWT was one missing since Jan. 22. A message from Port Smith, NWT, said the plane was completely burned." Pilot Grant Ford, Henry Denis, an official of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, and Thomas Lee of Yellowknife died in the wreckage.

Village Discards Liquor And Jail

TRENTON, Feb. 2—When the Village of Stirling was incorporated it had three hotels, three liquor stores, three constables and a jail. Now there is no jail, only one constable, and liquor has never come back since it was voted out in 1908.

This was some of the history of the village recalled by George N Leury, when a dinner was held and a gold pocket watch presented to him in honor of his 37 years as town clerk. Mr. Leury came to Stirling from Bonarlaw in Rawdon Township, 50 years ago.

The year 1908 was a big one for Stirling. Not only was liquor voted out, but electric lights replaced gas lamps. In 1912, when Mr. Leury became clerk, the tax rate was 10 mills. Today it is 50. In 1948, the total tax bill was $23,234—all but $300 of which has been collected—more than 20 times the amount levied in the village's first year.

Stirling, 13 miles from Trenton, has a population of 1,250 The village owns and has paid for a theatre, community hall, community recreation field, public library and community cemetery.

The theatre and community hall bring in about $2,000 every year. The theatre, classed as a recreation centre, is tax free. The village has its own water and hydro distribution, and the only taxes paid by the villagers are for property, administration and garbage collection.

Like everywhere else, housing is not plentiful, but 25 wartime houses have been built to help ease the situation.

With Mr. Leury retiring, F. R. Mallory, former auditor of Stirling, will take his place.

U.S. Union Leaders To Become Diplomats

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 2 (AP) — Leaders of the American Federation of Labor today considered plans for an extending Labor role in International affairs.

These include the possibility that several union leaders may be appointed to United States diplomatic posts abroad.

Because Russia belongs to the World Federation of Trade Unions the AFL never joined that organization. The CIO did. But now now that the CIO, as well as the British Trades Union Congress and the Dutch Labor movement, have pulled out of the WFTU, AFL interest has perked up.

Members of the AFL's executive council, in their annual winter meeting here, are reported to look with favor on the idea of sharing, with the CIO, membership in a new International labor group without Russia or the Soviet-dominated governments.

U.S. Swimmers Visit At Weekend

A two-day international swimming clinic, under auspices of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, will be held here next Saturdary and Sunday. The clinic will be in the Public Library and at the YWCA and YMCA pools, with Mrs. Mary E. Derosier, chairman of the American AAU Synchronized Swimming, in charge of the American discussions and demonstrations. Mrs. C. R. Seller, chairman of the Canadaian Ornamental Swimming, as well as being secretary of the CASA, takes charge of the Canadian discussion and demonstrations.

The program calls for registry at the library at 9.30 a.m. Saturday, followed by discussions there till 11.30. Demonstrations are planned for the YWCA pool from 12.30 till 2.00 p.m., followed by a tour of the city, conducted by the Chamber of Commerce. At 2.45, discussions will be held at the library, and from 5.00 till 8.00 demonstrations are held in the YMCA pool. After that, one member of each club or association will try out in the pool.

Prominent swimmers from the United States and Canada are taking part in this clinic, the first such ever held here. Canadian champions Jean Mowat, Marjory Cochand and Marney Delaney are coming, as well as Marilyn Stanley and Alice Miscus, USA champions. Peterborough talent will be in evidence, also.

The ext of the reply was: "The Lady in Waiting is desired by the Princess Elizabeth to express to you Her Royal Highness' sincere thanks for your congratulations and for the good wishes you send."

Swim for Health YWCA Slogan Review Friday

The art of recreation, which is today considered as important as culture and education reaches its greatest peak through the buoyancy of water. During Health week, the YWCA is emphasizing the fact that swimming, the most relaxing activity, is also a means of improving health.

Many defects are corrected through swimming and its beneficial effects in treatment of infantile paralysis are well known. It strengthens muscles and promotes body control and good posture.

Mrs. J. Powell, swimming director, reports that an average attendance at winter classes of 30 girls have seldom missed a lesson and not one has had a cold. This proves the long contended fact that swimming in winter is no more dangerous to health than taking a shower or bath, if sane precautions are taken. A few irregular attendants have had some head colds.

As a feature for Health Week the swimming department has the slogan 'Swim your way to Health' and is presenting a swim review at the YWCA Friday evening Feb. 4 at 8:15 p.m. Some of the visiting swimmers to the International Clinic will give a short swimming demonstration. Head officials for Synchronized Swimming for the North American continent will be in attendance.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Union Hours for Housewives Right Theory, Not Practice

DEAR MISS DIX: There is much talk just now among women about getting a union-hour-day for wives. But taking my operation unless men are permitted to have three wives and work them in own case as a test for this human a n i t a r i a n movement, I don't see how it can be put into shifts.

Dorothy Dix

This might, of course, appeal to the husbands with polygamous tendencies, but it certainly would make no hit with jealous wives, who would rather work their fingers to the bone to retain their monopoly over the men to whom they are married than to divide them up with other women. Also, most husbands find one wife about all they can support, and the idea of taking on a couple of extra charge accounts at the dress shops and the milliners and the beauty parlors wouldn't go over with them.

I think the idea is screwy, don't you?

MOTHER OF SIX

◆ ◆ ◆

ANSWER: Of course, women have just as much right to a union day as men have, but the trouble with all of women's rights is that they can't enforce them. A man can knock off after his prescribed hours of labor are through, but there are no union hours for mother. She can't take a day off every week and leave her family to get itself washed and dressed and fed, while she goes fishing.

Insoluble Problem

Indisputably no woman, and especially no woman who has added child-bearing to her other manifold labors, should be compelled to work longer hours than the huskiest man. Undoubtedly, it is a shame that the wife and mother is the only slave who is denied even one day of rest a week. Sundays and holidays—when the balance of the family relax—are mother's hardest d 's, because she has to cook her biggest dinners then and be on the job getting the family off to church or on their pleasuring. But what there is to do about it even Solomon himself couldn't tell you.

So as long as husbands and children persist in getting hungry three times a day, and continue tramp in dirt, and have colds and to wear out their clothes, and tummy aches, it is not easy to see how wives are going to get that union-day, with extra pay for overtime labor.

◆ ◆ ◆

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: When my daughter was married a short time ago, I tried in every way to start her married life running smoothly. I would drop over to her apartment several times a week and try to get her settled. I didn't like the way she was handling her money, so I tried to show her exactly what she should do. Why, she has spent money without telling me, and when I questioned her about it she practically told me that I was interfering.

Now tell me, Miss Dix, am I being an interfering mother?

ANSWER: You certainly are and, without intending to, you are becoming first aid to divorce, for nothing else breaks up so many marriages as mothers meddling in their children's affairs. The average mother seems incapable of ever realizing that when her daughters get married she no longer has any authority over them. Their loyalty is to their husbands, not to mama; and they have a perfect right t e in their own way, without any interference from mother.

Probably, dear lady, you could spend your daughter's money more judiciously than she does; but it is her money, not your. No doubt, you would like to have your daughter blab everything that happens in her home to you, but there is no surer way of her losing her husband.

If every mother would sit on her hands instead of poking them in her married children's pies, it would put an awful crimp in the divorce statistics.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: No married couple could have been happier than my husband and I were until my mother came to live with us. Now everything is changed. She bosses me around and yells if I do anything that doesn't suit her, which makes my husband mad. She is always griping and complaining about some-t'ng, and she has to know everything we do and every place we go.

We would be willing to support her if she would go somewhere else to live, but she refuses. She says it is my duty to stay with her, so my husband ' leaving me. I want to know if it ' ong for me to leave my mother and go with my husband? Or should I stay with her and have my husband leave me?

R. H. B.

◆ ◆ ◆

ANSWER: When you married you took a solemn oath to cleave to the man you took for a husband, foresaking all others. That should settle the matter.

Nursing Services Short 10,000 In South Africa

CAPETOWN, South Africa, — Feb. 2 (CP)—South Africa needs 10,000 more nurses and midwives and may extend training facilities to help meet the shortage.

A report of a survey by the National executive committee of the National War Memorial Health Foundation shows that the biggest problem is the provision of nurses for the non-European community. The report says that if the shortage of white nurses is to be overcome, additional non-European nurses must be trained to minister to the negroes.

"We need about 22,784 nurses and midwives for adequate health services and we probably have some 13,200," says the report, compiled from information supplied by hospitals and nursing authorities throughout South Africa.

Main reasons given for the shortage are:

Attraction of jobs with more pay and less work; wastage of nurses in training as only 47 per cent of nursing recruits qualify and stay in the profession; and lack of secondary school education for non-European girls which would qualify them in building up the numbers in the profession —only one student nurse comes from every 17,000 non-European girls, against one from 600 Europeans

2 Cars Stolen One Recovered

One car in Peterborough and one in Port Hope were stolen Tuesday. The city car was recovered a few hours later. Police believe that the two thefts may have been committed by the same person, as times of disappearance check with such a theory.

The service station of Reuben Wilson at McDonnel and Reid Sts. was the scene of the city theft, in which a 1946 sedan was taken between two and four o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Police were notified several hours later, when the loss was discovered.

Provincial constables George Henderson and Emmett Crough, on patrol on No. 28 Highway, found the car abandoned near the highway near Fraserville. There was apparently no damage done.

Meanwhile, in Port Hope, the theft of a car from outside a service station operated by Bernard A. Lawson was reported to police. It had been taken between 6.30 and 8 p.m., only a few hours after the garage had purchased it for resale. The loss was discovered when an attendant left the garage to drive the car under shelter.

No word of its recovery has been received yet. Police throughout the area have been notified.

Splendid Cough Syrup Easily Mixed at Home

To get quick relief from a distressing cough, mix this recipe in your own kitchen. Once tried, you'll say it's your favorite cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Anyone can do it. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.)

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its quick action on throat irritations.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle, and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of very efficient medicine, and you get four times as much for your money. It tastes fine and never spoils.

And for quick, satisfying relief, it is splendid. You can feel it penetrating the air passages and taking hold of the cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Pinex Is Swift Acting. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

Britain Hoping To Raise 50% of Food At Home

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Feb. 1—(CP).—All the world used to be Britain's larder but now she expects her home acres to produce half the food she eats. The country's resources are behind a drive to make rural Britain an effective ally of roaring factories producing for export. In the fiscal year 1952-53, if targets are reached, grain production will be 8,400,000 tons compared with 4,600,000 in pre-war years.

Meat and bacon production will be back at the pre-war level of 1,500,000 tons, compared with 900,000 tons in 1947 and 1,000,000 in 1948-49. Milk and milk products will total 9,000,000 tons compared with 7,300,000.

If hopes come true, Britain will have 50 per cent of her food from home production instead of 40 per cent as at present.

A four-year program prepared for submission to the Organization for European Economic Co-operation never suggests that Britain could be self-sufficient in food. But in 1952-1953 she hopes to harvest 2,764,000 tons of wheat against 1,751,000 tons average in the years 1934-1938 and 5,644,000 tons of coarse grains against 1,751,000.

Further Gains

Milk will be up to 123 per cent of 1936-1939, beef and veal 110 per cent, and eggs 131. A result of wartime depletion of herds and subsequent winter losses, mutton and lamb production will be 83 per cent and pigmeat 92, but improved grasslands will promise further gains.

Wheat acreage in 1951-1952 will be up 2,750,000 acres, "considered to be the highest that can be maintained as a permanent feautre of British farming without an acute distortion of the general farming pattern and a loss of soil fertility.

"As the supply of alternative foods improved it is intended to reduce the area devoted to potatoes to approximately 50 per cent above pre-war.

"Vigorous efforts are being made to extend the cultivation of linseed, a new crop which is of particular value as a source of cattle cake and of oil for induustrial purposes."

Nearly $400,000,000 will be spent on farm buildings in four years. Farm machinery production will be given priority so the farms may procure replacements and new machinery at the rate of $200,000,000 annually.

About 2,500,000 acres of land will be improved by the clearance of farm ditches and field drainage at a cost of $36,000,000.

NORMAN JAQUES, Social Credit MP for Wetaskiwin, Alberta, who died in Ottawa recently, aged 69.

Church Enrols Five Families

ORANGE CORNERS, Feb. 2—St. John's Church, Emily, annual meeting was held on Wednesday. The congregation sat down to a pot-luck supper, after which reports indicating a successful year were presented. The rector, Rev. F. W. Pooley, reported that five families had been added to the church membership and that 1948 had witnessed progress and increased interest.

Walter Magee presented the church warden's financial statemnt and indicated that a satisfactory balance was carried forward. During the year the Young People's Group had held social meetings, and as the result of a raspberry social and play, made a substantial contribution to the fund for the new roof of the church driving shed.

Church officials appointed are: Boyd Windrim, people's warden; Stanley McCall, rector's warden; Eric Blackwell, lay delegate to the Synod, and Kenneth Strain, secretary - treasurer; sidesmen, Harold McCall, Ernest McCall, Thomas Middleton, Gordon Jackson, and Nelson McConnell.

Mrs. Walter Magee revealed that the women had helped the warden with a large contribution to meet the budget and carry forward a considerable surplus.

Two of the engineers, Prof. D. S. Ellis of Kingston and Dr. Arthur Surveyor of Montreal, were appointed by the federal government. Dr. P. L. Pratley of Montreal was appointed by the Nova Scotia government.

Plan Six Flower Beds Along Lansdowne St.

Six flower beds on the south side of Lansdowne St., fronting the Exhibition Park, are planned by Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, as a promised improvement, it was reported to the parks committee Monday night.

They will each be 20 feet long and five feet wide. One will be planted west of Park St., another opposite the end of Aylmer St., one on each side of the George St. gate, one opposite Maude St. and the sixth will be west of the Lock St. gate. They will cost about $50 each.

"We will remove only the trees that are required for the flower beds," Mr. Butcher said.

An experiment will be made with hardy climbing rose bushes along the new wire fence. Mr. Butcher said in reply to Ald Doug Miller that some of the sturdier varieties should survive winter. "I'm more concerned about some people than about frost," he remarked.

WOMAN DIES AFTER PICKET LINE FRACAS

Pair Killed In Crash On Barrie Ice

Quebec Plane Dives Into Airstrip, 8 Dead, 2 Injured

BARRIE, Feb. 4 (CP) — A seven-man salvage party today found the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Castelli of Library, Pa., in the crumpled wreckage of the aircraft in which they crashed on Lake Simcoe yesterday.

The party started out before dawn and were forced to wade through heavy snow to reach the plane, half submerged in offshore ice, 75 miles north of Toronto.

The metal fuselage of the four-seater plane which crashed during a snowstorm was jammed together like an accordion. Jerry Castelli, 41, and his 37-year-old wife were flying from Library, a Pittsburgh suburb, to North Bay. They planned to go ice fishing on Lake Nipissing with the husband's Cousin, Albert Butti.

Darkness and a storm held up exploration of the wreckage last night. Police planned to remove the smashed plane from the ice today and search it for bodies.

When the beige-colored craft pancaked on the ice of Carthew Bay, three-quarters of a mile from the northern end of Lake Simcoe and about five miles south of Orillia, the impact ripped the engine from its frame. Bits of wreckage were scattered for yards across the frozen bay.

Couldn't Reach Wreckage

Harry Wrigley, a farmer on the north shore of Lake Simcoe, heard the plane drone overhead, then crash with a "dull thud." He was the first person to reach the scene but broken ice prevented him from walking right up to the wreckage.

"I went close enough to see that no one appeared to be alive," he said. "Later, I came back with my brother, Bob, and we got to within four feet of the plane. It was so badly damaged that we couldn't see into it."

Castelli, wealthy owner of drive-in theatres in the Pittsburgh area, obtained his pilot's licence last May. He bought the plane, a Ryan-Navion with an all-metal body, three months ago and spent many hours in the air.

Following the crash, it was

Hold Striker On Charges Of Violence

Free-For-All Staged At Paris Plant, Police Form Cordon

PARIS—Arthur Gignac, 24-year-old United Textile Workers (AFL) picket was charged today with intimidation with violence following the death of Mrs. Charles Cardy.

PARIS, Feb. 3 (CP)—Coinciding with a fresh outbreak on the Penman picket lines, Mrs. Charles Cardy, 45-year-old hosiery inspector and mender in the Penmans mill, died today of injuries received Jan. 19.

Mrs. Cardy was injured while going through the picket line outside the mill, on her way to work on the second day of the strike called by the United Textile Workers (AFL) to enforce wage and union security demands.

It was not immediately disclosed what injuries had caused Mrs. Cardy's death. Police intimated it would result in the most serious charge to be laid since the start of the strike.

Mrs. Cardy, who had been employed in the mill since 1928, is survived by her husband, one daughter, Kathleen, and two sons, William and John.

Series of Flare-ups

When Penman workers were going in on the job this morning, the pickets virtually ignored No. 1 and No. 3 mills and concentrated their efforts on No. 9 mill. As a result, provincial police also concentrated their force there.

A series of flare-ups merged into a free-for-all, and police finally arrested nine persons: Helen Murphy, 22, secretary-treasurer of the U.T.W.A. local in Paris; Mrs. Hendrika Bethune, 22, already summoned on another charge; Arthur Gignac, 24, previous arrested and out on bail; Robert W. Williams, 16; William Horsfall, 21; Charles Campbell, 26; Leo Hersman, 21; Wilbert Hilborn, 16; William Williamson, 23.

Fifteen other persons have been arrested earlier during the strike.

Struck in Face

Mrs. Bethune told spectators she was struck in the face by an Ontario Provincial Police officer after an employee's automobile ran over her foot.

Miss Murphy escaped from the milling crowd and was arrested by police who found her lying in the rear seat of a taxi.

Police formed a cordon to allow employees cars to pass through the lines but were pushed against the cars by pickets. A window in a car driven by Edward Setter smashed and Setter was cut about the face.

A small model car was placed across the thoroughfare leading to the plant. Police picked it up and carried it to the sidelines.

Hilborn was arrested after he was told by police: "You can't call an officer that."

Charges Laid

At Brantford police reported the following charges laid:

Miss Murphy, Mrs. Bethune and Williams are charged with assaulting police.

CANADA HAS LODGED a strong protest with Hungary over the arrest of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty. The Cardinal is now on trial before the People's Court on charges of treason.

Hungarian Cardinal Pleads 'Partly Guilty' To Charges Of Treason

Denies Ever Having Led a Movement To Destroy Democratic System; First Cardinal Ever Tried By Civil Court

BUDAPEST, Feb. 3—(CP).—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty told a Hungarian people's court today "I plead partly guilty, having committed the majority of those deeds I am charged with." The Cardinal's former secretary, Dr. Andras Zakar, also pleaded "partly guilty" but said he only followed orders of his superiors.

Mindszenty and six others are being tried on charges of treason, spying and black market dealings.

As the trial opened, Mindszenty acknowledged that he wrote a letter offering to work for peace between the Communist-dominated government and the Roman Catholic Church and to resign temporarily as Prince Primate if his trial was put off.

The presiding judge of the five-man eople's court, Vilmos Olthys, put the question of guilt to the Primate, and Cardinal Mindszenty answered in a firm voice:

Not Against Democracy

"It is not my intention to mince matters. I must state that I cannot accept all the conclusions contained in the indictment as a consequence of my activities.

"I cannot, for instance, accept the charge which alleged that I organized or led a movement to destroy the Democratic system of this state."

In his letter, the Cardinal offered to work personally for peace between the Communist-dominated government and the Roman Catholic Church.

The Primate is the first Roman Catholic Cardinal ever to be tried by a civil court. At the outset the court rejected his request to separate his case from that of six others similarly charged.

The 56-year-old Prelate wore the unadorned robes of a simple priest as he was led before the court. There was no visible change in his appearance despite almost 40 days in jail. He did not appear to have lost weight.

Hears Offer

The presiding judge, Vilmos Olthys, opened the proceedings by reading the Cardinal's offer.

"Did you write this letter?" Judge Olthys asked.

"Yes," the Cardinal replied. His answer came in a firm, loud voice

When the court rejected the plea for a separate trial for the Cardinal, the proceedings began with Justin Baranayi, 67, professor of canon law at the Budapest University and a Royalist leader, in the dock.

This is regular Hungarian procedure for a trial of this kind. The hearings of the defendants are separate, but it is all one case.

The indications were that the Cardinal's case soon would be called.

The Cardinal did not wear the cap symbolic of his office, nor did he wear his Crucifix.

At the outset, a dramatic pause was caused when the letter was read. The court said it had been written by Cardinal Mindszenty.

The letter said Cardinal Mindszenty had hindered an agreement

No Progress Made By Big Five

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Feb. 3—(CP).—Three years ago today, the Big Five's top brass began discussions in a back room on formation of an international army. Their accomplishment to date is a deadlock. And their chance of reaching agreement does not look good. This military staff committee meets every other Thursday at the United Nations headquarters in Manhattan. It comprises the chiefs of staff, or their representatives, of the five permanent members of the Security Council: Britain, the United States, Russia, France and China. It meets secretly and its members are sworn to keep their discussions secret unless all agree to make them public.

The MSC last issued a public report Nov. 1. Four lies long it said merely that the committee was meeting regularly and had not finished its work.

The committee was formed in London in 1946 to assist the Security Council on all military matters. As far as is known, it is still working on the problem of forming an international armed force.

U.N. army, navy and air force is provided for in the U.N. charter —one of its main points of difference from the covenant of the League of Nations.

But the Big Five can't agree on how the force ought to be formed.

Closest the U.N. has come to forming an international army is the group of 50 unarmed guards sent to Palestine last Summer. Their places in Palestine have since been taken by military observers from France, Belgium and the United States.

70 Men In Naval Reserve March Off To War Then March Back To Loved Ones—All Mistake

BRISTOL, England, Feb. 3—(AP)—A war scare which resounded through this seaside city like the crack of doom was traced to a navy clerk's error.

Seventy members of the naval reserve who had marched off to battle marched back to their loved ones and the old workaday grind.

The clerk meant to send them a routine notice to attend a regular drill night, the admiralty explained. Instead, he shipped out 70 form letters yesterday saying:

"General mobilization this day having been ordered by royal proclamation, you are ordered to report immediately to the Flying Fox, Bristol, with full kit." It was all a mistake.

Say Kelley Investigating Doctors Across Ontario

TORONTO, Feb. 3—(CP).—Health Minister Kelley of Ontario declined today to comment on a statement made by the Ontario Medical Association that his Department is "investigating the doctors of Ontario." The statement, made in a form letter sent by the association to all doctors, outlines efforts of the association to obtain medical representation on a committee appointed by the Health Department to survey all Ontario's health facilities under the Federal health grants.

The association statement said in part "the Minister further states his main reason for declining association representation on the survey committee stemmed from the fact that doctors themselves were being investigated and he could not ask the association to investigate the doctors.

Mr. Kelley dened a charge made last night in Windsor by Dr. William agner of Toronto that the Provincial Government refused to co-operate with the medical profession in preparing for the health survey.

Mr. Kelley said: "We did not refuse to co-operate with the medical profession. We are quite prepared to co-operate.'"

Russ Envoy Zarubin Recalled To Moscow

LONDON, Feb. 3—(Reuters)—Georgi Zarubin, Russian ambassador to Britain, has been recalled to Moscow, it was learned in foreign diplomatic circles last night.

Zarubin was said to have left London a day or two ago, and it was reported he was not expected back for a week.

His absence from London was revealed when he did not appear at a reception given by the Hungarian minister during a celebration of the anniversary of the Hungarian republic.

RHODES, Feb. 3—(CP).—The Israelis rejected Wednesday the recommendations of mediator Ralph S. Bunche for a settlement of boundary lines in the disputed Negev.

Oshawa Couple Get 2 Years For Robbery

WHITBY, Feb. 3 — (CP). — An Oshawa man and woman today were each sentenced to two years less a day, with four strokes of the strap added for the man, on conviction on a charge of robbery with violence.

Mrs. Florence Clarke, 44, and Raymond Norris, 20, were convicted of beating and robbing 50-year-old Peter Proskin on a lonely East Whitby road last December 18. Evidence showed the incident followed a drinking bout in Oshawa and Proskin was left unconscious and robbed of $12.

Priest Burned As 30 Flee Hospital Fire

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Feb. 3 (AP). — A Roman Catholic priest was killed while some 30 other persons fled to safety from a fire which swept St. Joseph's Sanitarium here early to-day.

St. Joseph's Hospital, which administers the adjacent sanitarium, said the lone victim was Rev. Joseph Thomas Barry of Cleveland.

Father Barry was found dead in his room. He apparently had been suffocated.

The fire broke out about 1:30 a.m., and 25 patients and five nuns escaped into the near-zero cold, hospital officials said. They were cared for at the hospital.

The fire was brought under control at 2:30 a.m.

All the fire equipment of this little city fought the blaze, limiting the damage to an estimated $15,000.

Fire Chief Clayton E. Dubay said the blaze was apparently due to Father Barry's "careless smoking." The priest's bed in his first-floor room was destroyed.

Two nurses, Mrs. Marguerite Curlett and Mrs P. Mayhew, told of forcing their way into Father Barry's smoke-filled quarters.

One covered her head with a blanket and the other with a robe. But when they tried to open the door, they said, Father Barry, apparently panic-stricken, pulled in the opposite direction.

As the smoke thickened and the heat grew "so intense we could not stand it," the nurses groped their way out. Firemen later found Father Barry's body. The priest's room was a ruin.

The ornate 50-year-old sanitarium is operated as a rest home by the Sisters of Charity of Cincinnati and in the summer season accommodates 130 guests.

Export Bill Reading

LONDON, Feb. 3 (CP) — The House of Commons Wednesday night gave second reading to the export guarantees bill which the Labor government says will increase exports to Canada and the United States. The bill raises the limit for guarantees from £300,000,000 ($1,200,000,000) to £500,000,000.

Warn Exporters Avoid Business With Argentine

OTTAWA, Feb. 3—(CP).—One of Canada's international markets for a host of goods, the Argentine, is just about dried up temporarily because pf currency difficulties.

A Bank of Canada officer last night cautioned Canadian exporters with doing business with the Argentine "for the next few months at least."

The note of caution followed the move Monday by the Argentine Central Bank in Buenos Aires, temporarily discontinuing the granting of foreign exchange for any purpose.

With no means of obtaining payment in United States dollars, Canadian exporters will lose approximately $10,000,000 a year in export trade with that Latin American country.

In 1948 Canada exported about $16,000,000 worth of goods to the Argentine and imported only $6,000,000 worth. Latterly, the Argentine had provided a good market for Canadian seed potatoes, now surplus in the Dominion, railway cars, electrical goods and rubber products.

Two of the biggest items for which Canada developed a big post-war field in the Argentine were farm implements and newsprint.

Up to recently, Canada has been buying tallow, raw hides, skins and tanning materials from that country, but her imports from the Argentine now are not as great as they have been in past years.

Sheriff's Office Looted Of $6,000

NAPANEE, Feb. 3 — (CP)— Thieves Wednesday night escaped with $6,000 in bonds, including $1,600 in bearer bonds, from the office of Sheriff J. L. Haycock. The sheriff's office is directly across the hall from the office of the Provincial Police.

Police said the thieves forced open a rear door and broke into a desk drawer from which they removed keys to the sheriff's vault and the vault of the county engineer in the same building. The engineer's vault was rifled but nothing was removed.

The theft was discovered shortly after 8:30 a.m. today when Fred Bush, chief turnkey of the county jail, reported for work. Police believe the robbery took place about midnight.

A rusty hand saw, a knife, and a pair of blacksmith's tongs found in the office were being examined for finger prints.

Want 4 Leafs For Richard

MONTREAL, Feb. 3 —(CP)— Frank Selke handed the ball right back to Toronto Maple Leafs' Happy Day today, countering Day's offer to purchase Maurice (Rocket) Richard with a suggestion Leafs sell four National Hockey League players to Canadiens.

Selke said the Leafs players Canadiens would like to get are Harry Watson, Bill Ezinicki, Max Bentley and Garth Boesch.

The Canadiens' general manager made his offer in a telegram sent to Hap Day's hotel here where he is staying with the Leafs prior to their scheduled game with Canadiens tonight.

The telegram followed Selke's quick turn-down yesterday of Hap Day's offer to purchase Richard.

Little Hope Held Li Can Get Peace

NANKING, Feb. 3 (AP)—The chances of Acting President Li Tsung-jen's ghost government for national peace and continued American economic aid were none too bright today.

Li was given almost no chance of arranging a national peace with the Communists. At best he might succeed in surrendering Nanking, Shanghai, Hankow and the lower Yangtze river valley.

Li's government is scattered and ineffective. His cabinet officers headed for Canton, where they are supposed to reopen for business Saturday. But Li plans to hang on here, maybe even daring everything on a flight to the Communists to beg for peace

CORNWALL, Feb. 3 (CP) — Notified he is one of eight heirs equally sharing a £5,000,000 ($20,000,000) New Zealand estate, 55-year-old David Marshall Telfer said today he plans to establish himself in business.

He said another Canadian named Telfer living in Montreal was also one of the eight who would share the fortune, but he did not know the Montreal man's christian name or street address.

"I'm too old to lose my head over a thing like this," said Telfer, a naval architect and marine surveyor. "I plan to start in business as soon as my wife gets back from a holiday. It will be some sort of engineering business —most likely ship repairs."

Mr. Telfer said today that he would receive about a $2,500,000 share of the estate left by a childless and intestate second cousin, Charles Telfer of Wellington, New Zealand The estate is made up of both money and property of Charles Telfer who died in 1927.

Search for heirs lasted until December, 1947, and they were located in Canada, the United States and Scotland. Mr. Telfer said his share of the fortune is now en route to Canada from New Zealand.

A native of Glasgow, Scotland, David Telfer went to sea at an early age. He has been around the world twice on steamships. During the First World War he worked on naval construction at Malta and in the Second World War he worked in conjunction with the Royal Canadian Navy at Halifax overseeing construction of Tribal class destroyers.

John Belcher Resigns As Labor Member

LONDON, Feb. 3—(Reuters).—John Belcher, former Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, today resigned as Labor member of parliament for Sowerby. He earlier had resigned his Ministerial office after giving evidence before the Lynskey tribunal which investigated corruption in Government circles.

The tribunal report said Belcher had performed services for business men in exchange for gifts. It said that he had received gifts but no money had been paid him.

The report charged Belcher decided, due to favors from a stateless alien, Sidney Stanley, to withdraw Board of Trade prosecution of Sherman's football pools. Harry Sherman was charged with violation of paper regulations.

Won't Let Peace Moves Disrupt Unity

Acheson Refuses To Play Politics With International Peace Hopes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)— The United States served notice on the world today that it will allow no Russian "peace manoeuvre" to disrupt the growing unity of non-Communist western powers.

That was the real significance seen by diplomatic officials here in State Secretary Acheson's rejection of Premier Stalin's latest declaration of his willingness to hold a meeting with President Truman.

American diplomats in western as well as eastern Europe were expected to make the most of this new and detailed statement of Washington's determination not to make any direct side deals with the Soviet Union at the possible expense of other countries.

The government's official "Voice of America" radio broadcast was beaming Acheson's 2,500-word statement of the United States position all over the world.

To Endorse Acheson

President Truman had an opportunity to enter the picture today. He scheduled his usual weekly press conference for 4 p.m. EST and it was expected that he would probably endorse fully all that Acheson had said.

The Secretary of State at a press conference yesterday turned thumbs down on Stalin's latest proposals.

He did it in such a way as indirectly to accuse Stalin of playing international politics with his statement last Sunday. That statement expressed a willingness to meet Truman for the purpose of considering a Soviet-American "pact of peace."

Acheson also renewed the American charge that the present state of the world is due to Russia's "obstructionism" in the United Nations and in other international forums where the great problems of the world are supposed to be solved.

Won't Play Politics

Twice in his statement Acheson asserted the United States would not play politics with the world's peace hopes. At one point he added:

"'No man of conscience would tamper with those hopes or use the raising or lowering of them as a pawn in any manoeuvre."

He made it clear that in his opinion it would be useless for an American President to travel "half way around the world" for the fourth time to meet Stalin and make a pledge of peace when both Russia and the United States are already pledged by the United Nations not to resort to war.

The Secretary commented on all the questions in a manner which officials said was resigned to make clear (1) Where the responsibility for failure to get peace lies and (2) why the United States believes that no lasting results could be obtained through a Truman-Stalin conference.

Six Left Homeless When Fire Guts Home

KINGSTON, Feb. 3—(CP). — Six persons were left homeless this morning when fire gutted a frame house in suburban Dovercourt.

Residents were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Connor, their three children, Garry 5, Douglas 4, and Sheila, 18 months, and Stanley Esson, uncle of Mr. Connor.

Both Mr. Connor and Mr. Esson had left for work when fire was first spotted by Garry who was sleeping in a back room on the ground floor with the other two children.

Mrs. Connor threw on her overcoat, took her three children and rushed from the house.

Canada Lodges Protest With Hungary Over Cardinal's Arrest

Note Also Deplores Arrest Of Two Others On Charges Of Treason; Censures Blow At Religious Freedom

OTTAWA, Feb. 3—(CP).—Canada has lodged a "strong" protest against the arrest of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Hungary. Because Canada has no diplomatic relations with that Communist-dominated land, the protest was relayed through the Canadian Ambassador in Washington, Hume Wrong, to the Hungarian Minister there. No reply has been received.

External Affairs Minister Pearson yesterday read in the Commons the 250-word protest, which also deplored the "arrest" and "persecution," respectively, of the senior bishop of the Lutheran Church and the senior bishop of the Calvanist Church.

The note said the Government had learned that Cardinal Mindszenty had been arrested on charges of "treason, espionage and illegal currency transactions" which "do not command respect."

"That," Mr. Pearson told the Commons, "is diplomatic language for 'we don't believe you.'"

Strong Protest

The note added that the Canadian Government "wishes strongly to protest" against a policy which appears designed to destroy religious freedom in Hungary. It also referred to the article of the peace treaty with Hungary which provides that:

"Hungary shall take all measures necessary to secure to all persons under Hungarian jurisdiction, without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion, the enjoyment of human rights and of the fundamental freedoms, including freedom of expression of press and publication, or religious worship, or of political opinion and of public meeting."

The day after the Cardinal's arrest on Dec. 27 the Canadian Government, as a signatory to the treaty of peace, tried to obtain all available information. The government planned to take any action under the peace treaty which might be effective in halting religious persecution in Hungary.

However, it was found that joint action "might have had an effect contrary to that which was desired."

Defend Hong Kong

LONDON, Feb. 3 (Reuters) — Defence Minister A. V. Alexander promised the House of Commons Wednesday he would take all practicable measures to defend Hong Kong should the Colony be threatened by the southward spread of the Chinese civil war. The British government, he added, is watching the situation in the Far East very carefully.

feared at first that two of the couple's four children had also been in the plane when it plunged into the lake. But Max Puncher, a close friend of the couple, said in Library, Pa., that all four of the Castelli children were at home. They are William, 28; Gerald, 21; Melvin, 16, and Gina, 10.

Crashes On Airstrip

BAIE DE LA TRINITE, Que., Feb. 3 (CP)—Eight persons were killed in a crash Wednesday of an airplane carrying holiday-bound bushworkers to their homes. Six were killed outright. Two died this morning of injuries.

The plane owned by St. Lawrence Airways plummetted nose first into the airstrip shortly after becoming airborne on the outskirts of this tiny St. Lawrence gulf village 250 miles northeast of Quebec.

Four were critically injured and flown to hospital at Rimouski whence came word today that two of the injured died. The other two were reported in "fair condition."

Death List

The two who died today were identified as Edgar Lebel of Rimouski and Louis Ross of St. Marcelin, Que. They were employed on bush operations by the St. Lawrence Paper Mills, Co.

Three others of the dead were tentatively identified late last night as Ken Smith, the pilot; George Ouellette of Montreal, plane mechanic and Lionel Gagnon of Petite Matane, Que., a bush worker.

The two injured survivors were Donat Cote of Nazareth, Que., near Rimouski, who suffered severe shock and Roger Boudreau of Matane, who has a fractured thigh.

Smith, who was believed to be a native of Ontario, and Ouellette were employed by St. Lawrence Airways which operates an unscheduled service of flights out of Riviere du Loup, Que.

The injured, all St. Lawrence Mills woods workers, were tentatively identified as Edgar Lebel and Donat Cote, Rimouski; Louis Ross, St. Marcellin-de-Rimouski, and Rooer Boudreault of St. Jean de Cherbrourg, Que.

Henri Durette, village taxi-driver said that shortly after leaving the snow-covered tarnack, the Anson Mark V did a "crazy little" dip but that the pilot appeared to have righted it.

"All of a sudden," he said, "it came straight down, nose first" into the 3,600-foot long airstrip. The pilot, mechanic and four of the passengers were dead when he and Bechard reached the plane, Durette said.

between church and state and offered to withdraw opposition if his trial would be adjourned.

Zilmos Olthy, the presiding judge, said the letter was addressed to Justice Minister Istvan Reisz. He read it in the tiny courtroom holding only about 100 persons, many of them resident newspaper men.

Admits Errors

The letter said the Cardinal admitted "grave errors" in his fight against a church-state agreement, that he would give a free hand to the Hungarian bishops to negotiate with the government, and asked the minister to adjourn the trial. It added that he "would withdraw himself for a considerable time" and asserted he could render good service to the Hungarian republic.

When the court called upon him to provide a personal history of himself, he announced in a firm voice, "Archbishop of Esztergom, Cardinal and Primate."

First Surprise

This was the first surprise of the trial. Although the Hungarian Republic, newly proclaimed a "people's republic" by its Communist - dominated government, does not acknowledge any aristocratic titles such as prince, the Cardinal never had failed before to sign himself Prince Primate of Hungary."

He was followed to the dock by his fellow defendants, who gave their names, professions and property.

Duke Paul Esterhazy, member of a large old Hungarian family, said he possessed "roughly 3,000,000 florints" in houses and land, in Hungary and abroad in the Soviet zone of Austria. The sum is equal to about $300,000.

The other defendants were Professor Jusun Baranay; Rev. Ondras Zakar, the Cardinal's secretary; Rev. Miklos Nagy, secretary of the lay organization, Catholic Action; Rev. Bela Ispenky; and a newspaper man, Laszlo Toth.

Emelinda Ottrupay, a former ballerina at Budapest Opera House and wife of Duke Esterhazy, was on one of the back benches.

Another interested spectator was Gabor Peter, head of Hungary's political police.

Read Indictment

The government read the indictment, accusing the Cardinal of "leading an organization which aimed to overthrow democratic order of the state with treason and with speculation in foreign currency."

It accused him of royalist activities on behalf of the pretender, Archduke Otto of Hapsourg, and of maintaining "subversive connections with Tibor Eckhardt, Hungarian political adventure in the United States."

The government announced in December that Cardinal Mindszenty had confessed his guilt to all these charges.

Vatican City dispatches pointed out that under church law all Roman Catholics who put Mindszenty on trial before lay judges will be excommunicated, the heaviest punishment within the power of the church. That means they are denied the sacraments of the church and the society of other communicants. The Vatican already has excommunicated all who had anything to do with Mindszenty's arrest.

Istovan Barankovics, leader of the Hungarian Democratic People's Party, a Roman Catholic party, fled to Vienna, Austria. There he announced last night he had disbanded the party despite warnings of severe reprisals from the community deputy premier, Matyas Rakosi, to take no action until after Cardinal Mindszenty's trial. Barankavics said the government's complete annulment of freedom made it impossible for his party to function as directed by the 16 per cent of the people who voted for it in 1947. The party was the strongest remaining opposition party in Hungary. Hungary is 67 per cent Roman Catholic.

Jury Acquits Groom In Track Killing

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP)—Vincent St. Lawrence, 24, has been acquitted of murder in the race-track bludgeon death of George (Cowboy) Parker, 37, formerly of Calgary.

An Assize Court jury Wednesday night deliberated more than six hours before freeing the race-track groom, known on the tracks as "Ginsberg." When the verdict was announced, St. Lawrence, arms outstretched, leaped to his feet in the prisoner's dock and shouted, "Thank God."

Parker, a racing stable groom at Woodbine Race Track, was found at the track the night of Oct. 9 with skull fractures and other injuries. He died in hospital next morning. He had won a large bet at another track that day and, when trackmates found him beaten, about $200 of his winnings was missing.

The defence called no witnesses. St. Lawrence's lawyer, George Ferguson, told the jury no blood was found on the accused man's clothing although Parker had been covered with blood and the fence near which Parker was found was spattered. He said too, that St. Lawrence and Parker were friends and "a friend doesn't murder a friend."

1945 Conference Failure Hotly Debated In House

OTTAWA, Feb. 3—(CP).—The contentious, confused issue of responsibility for the failure of the 1945-46 Dominion-Provincial Conference bubbled up in the Commons Throne Speech debate again yesterday, but quickly subsided. It was thrust into an otherwise serene discussion by Justice Minister Garson, a participant in the conference as Premier of Manitoba, as he sought to pin responsibilities for the collapse of the conference on the Premiers of Ontario and Quebec.

A swift rejoinder came from John Diefenbaker, the Progressive Conservative party's legal spokesman from Lake Centre who said Mr. Garson had served only to confuse the issue further. Mr. Diefenbaker placed responsibility on the doorstep of the Federal Government.

The discussion served as a continuation of the sometimes bitter battle of words which developed over the same question last week between Prime Minister St. Laurent and George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader and a conference participant as Premier of Ontario.

When Mr. Garson and Mrs. Diefenbaker had had their say, the debate returned to its former even trend. Speakers included A. Wesley Stuart (L-Charlotte), Robert Fair (SC-Battle River) and E. B. McKay (CCF-Weyburn).

The Chamber gave first reading to two private bills providing for amendments to the Dominion Elections Act and to a third private measure to outlaw so-called crime comic books.

Cobourg Hospital Shows Deficit

COBOURG, Feb. 3—(ENS)—Increased cost per day for patients along with an average fewer days' stay of the patients, contributed to the increase in the operating deficit of Cobourg General Hospital, it was revealed at the annual meeting of the Hospital Board.

Secretary-treasurer J. R. McIlraith revealed that the total expenditures were $65,762.43 and the operating revenue was $51,-468.86. Added to the income were grants consisting of the town of Cobourg, $600; counties, $1,500; Ontario Government, $5,722.63; cash donations, $904.93; equipment from the Women's Auxiliary, $1,009.92; bequest, $2,500, leaving a net operating deficit of $4,556.09. In the previous year the deficit was $1,605.05.

In 1946, the average daily cost per patient amounted to $4.62 and in the following year it had increased to $6.82 while last year it was $7.76. Changes in the hours to eight hour duty for nurses last year meant an increase in the staff. In recent years, due to changed methods of treatment, patients stay in hospital for shorter periods. Back in 1943 with 784 patients, the average day's stay was 10.6. Last year with a total of 1,377 patients, the average days' stay was only 5.9, Mr. McIlraith pointed out.

A. C. Hodgetts was re-elected president of the Board, and now takes on his duties for the tenth year in succession. Vice-president is George Mitchell and secretary-treasurer is J. R. McIlraith. Nineteen members now comprise the board of directors, an increase of four new members and the board of directors for 1949 are A. C. Hodgetts, William Dundas, George Mitchell, John T. Field, Lester Caughey, Dudley Spragge, Harry Gadd, W. S. Edwards, Richard Parker, H. Graves and Cecil Wilson. George Galbraith is the appointee from the counties council; Rev. W. P. Woodger, Cobourg Ministerial Association; Rev. J. P. Collins, St. Michael's Parish, Dr. W. W. Wade and Dr. W. W. Wilkins, hospital medical staff; Mrs. W. J. Jamieson and Mrs. Dennis Larkin, Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary.

Committee chairmen are Rev. W., P. Woodger, management; Dudley Spragge, finance; George Mitchell, property and Rev. J. P. Collins, public relations.

Port Hope Lions Plan Big Project

PORT HOPE, Jan. 3 —Frank Keeler, a popular and old time resident of this town has deeded a large tract of land to the Lions club for one dollar, and now the Lions are launching a drive for a Recreation Centre.

The plan is the most ambitious one attempted since the club was formed in 1931, and includes tennis courts, a baseball diamond, bowling greens, and a competition-sized swimming pool. Sufficient land has been acquired through purchases, options, and outright gifts to provide an area for a spacious park.

Town council is solidly behind the service club in this venture. and they claim it will also serve the purpose of providing an area which can be properly supervised for swimming by one competent lifeguard.

Corridor Cuts Off 2 Ontario LPP Seats

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP)—Carpenters Wednesday built a corridor around seats of the two Labor-Progressive members in Ontario legislature.

There now is a corridor between the Labor-Progressives and the six Progressive Conservatives who had seats adjoining. Another division separates the two LPP seats from the Liberals.

New seating arrangements had to be worked out after CCF leader E. B. Jolliffe told the Speaker at the last session that it would be "very unpleasant for the government" if the CCF and LPP sat together.

"Centralism" In Ontario

Mr. Drew, leader of the Progressive-Conservative party, continues to accuse his Liberal opponents and the present Federal Government of being "centralist". This is the same Mr. Drew who, when Premier of Ontario, centred more power on Queen's Park and his own desk than any other Ontario Premier whom we can remember. In the last decade the municipalities have been forced to surrender more authority—or 'rights"—to Toronto than Ontario has lost, or even been asked to give up, to the Federal authority. Mr. Drew has not been the only "centralist" in office in Queen's Park in that decade. The process began with Mr. Hepburn. Mr. Drew amplified and extended the practice. Here is an indication of the centralization as perfected by the Drew Administration.

* * *

Should Peterborough need a new public school, for which the citizens will have to pay 69 per cent. of the total cost, this is the red tape which ties the municipality to Queen's Park. The local Board of Education decides to build. (Its members are responsible citizens intimately acquainted with the educational situation in the city. They are elected representatives of the ratepayers.) The Board decides upon a site. It must then submit the proposal to build a school and its selection of a site to the Department of Education at Toronto. If the Department approves of both the proposal and the site, the local Board may then call upon an architect for preliminary plans. These must then be submitted to the Department of Education. If it approves them, the local Board then asks the architect to prepare full working plans. These must be sent to Toronto for approval. When that is obtained, the local Board calls for tenders and then submits the whole matter to the City Council which must furnish the money. The City Council may then do one of two things. It can prepare a by-law and submit it to the vote of the people, or give the by-law its readings and send it for approval to the Municipal Board in Toronto. If the first course is followed and the voters favour the by-law, the matter must still be approved by the Municipal Board. But before this superior Board is reached, however, the Department of Education must again review the affair, because now costs are settled, not tentative. The Municipal Board at about the same time reviews all the plans, from site to costs, in much the way the Department of Education did. It will exercise the authority vested in it by the Ontario Government to reject, for instance, a small auditorium in the school. When all is approved in general and in detail, the City Council has permission then to issue debentures and the local Board of Education can award the contract.

* * *

This is the process by which the City of Peterborough or any other comparable Ontario municipality may be allowed by the Ontario Government to build a school for itself. The Ontario Government (and its departments), notwithstanding the number of times they stick their nose into the business, put up only 31 per cent. of the money. That is the kind of centralization of power and authority which Mr. Drew's administration exercised in Ontario. It is strange that it should be he who accuses the Federal Government of being "centralist".

World Designs For War Or Peace

During the next few months we may know whether the design of the post-war world will serve to make peace or be used to wage war.

What is the design? Over all is U.N. This organization born of hope and war has proved impotent in preventing aggression, ineffective as an instrument for world peace. It cannot be written off, for even as it now exists, it is an organic and valuable expression of people the world over for concord. Patterns are emerging in the Orient, and what happens there is important to the Occident. However, during the next two decades the issues of war or world peace are likely to be decided in the west — in Europe and the Americas.

The western design has now been delineated. Russia has extended its boundaries and consolidated them. It has surrounded itself with satellites to the Elbe river on the west and North China on the east. The trade of that vast sector of the world has been orientated on Moscow. So has the diplomacy—through the Cominform. It is maintaining vast standing armies from Berlin to Manchuria. Its economy is still a war-time one. It is propagandizing everywhere in the world, proclaiming the New Democracy.

Political democracies of the western world, with much of their diplomacy and economy centred on Washington, have reacted to the stimulus or threat of Soviet Russia. In the last two and a half years have emerged the Marshall Plan, the Truman doctrine to "contain" communism, the Brussels Pact through which Britain, France and the Low Countries have come together for mutual economic and defensive aid. A Council of Europe is in formation. Germany has been divided, with the British, French and American zones co-operating as a unit. A North Atlantic Pact is coming into existence. Through it Canada and the United States, and perhaps some Scandinavian countries, will unite for defence in conjunction with the Brussels Pact countries. All these countries are re-arming in the name of peace.

Thus the camps have been formed, the lines drawn. Is this momentous political and economic international architecture built for peace or war? It is built for both. There are present indications that peace having been buttressed by arms, will prevail. One of them is Premier Stalin's expressed willingness to meet with President Truman. Another was the Washington speech of Mr. James Forrestal, American Secretary of Defence, who on Wednesday gave assurance that the danger of war had lessened. Developments between now and June will show whether he has been too optimistic.

Canada's Appeal To British Immigrants

Public opinion polls are not sure guides to private thought or individual action, as President Truman's re-election showed. Nevertheless they have interest and some validity. A poll recently conducted in the United Kingdom may raise a few Canadians' eyebrows. The question was put to Britons that if they were free to emigrate, would they like to do so? Four out of ten (37 per cent.) said they would like to emigrate. When asked which country they would choose for their home 9 per cent. favoured Australia, 8 per cent. New Zealand, 7 per cent. South Africa, and only 6 per cent Canada—the same number that favoured the United States.

Why is Canada at the bottom of the imperial preference? Has our propaganda been too slight? Has it been over-inflated, so that emigrants already in this country have sent back disillusioned reports? Perhaps Our Lady of the Snows appeals less than the Mediterranean mildness of New Zealand. It may be of some significance that the two Dominions at the top of the list both have Labour governments. That might indicate that the would-be emigrants are not as dissatisfied with the British Labour Government as with the prospects of better, easier living denied Britons at home because of the ravages of war and the consequent dislocation of the British economy.

Health

Oscar Wilde apostrophizes health as "the silliest word in our language, and one knows so well the popular idea of health. The English country gentleman galloping after a fox—the unspeakable in full pursuit of the uneatable". In this part of the world the popular idea of health is different, for we hunt foxes with military vehicles, walkie-talkies and soldierly weapons. Health is the absence of disease and should be the normal condition of us all. That is what we are striving for in places like Peterborough. Health is the first of all liberties. This democratic condition is emphasized during the "Health Week" now in progress. It is not "good health" or "excellent health" which we require of the gods; it is health in its original meaning of whole or hale.

This is a convenient time to give thanks to all the official and professional health workers in city and county and to praise the efforts of voluntary workers who know, as should we all, that "a nation's health is a nation's wealth".

Was it coincidence or a subtle statement of Government policy which caused the envelopes bearing the January Baby Bonus to be marked with the postal slogan "Recreation Pays Dividends?"

From The Critic's Notebook

VILLAGE OF SOULS by Philip Child (Ryerson) is a good novel in many ways. It is a complex story of the early days when Montreal was still called Ville Marie, and is concerned, on the surface, with three main characters, a man and two women. However, it is in the fascinating glimpses of the life of the Huron villages, the lesser characters such as the clerics, and the half-breeds, and in the description of the primeval country that Dr. Child knits together his scholarship and his art most successfully. In dealing with the psychology of two very different types of woman in love, the author gets into deep water. Love may work miracles, but it is difficult to believe that Anne, the savage little Indian girl of fifteen, could, within a year of her first white contacts learn the white man's language, his religion and his customs so thoroughly, even in order to make herself a worthy wife for the hero, a superior "coureur de bois".

Lys, the aristocratic "fille du roi", who at first plays the more important part in the heart of Jornay, the hero, is drawn as a sophisticated and urbane woman. Her love for the ignorant Jornay, reared in the Paris slums and at home only in the woods, is even harder to account for.

Jornay seems to suffer the spiritual dilemma of a twentieth century intellectual, rather than that of a pioneer man of action. Whether or not you can accept these conventions imposed on their behalf by the author, these characters have both depth and style.

There is a certain ambivalence in the plot, caused by the two love stories running concurrently, which weakens our sympathy for the hero somewhat and tends to lower the dramatic tension. If Dr. Child could handle personalities as artfully as he handles his historical material, this would have been a first rate novel. As it is, "Village Of Souls" provides some food for thought, not least when the writer permits himself to muse upon the relationships of human beings to their surroundings and to one another. It is unfortunate that he leans so heavily upon melodrama. The writing is not in the contemporary tradition, but it is better than that of most current novels.

Exceptionally fine and highly stylized decorations, picking up the spiritual values of the novel, are done by W. Roloff Beny. This is a book worth reading. H.T.K.

THE QUEST FOR LOVE OF LAO LEE by Lau Shaw, translated by Helena Kuo (McClelland and Stewart). This new translation from the author of "Rickshaw Boy" is an amusing chronicle about the problems of Chinese middle class marriage. Lao Lee and his circle of minor civil servants in Peiping walk the unsettled way between the old traditions and the new freedom. Concubinage and divorce both present problems with which no one under the rank of a senior official can really afford to cope. Lao Lee is a disappointed romantic who dreams of a beautiful and understanding love. Unfortunately, his parents have married him to an ugly practical woman, with whom he has no sympathy. One of the more amusing passages in this competent novel describes one of the frequent quarrels of an inharmonious marriage, carried on entirely in angry silences.

Big Brother Chang, who represents the old China, is a delightful character, and there is merit in his circuitous ways. Lao Lee is finally and reluctantly convinced of the necessity of compromise, if one is to live in peace.

This is not a serious novel, but a very sensible one, and if not as strong as "Rickshaw Boy" it has none of its predecessor's depressing sordidness. Recommended for light reading. H.T.K.

HETTY DORVAL by Ethel Wilson (Macmillan) is not much variation on the theme of the beautiful dangerous woman. This one is set in the British Columbia mountains, but in spite of the scenery it reaches no great heights. A radio adaptation of the story, done by the C.B.C. was much more dramatic than the novel itself, because the book lacks the atmosphere so necessary to this type of thing. In the play, this atmosphere, heightening the effect of the chief character, was achieved by the use of background music. In the book, the writer just gives it up. The characters are few and linear. Even Hetty, the "femme fatale", operates too indirectly on the consciousness of the reader to be convincing. For instance, after three quarters of the book has been devoted to her, the writer calmly assures us that "Her (Hetty Dorval's) gently impervious and deliberately concealing character does not permit her to be known." Later on we read "I had handled dynamite, and in so doing had exploded the hidden mine of Mrs. Broom to my own great astonishment ('No man is an Island')." Such sentences are inexcusable.

I suppose this is what is called a woman's story. Let's call it dispensable. H.T.K.

THE FLAME AND THE SERPENT by Hilda Osterhout (Dodd, Mead & Company, Canada).

Miss Osterhout's first novel has won an intercollegiate prize in the United States. Whereas the characters in many a Canadian novel are wooden, hers are more like papier mache, that is, a little lighter, but still not alive. Also the book has a split personality. Part of it reads like a travel brochure on Mexico, written for the Pan-American Airways. The other part swims along in a Romantic haze, evidently brought on by the author's exposure to Mexican myths. It concerns two rich young women from New York, visiting in Mexico.

The interpolated passages of straight Aztec mythology provide an interesting comparison with those of our own culture, but the intended parallelism within the story does not quite succeed.

Definitely for women readers. H.T.K.

Adam and Eve were naming the animals of the earth when along came a rhinoceros.

"What shall we call this one?" asked Adam.

"Let's call it a rhinoceros."

"But why a rhinoceros?"

"Well, because it looks more like a rhinoceros than anything we've named yet."

"WE MAKE A DEAL, HUH?"

A Year After Gandhi's Death

(MONTREAL STAR)

IT was twelve months ago yesterday that Mohandas Gandhi was shot to death in the garden of his home by a fanatical member of his own community. The anniversary was the occasion of a striking tribute by Indians of all faiths to his living memory. It was a sorrowful occasion naturally for millions in whose minds the loss of his guidance is still fresh, yet there must properly have been a note of thanksgiving in their thought in realization of what his influence had accomplished among them since his passing.

It is not necessarily to minimize the efforts of other leaders to think that the peace that has come over his land far more quickly than it seemed likely to do is the flowering of his teachings and example.

The months of independence which India and Pakistan had lived through until the time of his death had been months of bitter communal strife in which hundreds of thousands of lives had been sacrificed. One of his last efforts had been a venture into the scene of some of the worst trouble to attempt to halt the fighting. It seemed that the force of violence which had shocked him so genuinely and deeply, was far from spent, as if even that his death might be the signal for more and worse outrages when his restraining influence was removed.

Yet, dead, he has appeared to be a greater unifying force between Moslem and Hindu than he was toward the end of his life. There was no less genuine grief among Moslems than among Hindus at his murder, and both seemed to feel a sense of having failed him in giving in so readily to impulses to violence against which he had worked all his life.

Yesterday Hindu and Moslem mixed in memorial services in freedom and confidence that would have been unthinkable a year ago. India and Pakistan are moving steadily and peacefully toward a settlement of their differences, if not toward the unity he desired.

It is impossible not to feel that Gandhi is still the strongest personal influence in India.

Letter To The Editor

WEARY OF MARGARINE DISCUSSION

Sir: Every time I read some fresh "harangue" about margarine I feel tempted to write the Examiner, but I said "Oh! what difference", and passed it over. But it has gone on so long, I can restrain myself no longer.

From the editorials—re margarine I have concluded there are no "Farmer" subscribers to the paper at all, except myself....(1) because no one has thought it worth their while to state their views, and (2) because each and every editorial has been a criticism of the farmer.

Now I am not opposed to the manufacture and sale of margarine, and I also buy as much butter as any ordinary family, so I know what it costs.

But I wish to ask "Mr. Working Man" to consider this for a moment. "If" the price of butter is affected to any degree it will affect the buying power of the farmer, and eventually "Working Man" may sign himself "Idle Man". But I suppose what he saves on the butter by buying margarine will keep him farmer benefitted from the ban on margarine—but was there any yapping when cream was 15 cents a pound, and is butter the only article that seems a bit high priced? I could mention a good many others—where you pay a great deal and get nothing practically for what you do spend.

It seems to be there has been a lot of one-sided hullabuloo over this matter, of so little importance.

Let anyone who wishes buy margarine, as far as I am concerned. If it shouldn't be unavailable, one could get the same thing by colouring "Vegetable" Shortening. That's what it tastes like to me.

I can't see any reason for the uproar it has created. Let those who wish buy—and those who don't wish—not buy—and leave it at that. I am,

A LOVER OF FAIR PLAY.

Spring Term and Know-How

Spring term begins at hundreds of colleges in a few weeks. President Truman has announced a bold program of sharing American know-how with the world.

The two facts are related. Some 5,000 foreign students now in the United States on exchange programs will have to leave the country because the high cost of living has made it impossible for them to pay their term bills.

Some of them have been practically starving themselves in order to continue their studies — and their acquisition of American know-how. They would willingly adopt the American system of earning their way through college and university, but are restricted by various antiquated regulations which keep aliens on a student visa from taking jobs.

Here is a practical place to begin immediately to implement the President's broad-visioned program. The way needs to be opened for thousands more students to come to the United States, but meanwhile let the country keep those it already has until they have finished their studies. The State Department, educators, and private individuals have the means and the know-how to work out this simple problem.

War-Mongering

We notice in one of the university papers that a meeting of the Canadian University Press recently condemned "the war-mongering policy of many Canadian daily newspapers".

It is quite evident from this resolution that there are grave exceptions to the old proverb that out of the mouths of babes and sucklings comes forth wisdom.—Winnipeg Free Press.

The big-game hunter was telling his wife all about his encounter with a tiger.

"Yes," he wound up, "it was a case of the tiger or me."

"I'm so glad it was the tiger, dear," she said, "otherwise we wouldn't have this lovely rug."

Knights of Columbus Honor 50 Veteran Members With 25 Years' Service

Peterborough Knights of Columbus paid tribute to the elders of their fraternity at a complimentary dinner Wednesday night at the Empress Hotel. The honored veterans of the Order were those whose membership extended through twenty-five years and longer. To them were presented lapel pins signifying seniority of active association and service in the work of Council No. 798.

The felicity of the occasion was enhanced by the presence of Supreme Director Philip Phelan of Ottawa as guest speaker.

District Deputy Ernest Wolff was the post-dinner chairman, assisting Edward O'Brien, who recently succeeded Peter Moore as Grand Knight of Peterborough Council. Among those at head table places were Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan and Monsignor J. J. O'Brien.

The special personal aspect and purpose of this event was extended through the presentation of the symbolic pins, with recurring references by the chairman to little incidents out of the past back to the days of the institution of the Council May 25, 1903.

The only charter member in the list of more than 50 was Dr. F. P. McNulty who, it was announced, was prevented from attending by uncertain health.

Dance Was Held

The members were accompanied by their wives, and the social atmosphere of the evening was heightened by a concluding dance.

The presentations were as follows in the order of initiation of the recipients: F. R. J. MacPherson, Monsignor O'Sullivan, Fred McFadden, John E. Sullivan, Wm. J. Grady, Monsignor O'Brien, Rev. V. J. McFadden of Downeyville, V. J. McElderry, KC, J. J. Dorris, Cyril Giroux.

Joseph O'Donnell, Fred Voyer of Havelock, Henry Hickey, J. R. Corkery, KC, F. J. Overend, A. C. Wolff, A. E. Cauley, Vincent M. McCabe, Dr. R. A. Sheehy, A. Douglas McDonald, P. Gosselin, J. K. Sheehy.

Wm. Prindible, Martin J. Roche, M. Donoghue, S. J. Houlihan, Dr. E. M. Crough, W. S. Bogue, John P. Legros, T. Boyle, A. J. Primeau, M. C. Goodwin, T. J. Ryan, Edward D. Foley, James Guiry, J. S. Shaughnessy, W. J. Hickey, J. C. McCarney, F. J. Hickey and A. S. Pepe.

Those who were unable to be present for the presenations wer: Dr. McNulty, Fred Shannon, Hon. J. J. Duffus, Aleric A. Letellier, Rev. V. J. Corkery, R. McGarrell, F. Knapp, M. F. Sharpe, Dr. F. O'Reilly and Ronald McGrath.

Bishop Berry congratulated the seniors of the Council in the honor paid to them by their fellow members. Service of twenty-five years represented the maturing of a man and the expression of character whereby he held to the high ideals to which he gave fidelity.

"For my part as chief pastor I am happy that your present leaders have chosen this form of acknowledging the work of the older members, the giving of themselves and their time for that length of years. It is an excellent memory to stir in the older members and as a prospect in the future for the younger men. I am also glad to say that the church can be grateful for the many services that have been rendered by the men you are honoring this evening."

Major Works Outlined

Introduced by Ald. P. J. Anglesey, Supreme Director Phelan said Peterborough Council of the Knights of Columbus had always stood high in the state jurisdiction. He knew most of the local veterans from many associations in years gone by.

Mr. Phelan outlined some of the major works of the order. During the period of religious persecution in Mexico the Knights of Columbus had provided one million dollars as aid to the exiled bishops and clergy. Boy Life work had been instituted especially in the organization of Columbian Squires for youths of 14 to 18 years. This work among boys was increasing in Ontario. Seven new circles were in process of organization or were already set up.

One of the most recent undertaking of the order, Mr. Phelan said, was religious advertising in prominent magazines in the United States and Canada. It was begun three years ago in Missouri, and one year later was adopted by the Supreme Council.

"This form of advertising is not intended to introduce religious controversy, but to point out the truths of our religion in these days when truth and justice are so much needed. If any readers are interested to make enquiry, they have an opportunity to do so."

Spent 9 Millions

Mr. Phelan recalled briefly the work of the Knights of Columbus of the United States and Canada in the first and second World Wars. Four organizations were authorized in the recent war to carry on assisting work among the soldiers of this country at home and overseas. One of them was the Knights of Columbus. During World War II, the K. of C. spent more than $9,500,000, with $5,000,000 in the canteen accommodation for the troops.

"About 10 per cent of that amount was profit," Mr. Phelan said, "and as profit it was all turned over to the Dominion government to be used in the rehabilitation of soldiers who needed assistance after their war service. We handed $1,500,000 in flowers alone, flowers the men wished to send home to their loved one. In that work we had extensive help from coast to coast, and time was given without expense."

Mr. Phelan also spoke of the insurance program of his order, and said that the Knights of Columbus by the work they had done had proved their worth in times of great need. To the elders, like himself, he proposed the advice that they should not dwell on the accumulated years.

Serious Times

"We are not old if we do not lose our ideals. From them as we have upheld them and from our experience we should derive encouragement to go forward into these serious times that beset the world. These times call for men of clear thinking and loyalty to fine ideals. With the background of the teaching of our church who are there better qualified than the Knights of Columbus to work with all other men of goodwill in the problems of today."

In his preface to the period of presentations, Mr. Wolff recalled in his personal comments that the first Grand Knight, Peterborough Council was the late Judge Daniel O'Connell, long a leader of the Bar of this city and county before his appointment to the Bench in Toronto. That was in 1903. Mr. Frank McPherson was the oldest in years of membership of those present. The late L. M. Hayes, K.C., was Grand Knight in 1905, the year in which Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan joined the order.

The thanks of the veterans to their younger associations of the Council was expressed by Mr. J. R. Corkery.

Those at the head table were: District Deputy E. Wolff, Grand Knight Edward O'Brien, Bishop Berry, Monsignor O'Sullivan, Monsignor O'Brien, Peter Moore, retiring Grand Knight, James Dunn, Advocate; George O'Brien, chairman of the dinner committee; Fred O'Grady, Warden; J. J. Anglesey, Past Grand Knight; Joseph Boland, treasurer; H. K. McLaughlin, Toronto; Edward O'Brien, trustee.

Westwood Wins

NORWOOD, Feb. 3—(ENS)—Westwood managed to edge out Norwood 3-2 to gain another victory in the Arena on Tuesday night. The home team have shown a vast improvement in the last couple of games. Woods showed his usual good form for Westwood, getting two unassisted in the first. Thompson was in there too but failed to score, as the Norwood boys stuck pretty close. Webb was the star of the Norwood boys, getting two and playing a good game all the way through. 'Mugs' Cuthbertson and Boyd Kelly played a fine game, Spring and Stackhouse went well on defence. Warr of Westwood put Westwood ahead in the last four minutes of play.

Line-up:

Westwood—Goal, Rennick; defence, Sargent, G. Shearer; centre, L. Starke; wings, Thompson, Woods; alternates, Edger, Morris, Mason, D. Andrews, Humphries, Warr Neilson, Elmhurst.

Norwood—Goal, Aldred; defence, Spring, Stackhouse; centre, B. Bebb; wings, Kelly, Cuthbertson; alternates, Brown, Rusaw, Martin, Reddy, Kumpf.

WHEN THE OUTSIDE HORSE, Westgate Blvd., 3, threw Conn McCreary at Hialeah Park's starting gate, the mount completed the race, and finished second by a nose to Apple River, 1. The inside steed also appears riderless, and therefore out of the money, but the truth is that Benny Civitello was leaning so far over in the saddle that he was totally obscured by the runaway.

Halt Sports Programs

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP)—Toronto's men school eachers, who supervise after-hours sports activities, Wednesday night halted sports programs of the city's public schools because they want more pay than women teachers. The sports suspension was announced following a meeting of the Association's 400 members. Men should get more pay than women teachers because thei do more extra-curricular sports work the Association says.

All Saints Win

All Saints' Redmen downed Keene Flyers 3-1 in a neat Church Hockey League joust to take over first place with eight points, Keene having four, with St. John's next. Mongraw scored in the second, with Whalen getting it back in the third, Foster broke the tie and Freeman added one in a good game. A lot of penalties were handed out in the go. Both goalies made some good saves. Teams

Keene—Goal, Cruikshank; defence, McIven and Kemp; centre, Whalen; wings, Walton and Nelson; alternates, Mathers, Davidson, McAter, Foley and A. Mathers.

Some Wolf

ST. HILAIRE, Que. —(CP)—A six-foot wolf with four cubs was sighted near hear. At least that's what a 15-man hunting party claims. They were after the marauder following farmers' complaints about sheep losses.

Royals Turn Back Links In Neat Junior 'B' Fray

By FRED MAYBEE

Lady Luck frowned on Archie Weir's Triple Link juniors in the final period of last night's game against Keith Kewley's Toronto Royals as the latter potted three goals to win 3-1 in the return game of a weekly home and home series between the two clubs, in the OHA junior B schedule.

Triple Links led for two periods having quite a margin in territorial play for the first 40 minutes. The first period ended in a scoreless draw but Birch scored for IOOF mid-way in the second as the locals swarmed around Gavin Lindsay in the rival goal. Bill Berwick rifled a hard 25-footer from left wing that bounced off Lindsay's pads. Birch then batted the rebound into the open left corner.

Fought Hard

Royals fought hard as the pace quickened and as play reverted from end to end but Links still outskated their rivals and completely outmanoeuvred them at every turn. Victory seemed certain for Links. Lindsay stopped shots from all angles with the precision of Durnan. Long ones, short ones, screen shots all looked alike to Lindsay as he gave the greatest exhibition of goal tending seen here in many a day, to rob such marksmen as Chum Fryia, Truss, Pagett, Floyd Wyatt and Birch repeatedly. The fans gave him a big hand.

Early in the third, Royals finally broke into the scoring column as Turner let fly a long shot from well outside the blue line on right wing that evaded Hickson in the local cage and tied the score. Two minutes later, Montgomery slipped a neat pass to Gault who got into the clear in his own end, outskated his rivals and went in alone to flip the disc past Hickson. That sewed up the game and proved a tough bfeak for Hickson who turned in a very fine effort for the locals all through.

Got Third

Gault worked his way to the left corner in the local end and passed over to Montgomery in front of the Triple Link net. The latter banged the rubber behind Hickson for number three. The locals continued to press hard, and Anderson, Whitnell, Fryia, Birch, Truss, Collins, the Berwick brothers and all their mates used every trick at their disposal to score but to no avail as Lindsay held on with the help of his buddies to the finish.

Between the first and second periods, the official presentation of four flags to the Civic Arena by the National Council of Women took place.

Toronto Royals—Goal, Lindsay; defence, Lye, Machin; center, Eames; wings, Turner and Nicholls; alternates, Gault, Glazier, Montgomery, Clegg, Fidler, Wagner, Biggar.

Triple Links—Goal, Hickson; defence, W. Berwick, J. Berwick; center, Fryia; wings, Truss and Whitnell; alternates, Birch, Wyatt, O'Heron, Pagett, Floyd, Collins, Millar, Anderson.

Referee, M. Reesor; Linesman, R. Ouimet.

Penalties—Machin, Birch, Gault 2, Floyd, Turner, Nicholls.

Second Period

Girls' basketball goes tomorrow night at 8.15 in the YW gym. Normals playing Neill's in the opener, followed by the Collis colleens against Electrics in the nightcap. Two tidy tussles likely. Meantime, Coaches Doris Fenner and Marion Bell of the PCVS hoop lassez are getting their charges set, via exhibition games, for group contests coming up. Marines "B" boys were down in Oshawa last gloaming for a Lakeshore League number and we may have the result ere column's end. This Saturday eve in the Collegiate, Port Hope plays the Marines "B" bunch a loop fixture, while Marines "A" basketeers are off to meet the Aggies in Guelph. Three Cobourg boys' teams play PCVS seniors, juniors and bantams at the Collegiate here Friday evening.

A ski item in the Telegram: "Jack Holland, a native of Peterborough, has covered a lot of miles in the ski pro fraternity, benefitting from close association with world champion Emile Allais, founder of the highly controversial French technique. Currently, he is tutoring neophytes on the Valcartier hills. Though he skis 365 days a year—spending the late spring in the Rockies and the summer in Chile—Jack hasn't forgotten his home town and the new generation there. He takes time out several times a year to bring the boys up to date on latest techniques and equipment.

He Knows His Jumps

"No secretive gent is Holland. He's taught his youthful followers everything, including the rudiments of the Allais technique, and has seen to it that they have the best equipment, including the 'longue laniere harness', a must in the Allais school. His next homecoming will be the middle of this month. Then he'll be putting tomorrow's champs through their paces again." And Jack is described along with Jaques Tache as one of the "headline figures prior to the war in jumping competitions." Yes, Jack, who was an ace jumper of the Peterborough Ski Club, ere turning pro—and was also a military ski instructor during the war—has come a long way in his favorite sport.

Two other ski items of interest mayhap in these parts. One is word that the Ontario provincial championships will be held in Huntsville this Saturday and Sunday, first provincial-wide event since before the war. Open to competitors having a zone rating of "A" or "B", fee being a buck an event; post entries taken by J. K. MacDonald up to 10 p.m. of the night preceding the event at the Empire Hotel. We have further info, if anyone here is interested. The other item concerns the Peterborough Club invitation meet—jumping at Nassau and cross-country race—here Feb. 26. But more again on that.

Clippers And Legion

Stouffville Clippers clash with the Legionnaires at 8.30 tomorrow night in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" encounter. First and only appearance of the fast-stepping Clippers in Peter's borough this season, owing to a zig-zag schedule. Petes yanked out a close win from them in Stouffville to start the season, but we wouldn't be surprised to see that the Clippers had improved plenty since then. They're young and fast with as much hustle—though maybe not quite the polish—as Markham. Latter holds the only decision to date over Ned Vitarelli's scrappy squad, and Legion will be out to show the home fans their power against the Clippers this eve. Ought to be a fine fixture.

* * * * * *

Archie Weir's junior "B" Oddfellows played a fine game here last evening at Civic Arena but Toronto Royals came on strongly for three third-period tallies to take home the victory 3-1. A toughie to lose after outplaying the visitors for two chukkers, but the skipper is having a bit of trouble getting ace goaltending this season. The netters are hotter than somewhat one game and then cool right off the next. Birch got the lone local marker, aided by Bill Berwick, in the second stanza after a scoreless first frame. The Royals ripped home in front in the third and that was that. A fast fixture, with quite a few penalties passed out. The IOOF-ers have but one more home game in their schedule, against Lindsay next week, as they go to Lindsay for one and have a postponed fray in Whitby.

And Blood Was Shed

Fun and fury, plus some bloodshed, at the pro mat bouts last e'en in the Brock Arena. Tall Mike Sharpe showed his class—despite a merciless beating at times—to take rough John Katan in two straight falls of the main go, to the crowd's delight. 'Tis said that Hi Lee wants to meet the winner of this so he may be here next week. Ben Sharpe, another handsome hunk of manhood, and brother to Mike, won the semi-final from Johnny Marrs, and again the fans were pleased at the outcome. The prelim was a lively show, with Jimmy (Red) Sims taking the decision of Referee Bunny Dunlop over Bulldog Drummond. Both the latter and Mike Sharpe had bloody noses in their scraps.

GIFT OF LOGIC

One of the important contributions of the Greeks to humanity was a system of logic

Marines Take Cage Win Over Oshawa

Outboard Marines, "B" cagers took a 43-37 Lakeshore Basketball League victory over Oshawa Grads in the Motor City last night. The thrilling tussle was the sixth straight win for Gord McIntyre's gang and assures the team of top spot in the schedule and the right to go into provincial playdowns. They have a loop game here Saturday night and nope to obtain an exhibition with a strong squad next week.

Oshawa came up with a former star senior, Sheehan, who sparked them on the attack and gave them a first-half lead last night of 22-20. But Marines watched him closer the next half to have a margin in scoring of 23-15 and enough for the victory. It was a fine, fast fixture throughout by well-matched teams. Sheehan scored 18 points in a great showing for the losers. Deroo shone for the victors with 11 points and Trimm had seven, but the whole team clicked good. Teams:

Marines "B": McLaren 5, Trimm 7, Dadson 5, Thorburn 6, Deroo 11, Smith 2, Gardner, Batchelor, Payne 3, Butcher 4.

Oshawa: Hanna 2, Pattie 4, Seeley, Anderson, Ross, Robson 4, Sheehan 18, Salway 5, Mayer 4.

Glengarrys and Tigers scored 3-0 victories over Hurricanes and Commahdos in the other games.

Ethel Stanbury had high three with 717 and Mary Gimblett high single of 301.

Mike Sharpe Defeats Katan In Two Straight Mat Falls

Towering Mike Sharpe defeated rough John Katan in two straight falls at the Brock Arena last night to win the main pro mat bout and send the crowd home happy. His big brother, Ben Sharpe, won the semi-final from Johnny Marrs; and the prelim was taken by Jimmy (Red) Sims over Bulldog Drummond, who filled in when Don McIntyre missed a train out of Buffalo. It was said that Hi Lee had challenged the winner of this main bout.

Scaling 245 pounds to Katan's 242, Mike had a rough time of it before winning out. His nose bled profusely several times from punches and knees as the wily veteran pulled all his unscrupulous tricks. Mike took the first fall in 24 minutes with his "Sharpe stretcher," crossing John up after a body slam. It was a red-hot bout as Katan started right in to play it hard and the powerful veteran gave Mike a merciless beating for some 15 minutes. He used fists, elbows, knees and choke holds — disregarding repeated warnings of disqualification by Referee Bunny Dunlop. His ruthless tactics had most of the fans down on him, and the crowd cheered heartily when Sharpe finally retaliated with punches and elbows before finally rendering John helpless. Mike was bleeding and Katan gagging at the finish.

Body Scissors

It went 19 minutes before Mike threw Katan into the ropes and, as he came off the strands, hit him with a flying body scissors to pin John. Earlier he had bothered his rough opponent plenty with hard leglocks and splits, but John later got in some illegal stuff, particularly choke holds and punches to the face. The referee was in the middle a few times and warned each in turn as they roughed it up to keep the place noisy. Mike's nose was dripping claret again at the end, and they tangled briefly after the bell.

Tall Ben Sharpe, weighing 235, won the semi-final in 24 minutes when Johnny Marrs, at 232, had to concede the semi-final fall for a "standing double toe hold." Marrs was unpopular with his rough tactics and the referee had trouble breaking him from illegal grips. He also warned Ben at times toward the end when Sharpe got peeved and retaliated in kind. They staged a lively go, with a lot of punches and elbow smashes thrown all the way through. Marrs didn't have the height but he knew a lot of tricks and was powerful and unscrupulous. The crowd was pleased at the windup.

Neat Toppling

Some fine mat work was shown in the first part of the prelim between Red Sims, 205, and the 230-pound Bulldog Drummond. The latter got himself in wrong early with unquestionable work but he found the able Sims more than a match for him, and Red won the referee's decision in the time limit. A foreign substance was used by the Bulldog in his attack but he ran into a few stiff punches at times, too, to slow him up. The fans were treated to a real show of mat work, but at times they were pulling the same holds and bumps on each other to scramble it up, and Drummond and Drummond had a nose bleed before the gong went to wind up a good preliminary scrap. The customers enjoyed it all.

New York city 22 years ago demanded more hockey. The Americans were drawing great crowds and Conny Smythe of Toronto organized another team—the Rangers, which won the Stanley Cup in 1928 and 1940 and the N. H. L. championship in 1928, 1932, and 1942. The Americans never got to the top and disbanded in 1942.

Curlers Enjoy Northern Ontario

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Feb. 3 — (CP)—Fifty Scottish curlers who were treated to a 40-mile-an-hour joyride down Broadway say they liked Northern Ontario.

Ending a month-long invitation tour of Canada and the United States—they won 60 per cent of their games— the Royal Caledonians boarded the liner Empress of France here Wednesday, homeward bound.

The tweed-jacketed devotees of the roarin' game swept their way from Halifax to British Columbia and south to New York.

Unanimously, they liked the "warm homeliness" of Timmins and Kirkland Lake — "nothing like it anywhere" and "altogether different" than big cities.

Said one six-footer who looked more like a half-back: "We went to New York...into a hotel... out of the hotel and into a bus they had four motorcycle police escort us through New York at 40 miles an hour. Impressive as the devil."

Other observations: The Canadian skip is too elaborate in delivering the stone..."His legs fly out, his arms fly out, everything flies out." They maintain this "hackweek" curling gives less control of the stone. Nor was the Canadian game as fast as they originally had believed—but still good.

Most firmly believe in the superiority of their long-handled brush-broom over its Canadian counterpart.

Tigers Trounce Marlies 4-2 In Big Upset

By The Canadian Press.

The veteran Hamilton Tigers have no intention of fading out of the playoff picture.

Wednesday night they pulled an upset by defeating the second-place Toronto Marlboros 4-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A tilt. The win left the Tigers in third place, nine points behind the Dukes.

In Junior A warfare, Windsor Spitfires came up with a double win. They defeated Barrie Flyers 4-2 in the last part of a suspended game, and then defeated the Flyers 6-2 in their scheduled tilt. In other games, Guelph Biltmores took over sixth place by defeating the ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors 4-1.

Stratford Kroehlers battled to a 5-5 overtime tie against St. Catharines Teepees. The tie moved Stratford into second place, and gave the Teepees a fourth-place deadlock with the Oshawa Generals.

Outscore Dukes

The Bengals outscored the Dukes in the first period and outplayed them in all three stanzas. Bobby Laurent scored the first goal for Hamilton and set up the second.

The Tigers moved into a 1-0 lead in the first period, held a 2-1 margin at the end of the second and outscored the Dukes 2-1 in the third. Other Hamilton marksmen were Frank Liscombe, Brian Robertson and Ab Conick. Flash Hollett and Johnny McCormack tallied for the Marlboros.

Big Lorne Ferguson provided all the goals as the Biltmores downed the Irish. He got his first early in the first period, one in the second, and then two in the third. Don Rope got the Toronto goal in the third period.

Netminder Tom Shea played a steady game in the Toronto nets. He made 16 saves in the first period and a total of 34 during the whole tilt. Jimmy Beasely in the Guelph nets stopped 28 shots.

Move Ahead

After being held to a 1-1 tie in the first period, the Spitfires moved into a 4-2 margin in the second, and then poked in two goals in the third to move nine points ahead of the second-place Kroehlers.

Glen Skov paced Windsor with two goals. Bruce Giesebrecht, Larry Wilson, Francis O'Grady, and Doug McGinn got one apiece and Gordon Pennell and Hal Hopper were the Barrie scorers.

Stratford held a 2-1 edge at the end of the first period, was outscored 2-1 in the second and then split two goals in the final frame. Bibber O'Hearn was the spark for the Kroehlers with three goals. Penalties were thick. St. Catharines Tom Buck drew six of the 20 meted out.

Other Stratford scorers were Joe Markle and Neddo Bragagnolo. George Sullivan and Bob Evans each got two for St. Catharines, while Bill Buschlen got one.

Hogan Injured In Bus Crash, Faces Layoff

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 3—(AP)—Tiny Ben Hogan, who fought illness and fatigue along golf's weary tournament trail for more than a decade without being knocked from his pedestal, even won out over a bus. But it will be a long time before he's his same fighting self again.

The golf world heard today that Little Ben, severely injured in a traffic accident, will probably play once more, but it will be some other golfer who will be king of the links in the coming year.

Hogan, national open and national PGA champion, leading money winner and golfer of the year in 1948, Wednesday suffered a fractured pelvis, broken collar bone, possible fracture of a rib and other injuries yet to be determined in the barren country near Van Horn, Tex., when his car crashed with a Greyhound bus.

The durability of the 137-pounder was emphasized as the bantam of the links had to wait two hours for medical aid. An ambulance made a wild dash over the 152 miles from Van Horn to El Paso to bring Hogan to a hospital here. Some five hours later a bulletin was issued that Ben would make it, but would be out of competition on the links for a long, long time.

His pretty brunette wife, Valerie, suffered minor hurts but was able to smile last night as she said: "It's tough but we're both lucky to be alive."

Hogan was on his way to his home in Fort Worth. After playing in four tournaments, he had quit the golf trial and said he did not plan to resume play until the Augusta, Ga., masters in April.

Because the 36-year-old golf star sought to protect his wife by throwing himself across her when the crash occurred, was the reason his injuries were not worse than they turned out to be. It threw him out of the way of the steering wheel, which was jammed into the back seat.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Chicago's punch duo of Doug Bentley and Roy Conacher fattened their scoring averages Wednesday night when the Hawks dropped a decision to Detroit. Each collected three points and Bentley now leads his clubmate, 51-49 in points. Detroit's Sid Abel and Bud Poile, and Jim Conacher and Gus Bodnar of the Hawks each garnered one point to move up in the race. Bill Mosienko added two assists to break into the select circle.

Parents should not ignore the depressed moods, the listless, tired air, the pallor, headaches, fickle appetite—the crying spells —so many daughters exhibit during those years when they are passing into womanhood.

Bruins Cool Off Rangers As Wings Whip Hawks 6-4

By The Canadian Press.

That Detroit's high-flying Red Wings, a club with a well-balanced offence and defence are headed for the National Hockey League championship, looks like a solid bet. The Wings seem to pick up momentum as the season rolls along and now boast a comfortable margin at the top of the heap.

Wednesday night Detroit ran up a 4-0 lead on Chicago Black Hawks in the first 28 minutes, then turned back a determined Chicago challenge in the last half of the contest for a 6-4 victory. In the other fixture, Boston Bruins drove from behind a 3-2 deficit to gain a 5-3 home-ice triumph over New York Rangers.

A three-goal performance by reliable Ted Lindsay—the third marker his 100th in a five-year NHL career—gave Detroit their victory before 13,421 Olympia fans.

The other Detroit goals went to Jimmy McFadden, Max McNab and Marty Pavelich, big gun for the Hawks was League-leading scorer Doug Bentley who pulled the trigger twice, while Jim and Roy Conacher accounted for single tallies.

Slugging Bee

Chicago's temperamental Bep Guidolin and big Leo Reise of the Wings staged an old-fashioned slugging bee in the third period. Guidolin swung his stick at a heckling fan during the mixup, but the fan was out of danger behind a wire screen. Referee King Clancy dished out 14 penalties, all minors.

Boston had to come from behind twice to sink the battling Rangers before 13,100 beantown fans. New York led 1-0 and 3-2, but couldn't withstand the third-period onslaught by the Bruins.

It was the first Boston victory in three games since goalie Jack Gelineau took over the netminding duties.

Jimmy Peters, Pete Babando, Woody Dumart, Johnny Peirson and Fernie Flaman scored for Boston. The New York marksmen were Nick Mickoski, Don Raleigh and Alex Kaleta.

Two games are on tap for tonight, Detroit play Chicago a return engagement in the Windy City while the bitter Canadian rivals, Toronto and Montreal, meet on Canadiens' ice.

Bisons Upset Cleveland 11-3

By the Canadian Press

The Buffalo Bisons put on their best show of the year Wednesday night as they smothered Cleveland goalie Johnny Bower with pucks for a 11-3 upset victory and their first triumph over the Barons in American Hockey League play since Jan. 4, 1948.

Rookie defenceman Tommy Johnson and Floyd Curry paced the Bisons with three goals each. Joe Lund, just acquired from Indianapolis, and Murdo McKay each connected twice. George Pargeter notched the other goal.

Cleveland scord twice in the second period, with Roy Kelly and Pete Leswick tallying. From there on in, it was all Buffalo.

Providence Reds, who reign over the eastern division, fought to a 2-2 tie with Indianapolis Capitals of the eastern loop.

Hershey Bears defeated Philadelphia Rockets 5-1. Sid Smith's last period goal gave Pittsburgh Hornets a 1-1 stalemate with the first-place St. Louis Flyers in the western loop.

Central Victors

King Edward lost to Central 9-4 in a neat senior School Hockey League game yesterday at King Edward Park. It was a clean tilt with but two penalties drawn. The combination play of Wall, Foster and Kelly featured on fast ice. M. Buchan shone for the losers with three goals, while Frizzelle had to be good in their net to hold down the Central crew. Bertrand made many neat saves, too. R. Wall got the first, followed by Buchan with two. Central went in fast in the second to score three, Foster from Kelly and then two by Wall from Foster. King Edward fought back and Buchan and L. Ball scored to tie it up. Wall got another from Foster and, in the third, Delahaye scored two and Wall and Foster one each.

The teams:

Central: Goal, Bertrand; defence, Delahaye and Black; centre, Foster; wings, Wall and Kelly; alternates, Rowley, Patterson, Harte-Maxwell and Gibbs.

King Edward: Goal, Frizzelle; defence, R. Hobart and Bryan; centre, Buchan; wings, Crowe and Mullen; alternates, J. Hobart, Chalmers, Whatley, Ball, Hunt and Peters.

Referee: A. Olmstead.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

John Bromwich won his stubborn fight with the Australian Lawn Tennis Association Wednesday when he was chosen with Billy Sidwell and Frank Sedgman to challenge for the Davis Cup in 1949.

Bromwich, world-ranking star for more than a decade, refused to play on last year's Aussie team because it was insisted that he fly to the United States.

The team chosen Wednesday, it was announced, will do all its travelling by boat, first competing in the All-England championships at Wimbledon before going to the United States to challenge in the North American zone.

At Hamilton, Alan McFater, young Toronto lightweight, Wednesday night added another victory to his amateur string when he scored a fourth-round technical knockout over Joe Agoston of Windsor. Referee Jackie Brace finally stopped the fight after 1.52 of the fourth round when Agoston was hanging on from a terrific right uppercut.

The world's Amateur Hockey Tournament will be staged in the United States next year, it was learned at New York Wednesday night. Cities bidding for the event are Boston, St. Paul, Minn., and Lake Placid, N.Y. Walter A. Brown of Boston, vice-president of the Amateur Hockey Association team of the United States, will fly to Stockholm next week to attend a meeting of the International Ice Hockey Federation. He will accept the 1950 tournament formally at that time. This year's championship will be decided in Stockholm, beginning Feb. 11.

The Dewitt Brothers—Bill and Charley—purchased controlling interest in St. Louis Baseball Browns from Richard C. Muckerman Wednesday. No official sale price was announced but it is believed that the Dewitts paid close to $1,000,000 for the 56 per cent of the stock which Muckerman owned. The Dewitts already held two per cent of the American League club's stock.

Lanky Russ Christopher can pitch one more season for Cleveland Indians but he'll have to take it easy because of a bad heart, the Tribe management said Wednesday night at Cleveland. For Christopher, the world champions said, that will mean: pitching only a few innings in any one game; skipping spring training; physical check-ups every six weeks by specialists hired by the club and no "violent exercise."

New York Yankees Wednesday signed their first Negro baseball player—outfielder Luis Marquez of Baltimore Elite Giants—and became the sixth Major League club to hire a Negro athlete. Marquez, 23-year-old centre fielder, is hitting "about .330" with the Aquidilla club of the Puerto Rican Winter League. He will report to Newark Bears, a Yankee farm, next month at their Haines City, Fla., spring training camp.

Campbellford Takes 3-1 Trent Loop Win

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 3 — In a TVL hockey fixture on Wednesday night the homesters defeated the Hastings aggregation by 3-1. It was one of the fastest games on local ice this season with both clubs going all out to get a win. In the first frame the visitors were held scoreless while Campbellford chalked up three markers.

Hastings dominated the play in the middle stanza but Nelson was almost invincible between the stakes.

The teams:

Hastings—Goal, McKenty; defence, L. Pettigrew and Ball; centre, P. Pettigrew; wings, Herrington and B. West; alternates, Fairman, Muller, Oliver, Wilson, Phillips and D. West. .....

Campbellford—Goal, Nelson; defence, Tanner and Hendy; centre, Robinson; wings, Blake and Peloquin; alternates, Hay, Smith, Free, Kruger, Chesscoft, Hendricks and Wright.

Referee, R. Scriver, Hastings; linesman, Doug. Mortimer, Peterborough.

Summary:

First Period:
Campbellford—Peloquin, 5.40.
Campbellford—Blake (Robinson), 11.40.
Campbellford—Blake, 17.00.
Penalties, Herrington.

Second Period:
Hastings—L. Pettigrew (B. West), 19.25.
Penalties, Ball and Hendy.

Third Period:

TARPOIN SPRINGS, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—A 38-foot pleasure boat, with three men aboard, was towed here Wednesday after strong distress signals from the craft set off a vast search. Both of the boat's engines conked out en route to Miami.

LONDON, Feb. 3 (Reuters) — Christopher Mayhew, undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, reaffirmed in the House of Commons Wednesday night that "the British government is not prepared to support Spain's application for membership for the United Nations."

Warsaw Tilt Tied

NORWOOD, Feb. 3.—(ENS).—A speedy game was played in Warsaw between the Brick School Flyers and the Stony Lake Robins on Monday night. The game was held to a tie score 2-2, with only two penalties and those in the third period: Joe Rooney tallied for the Flyers in the first. M. Batten tied it up for the Robins in the second. B. Williamson got an assist. Two goals scored in the third, M. Hannon scoring for the Flyers and B. Williamson from M. Batten tying it up again. Line-ups:

Mountain Rate Scraps Benefits

OTTAWA, Feb. 3—(CP)—The mountain differential freight rate "practically destroys the benefits British Columbia hoped to obtain through Confederation," the Board of Transport Commissioners was told Wednesday.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer made this claim as he opened final argument in the Pacific province's application for removal of the mountain rate.

The mountain differential charge, applied to certain freight hauls over the Rockies, is 1¼ times the prairie scale. The railways contend it is justified by excessive mountain operating costs.

Hearings on the BC removal application have been under way in the West and here since early fall. The agreement stage is expected to last three days.

Beats Out Flames Surrounding Baby

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP)—Mrs. Sarah Cinnamon was burned about the hair and face yesterday when she used her dressing gown to smother flames which enveloped her four-year-old son, Stephen.

The child had most of his hair burned off and suffered first and second degree burns on the hands and left arm. Firemen said the boy was playing with a box of matches and set fire to his bedroom curtains.

Navy Introduces A New System

OTTAWA, Feb. 3—(CP)—The Navy came up with a new system of training naval reservists to provide fully-qualified seamen specialists and reduce the time necessary for advancement to able seaman.

Before an ordinary seaman can move the next step up the ladder to AB he must have a third-class badge in some branch of naval warfare, such as gunnery, torpedo or anti-submarine detection.

Under the new plan, in which he may get the badge in "substantially less time," each of the participating divisions across the country has been made responsible for specialist training in a certain branch. In adition it must maintain the general training carried on by all reserve establishments.

The divisions and the specialties allocated to each include: Windsor, gunnery; London, communications; Hamilton, aviation and communications; Toronto, navigation direction and aviation; Carleton, Ottawa, gunnery.

Blood Saved Child's Life Mother To Be First Donor

Mrs. Bern Dean, whose husband is employed at Lamp Works, of C.G.E. Toronto will be one of the first donors when the campaign opens next month. She has an extra special reason for going—nine months old Terry, writes Mary Keyes in C.G.E. News.

Terry had jaundice when he was born, but as the days passed he grew listless, pale, and finally so transparent that Mrs. Dean didn't know what to do about him. The doctors took one look at the poor little fellow and said, "Off to the hospital he goes." Terry was an Rh factor baby.

That meant that Terry had inherited a mysterious disease because his mother had an unusual type of blood —Rh negative. Rh factor is a queer thing. You either have it or you don't. It really doesn't matter one iota to you whether you have it or not, but it does to your children. If you have if you are called an Rh Positive, and you are like 85 per cent of the people so you don't have to worry about it. If you haven't got it you are an Rh Negative, like Mrs. Dean.

The trouble begins when a husband and wife have opposite types. A first child will usually be born with no effects at all. However, before birth often some of the Rh positive blood, which he inherited from his father, escaped into the blood stream of his mother and her blood became sensitized. It usually isn't enough to do her any harm, but in a second pregnancy this sensitized blood enters the blood stream of the second child and destroys his red cells. The result used to be a stillbirth or an anaemic child who sickened and died a few days after birth.

It wasn't until 1940 that all this was finally discovered and a cure effected — blood replacement transfusions. The first operation was performed in Canada in February 1947. Terry Dean had his last year.

Drop by drop Terry's blood was drawn from his veins and replaced by a new unaffected supply. It took six transfusions and two months to perform this miracle—for miracle it was. When Terry was two months old he weighed eight pounds. Today at nine months, he weighs 23. His eyes sparkle, his skin is clear and rosy, and he is one of the happiest, healthiest, fightingest youngsters you will ever see. Mrs. Dean doesn't know whose blood saved Terry's life and made him the normal, robust child that he is today. But she is grateful. That is why she is going down to the clinic next month to give someone else a chance to live.

The blood that saved Terry's life was already in the hospital, but the supply was limited. The amount he needed either had to be paid for or replaced. People who worked with Terry's daddy at Lamp Works offered to help but most of the supply was donated by Terry's grateful relatives. His aunt, "Midge", from Davenport Works helped to rebuild the supply.

Terry is a lucky baby—one in a million. The blood in his veins is not his own, but he will lead a healthy normal life. Many who live in isolated areas do not have the opportunity he had to receive those necessary transfusions when they need them. That is one of the reasons why the Red Cross is trying to build up a blood bank so that babies like Terry can live.

Bank Loiterers Feared Bandits

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 3—(CP)—Police said Wednesday they were convinced that the two bandits who robbed a service station operator near Woodstock last night were the same pair that acted suspiciously in a bank at Ilderton in the afternoon.

The men walked into the Bank of Commerce in the village 12 miles north of London and one of them changed a two-dollar bill. They loitered in the bank to the extent that members of the staff feared they were "casing" the place. As soon as they left, police were notified but they did not pick up the trail of their auto.

Police said that the car, believed stolen in London, tallied with the description of the vehicle used in the night robbery of Garfield Walker (Dad) O'Brien.

British Organizers Prepare For Election This Year

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Feb. 3—(CP)—Government spokesmen, who ought to know, say there will be no general election before 1950, but party organizers disregard this assurance. They tell their supporters to be ready for a vote this year. The election date may be decided by voting in local elections in April and May, when county, municipal, parish, urban and district council members are elected.

In the important municipal elections, last held in November, 194, Labor was badly beaten with a final score of 695 seats lost and 43 gained compared with the Conservative record of 643 gains and 18 losses.

Labor received another pounding in the urban and rural district council elections last April when the party had 260 losses and 101 gains compared with the Conservative's 286 gains and 21 losses.

Results a Shock

These results shocked Labor adherents, still jubilant over their overwhelming general election victory in 1945. They weakened the confidence felt by the party after a long series of successes in holding Labor Commons seats in by-elections.

The political correspondent of the Sunday Dispatch (Independent) said Herbert Morrison, as Government House Leader, may ask Prime Minister Attlee to recommend dissolution of parliament in July "if there is not a sensationally heavy anti-government vote" in the local elections.

Nationalization Issue

Labor sources said the prospect has been that Labor will fight the general election on issues already plain, such as the nationalization program. A leading issue on which the voters will decide is whether the bill nationalizing the iron and steel industry will actually be implemented after 1950. If the Conservatives are elected, it probably never would be used.

Institute Told Preserve Health

HAVELOCK, Feb. 3—(ENS)—Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Harry Pollock to hear a health paper prepared by Mrs. George McGowan, Social Welfare convener, and read in her absence by Mrs. L. Colquhoun.

Health is a prize easily lost and its loss, even in a slight degree, affects every other phase of life, the paper stated.

There were many people with indifferent health. The doctor may say there is nothing organically wrong but they spend their lives in the shadow of fatigue.

Healthy exercise does much to prevent appendicitis, the paper stated. Poor eating habits cause arthritis and ulcers which are probably the main killers today. The British Medical Journal recently recorded how jaundice had been artificially induced in patients to offset arthritis. Some bedridden for years walked without difficulty.

The paper revealed that in 1948 there was an average of 1201 patients to every doctor; 3,477 to every dentist, and 520 to every nurse.

Set Family Table

Mrs. Fred McKenzie gave a demonstration of table setting for home service which stressed the importance of a wise choice of food and gave many helpful hints on table manners.

Readings were given by Mrs. H. McNeely and Mrs. J. Hoffman. There was community singing with Mrs. Eric Little of Trent River at the piano.

The question of discarding some books in the library operated by the Institute was referred to the library committee and the librarian, Mrs. Robert Anderson. Some of the books will be offered to the teachers in rural schools.

Mrs. H. Hoard, president, presided and welcomed several visitors which included a number from Trent River Institute. Mrs. H. Pollock was program convener.

Lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Pollock and her assistants, Mrs. D. Chevalier, Mrs. W. Rice and Mrs. R. Melville.

MORE ABOUT—

1945 Conference

In the Senate, the Throne Speech debate was opened by Senator Thomas Farquhar (L.-Ontario) who described the Geneva trade agreement as the "greatest advance" towards freer trade ever taken at any time. It should be a "great boost" to Canadian farmers and Canadian business men.

Blames Two Men

In the Commons debate, Mr. Garson said two men were directly responsible for the failure of the Dominion-Provincial conference — Premier Duplessis of Quebec and Mr. Drew, as the former Premier of Ontario.

Mr. Duplessis, he said, never had indicated to the conference how much Quebec wanted for the rental of its tax fields while Mr. Drew asked for rentals which totalled $50,000,000 more than all of the province's pre-war revenues from all sources—an estimate which Mr. Drew never had challenged.

The Justice Minister denied that the surrender of tax agreements to the Dominion would decentralize power because the rental payments received from the Dominion would enable the provinces properly to exercise the rights granted them under the constitution.

Not Prejudiced

The experience of all Provincial Treasurers during the period of the wartime taxation agreements had been favorable. All of the provinces showed surpluses during those years and it could not be argued that the Provincial Treasuries had been "prejudiced."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. Drew's interest in the Dominion-Provincial issue was to see that the spirit of Confederation was observed in law, in spirit, and in fact. The government, on the other hand, had sought to interfere with the rights of the provinces under the doctrine of emergency.

Now, under a so-called doctrine of defence needs, the Dominion again was trying to invade the provincial field.

Swinging to other subjects, Mr. Diefenbaker called for an immediate government statement on the outlook for Canadian agriculture, prompt payment of the 20-cent participation certificates on wheat delivered from 1945 and 1948 and a reduction in income taxes as they applied to farmers.

He expressed regret that the Throne Speech contained no reference to irrigation projects for Western Canada, despite government "promises" of irrigation development made in the Federal by-election in Rosthern, Sask., three months ago.

Low Prices

Mr. Fair complained about the low prices at which Canadian wheat has been sold to Britain under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement and said all Canadians —not the wheat producers alone —should share in the cost of providing Britain with cheap bread. This could be done through the Treasury.

Mr. McKay bespoke the concern of Prairie farmers about the price they will receive for their wheat in the future. They did not want to return to the price uncertainties which had developed from trading in wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Mr. Stuart, who recently visited Greece, said that if the members could see conditions in that strife-torn country they would not hesitate to do everything in their power to help its people. Greece was he only barrier between Communistic Russia and the Mediterranean.

14 Pan-American Republics To Discuss Dependencies

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, Feb. 3—(CP).—When 14 Pan-American republics meet within a few weeks in Havana, Cuba, to discuss "European dependencies in the Americas," the British Foreign Office will watch their deliberations with polite interest. The dependencies concerned include British Honduras, British Guiana, Dutch and French Guiana.

The meeting is scheduled for March 15. The Bogota charter under which the republics will meet permits discussion of "peaceful means for the abolition of colonialism as well as the occupation of American territories by extra-continental countries."

Guatemala, conducting a propaganda war against the British position in the Honduras, is expected to use the gathering as a sounding board. This campaign reached a crescendo in February 1948 when a British warship landed marines and troops to reinforce the colony against the threat of "disorderly" elements in Guatemala.

Longstanding Dispute

The dispute over land which Britain has administered more than 160 years is longstanding. Each time it has been raised in this century Britain has offered to take the case to the International Court of Justice at the Hague for settlement.

Guatemala always has refused to argue purely legal points before an international body, agreeing to go to the Hague only for a ruling "on equity and fair play" (ex aequo et bono.)

Foreign office officials say any number of declarations by the American republics cannot affect the legality of Britain's title to the Honduras.

The Havana conference was scheduled originally for last September and had to be postponed when the quorum of 14 did not materialize.

Union Port Agent To Appear Feb. 18

CORNWALL, Feb. 3 —(CP)—Milton Nuttall, 36, Canadian Seamen's Union Port agent, now serving three months in county jail, is slated to appear before Magistrate P. C. Bergeron Feb. 18 on charges of persuading and boarding.

The charges arise from the boarding of the Acadian last June 12 during the C.S.U. lake strike. Nuttall was convicted last week of charges of forcibly seizing and confining an Acadian crew member.

A total of 24 charges was withdrawn Wednesday against C.S.U. men who were in Cornwall port during last summer's labor dispute between the union and three Great Lakes Shipping Companies.

Twelve charges of intimidating and kidnapping laid against Nuttall were withdrawn and five against Joseph Grabek, C.S.U. patrolman, currently serving out a six months term in Ontario reformatory.

800 Fill Church At Funeral Of Clergymen

More than 800 people paid tribute Wednesday afternoon to the late Rev. A. M. Partridge, Minister of Mark St. United Church who died suddenly early Monday The church was jammed beyond seating capacity as members of the congregation, clergymen and friends gathered to mourn an outstanding cleric and citizen. The overflow crowd was seated in the basement where the service was heard over loud speakers.

Thirty-two members of the Peterborough Ministerial Association attended as well as members of the two lodges, the Corinthian Lodge AF and AM, No. 101 and the Peterborough Lodge IOOF.

Ministers officiating at the funeral service were the Rev. E. E. Pugsley, Norwood, Chairman of the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church, the Rev. Dr. James Semple, the Rev. E. N. Burgess, Acton, and the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, Havelock United Church.

"His service was manifest in three spheres of life, at home in the church, and amongst men." said the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh of Mr. Partridge.

"In the home he was a rock on which his family could lean when troubles became heavy. He was and is resting an a Rock which never shall be shaken."

"He was a man among men. Wherever he went, he made friends. People were strangers only for a moment. Then they became staunch friends."

Mr. Vanderburgh said Mr. Partridge was a man to win men for the Master of men. When Mr. Partridge served, he served with acceptance. He had a heart of understanding and sympathy.

"In the summer of '45 he carried the heaviest of burdens (death of son, Pilot Officer William John Desmond Partridge). Besides his own he carried the burdens of others. He found one in God to rest on."

"This is the last battle, so to speak. But he has not gone down to defeat. This is a day of victory. He will carry on."

"Mr. Partridge served God to the last minute. With you I share your sympathy, love and sense of loss." said Mr. Pugsley.

Mr. Partridge was minister at Mark St. Church for two and a half years. Previously he had held pastorates in Beaverton, Maple, Queensville, Coldwater, Uno Park, Ontario and New Liskeard.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Katie Dean Bowers; a brother Horace and a sister, Eva, both of Barrie. He also leaves a grandson, Allan Murdock Partridge of Peterborough.

Pallbearers were F. Parrie, A. Pringle, M. Kinnee, G. McMillan, G. Smith and R. Caldwell.

On the both sides and back of the casket there was a blanket of flowers.

Burial was at Queensville.

Examiner Regrets Error

In our issue of Wednesday, February 2, under the heading of "16 Persons Fined on Minor Charges," a regrettable error appeared in the last paragraph thereof wherein it was stated that "illegal drinking was the offence charged against three, who each paid fines of $2.00 and $1.00 costs. They were: Al. Winslow, 318 Water St.; Mrs. John Currelly, Monaghan Rd.; Edward C. Overend, 300 Frederick Ave.; Earl Turner, Robinson St." The word "Drinking" should never have appeared as none of the persons named was charged with any such offence. The charge was one of "illegal parking," which was correctly reported, but through a typographical error appeared as "illegal drinking." Al. Winslow was not charged with any offence whatever, but the mistake arose by reason of the fact that Mr. Winslow had signed a written plea of guilty to a charge of illegal parking laid against his employer.

While The Examiner takes every precaution to avoid errors, nevertheless they occasionally do appear. The Examiner regrets very much that such an error occurred and hastens to apologize to each of the persons named for any embarrassment that may have been occasioned by reason of the error.

CHINESE REDS DIFFERENT — McCLURE.

Chinese Communuists are Soviet influenced but not Soviet controlled, Dr. Robert McClure, medical missionary from China told a SO-ED audience on Wednesday night. Two ambulance men from his unit who were stationed in the Communist-held territory for several years said they did not see a single Russian or hear of any being there.

Chiang's Soldiers Lacked Faith In Cause Missionary Tells So-Eds

"What is happening today in China will be happening tomorrow in Indo-China, Burma, Siam, Indonesia, and it will have its effect in India, Pakistan and other countries," said Dr. Robert McClure, speaking to the SO-ED on Wednesday night. Dr. McClure, a noted medical missionary in China for many years, chose as his subject "China Now." He claimed that China was looked upon as the leader of thought in Asiatic countries; and in some respects, he said, that country was typical of the aspirations of colored peoples.

The most significant fact in China today, he stated, was the rapid spread of Communism. He asked the audience to try to set aside any possible bias and be scientific in its analysis of recent trends there.

He examined the recent history of the country from three general viewpoints: military, economic and political.

Examining the political aspect first, he said that the National Government has suffered a very serious defeat.

The popular impression was that graft and corruption had ruined the government of Chiang Kai-shek, he contended, but this is no sure indication of government collapse as many other governments, equally culpable, have been quite successful under these conditions.

Hope Prevailed.

Chiang Kai-shek and his government held together 450,000,000 people during the eight years of war," he said. "He held them together not through dictatorship but through hope. He buoyed them up with hopes of good times coming; and he talked of reforms."

Up until VJ Day he tried to implement these promises, but the main prrogram never got started because of "Communist trouble," said the speaker. Chiang had the alternative of either crushing the Communists or cutting the ground out from under them by adoptng the reforms.

"I believe Chiang Kai-Shek made a mistake in his choice," stated Dr. McClure. "He followed the advice of an old Chinese proverb: "When a man has you by the throat, don't worry too much about him tramping on your toes."

"He tried releasing his throat first while he might have tried the reforms and let Communism go where it might."

"All political leaders should remember not to let down people's hopes. His mistake could have been repeated in other lands."

The economic ailment in China is inflation, he said. This inflation is caused by a budget with a disproportionate expenditure on defence. Eighty per cent is earmark for military purposes, said Dr. McClure, while only four per cent is for education.

Threw Bills Away.

He said it came as something of a shock to see a rickshaw coolie pull out a large wad of bills and throw away all denominations of $10,000 or less.

As an indication of present valuese he said that it takes about $40,000,000 to buy a cheap box of matches. A recent regis- had $2,000,000 in postage stamps on it. A pair of shoes in Hankow, one day advertised at $48,000,000 (about $4 in Canadian currency); the next they would be $62,000,000.

One of the worst features of inflation is the effect it has on the people's mentality. When he asked medical students how they could pay their expensive courses in a period of swiftly rising prices they informed him they purchased quantities of penicillin, diphtheria toxin and milk powder.

People who are dying of disease need penicillin and they will pay any price to obtain it; victims of diphtheria and parents needing milk for their children will do likewise.

Dr. McClure estimates that no matter how much military equipment had been sent to China, the Nationalists would not have held out.

Lacked a Cause.

The Nationalist soldier "lacks not something to fight with but something to fight for. When will military leaders learn that soldiers must have one essential piece of equipment: a cause."

"I can't think of any occasion in history when the group fighting for the status quo won the battle," he said.

"Orthodox military command has found no answer to guerilla warfare," said Mr. McClure. He advised his listeners not to confuse guerilla warfare with commando warfare. The latter, explained, operates from fixed bas- enemies supplies.

A Communist once quipped to him: "For eight years we were supplied from Tokyo; now from Washington. Thank you very much."

American Weapons.

The only standardization of weapons in the Chinese army has been accomplished among the Communists— with American weapons, he contended.

He said that the young people of modern China impress him in three ways: They have a strong sense of urgency, they are receptive to new ideas, and they are decisive in their actions.

He claimed that it was up to the Canadians and Americans to bridge the gap between Chinese Communists and other Western democracies. And he believed the Chinese would be receptive to any kindness on the part of these two countries.

"To people who have nothing a small gesture means a great deal. That is my reason for optimism. You and I will have to find ways through our social guilds to show our love for these people."

Upon our actions "more than that of any other generation in the past depends what will happen to world history," he said.

Want Market Metered For Parking

Kitchener has a traffic advisory committee. It proposed to the city council Tuesday that the market square be converted into "a protracted pay-parking lot." Another motion frames a question as how much money council was willing to "earmark for parking lots."

John Halliwell, city traffic supervisor, sees "double and triple-decking of some available lots as a possibility to be considered."

Peterborough council proposed certain parking lot expansion just before the war. Action was confined to vocalism. Meanwhile several substantial taxpayers have been suggesting of late that the council could meter the market place and collect some revenue from that valuable central property instead of paying the present market deficit.

Another Kitchener proposal was two-hour parking meters on spur streets.

January Was Mild

Maximum temperature in January was 7 below zero on the 7th as compared with 22 below on the 23rd of the month last year. A mild January followed a mild December through two thirds of the winter, as reported by James Harrison at the filtration plant. The high last month was 50 deg. on the 19th, as against 37 degrees on the 12th in 1948. The average mean last month was 21.05 deg. but a year ago it was 10.9 deg. Snowfall last month was 14 inches and rain 1.12 for total moisture 2.52; and last year snowfall 21 inches, no rain, total precipitation 2.15 inches.

ALAN B. MANN of Bridgenorth was elected president of the Dual Purpose Shorthorn Breeders of Canada at their annual meeting Monday night in Toronto. He was vice-president for the last two years. One hundred members of the association attended the convention.

Arts Can Reduce Insanity Rate Editor Claims

TORONTO, Feb. 3—More general infusion of the arts into the lives of Canadians as a factor in reducing Canada's insanity rate—one of the highest in the world—was suggested by Robertson Davies, author, playwright and editor of the Peterborough Examiner, speaking here Wednesday.

Mr. Davies was one of three speakers at a symposium on "The Development and Importance of the Arts in Canadian Life," at a meeting of more than 1,100 members of the Women's Canadian Club in Eaton auditorium. Other speakers were Charles Comfort, distinguished Canadian painter and professor in the department of art and archaeology, University of Toronto, and Ettore Mazzoleni, principal of the Royal Conservatory of Music. Mrs. Wilfred Jenner presided.

Dull, Stodgy People

"Canadians generally are a somewhat dull and stodgy people —they have been charged with being 'spiritually constipated,'" said Mr. Davies. Coming of pioneer Canadian stock himself, he believed he could afford to say such things to a Canadian audience.

Life in the Canadian countryside is very dull, particularly outside the metropolitan areas, claimed the speaker. "All kinds of things may be happening in Toronto, but 50 or 60 miles away are areas almost completely innocent of the arts and with no spiritual refreshment whatsoever," he said.

If there were more "spiritually exercising occupations and entertainment in Canada, the incidence of insanity in Canada might not be so great, he said. "We would be working toward prevention rather than building large hospitals for housing people when insanity comes."

Need National Theatre

Speaking specifically of the drama, Mr. Davies deplored the fact that Canada has no national theatre. If this country was to become the great nation it aspired to be, it must change its attitude in this respect. There was no substitute for the drama, he said. "Movies are not quite the same thing—and the radio is a poor second or third best," he declared.

Plant 600 Trees In City In 1948

"For every tree we cut down we plant three or four, and I am hoping to have this ratio increased this year," Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, said today.

The department has a chain saw in use to speed up what the council calls tree removal.

"We have been using it mostly this winter because we have more time for that work," Mr. Butcher explained. "Thinking over tree planting for this season, we want to do two or three streets in the new south end. One of them is Braidwood Ave., where Nashua Paper Company have made a wonderful improvement in the appearance of that area. We would like to do that street; we have it at the top of the list but may have to wait until the board of works decide about the sidewalk they intend to lay."

Mr. Butcher said the department had some 300 maples in its own nursery that are ready to be set out.

"If we count the trees planted by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation in the McKellar subdivision last year, with our own work, the total last year was between 500 and 600, and against that we removed around 40. I hope there is no impression abroad that we are thinking only of removal. Many of the trees taken out last year were dead. Some were plugging sewer connections. Even in those cases we tried to talk people out of cutting down. As for Manitoba maples we don't put up any argument. We also trimmed last year well over 1,000 trees all around the city."

Fire At Mattress Plant

Fire broke out in the picker room of the Peterborough Mattress and Spring Co., Mark St., shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon but damage was slight.

Employees using hand fire extinguishers fought the blaze until three units of the fire department arrived. A booster pump and chemicals doused the blaze.

One hundred and twenty-five people attended the second course for Food Handlers of Peterborough Wednesday afternoon. Sponsors of the course are the Peterborough Branch of the Health League of Canada and the Peterborough Department of Health. Three films were shown. They were Control of the House Fly, Dishwashing Dividends and Vandals of the Night. The demonstration at the first class by Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, and W. Nash, chief chemist, Canada Packers, on germs and moulds was thoroughly examined and explained by them at the second class. Mr. Nash spoke on air contamination of foods. Some aspects of insect and rodent control was the topic of a short talk given by R. M. MacPherson, Sanitary Inspector. An open discussion and question period ended the course.

GOING AGAINST LIGHTS

For the second time in a week someone has just missed being killed by falling in front of a bus or truck. Monday night a man slipped in front of a bus and Wednesday at noon a little girl fell in front of a truck at the corner of Charlotte and George. She and her companion were crossing against the red light when a large truck going up George made a right turn. The driver seeing the little girl slip applied the brakes. The truck stopped inches from the girl.

Canadian Skater Waiting For Good Film

By FRED KERNER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (CP). — "When is Barbara Ann Scott going to sign a movie contract?"

That depends entirely upon how soon a Hollywood producer comes up with the "right vehicle" for her, says Morris Schrier, vice-president General Counsel of Music Corporation of America, Barbara Ann's agents.

"We could sign a contract with any one of a number of film producers now — we could have signed six months ago," he said. "But we are not going to put Barbara Ann into any picture. When the right story is offered, however, we will no hesitate to sign a contract."

Schrier said he is most enthusiastic over the reaction of the American theatre public to her professional debut here earlier this year.

"What we knew before, now has been borne out," he said. "Barbara Ann is a model, wholesome girl. She is looked up to by other youngsters and by their parents as well.

Enhances Charm

"The fact that she is a world skating champion only enhances her charm and ability—but it is secondary.

"Her future lies in every field of entertainment — motion pictures and television particularly. But that does not rule out the fact that she is a skater, the finest skater the world has ever seen. And we are not going to stop her from skating....

"No matter who wins the next world skating title—and even if the new winner turns professional —Barbara Ann now is an established entertainer. And she is already high in her field."

The big problem now, Schrier says, is trying to squeeze all the many offers Barbara Ann is receiving into a workable schedule. Hundreds of requests for personal appearances have been turned down.

British Press Sceptical

LONDON, Feb. 3 (Reuters) — The British press, in the main, today is sceptical about Russia's intentions in the offer of Prime Minister Stalin to meet President Truman. The Daily Express claims that questions of prestige and precedence are responsible for the two statesmen not wanting to meet each other except under their own conditions. It urges that they meet in London.

Family Evicted

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP) — Antonio Lorusso, 28, his wife and four children were evicted Wednesday from their five-room apartment—by the wife's father who lived with them. Achille Falantano, Mrs. Lorusso's father and owner of the house, said his son-in-law owed him several months rent and "was always mean to me and my wife."

Humphrey Bogart Lists Pet Peeves For Reporters

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3 (AP)—Humphrey Bogart, my favorite grouch, now comes up with a definite list of his pet peeves.

Bogie is usually beefing about something, whether it is Warner Brothers or San Francisco or women. I pinned him down on the "Tokyo Joe" set for a cataloguing of his favorite hates. Stand back, everybody; here goes:

"Radio shows that go in for exploitation of any human being for the amusement of other so-called human beings.

"Columnists who use slanderous gossip and call it news.

"Motion picture producers who draw big salaries and could not operate a brownie.

"Any organized group that picks on Hollywood for the publicity.

"Book jackets—they get in my way.

"People who come up and say 'Remember me?' and never tell you their names. You say, 'Yeah' and they answer 'No, you don't.'

"Women who demand equal rights, but won't accept equal responsibility.

"Professional nationalists — professional Irishmen, Englishmen, etc.

"People who don't like me."

Sweetness and Light

For some sweetness and light, take Kathryn Grayson, who finds the bright side in Hollywood's current condition.

"We used to start a picture without a finished script," she said. "And the actors used to trail in late with all kinds of dreamed-up excuses. Finally, the time came when they didn't even bother to make an excuse.

There have been some changes. Her current "That Midnight Kiss" started with a finished script, the actors rehearsed it for two weeks, and Miss G. has been as punctual as a bookkeeper.

Strickland Promoted To Rank Of Brigadier

CHATHAM, Feb. 3—(CP)—It was announced Wednesday through Western Ontario military headquarters that Col. P. W. Strickland, OBE, DSO, has been promoted to Brigadier to command the First Infantry Brigade of the Canadian army reserve force.

He succeeds Brigadier G. W. Robinson who has commanded the brigade since the end of the war and is transferring to the supplementary reserve.

Brigadier Strickland served with distinction in the Second World War and is a graduate in Arts and Law from the University of Saskatchewan.

Says Election Date Distant

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent Wednesday smilingly told reporters the matter of a general election is receiving all due consideration but he intimated the date still is some months away.

Leaving the first party caucus of the present session of Parliament, the Prime Minister said he found all his Parliamentary colleagues "happy and looking forward to an interesting session."

Questioned on the Wetaskiwin vacancy caused by the death of Norman Jaques, Social Credit members, Mr. St. Laurent said the question of a by-election would be considered shortly.

He said that if the by-election would mean the return of a new member on the eve of a general election it might not be worthwhile.

"However," he added, "it would seem that this Parliament will be in session two, three or four or maybe five months and if the people there want representation they should have it."

Depend On Police, Not Sword For Protection Now, Court Rules

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Feb. 3—(CP).—The Court of Criminal Appeal has ruled that the modern Englishman depends on the police for protection rather than on his skill with a sword. Because of this ruling a murder's plea that he had been involved in a killing "by chance medley" failed. The order for his execution remained unchanged.

George Semini walked past an hotel in Newcastle-Under-Lyme, Staffordshire, accompanied by a young woman, last Oct. 11. Three men, including Joseph Gibbons, stood nearby and one of them made a comment about the woman which Semini resented.

Semini struck one of the men and evidence showed Gibbons incited the man who had been struck to fight Semini. Two bystanders tried to restrain Semini but he broke away, produced a knife and in the subsequent scuffle Gibbons was stabbed through the heart.

Lord Goddard, Lord Chief Justice of England, read the court's judgment on Semini's appeal against sentence of death. He said the main contention for the appellant was that the fact revealed killing by chance medley.

Has no Place Now

The judgment continued that the expression "chance medley" now has no place in the law relating to homicide. It used to apply only where the killing was in defence of a man's person or property on some sudden affray. The law would attach some blame for the killing in such a case, but would excuse it.

At a time when society was less secure and settled in its habits when the carrying of swords was as common as the use of a walking stick now, and when duelling was regarded as involving no moral stigma if fairly conducted, it was not surprising the courts took a view more lenient towards provocation than was taken today. Life and property now were guarded by an efficient police force, and social habits had changed.

Semini had struck the first blow and his subsequent use of a knife was "a dreadful and cowardly act of revenge."

Urge Repeal Of Labor Code

WINDSOR, Feb. 3—(CP) — In conjunction with a drive in the United States to have the Taft-Hartley labor law repealed, the Canadian section of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) Wednesday urged the dominion government to "rid us of 'Canada's Taft-Hartley Act'."

"Bill 126, the National Labor Code passed by the Canadian government last year, is simply the repudicated Taft-Hartley Act all over again," George Burt, Canadian director of the auto union, said in a statement.

He said the bill had been "pressured through" by the Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association following a "wave of reaction" in the U.S. in 1946.

He called for complete repeal and the writing of a new law, with labor "this time having something to say when it is being drawn up."

'Quake Near Ottawa

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP) — A mild earthquake, felt within a radius of 20 miles of the capital, Wednesday night startled scores of persons but no damage was reported. Dominion Observatory seismologists said the epicentre was somewhere between suburban Westboro and nearby Aylmer, Que. The tremors began at approximately 8.30 p.m. EST.

Foresees War With Russia If Pact Signed

BRANTFORD, Feb. 3—(CP)—According to the Brantford Expositor report of the Jan. 21 address by Walter Harris, Parliamentary Assistant to the Prime Minister, Mr. Harris "foresaw the possibility of war with Russia" when the North Atlantic Security Pact was signed.

The Expositor next day quoted Mr. Harris as saying to a Brantford Liberal meeting:

"The crux will come when that treaty is signed. If the Russians feel they must make war it will be at that time."

In its introduction to Mr. Harris' statement, the Expositor said:

"He foresaw the possibility of war with Russia when the treaty was signed. This, he indicated, would likely take place within the next three months, as the Soviets were reported to 'view with apprehension' the conclusion of such an agreement."

The Toronto Star report, mentioned by Conservative Leader George Drew in the House of Commons Tuesday, said that Mr. Harris said war with Russia may be an outcome of the signing of the Pact. It went on to quote Mr. Harris as saying: "If the Russians feel they must make war, it will come at that time."

In a 200-word statement issued Tuesday night, Mr. Harris said: "Far from suggesting that war might come, I stressed the fact that the signing of the Atlantic Pact would be the most effective step that Canada could take to protect herself against aggressors and to insure the peace of the world. . . I said that I did not believe we would have war."

Mr. Harris did not issue a prepared text of his address at the time.

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Feb. 3 — (AP)—Robert G. Baker, 21, heir to half of a $284,000 estate, was sentenced Wednesday to a prison term of five years to life for burglary and grand larceny. Baker, who told police he had stolen because he needed money, will fall heir with his sister when they are 30 to the estate of the late George E. Baker, a Belleville stove manufacturer who died in 1944.

Here's High Praise from an expert for one of my favourite soups! An experienced food editor wrote about HEINZ CONDENSED VEGETABLE SOUP: "I have never liked canned vegetable soup before, but I like this very much." Stalin Answers Given Simply

By The Canadian Press

You get a better idea of the tenor of Prime Minister Stalin's attitude toward a meeting with President Truman when you couple the two statements he has issued this week on the subject.

Here—in paraphrase stripped of diplomatic niceties—are the combined questions and answers:

Q. Would you consider issuing a joint declaration with the United States asserting neither nation intends to war on the other?

A. We'd consider it.

Q. Would your join the United States in measures carrying this out and leading to gradual disarmament?

A. Yes.

Q. Would you end the Berlin blockade if the western allies postponed plans to set up a separate Western German regime, pending a foreign ministers' conference to consider German problems?

A. Yes, if those conditions are observed and the three western powers lift their restrictions in Germany.

Q. How about meeting President Truman at a mutually suitable place to discuss such a pact?

A. No objection.

Q. Where?

A. Preferably in Russia, even in Czechoslovakia or Poland; not in Washington, on account of my health.

Punches Judge In Nose

WINDSOR, Feb. 3 (CP) — Punching a 78-year-old retired Judge in the nose earned William Mather, 36, at least one week in jail. Magistrate A. W. MacMillan Wednesday found Mather guilty of assaulting Judge J. J. Coughlin during hearing of a rental case in Sandwich court. Mathers was remanded a week for sentence.

48 Hours To Leave

VIENNA, Feb. 3 (Reuters) — Stephen Koczak, second secretary of the United States legation in Budapest, mentioned in the Hungarian "yellow book" as being implicated in the case of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, has been given 48 hours to leave Hungary, it was learned here Wednesday night.

Parliament Condemns Malta Press Ruling

LONDON, Feb. 3—(Reuters)—Members of parliament Wednesday condemned a Malta press ordinance under which James Scorey, editor of the Malta Bulletin, was recently sentenced to a prison term for libelling Sir Francis Douglas, Manitoba-born governor of Malta.

At question time in the House of Commons, Arthur Creech Jones, colonial secretary, agreed to use his influence with the prime minister to obtain the abrogation of the ordinance, which Edward Fleming, Conservative, said was "an insult to the free press of the world."

Scorey's sentence of eight days' imprisonment and a £40 ($160) fine has been suspended for two months by a ruling of the governor.

The editor is appealing to the privy council in London against his conviction for "insulting, reviling and seeking to bring into hatred and contempt" the governor of Malta in a report of an incident at a council meeting of the University of Malta.

Garson Inadvertently Promotes Geo. Drew

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 — (CP)—Justice Minister Garson inadvertently promoted George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, to the prime ministership in the commons Wednesday.

Discussing the 1946 Dominion-Provincial Conference, he noted that Mr. Drew, now opposition leader in the commons, then was "the prime minister of Canada."

As a gale of laughter swept the chamber, he explained:

"I was talking about the conference in 1946 when the honorable member was premier of Ontario—and I think that's as far as he will get towards prime minister."

Six Police Cruisers Make Dice Game Raid

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Six police cruisers backed up morality officers last night in a raid on what police said was a dice game in the Hotel Barclay in downtown Toronto. Police arrested 22 Toronto men on charges of gambling.

Police said they seized chips from the three tables representing a gambling value of $1,500. David Yakowbitz, Josep Shapiro and Allen Saltzman were jointly charged with operating the game, which followed a stag dinner party at the hotel.

Of Interest to Women

Husband Often Unaware Charity Begins at Home

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am married to a fine man and love him dearly. He makes a very small salary, but we could get along very nicely except that he is an easy mark for every grafter in our town. Everybody borrows money from him and they never repay it. Hence, we are always broke.

Dorothy Dix

I would like so much to have a little home of own, but we can never manage to save a cent toward buying one. I have begged my husband to tighten his grip on his pocketbook, but it is useless. What can I do about it?

YVONNE H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I don't know, unless you can make your husband see how unfair he is to you, and that his first duty is to you. But I think that it is doubtful that he will listen to reason, because that kind of man not only lacks backbone enough to say no, but also usually is an egotist who likes to pose as free-handed and generous. He gets a kick out of the fact that he is a sort of big man, a moneyed man to whom those without money come to borrow.

A lot of philanthropy is just self-glorification. I know plenty of men, like your husband, who let their families go without the things they need so that they can maintain their reputation as liberal men by always being ready to lend a few dollars to anyone who asks them.

Primary Duty

Charity begins at home and no man has a right to give to his relatives or lend money to his friends until he has comfortably provided for the wife and children for whom he is responsible.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a widower with two daughters who are 15 and 16 years old. They go to high school and are good students. Now this is my problem: I have fallen deeply in love with a woman and would like to marry her, but cannot do so on the salary I make unless I take the girls out of school and put them to work. I suppose I could send them to their grandmother, but I do not like to ask her to take them as she is very poor.

What is your advice.

WORRIED

ANSWER: I think it is your duty to put off marrying until your girls finish high school and have been taught some way to make a living. If you take them out of school now, you blight their chances in life, as they will have to take some very menial and ill paid job You owe it to them to give them at least a high school education.

In order to do this, you will have to defer your marriage for two or three years, but that is the price you will have to pay for your fatherhood. When a man brings children into the world, he is duty bound to think of their good before his own happiness.

And let me urge you not to send the girls to live with their poor grandmother. In the first place, it would be a great imposition to ask her to share the little she has with your two daughters. And, in the second place, neither Grandma or the girls would be happy together, because they belong to different generations and would be bound to clash.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a business woman in my middle thirties. I am engaged to a fine man, but this is the rub: When I am with him I am perfectly contented, but when I am away from him I do not know whether I love him or not. I just can't make up my mind whether I want to marry or not. Do you think this is unnatural?

A BUSINESS WOMAN

ANSWER: No. There are many business women who contemplate their latchkeys and individuals pocketbooks and wonder if any man is worth giving them up for, and if it isn't wise to heed the old proverb and let well enough alone.

However, don't forget this: While marriage is the greatest of gambles, it has the biggest of all prizes and it is worth your taking a pretty big risk: For no other happiness in the world is so complete as that of the woman who gets a good husband and who has children and a real home. And I can think of no better test of the state of your affections than when you are with the man you are perfectly contented.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You answer the telephone and it is for a member of your family who is in another part of the house.

WRONG WAY: Yell to the person who is wanted: "Some woman wants you on the telephone."

RIGHT WAY: Go to the person who is wanted and tell him.

New PURITY "Apple Queen"

. . . is a wonderful dessert

You'll make it again and again and, of course with Purity Flour. So scrumptious, such a tangy sweetness atop a feathery cake . . . and per serving so economical.

PURITY "Apple Queen" CAKE

3 tablespoons butter
¾ cup brown sugar
3 or 4 medium sized apples
8 red or green cherries
½ cup shortening
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups sifted Purity Flour
1 cup milk

First—Melt butter in 7 or 8 inch square baking dish, add brown sugar and spread the mixture evenly over the bottom of the dish. Pare and core apples and cut each one in sections lengthwise. Set in rows in the butter-sugar mixture. Place a cherry in each corner and one in the middle.

Now—Cream shortening, add vanilla. Gradually add sugar and blend well together. Add well-beaten egg. Mix Purity Flour, baking powder and salt and sift together 3 or 4 times, then add alternately with the milk. Pour this batter over the apples in baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 40-45 minutes. Invert to serve. Remove from the dish as soon as baked. Serve hot as is or with a sweet sauce, or serve cold with whipped cream.

Best for all your baking . . . that's Purity Flour. Women who bake and bake depend on Purity for uniform results. It's the flour that's milled from Canada's fine hard wheat and sold everywhere.

Civic Dinner Tendered Council Women

A civic dinner was given Wednesday at noon to entertain 35 members of National Council of Women meeting this week in the Empress Hotel. City host, Ald. Adam Sands, expressed pleasure of the Council in having representatives from all provinces in the Dominion meet here. Mrs. Wm. Addyman, president of Peterborough Council of Women, as hostess, introduced Mrs. M. J. Swanston, wife of the mayor.

A long list of internationally-known manufactured products originating in Peterborough, read by Mrs. Addyman, proved to visitors that Peterborough is industrially prominent. Also, she emphasized the tremendous summer holiday attractions which the gateway city to the Kawartha Lakes district offers.

Miss Elizabeth Long, convener of radio for National and International Council of Women and head of women's interests in the CBC, addressed the dinner guests. Miss Long spent seven weeks of the past summer in Europe, visiting extensively in seven cities of six countries, Switzerland, Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and the United Kingdom.

From her trip, Miss Long realized the fact "when a country is broke, it is just like an individual who is broke—it has nothing". From this she emphasized the necessity for Council women to feel they have a national responsibility to those countries.

Her attendance at a meeting in the Palace of Nations, Geneva, of 69 non-governmental organizations, made clear how effective a small group of women can be if they confer and make definite plans. "We must perfect our techniques if we are to take our place in the world" she stated. "It is our duty as Canadian women to study and develop until we have perfected them."

Mrs. G. D. Finlayson thanked the speaker.

Speaking briefly before introducing Miss Long, Mrs. R. J. Marshall, president, said "National Council has such a big job to do, it takes all of us doing it all the time. In this work there is the feeling there is always something to attain, to reach out toward."

She expressed deep appreciation on behalf of members for cordiality shown them in Peterborugh, and thanked the city for entertaining so generously.

Women Lack Legal Right To Demand Dress Refunds

MONTREAL, Feb. 3 —(CP)— The woman who decided she doesn't like the dress she bought yesterday and takes it back to the store for a refund is asking for something beyond her legal rights, the Better Business Bureau of Montreal says.

She has no more legal right to ask for a refund than the merchant would have in asking her to bring back the article because he didn't want to sell it anyway, a spokesman for the bureau said.

"Every time a woman buys or agrees to buy something, she makes a contract," the spokesman said. "This is true whether she pays cash, makes a deposit, pays by instalments or charges it. It is true, generally, whether the agreement is signed or just verbal, although some contracts or agreements must be in writing and signed."

Hundreds of women call the Better Business Bureau about refunds. They are generally told that although some stores may take back merchandise this is generally granted as a privilege rather than a legal right.

Defective goods or merchandise misrepresented by the seller, however, may be returned by the buyer who is fully justified in expecting a refund or adjustment in such cases, the official said.

Women Endorse Further Aid To Children of Europe

National Council of Women will endorse any further Canadian appeal to aid Europe's children, whether put forth under United Nations sponsorship or through International Children's Emergency Fund. This was a definite decision made during sessions of the spring executive meeting held in Peterborough Wednesday in the Empress Hotel. The Council is already giving aid through the Save the Children Fund.

President Mrs. R. J. Marshall announced she had wired the Dominion Prime Minister, Louis St. Laurent, the National Council was gratified that oleomargarine may be manufactured in Canada. She expressed the hope that it be made available in attractive form (pleasing color) for table use.

Members of Council supported a resolution that each Local Council of Women in Canada receive a recommendation that their educational committee co-operate with local library associations in preparing for the first "Young Canada Book Week" set for November 12 to 19, 1949. An information sheet, a list of recommended books and a poster will be available for promotion. If Book Week can be established on a nation-wide scale for boys and girls it is expected to arouse interest among adults as well as children, in good literature and the pleasure of reading. It should also stimulate acquisition of books and libraries in isolated communities. Success in this effort will raise the reading standards and thereby the living standards of Canadian youth.

Some plans for the annual meeting of National Council being held in Vancouver, B.C. this year, May 16 to 21, were discussed at the sessions. On May 23 the members are invited to attend a reception and tea given by the Lieutenant-Governor's wife at Government House, Victoria, B.C.

Local Council Donates Flags

Members of Peterborough Council of Women, accompanied by out-of-town Council women attending the National Council executive meeting here this week, attended the hockey game at Civic Arena Wednesday evening

After first period, presentation of flags for the Arena from the Local Council of Women was made by Mrs. R. J. Marshall, president of the National Council. She was introduced by Mrs. Wm. Addyman, president of Peterborough Council, only woman member of the Civic Arena Campaign committee. Mrs. Percy Killingbeck, Civic Arena chairman, accepted the flags, two Union Jacks and two Canadian flags. Mayor Max J. Swanston spoke in appreciation of the gesture, and wished all success in the great work of Council women.

Mrs. Marshall, who is fourth leading woman in the Dominion of Canada today, and is also mother-in-law of Syl Apps, former star of the Maple Leaf NHL teams, praised the citizens who have encouraged true sportsmanship. "I hope the new Civic Arena will prove a big factor in development of fine citizens here through the medium of competitive games, hockey in particular — a fine game," she said.

The flags were dedicated by the Rev. C. G. Boyd, representing the Protestant clergy of the city, and the Rev. G. V. Gaughan, representing Catholic clergy.

One-Course Menu Dish For Afternoon Bridge Party

By MARY MOORE

If I had half of a chance I would enjoy playing bridge.

I would dearly love to go to some of the parties our readers give—and to see and taste the food that I have suggested that they serve.

One idea that I passed on to a friend of mine here in town pleased her mightily.

She had said "One of the rules of our club is that we serve only one course, and that it be not too heavy, for this is an afternoon organization, and all of the players have to rush home, put on their cooks' disguises, and get dinner ready for their families, right after the party breaks up".

I like this too because it is pretty and practical.

One-Course Afternoon Bridge Refreshment

Using breakfast-size plates, place on each a rather flat, well-dried leaf of letuce in centre—do not let this extend to the rim of the plate.

On it place two choice slices of tomato. On each of these place a slice of moulded cream cheese and olives (see below). Make dainty chopped egg sandwiches and cut these into small diamond shapes. Place four of these on rim of each plate, evenly spaced to mark the plate off into quarters. In each quarter thus sectioned of, on the rim, place a little row of toasted almond, ripe olive, shrimp, and radish rose. Thus each place is bordered with four of each of these little tidbits, placed alternately between the sandwiches. Additional little shrimps and toasted almonds may be placed to garnish the tomato and cheese at centre of plate. Serve coffee with it.

This is a dainty and attractive plate, and women like it for its variety. It is not an expensive lunch; 1 can small shrimps, ¼-pound almonds, 1 medium-sized bottle ripe olives and three 3-ounce packages cream cheese will serve eight, when arranged and accompanied with other foods, as suggested above.

Moulded Cream Cheese with Olives (Or Nuts)

Soak 1½ teaspons gelatin in 3 tablespoons cold water until gelatin soaks up water (about 5 minutes), then stand in hot water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Cream three 3-ounce packages white cream cheese and mix into it 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, and when well mixed, stir in gelatin. Add ½ cup finely chopped olives (or add ¼ cup each chopped olives and nuts) and fold in ¼ cup heavy cream which has been beaten until stiff. Turn into freezing tray of refrigerator and chill until firm, or chill outside, covered, until firm. When ready to serve cut into slices about ¼-inch thick and 2 inches square. This is delicious with almost every vegetable or fruit salad. I think it is especially good with fruit salads containing pears or pineapple.

Filing for the Chopped Egg Sandwiches

For eight slices of bread use 3 eggs. Hard cook them. Chill in cold water and peal. Mash them in bowl with ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon grated onion or chopped green onion or ¼ teaspoon onion salt, 2 tablespns each mayonnaise and butter. When of spreading consistency, spread on unspread bread, cut off crusts and cut into diamonds or triangles, with very sharp knife.

A nice variation of an egg sandwich filling is to mash 2 or 3 sardines wth the egg, and add about 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

Of Interest to Women

AN AFTER-SCHOOL PARTY for your children on St. Valentine's Day is an extra-special treat which their Mom can swing with little effort. You can, if you'll serve simple refreshments in a festive party setting. Such a setting as the one pictured can be whipped up in a few minutes and is gay enough to thrill young guests. Color scheme is traditional Valentine red and white with heart-printed placecards name-printed with white ink carrying out the holiday motif.

The doughnut tree makes an edible centerpiece and can be served as such with ice cream. It is made with bare-branching twigs set into a pinholder base placed in a low white bowl or flower pot. The bowl may be striped with red scotch tape. Sugared doughnuts hang from the branches of the "tree." The pinholder is covered with salted peanuts. The tree is fenced in with a ring of red lollypops.

Four Irish linen dish towels joined together with red rick-rack make the bright red plaid white tablecloth which, after the party, may be separated and put to use in the kitchen.

BABY BEATEN

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP) — A doctor testified Wednesday that repeated beatings had mis-shaped the face of a two-year-old boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Shortt who are jointly charged with assault and causing actual bodily harm. Shortt, a 23-year-old railway brakeman, and his wife said the bruises on the child were the result of a fall.

Case Dismissed Against Douro Man

His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke in county court today dismissed a charge of gross indecency against Herbert V. Condon, 23, of Douro.

When witnesses for the Crown failed to appear, V. J. McElderry, KC, former Crown Attorney, said he believed the evidence against Condon was weak and he offered none. W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, appearing for the defendant, asked that the case be dismissed.

Judge Smoke then dismissed the case after a brief warning to the accused.

Church Group Leaders Tell Of Year's Work

BONARLAW, Feb. 3—(ENS)—At St. Mark's Church annual vestry meeting in the parish hall on Wednesday Everett Heath was re-elected Peoples Warden. Owing to the illness of R. A. Brown, Rector's Warden, the Rev. J. M. Brownlie announced that he would make the appointment of Rector's Warden for 1949 at a later date.

Mr. Brownlie was chairman and W. J. Barlow, vestry clerk. Mr. Heath presented reports of both Wardens showing a substantial balance with both.

All receipts amounted to $1,330.19. Expenses had been $1,189.51 which left a surplus of $140.68.

A report of St. Mark's W.A. was presented by Mrs. J. M. Brownlie and St. Mark's Sunday school by Mrs. A. V. Brown. Both organizations were said to be functioning satisfactorily.

Young Peoples Society report presented by W. J. Barlow and the Junior W. A. by Mrs. J. M. Brownlie, showed progress and good balances on hand. Mr. Brownlie thanked his Wardens, officers and parishioners who assisted the church in 1948.

Jess Barlow and Ernest Stiles were appointed auditors and W. J. Barlow delegate to Synod.

Vestry Council was chosen as follows: Rector and his two wardens, the lay delegate to Synod and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H. Prest, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McComb, Chas. Wellman, Chas. Lough, Geo. Mumby, J. F. Baker and Mesdames W. E. Neal and A. V. Brown.

Urge German People Stage Demonstrations

BERLIN, Feb. 3—(AP)—The German Communist Peoples Council in a manifesto called upon the German people to stage mass demonstrations against the Western powers.

It urged Germans to "take our fate in our hands" in protesting against the West, and promised support would be given by "the mighty Soviet Union . . . with word and deed."

The manifesto followed the Moscow line, opposing establishment of a federal government in Western Germany, denouncing international control of the Ruhr and the forthcoming Western occupation statute which is intended to substitute for a long-delayed German peace treaty.

It accused the Western powers, under American leadership, of permanently splitting Germany, of seeking to make Western Germany "an arsenal," and of "unrestrained anti-democratic and anti-Soviet propaganda" endangering peace.

JUDGE DISMISSES GAS STATION APPEAL

Make Four New Arrests On Picket Line; 2 Paris Women Injured

One Striker Backs Into Car, Knocked Down Another Charges Policeman Kicked Her; Wait Report On Mrs. Cardy's Autopsy

PARIS, Feb. 4—(CP).—Four new arrests marked fresh disturbances today on the Penman picket line. Two women pickets were injured in scuffling about the entrance to Penman Mill No. 9 as the wages and union security strike called by the United Textile Workers (AFL) went into its 18th day. So far there have been 27 arrests in the strike which began Jan. 18. Mrs. Leta Morrison, 35, was knocked down by a car when she backed into its path while stepping away from the side of a Provincial Police car. She had just spoken to Joseph Porter, the first man arrested, after the police had put him in one of their waiting cars.

Police and pickets were crowded close around an employees' car as it was approaching the mill gate. She failed to see the car as she backed into its path. The front of the slowly moving car struck her and knocked her to the ground.

Mrs. Morrison was taken in a provincial police car to receive medical attention.

Injured In Melee

Gladys Jenner, 23, was also injured during the line melee. After police had arrested William Horsfall and Gordon Bonney in a confused jumble of pickets and police, Miss Jenner was found lying on the ground, holding her stomach. Fellow pickets claimed she had been kicked in the stomach by one of the police officers.

Val Bjarnason, Ontario director of the U.T.W.A. helped others on the picket line to carry her into a nearby home.

Guilty Plea Withdrawn By Cardinal

Say Prelate Sought Escape Aid From US Officials

BUDAPEST, Feb. 4 (CP)—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty recanted in court today a letter he wrote before his arrest saying that if ever he admitted his guilt to government charges against him it would be "because of weakness of the flesh."

The Cardinal, being tried on treason, espionage and black-market charges to which he has pleaded partly guilty, rose from his seat in the dock and said:

"I wrote this letter sometime in November, 1948, with instructions that it be forwarded to the bishops and archbishops of Hungary on the day I was arrested.

"That is what happened.

"Now I want to state that I see things differently from when I drafted this letter, and I want to repeat what I said yesterday — that I regret my error.

"I want it to be considered that that letter is null and void."

Later, the Primate rose again. He said he wished to repay the Hungarian Government in full the damage he had caused it through the illegal sale of thousands of dollars which he had received from the Vatican and the United States.

Cardinal Mindszenty testified, as his trial with six other defendants entered its second day, that the court had not hindered him in his defence, and that he had access to his lawyer at all times. He said the letter written before his arrest had nothing to do with the present court.

"Hurts Court"

Judge Vilmos Olthys, presiding over the five-judge court, remarked that the letter had "hurt this court."

Duke Paul Esterhazy, one of pre-war Hungary's richest men, today pleaded guilty to charges laid against him.

The Duke was the fourth defendant to enter a plea. Six men are on trial with the Cardinal, who was accused by the government prosecutor yesterday of seeking American assistance to break jail and flee the country by plane in order to escape trial on charges of treason, sprying, plotting against the government and engaging in black-market money deals.

The Cardinal bore himself calmly. But just before adjournment for the night he made a muttered reply which the court said was an admission he had tried to flee the country.

Produces Letter

The "People's Court" prosecutor, Gyula Elapi, with an air of quiet drama, produced a letter which he said Cardinal Mindszenty had written nine days ago to the United States Minister, Selden Chapin, asking the diplomat to furnish a plane for his escape

POWER SHORTAGE — Why Vancouver industry and homes must drastically cut power consumption: Stave Lake, site of a big power development, has less than four feet to drop before the generators stop turning. Fine Stands Against J. Russelle

25 Other Charges Adjourned Pending Decision

Judge Sheldon L. Smoke has upheld the validity of the city's bylaw governing operating hours of gasoline outlets and has dismissed an appeal with costs from the conviction of John Russelle, Water St. service station operator.

In his 6,000-word written judgment, handed down today, His Honor found that bylaw 4,701 was validly passed by the city councile. Russelle had been fined under the bylaw by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court. More than 25 other charges against a number of garage operators of the city have been adjourned pending this appeal decision.

These undecided cases will now be heard in police court. On the Russelle "test case" there, the accused paid a fine of $25 and costs.

Application to appeal to the Supreme Court of Ontario may be made, it is understood.

Rejected All Arguments

The county judge reviewed and rejected all arguments of the appellant. Discussion in detail objections that the procedure followed by the council was not proper, he concluded: "It does not seem necessary for me to enumerate the procedural objections because it is well-settled law that failure to conform with the rules of procedure of a municipal council does not invalidate a bylaw passed by it. . . ."

On the appeal argument that the list on which the garage operator's petition for the bylaw was based was not vouched for, Judge Smoke said: "The (Act under which bylaw passed). . . places the onus of proving that the application was not presented by the prescribed number of occupiers. . . upon the person asserting that such application was not so presented. . ."

Signatures Adequate

"Without some positive evidence indicating that the application did not contain the required number of signatures or that a sufficient number of signatures appearing on the application were fictitious to bring the number of legitimate signatures below the required 75 per cent, the burden of proof of which is upon the appellant, none of these factors would invalidate the bylaw. . . ."

"In other words, the appellant has not, simply by adducing the evidence . . . satisfied the burden of proof that the application

Britain And U.S. Clamp Embargo On Russ Freight

BERLIN, Feb. 4—(AP)—Britain and the United States tightened their counter blockade on the Russian zone tonight by banning all motor freight traffic into Eastern Germany from neighboring European countries. The embargo becomes effective Sunday.

It applies to all highway shipments which heretofore have travelled across the American-British zones into the Soviet zone from such countries as Belgium, France, Switzerland, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark.

The official announcement said it was ordered because of restrictions placed by the Russians on travel.

Up to now, although Britain and the United States have closed their borders to the Soviet zone to goods from Western Germany, they have allowed shipments from neighboring countries to pass.

The move was another effort of the west to tighten the economic squeeze on the Soviet zone in retaliation for the blockade of Berlin.

Officials said the effect on traffic would be "considerable." They declined to elaborate.

No UK Objection If Act Dropped

LONDON, Feb. 4 (CP)—If the Canadian parliament decides to dispense with the British North America Act there probably will be no objection from the United Kingdom, sources here said today.

"Most people here remember that the statute of Westminster declared the dominions free and self-governing and there were evidences of surprise when the British parliament was asked to approve amendments to the British North America Act requested by the Canadian parliament," one authority said.

Official government comment was unavailable on Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's statement last night that he felt it was wrong that the B.N.A. Act should be a statute of British parliament.

Authorities said nothing would be done to change the existing system until the Canadian viewpoints were made clear. Britain was anxious to fit in with the wishes of the self-governing Dominion in regard to the future of the act passed in 1867 when Canada was looked on as a colonial territory.

2 Canadian Platoons Training At U.S. Camp

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C., Feb. 4 (CP)—Two Canadian army platoons have been training here for two months in preparation for joining United States troops in large-scale joint manoeuvres in the Caribbean.

The Canadian detachment, commanded by Capt. Deriveria, comprises six officers and 105 men. It contains elements of the Royal Canadian Regiment which has headquarters at Brockville.

The Canadian army cadre will operate with United States marines leaving soon for the Caribbean area for exercises which will co-ordinate army, navy and marine units. One of the major operations will be an amphibious attack on the Island of Vieque, Puerto.

Camp Lejeune is a marine base near New River, N.C.

Begin Hearings For Deportation Of Carr, Wife

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(CP)—The United States Immigration Department has started hearings for deportation to Canada of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carr.

Mrs. Carol King, counsel for the Carrs, made the announcement.

Presumably the hearings are being held at Ellis Island, immigration detention centre where the Carrs were taken last week after their arrest in New York City.

Mrs. King said the deportation proceedings are continuing 'along normal lines, but perhaps a little faster than usual."

Mrs. King said that, as legal adviser to the Carrs, she is not trying to halt or delay the deportation order.

She said that the Carrs appearance Tuesday before a Federal Grand Jury investigating Communist activity in the United States will be their only appearance before a United States inquiry body.

Mrs. King did not expand this comment. Apparently it means the House of Representatives Committee at Washington has given up any idea it may have had of calling Carr as a witness.

44 Passengers Unhurt In Crash At Tripoli

LONDON, Feb. 4—(CP)—All 44 passengers, British service personnel and their families, escaped with cuts and slight injuries in the DC-4 crash at Castel Benito, near Tripoli, today, it was learned here.

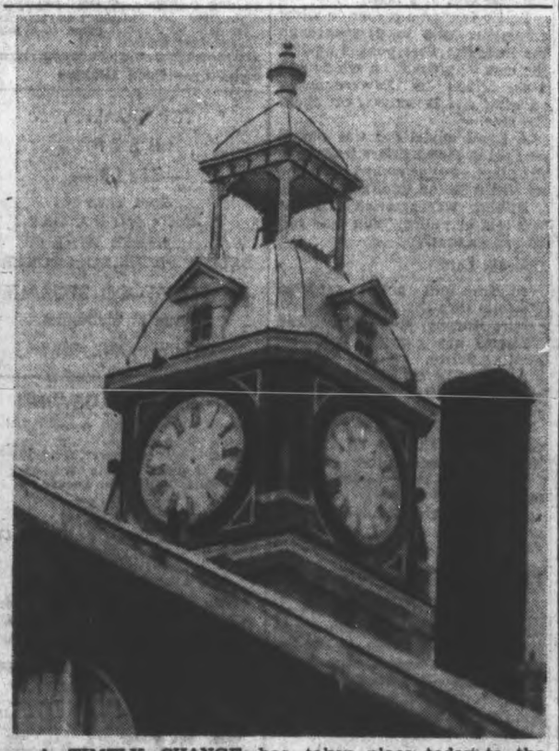
Only the pilot was killed. Five other members of the eight-man crew were injured.

The accident occurred in the dark with heavy rain falling. The plane crashed 400 yards from the airfield control tower.

The plane was chartered to the British War Office by Skyways Limited. It took off from Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Won't Lose Leg

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP). — Helen Billson, pretty 19-year-old dress model, will not lose her leg after all. Doctors who had feared they would have to amputate Helen's leg as the result of a traffic accident last Sunday in which her 21-year-old fiance, William Miller, was killed, reassured her today. She will not require further transfusions.



A TIMELY CHANGE has taken place today to the Market Hall clock tower. Until Thursday, and for as much as six weeks before that, the east face and finally the north gradually sheds its hands. Only citizens going north on George St., and east on Charlotte, were able to see what time it was. Today the four clock faces are back to normal.

Russia Returns British Warship

ROSYTH, Scotland, Feb. 4 — (AP)—The Royal Navy battleship Royal Sovereign came home today, after five years under the flag of the Russian Navy.

A day overdue on her trip from Murmansk, the 29,150-ton ship was welcomed by the destroyer Nepal. The Nepal had returned to port alone from a scheduled rendezvous yesterday in the Firth of Forth.

Heavy weather in the North Sea was blamed by the Admiralty for Russia's failure to keep the date.

Still at sea when the Royal Sovereign tied up at the naval station here were three submarines also being returned and two transports which will carry the Soviet crew back to Russia.

The battleship, which now will be scrapped, was loaned to Russia in 1944. Its return at this time is part of an Allied big power agreement under which the Soviet Union simultaneously received its share of the Italian Navy, including the battleship Giulio Cesare.

Farm House Destroyed By $8,000 Fire

Fire early today levelled the two-storey frame farm house of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Howson, Bailieboro, 14 miles south of here. Damage is estimated at $8,000. It was partly covered by insurance.

A chimney fire broke out on Thursday evening and Mr. Howson kept watch until midnight to ensure that it was extinguished. When he believed the hazard had passed he went to bed.

He and his wife were wakened at 3:30 a.m. by the son Wayne, 10, who smelled smoke. Wayne and his brother John, aged three, usually sleep in an upstairs bedroom but on Thursday night they slept on a studio couch in the dining room.

By the time Mr. Howson began to call on neighbors for assistance the roof was ablaze and flames were visible for several miles.

Thirty neighbors responded to Mr. Howson's call for help but an almost complete lack of water restricted their efforts to salvaging furnishings from the downstairs rooms.

Windows and doors were removed as well as anything else of value that could be carried.

A favorable wind protected a nearby barn containing some livestock, a driving shed, and some chicken colony houses. Had it not been for this wind it is believed all the buildings would have been destroyed.

Chimney pipes from a downstairs stove pass through an upstairs bedroom, and it was in the bedroom partition that the fire first broke out. It rapidly spread through the upper storey and into the room. The downstairs portion of the house was the last to be burned.

The house was in good repair and had been lived in previously by Mr. Howson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Howson.

A few years ago a chicken-house belonging to the family was destroyed by fire in Bailieboro.

Ben-Gurion's Party Captures 46 Seats

TEL AVIV, Feb. 4—(Reuters)—Final election results for the Israeli Constituent Assembly announced today gave Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's Mapai (Labor) Party, 46 seats of the total of 120.

Mapan, Left-wing Socialist Party, received 19 seats, the United Religious Front 16 and Heruth (political party representing the former Irgun Terrorists) 14.

The Constituent Assembly will also have seven general Zionists (Right Centre), five Progressives (Left Centre), four Communists, four Sephardin Party representatives, two Arabs from the Nazareth Democratic Party (aligned with Ben-Gurion's Mapai), and one each from fighters (Stern Terrorists), Yemenites and the Women's International Zionist Organization. Total votes cast were 440,080.

Believe Stalin Prepared For 4-Power Conference

MOSCOW, Feb. 4—(Reuters).—Well-informed sources here said today they believed Marshal Stalin is willing to take part in a four-power conference with President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Premier Henri Queuille. This would meet objections that the United States is not prepared to discuss bilaterally with the Soviet Union matters of interest to other countries in the absence of their representatives.

All today's Russian newspapers carried a 112-word New York report from the Soviet official news agency, Tass, under the double column headline: "Truman refused peace pact between the USSR and the United States."

Truman's comment yesterday that he would be glad to welcome Stalin to Washington but discussion of the world situation would have to be done through the United Nations was printed by several papers in extra large type.

The Tass report said State Secretary Dean Acheson, at his press conference, "spoke negatively regarding both a peace pact and other questions dealth with by Mr. Kingsbury Smith (American newspaper correspondent) in a letter to Mr. Stalin."

"Several hours later President Truman at a press conference joined in Acheson's opinion," Tass said.

"In local circles it is suggested that the negative attitude of Truman and Acheson is explained by the fact that a peace pact would be in contradiction to aggressive plans in the organization of the Atlantic Bloc."

The Russian press also gave considerable space to a London meetings at which John Platt-Mills, Independent Leftist member of parliament, said Attlee should have urged Truman to meet Stalin and asked to accompany him.

BELIEVES TORTURE USED

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 4—(AP)—Ferenc Nagy, self-exiled former premier of Hungary, said here today he was convinced that Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic Primate of Hungary, was tortured by the Communists in the first days after his arrest. Nagy said he believed the Cardinal had been "reconditioned" after earlier torture so that he would appear unmarked at his trial.

Six Inches Snow Blanket Ontario

TORONTO, Feb. 4—(CP)—A heavy snowstorm which centred over Toronto at mid-morning was moving eastward today at about 25 miles an hour and the storm centre was expected to reach Ottawa at about 7:30 this evening.

As the storm moved east, reducing traffic to a crawl and curtailing airline flights, only light flurries followed in its wake. At 7.30 a.m. six inches had fallen on Toronto during the previous 24 hours but the snowfall was expected to become light early in the afternoon. At Windsor 3.7 inches had fallen, 3.5 inches at London, 3.6 inches at Wiarton. Forecasters predicted more than 10 inches would have fallen on Ottawa before the storm moved on tonight and petered out over the Atlantic seaboard.

The fall was lighter in the north where only one to three inches fell. No serious traffic accidents had been reported despite poor driving conditions.

Some rain was reported along the south shore of Lake Erie, while rain was mixed with snow along the north shore. Temperature remained high, with the thermometer reading 26 degrees above zero in Toronto at 8 a.m. EST. The temperature is expected to jump four degrees by noon, but forecasters say it will be colder to-night. In the north readings of 30 below were recorded.

At nearby Malton Airport, Trans-Canada Air Lines announced cancellation of several flights. These included the first two morning trips to New York; the first two flights to Montreal, and also the Toronto-to-Cleveland rip. Flights to the West and North are running on schedule.

Must Protect Air Position Chevrier Tells Canadians

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP). — Transport Minister Chevrier said today Canada must maintain and protect her position "on the main street of the new air world."

But the Government does not intend to allow considerations of national prestige to involve it in an uneconomic program of international air service expansion, the Minister added in a speech prepared for delivery before the International Chamber of Commerce.

In current strides, Canada's development of air traffic facilities is unmatched by any country other than the United States, Mr. Chevrier declared.

"We feel that there is a need for certain international air services but those services should, generally speaking, be justifiable on an economic basis and have a reasonable chance of supporting themselves.

"They must, moreover, be operated on an efficient basis in a highly competitive market. As far as present experience may be relied on we are satisfied that the carriers we have selected can do this job and compete on reasonable terms with the airlines of even more powerful and richer countries.

"In fact trans-Canada Air Lines has already done this in competing with airlines of other countries which are in receipt of substantial subsidies."

TCA and in the Pacific, Canadian Pacific Airlines, were Canada's "chosen instruments" for operation of international air services.

TCA had added 5,000 miles of new routes in 1948 for a total of 16,000 miles but no larger route extensions, beyond some small additions, were foreseen in the future

Gets 4 Years In Theft Case

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP).—John Dickinson today was sentenced to four years in penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to 14 charges of forging and uttering money orders stolen from the Pickering Canadian National Railways station by safecrackers.

Police said Dickinson was not one of the safecrackers, but acted as a "passer." The arrest of two Toronto safecrackers is expected.

Dickinson was arrested after police investigation into cashed money orders at nearby Weston, Oakville, Long Branch, London, Ont., Windsor, Hamilton and Leaside.

Men In Hotel Fight Have Sentences Cut

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP). — Convictions of six men involved in connection with a fight in a Lindsay hotel, were upheld in appeal court Thursday but the sentences were reduced.

All six were originally sentenced to three months' imprisonment following conviction last June. Gerald Tracy Thursday had his sentence reduced to a $100 fine, while the other five—Lionel, Leo and Earl Tracy, John Hopkins and Lorne McGee—will serve 30 days and must post $1,000 bonds to keep the peace.

In the scuffle a police officer suffered a broken hand and rib

Escape Soviet, Pair Like U.S.

WESTOVER, Mass., Feb. 4—(AP).—Two Russian Air Force officers who escaped from the Soviet Union by plane landed here today—delighted to reach the United States. They took off for the United States Wednesday from Rhienmain, Germany, in a United States Navy transport plane. They had a message for American Communists.

Before pronouncing judgment, Speaking through an interpreter, the fliers, Peter Pirogov and Anatole Barsov, said: "Instead of making all their noise they should volunteer to go to Russia for one month. They would be glad to return here and resign from the Communist Party."

They expressed the belief that Premier Stalin offered to meet President Truman because the cold war "had gotten to a point where it might become serious. Stalin doesn't want war this soon anyway."

Soviet authorities, they added, believe that any Russian who thinks well of the United States is "morally unstable."

Planned Escape

The officers said they had planned their escape for a year after hearing "pleasant things" about Americans from Russian officers who had contact with United States soldiers during the war.

The thing that finally spurred them to fly out of Russia was news of the escape of Madame Oksana Kasenkina from Soviet authority in New York.

They said their flight for liberty began at Kolombia airbase in the West Ukraine and ended in Austria.

A sergeant, who accompanied them but was not in on the plot, returned to Soviet custody.

The visa they obtained in Germany grants them a year's visit in the United States but they were not certain whether State Department officials would limit it.

Their trip here was sponsored by United States military authorities.

Citizen Routs Garage Robbers

An attempted break-in of Ted Moore's tire and battery exchange at Chamberlain St. and Monaghan Rd. was spoiled Thursday night. Thomas E. Duffield, 302 Maitland Ave., was responsible for the interruption in the work of the midnight prowlers. Passing the garage after midnight, walking along Monaghan Rd., he heard the sound of breaking glass. As he walked toward the building to investigate, he saw a man run from the shadows, jump into a car and speed off up Chamberlain St. The car did not show its lights while Mr. Duffield was able to see it.

He notified city police. PC Claire J. McGillen found that two windows had been broken at the side of the building. Apparently the would-be thieves did not not get in but had just reached through the broken window and lifted a couple of items on a shelf. The articles were found nearby.

More than one man was involved in the attempt. Mr. Duffield told police that he had heard a whispered conversation being carried on as he approached the garage.

Guilty Plea

and saying he would pay $4,000 to the pilot.

"Will you admit you wrote this letter?" presiding Judge Vilmos Olthys asked.

The Cardinal spoke indistinctly, and the Judge said he would accept the reply as meaning "yes."

(Informed Vienna sources with connections in Hungary said Dec. 31 that the Cardinal had told Hungarian Bishops before his arrest Dec. 27 that if they heard he had confessed or resigned they should consider the act void because it would be the result of "human frailty." The British Roman Catholic weekly, the Tablet, said recently Communist police planned to give the Cardinal drugs when he went on trial.)

The Cardinal admitted partial guilt yesterday in his defiance of the Communist-dominated state, but declared he had not plotted to destroy the country's "democratic system"—the most serious charge against him.

The court room was half empty when the five judges marched in at 9:10 a.m., to begin the second day of the trial after a recess of only about 11 hours. The court did not adjourn last night until 10 p.m.—after a 13-hour gruelling session.

Shows Little Emotion

Cardinal Mindszenty walked in quietly and with his usual dignified manner. He bowed to prosecutor Gyula Elapi and chatted with his lawyer, Kalman Kicko.

Duke Esterhazy, called first before the court, pleaded guilty while his wife, a former ballerina, stared desperately from her seat on the last bench in the court room.

Tall, blonde and broad-shouldered, the Duke said he had 200,000 acres of land in Hungary which was distributed among the peasants in 1945 by the government. He said he still has 100,000 acres in Austria and 1,200 acres in Bavaria but these lands now are administered by Soviet and American occupation authorities. He said he also owns two big apartment houses in Budapest, and other valuable houses and vineyards. His palace in Budapest was destroyed during the war.

Testifying as to the charge of engaged in black-market money dealings, he said he purchased a dollar cheque of about $8,000 from the Cardinal. He thought he overpaid even the usual black-market rate for the dollars.

He considered the Cardinal the "Head of Hungarian Royalists" and declared that "of course" he wanted to support the Cardinal.

He admitted that he himself was a Royalist, but belonged to no political party. His family had been connected with the Kingdom for centuries and "there doubtless was some possibility that in case of a Hapsburg restoration part of my confiscated estate would be returned."

Cardinal Mindszenty was allowed to put one question to Duke Esterhazy. It was: had the Cardinal or any member of his court ever requested financial support from the Duke?

Duke Esterhazy's answer was "No."

The Duke admitted he had smuggled $29,000 out of the country to Vienna in a suitcase with a false bottom. He said he had a valid Hungarian passport which he could have used to leave the country legally in 1947 and 1948 but did not use it to seek refuge abroad.

Ondras Zakar, the Cordinal's secretary, pleaded "partly guilty," and Professor Justin Baranyay pleaded innocent yesterday.

Rev. Miklos Nagy, Secretary of the Lay Organization, Catholic Action, pleaded innocent to treason charges but confessed to deals in foreign money;

Luszlo Toth, a Roman Catholic journalist, pleaded guilty to treason charges;

Rev. Bela Ispenky, a priest, admitted himself guilty of treason, and of espionage—allegedly for the United States.

Only one of the seven defendants to plead innocent to all charges was Professor Justin Baranyay, a young priest and teacher of church law.

Ondrás Zakar, the Cardinal's secretary, pleaded "partly guilty" yesterday, following the lead of his superior.

(The Magyar News Agency, a Hungarian service, sent a dispatch to London quoting Esterhazy as saying in court today that one of the black-market money deals involved a cheque from Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York. Sends Note

LONDON, Feb. 4—(Reuters) — Britain today sent a note to Hungary expressing "grave concern" at the refusal of the Hungarian Government to provide facilities for a representative of the British Legation to attend the trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty. it was officially announced.

The note was handed to the Hungarian Foreign Minister in Budapest today. It warned the Hungarian Government that "an adverse construction" could not fail to be placed on their refusal.

Dislikes Going To London To Change Laws

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 — (CP). — Removal of "another relic of our colonial past"—the necessity of going to London for constitutional amendments—is proposed by Prime Minister St. Laurent as a final step toward Canada's status as an adult country.

In a broadcast last night the Prime Minister advocated this move, but warned that it would not be an easy thing to do.

He did not elaborate on the steps necessary for Canada to reach autonomy with respect to the constitution, but declared he was convinced the United Kingdom Government would co-operate.

He dealt briefly with the North Atlantic Security Pact now being negotiated in Washington and scoffed at the opinions of those who believe that Canada "lying right between the two greatest Powers on earth" could remain aloof from world affairs.

"Certainly my colleagues and I do not believe it and we are not going to pretend we do," he said. "That is why we want a North Atlantic Security Pact."

Not Fully Independent

The Prime Minister told of the Government Bill now before Parliament to abolish appeals to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council — another step toward complete sovereignty.

"No nation that has to go to the courts of another country to settle its domestic disputes is fully autonomous or completely independent."

"Every time we Canadians want any change made in the British North America Act we have to go through the form of getting a change made by the Parliament of the United Kingdom," he said.

"As a Caandian, I do not like to have to do that. What is more I feel sure the United Kingdom Parliament does not like it either.

"I believe we Canadians should work out a method of making our constitutional changes right here in Canada."

was not properly presented . . ."

One of the arguments presented by W. J. Arthur Fair, K.C., counsel for the accused, was the suggestion that it was necessary for all members of the council to be satisfied as to the sufficiency of the application . . . in other words, that one member of the council who was not satisfied could invalidate the bylaw." He referred to evidence of Alderman Pat Anglesey, who did not vote for the bylaw and who said in evidence that Alderman Gordon Armstrong was also not satisfied.

Majority Decision

Replying to this, His Honor said: "Councils act by majority decisions except in cases where there (the law) requires that there shall be a greater majority."

It was also suggested by the appellant's argument that the council passed the bylaw "because of fright and against their own judgment." This was in view of the fact that it had received a letter threatening that action would be taken or a mandatory order requiring it to pass the by-law. The letter was from a Toronto law firm representing the Garage Operators' Association, a provincial body.

The judge ruled that the council had acted on its own judgment: "Apparently the majority of the council . . . were satisfied that the application did contain a sufficient number of signatures. . . ."

Although the by-law passed did not coincide word-for-word with the petition from the operators, Judge Smoke held that "everything which had been requested by the application had been covered by the bylaw . . . How much more closely the bylaw could conform to the application I do not know. . . ."

Alex L. Elliott, K.C., represented John Thompson who was named as respondent in the case.

Make Four

The fourth arrest this morning was that of 22-year-old Helen Murphy, secretary-treasurer of the U.T.W.A. local in Paris.

Miss Murphy was also arrested yesterday morning, and released on bail at 4 p.m. yesterday after being charged with assaulting police.

Today's arrest was the third for William Horsfall. In the early days of the strike he was arrested and bailed. Yesterday he was arrested on a charge of obstructing police, and was again bailed.

At Brantford later charges were laid and bail fixed as follows:

William Horsfall, obstruction, $1,000 cash or $2,00° property bond; Helen Murphy, intimidation with violence, $500 cash or $1,000 property bond; Joseph Porter, intimidation with violence, $500 cash or $1,000 property bond; Gordon Bonney, obstruction, $300 cash or $400 property bond.

Hold Autopsy

Crown officials are awaiting a report on an autopsy held to determine the cause of the death of Mrs. Charles Cardy, 44-year-old employee of Penman's, Limited. Mrs. Cardy was injured Jan. 19 in a picket line clash during the Penman strike.

The autopsy was performed last night by Dr. W. J. Deadman of Hamilton but it was not known when he would report his findings.

Police expected to learn from the autopsy whether the picketline injuries caused or contributed to Mrs. Cardy's death.

A Penman employee more than 20 years, she refused to join the strike called Jan. 18.

Dr. . R Jarrett said Mrs. Cardy, confined to her home since the incident, suffered a stroke last Friday and was removed to hospital. She died early yesterday.

Warrants have been issued against Arthur Gignac, picket captain for the United Textile Workers (AFL), and Mrs. Lillian Gillow, a striker, charging intimidation by use of violence against Mrs. Cardy.

Used Personal Violence

The charge against Gignac and Mrs. Gillow reads that "being together, (they) did unlawfully and wrongfully use personal violence to Mrs. Mary Cardy with a view to compel her from doing what she had a lawful right to do, namely, to work for Penman's, Limited, of Paris."

The warrants were issued Wednesday afternoon, before Mrs. Cardy's death. Gignac was arrested under the warant Thursday and this gave rise to an erroneous report, carried by The Canadian Press, that he had been arrested in connection with her death. Gignac previously was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

Mrs. Gillow is ill in bed with influenza and has not yet been arrested.

A series of flare-ups merged into a free-for-all, and police finally arrested nine persons: Helen Murphy, 22, secretary-treasurer of the U.T.W.A. local in Paris; Mrs. Hendrika Bethune, 22, already summoned on another charge; Arthur Gignac, 24, previous arrested and out on bail; Robert W. Williams, 16; William Horsfall, 21; Charles Campbell, 26; Leo Herseman, 21; Wilbert Hilborn, 16; William Williamson, 23.

Fifteen other persons have been arrested earlier during the strike.

Struck in Face

Mrs. Bethune told spectators she was struck in the face by an Ontario Provincial Police officer after an employee's automobile ran over her foot.

Miss Murphy escaped from the milling crowd and was arrested by police who found her lying in the rear seat of a taxi.

Police formed a cordon to allow employees cars to pass through the lines but were pushed against the cars by pickets. A window in a car driven by Edward Setter smashed and Setter was cut about the face.

A small model car was placed across the thoroughfare leading to the plant. Police picked it up and carried it to the sidelines.

Hilborn was arrested after he was told by police: "You can't call an officer that."

Charges Laid

At Brantford police reported the following charges laid:

Miss Murphy, Mrs. Bethune and Williams are charged with assaulting police.

Arthur Gignac, Charles Campbell and William Williamson are charged with intimidation.

William Horsfall, Leo Sherman and Wilbert Hilborn all charged with obstructing police.

In all cases bail was set at $800 cash or $1,000 property bond and all were expected to have bail this afternoon.

Court Demands Remove House

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 4—(ENS)— Charles Ellis, who was given two weeks to remove his house outside the city limits after being found guilty on Jan. 20 of two breaches of the building by-law, told the magistrate on Thursday that he had not complied with the court order and was unable to do so because at this time of the year the house was frozen to the ground. He also said that certain members of the council had given him until the summer either to remove the house or make it conform with the bylaw regulations.

N. A. MacColl, town solicitor, said the situation was as unsatisfactory as it had been two weeks ago. He stated that it would be impossible to make the present building meet the requirements of the bylaw. It must be removed he said, and he asked the court for a further two weeks' adjournment to give Ellis and the council time to come to some agreement.

The magistrate advised Ellis to "forget his stubbornness" and place his problem before the council on Monday night. "If you had cared for your wife and three children you would not have been in this mess," he said.

He told Ellis that if he came back in two weeks time without an understanding with the council he would have no alternative than to impose the full penalty of the law.

Saturday Brings Rush In Banks

The old maxim, the customer is always right, appears to be failing as far as Peterborough Saturday banking customers are concerned. Saturday morning scenes at most of the city's banks are just one "mad rush" to complete the extra pile of business which weekly pay cheques and Saturday shopping bring to every bank.

According to J. A. Willey, assistant manager of the Bank of Montreal, early Saturday closing—the banks close at 11 a.m. on Saturdays—is not the cause of the long queues which form before every teller's cage midmorning on Saturday.

The rush on the banks Saturday morning does not usually begin until after ten o'clock, Mr. Willey says. From nine to ten o'clock every teller could handle five times the number of customers who transact their business during that time and then as 10 and 10.30 a.m. draw near, people with salary cheques and assistants from the stores come in hundreds.

Since the introduction of 9-11 opening hours of business bank employees have, for the first time, enjoyed a five and a half day week. Two hours after closing hours is usually time enough for completing outstanding work and most bank employees are off for the weekend by one o'clock.

Mr. Willey thinks the early closing on Saturday morning has come to stay.

J. Thompson, manager of the Bank of Toronto also finds business heaviest on Saturday mornings but, he says, with as many employees as the bank has room for, there are no serious delays. He considers that early closing is a successful innovation which has probably come to stay.

Given 2 Months For Three Thefts

Norman Randall, 726 Chamberlain St., was sentenced to two months in jail today when he pleaded guilty to three charges of theft. PC V. J. O'Donaghue testified that the accused had been arrested following a disturbance on Lewis St., and had admitted stealing a quantity of beer from the parked truck of Cecil Webb of Apsley. He also told the officers that he had taken a loaded suitcase of articles from another parked truck and had stolen a battery from a service station.

The acused told Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, that he had phoned for the police himself and had given himself up, "because I figured they'd catch me anyway."

Canada And Cardinal Mindszenty

When Cardinal Mindszenty, Primate of Hungary, was arrested the world outside the communist orbit was shocked. The general indignation was voiced by Mr. Lovett who, speaking as American Undersecretary of State, called the charges of treason and black-market operations "patently false". The Cardinal's arrest and the subsequent procedure in jailing and trying him have made a much greater stir than the arrest of Bishop Ordass, of the Hungarian Lutheran church. This is understandable, for not only is Cardinal Mindszenty head of the Roman Catholic church in Hungary, of which sixty per cent. of the Hungarian people are nominal adherents; he is a Prince of a world-wide church which has an extensive publicity range. There is this additional reason for the great public outcry, which The Christian Century points out: "The cardinal had been following a course, ever since the Communists took over Hungary, which virtually dared the government to arrest him. When the government took the dare, that put a climax on a news story which had been building up for months".

* * *

The Cardinal's story is, however, more than a news story, as is Bishop [illegible] churches in a state being driven to subjection or revolt. If they submit religion is enchained; if they revolt it and they are suppressed. Cardinal Mindszenty's drama was enacted earlier in Yugoslavia when Archbishop Stepinac was martyred on the sickle of communism. The Hungarian Primate's time of trial is, however, more significant, for it follows upon the Pope's Christmas message when as never before the Roman Church was directed inflexibly against Communism and aggression. The charge of treason against Cardinal Mindszenty is understandable, for in a country dedicated to Communism any person who is not a Communist and is in a high position from which he can communicate with the outside world and influence even indirectly the people within, is undermining the state. The Cardinal specifically refused to compromise his Church with the state institutions. So did Bishop Ordass. Some of the Reformed (Presbyterian) and free churches have decided to co-operate with the Communist government in its policy of nationalizing schools. These churches are for the moment securing the approval of the Hungarian government. The Communists seem therefore to be playing a game of dividing and ruling, and eventually gobbling up all the churches and destroying any freedom of worship. As The Christian Century has remarked the Communists thus "while proclaiming to all who will listen their devotion to religious freedom, stand on the sidelines and laugh and laugh and laugh".

* * *

The Canadian Government has strongly protested the arrest of Cardinal Mindszenty, and has coupled with the protest a denunciation of the persecution of Bishop Ordass of the Lutheran church. We can approve this diplomatic note, but feel it is but a gesture. The time has gone when one nation is powerful enough so that the mere rumble of its official voice will result in another nation changing its ways. Canada's protest is really a condemnation of Communism and its totalitarian, ruthless, uncivilized practices. It surely cannot expect freedom of religion to exist in Hungary when other great civil freedoms do not exist there.

Artists As Aunt Sallies

The Kingston Whig-Standard calls attention to the storm which has recently broken around the heads of Dr. Wilhelm Fuertwangler and Mr. Walter Gieseking, two musicians of international reputation. Fuertwangler came to the U.S.A. to be conductor of an orchestra, Gieseking to give a series of piano recitals. Because of public opinion, Fuertwangler and Gieseking will return to Europe; although Allied officials in Europe have cleared both men of charges of being Nazis there are still enough people in New York who believe that they were. When Gieseking's first concert at Carnegie Hall was scheduled the 2,700 seat-holders and a few hundred pickets had a brawl in the street. The people who wanted to hear Gieseking had the advantage of numbers, but his manager feared further demonstrations and cancelled all concerts.

The worst that is known of Gieseking is that he played several times at concerts which were attended by Hitler and other high Nazis. Should he have refused? Is an artist entitled to handpick his audience and to examine their politics? Obviously not, yet his reputation may suffer from associations over which he had only the slighest control.

Such confusions follow every major war, and those whose memories extend to the years 1919-23 will recall many similar cases. It is nonsense to pretend that an artist is above politics; he lives in the world as much as any man, and is expected to bear the ordinary responsibilities of a citizen. But artists are to some degree the Aunt Sallies of the public, held accountable for things which they cannot control and pelted and reviled for offences which cause little comment in professional men, industrialists or other less conspicuous figures. The public gives great admiration and privileges of its artists; it lifts them high, and it can cast them cruelly low. These people who stand so much in the public eye are called more sharply to account for their conduct than are other mortals.

"It's An Ill Wind . . ."

The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, and for that matter any of its power users, could not have had better late autumn and early winter weather. There has been much rainfall and mild weather. Creeks and rivers have been flowing like spring freshets. As a result winter sports have suffered, but power-users have had enough to keep the wheels of industry turning and electric fires under their roasts. Without this unusual winter [illegible] bills might have increased [illegible] than diminished.

It is a mark of the extent of this country that good weather in one section is not good weather in all. So we in Ontario seem to have been on the good end of the winds which have blown ill to British Columbia. That province has had an unusually cold, dry autumn and winter. The sources of its Hydro power are drying up and freezing up. The B.C. Electric Company is in sore straits. This week emergency restrictions were imposed on industry and domestic consumers of power. They are more severe than anything Ontario suffered last summer and autumn. We wryly sympathize with the folk beyond the Rockies, with a sincerity borne of our own unhappy experiences.

We forbear to boast of our own relatively good power condition, for it might happen that the waters which have not been stopped by frost and the snow which has not been piled up because of the mild temperatures will leave us unduly short of spring and summer water. However, we shall not cross any bridges which traverse dry river beds until we come to them.

Unemployment In This District

The employment situation across the country remains good. There is, of course, a seasonal recession, and localized groups of unemployed, but in general, all seems well and augurs well for full employment this year at last. According to the lists on file in the Peterborough Employment office there are 1,128 registered unemployed persons (309 of them females) in the district which it serves—all of Peterborough county, most of Northumberland, and part of Haliburton, Victoria and Durham. That figure is not more than sixty greater than at the same time last year. It is larger than for other recent months, and we could wish that there were fewer unemployed. However, this is always the least busy month in many trades — particularly in construction work. As in Canada generally, so in this district we see no cause for anxiety, and good reasons for optimism about jobs for all who want to work.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Specialists say that more men than women have flat feet. Perhaps because more women are naturally arch.

"Learn meat-cutting by mail" says an advertisement. Learn to cut it paper-thin, no doubt.

We read of a party at which U.N. delegates "exchanged smiles, handshakes and some back-slapping". At the session the slapping sometimes goes rather far down on the back.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

ALPHA: (That is not the salutation used by the writer, but I choose to ignore his adolescent, irreverent one.) I read in Sam's column (the writer refers of course to the Diary of Mr. S. Marchbanks) of a field "in which a bull lived twice a day". I am most curious to learn further details of this freak, for that it obviously is. If Sam were so terrified of this menace why didn't he once and for all settle the protracted and vexing problem by shooting the bull at which he is so proficient?

ANSWER: Beeause, my dear Sir, Madam, or Fanner of the Breeze, he may prefer shooting the gaff at fish like you to shooting the bull, in which practice your aim seems to be sharp. And not having a gaff handy in the field, he dangled an adverbial phrase. The sentence you partially quote reads more fully: "There was a time when I used to walk through a field in which a bull lived twice a day". The dangling adverbial phrase does hit the eye—which was probably intended—since the recurring danger to the walker was thus emphasized, coming as the phrase did with a plop at the end of the sentence.

It is not my business how Mr. Marchbanks manages his adverbs. If Homer nods, may not Marchbanks snore? He perhaps likes to play with adverbs. Such play can be quite good fun for the initiated. Try shifting "homeward" and "weary" in the third line of Gray's Elegy: "The plowman homeward plods his weary way". That is the original. You can amend it a dozen ways, e.g. "Homeward, the plowman plods his weary way"; "The plowman plods his weary homeward way", etc. My top bed-time score is 26 versions.

WHY do they call the head of the Canadian government the "Prime Minister"? I mean, why not "Premier"?

ANSWER: The word "Premier" is used, but less frequently than "Prime Minister", though it is equally valid. Probably "Prime Minister" is used increasingly to refer to the head of the Federal Government so as to leave the word "Premier" free to distinguish Provincial Prime Ministers, e.g. Prime Minister King, Premier Drew.

It is interesting that the term "Prime Minister" was first used as a term of abuse against Britain's first Prime Minister, Sir Robert Walpole. When George I came to the throne he could speak no English. Indeed, this German prince never learned the [illegible] his senior parliamentary adviser presided at cabinet meetings. Walpole's opponents hurled the term "Prime Minister" at him, but he expressly disowned the title, as did Lord North under George III. Sir Robert Walpole was, by the way, a British Prime Minister (1721-1742) longer than any other except the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

The term "Prime Minister" fell more or less out of use, being replaced by "Premier" or "First Minister"—the same things essentially, for "Prime" means first. It came into use again about the middle of the last century but received official recognition in Britain only in 1905.

SIR: Why do some streets have hard snow and ice on them in weather like this week's and some soft, when both have been plowed? For instance, Park Street south of Charlotte was soft and slushy, Rubidge street hard and slippery this week. Both have, I would guess, about the same amount of traffic on them (except for the buses).

ANSWER: I would guess that calcium chloride (CaCl) or sodium chloride (NaCl) had been put on Park Street and not on Rubidge Street at the time you compared them. Calcium chloride — a kind of salt — softens snow and ice. So does ordinary salt (sodium chloride).

* * *

DEAR SIR: Who are the patron saints of the following: Canada, Newfoundland, the U.S.A.?

ANSWER: None of the countries you name has a patron saint. The Province of Quebec has St. John the Baptist, but he is not patron of all Canada. There are some Canadian saints—like Brebeuf and Lalement, martyrs at the hands of the Iroquois more than 300 years ago. They are not Patron Saints.

Saints become Patrons of countries through quirks and causes lost in the mists of antiquity which even hagiologists (experts in the lives and legends of the saints) cannot unveil. St. Patrick was a Welshman, though he did conduct missions in Ireland. It seems that St. Columba (521-597), an Irishman, would have been a more appropriate patron of Ireland. St. Andrew was never in Scotland and it is not certain which St. Andrew is the patron saint of Scotland—the Apostle who is said to be buried at Amalfi on the Bay of Naples, or a 13th century Andrew. It is doubtful who St. George was. He seems to have been martyred about 300 A.D. at Lydda in Palestine, he may have visited England. He may be the legendary double of George of Cappadocia. The only things known for certain about St. David is that he was a Welshman, that he lived c. 500-600 A.D., founded numerous churches in Wales and was formally canonized about 1120. Quebec's patron saint might logically have been St. Lawrence instead of St. Jean-Baptiste because of the river so-named by Cartier when he found shelter in one of its bays on St. Lawrence's day (10th August).

* * *

HAS Canada any colonies? If not, isn't it time we got some? I've never heard of a nation that didn't become great without colonies.

ANSWER: No, Canada has none, unless you are prepared to believe that Ontario is Canada and the other eight provinces are colonies of Ontario. Colonialism is dead, as Pandit Nehru of the Dominion of India lately remarked. England has been working very hard since 1945 disembarrassing herself of colonies—though I doubt that she will ever surrender Wales or Scotland. The trend now is toward economic imperialism pure and complicated, not to colonial imperialism.... France still has two colonial possessions in Canadian waters—the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. They were retained by France as fishing points after the Peace of Paris in 1763. Now they are good spots to obtain French liquors, legally or illegally.

FOR THE RECORD: To keep my small world in some sort of larger setting, I meant to remark last week on the opening of Parliament in Ottawa. Due to the absence of the town clock's hands, I forgot. The fifth, and presumably last session of the 20th Parliament opened on Wednesday, January 26th. The new Prime Minister Mr. St. Laurent, made his first appearance in the House in this role. Mr. George Drew made his first appearance both as Leader of the Opposition and as an M.P. Two new cabinet members also appeared in the House for the first time: Mr. Garson and Mr. Pearson. Peterborough's member, Mr. G. K. Fraser was in his seat and tabled some questions on the first day. Peterborough's two Senators, Mr. Duffus and Mrs. Fallis, were also in their seats. Only 58 of the 82 present senators were present on the opening day.

Letters To The Editor

DOWNER'S CORNER BUS

Sir: Tonight an item appeared in our paper stating that Ivan Fletcher denied that children were being left at Downer's Corners and that instead of nineteen using the bus daily it was only eight or nine. In the four families east of Armour Rd. who have children attending city schools there are eight children. The other eleven live between Armour Road and the Otonabee street bridge. There are also a number of adults in this vicinity who depend on this bus.

We are supposed to be within the city limits and what the parents want is a city bus to come out in the morning for the school children and bring them home at night. We are not asking for free bus service. At present it is costing us too much money to send them. Some of the families have three children which amounts to $3.00 per week. How many pay envelopes can take this with the father also paying twenty cents per day to ride back and forth to work. The fare is ten cents each way.

I admit the children didn't wait for the bus last Friday morning when it rained. Some didn't even go to school. At nine o'clock some started to walk and on arrival at school they were soaking wet and also almost a half-hour late. If cars were sent back for them why didn't they see them and pick them up? Maybe Mr. Fletcher can give us the answer to that.

Besides, when a certain kind-hearted truck driver, whom I wish to thank, offered the children a lift in to school, could they not be foolish to refuse the ride when it is so cold standing and waiting? Some of the children who are in the primary grades would not think to wait for a bus when a ride in was offered.

I know this expresses the viewpoint of all the parents in this area whose children depend on the bus to get them to school. We only hope something definite will be done in the near future to better these circumstances.

Our main hope—a city bus service.

Yours very truly,
"A DOWNER'S CORNERS MOTHER".

SUNDAY GARAGE SERVICE

Sir: I desire to avail myself of your columns in view of a situation which I understand exists in Peterborough. My understanding is the fruit of experience.

I am addressing this letter to you, since you are interested in the welfare and good name of Peterborough. It should be of interest to the citizens and the Council of the City of Peterborough.

Sunday afternoon, January 30th, at about 4.30, I was phoning to some of the service stations advertised in the Examiner as being open until 5.00 p.m. In spite of the fact that I was unable, in view of the limited equipment of my automobile and the icy condition of the streets, to repair my flat tire and so return to Oshawa, two of the advertised garage or "service" station operators informed me that they were to close at 5.00 p.m.—so sorry.

Thank goodness there are some of your real, honest-to-goodness service stations that fight a foolish bylaw foisted upon the public .... Russelle's, the last one I phoned answered with courtesy and provided "big city service".

Why are the Peterborough citizens allowing a little group of discourteous gasoline sellers to deny them and their visitors reasonable service—or at any rate to prosecute and persecute those who do give real service?

Very truly yours,
M. ROCKERT,

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves of a year old?.... He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God. (Mic. 6: 6, 8.)

Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery: but I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell. (Matt. 5: 27-29.)

Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing: and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty. (II Cor. 6: 17, 18.)

Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God. (II Cor. 7: 1.)

Venereal Disease

Federal and provincial governments are to spend $1,000,000 this year in an intensified campaign against venereal disease. The decision implies the need that exists for such a drive.

Venereal disease is a canker which eats at the moral and physical life of the nation. It can be controlled and diminished to a large extent. It is one in which, in most instances, cures are possible but which, if cures are not effected, spreads rapidly.

It is not one which medical science can control by itself. Police and other authorities must assist by closing up places wherein the disease is spread, and by action, where action is legally possible, against those who contribute to its spread.—Windsor Star.

Mr. Emerson had not been long dead when a candid and possibly somewhat inquisitive friend called on the widow.

After a chat on affairs in general, the caller remarked:

"As your husband died intestate, you will of course, get a third?"

"Oh, indeed, I hope to get a fourth," was the prompt reply. "He was my third, you know."

Fall On Ice Caused Death Jury Decides

Death of George Hewitt on January 21 was due to a hemmorhage caused by a fall, a corner's jury decided on Wednesday. Among the witnesses was the widow of the 53-year-old man who was found bleeding and badly frozen on Mill St. and who died a few minutes after admission to hospital. Mrs. Hewitt replied to a question by Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young that she had no suspicions of foul play in connection with the death.

PC Gordon Trennum testified that he and PC Sherman Keliele had answered a call to the police station about 8.30 a.m. on that morning. Hewitt was lying fully-clothed in an open area only 21 feet from a Mill St. house. Taken to hospital by ambulance, he was pronounced dead shortly after. Chief Thompson testified that his investigation showed no signs of fould play.

Members of the jury were: foreman, Vernon Selkirk, Daniel O'Donaghue Melville Jamieson, Lloyd Raper and Roy Bacon.

Juvenile Crime Shows Increase In Lakefield Police Court

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 4—(ENS)—Police Chief Garnet Samis reported that juvenile delinquency in the village had increased during 1948. In his annual report to the council, the chief said that there were no major crimes during the year. Property damage in motor vehicle accidents—$6,500—was the highest in a number of years. In 41 accidents, there were no deaths and nine persons injured.

Seven children appeared before juvenile court on charges, said the chief. Other difficulties had been met so far with warnings to the young offenders concerned, but he said he would take court action in the future in such cases.

Property losses through thefts had been $1,600 in 1948, of which $1,100 had been recovered. There were 44 complaints of petty thefts and break-ins and 322 general complaints received during the year on all subjects. There were 41 charges and 38 convictions under the Highway Traffic Act, 18 under the Liquor Control Act, one under Game and Fisheries regulations. Thirty-eight charges were heard for violations of the Criminal Code. Four are still to be disposed of.

The Chief recommended that a blinker light be erected at Queen and Bridge St. in the centre of the village.

J. J. Ryan, chairman of the Tourist committee of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce, headed a deputation to council asking for a grant of $250 to aid the committee's work. He outlined plans for the operation of a tourist information booth in the village and issuing of a bigger tourist pamphlet. The matter will be considered at a later council meeting.

As a Parks Commission cannot be set up this year, council decided to continue maintenance of the road in the Lakefield Park as in past years.

The Streets committee was asked by council to prepare estimates of the cost of raising Caroline St. where it meets the highway. The suggested change is to eliminate an approach which is dangerous in icy weather.

A claim against the village for damages for a fall on icy streets was received from Mrs. Alice Higgins. It was referred to the insurance company.

Councillor Roy Brown was named a delegate to the Good Roads Convention in Toronto. Councillor A. G. Buchanan will attend the Municipal Development Conference in Toronto.

Tenders will be called for for sanding, refinishing and decorating the ground floor of the village hall.

Council passed a bylaw authorizing collection of fines by the chief for minor offences. This eliminates necessity of a court appearance for those accused who wish to plead guilty.

Only Blonde Entrant Rules Winter Carnival

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 4 (CP)—Pretty, 19-year-old Shirley Williams of Fort William reigned today as queen of the four-day winter carnival here.

Only blonde among the five contestants, Miss Williams was crowned carnival queen Wednesday before thousands of spectators who braved sub-zero weather to watch the giant spectacle, highlighted by one of the largest parades of floats ever seen at the lakehead.

A husky young pulpwood cutter, Ludovic Cyr, 24, of Pellegain Gaspe, Que., captured the northwestern Ontario log sawing championship by sawing through a 10-inch spruce log in 15 seconds.

Many Years Of Work Required To Improve Soil

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 4 — The Agricultural Committee of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce heard W. B. George, Kemptville Agriculture College, speak on "Soil and the Ability of Soils to Bear Crops."

Prior to the main meeting, a committee meeting was held to appoint new officials for the season. W. C. Miller was named chairman of the Agriculture Committee, and D. Stanton as vice-chairman. Three new members, J. Huffman, president of the Hastings Country Jr. Farmers, D Harry, secretary-treasurer of the Sidney junior farmers and R. Phillips, agriculture supervisor of Belleville Collegiate were named to the committee. C. Jewell was appointed by the committee as representative of the board of directors for the Agricultural Committee.

The speaker opened his remarks with the noting of the wide variance of soil in different localities. Accordingly, the organic and mineral content of the

As an instance of how the soil content is depleted, it was pointed out that ten cows will consume soil required in the production f plant growth vary in different areas. The human race is dependent on the soil for existence, but the work of thousands of years in forming fertile earth can be undone in a short space of time by careless overworking of the land by farmers.

Land Soon Useless

168 younds of phosphorus and 215 pounds of calcium in a year. The constant removing of these elements will soon render the land useless unless the necessary conservation steps are taken.

The importance of the ever-increasing world population was stressed when it is realized that the world is having difficulty in supplying food for its present population. Man and plants were put on a similar basis as both require food, air and water for existence. The human diet is affected by poor soil conditions through the medium of livestock feeding on undernourished growth, consequently deficient in chemical elements.

Requires Years of Effort

Corrective measures with soil require many years of effort and attention, and the need for immediate attention was pointed out of the farmers in attendance. The service offered by the Ontario Department of Agriculture was outlined. A soil analysis which would give the comparative relationships of elements in the soil can be obtained by forwarding a sample of the farm soil to any agriculture station.

The benefit of the department's experience and equipment will be given to the farmer free of charge. As a result of such an analysis, steps can be taken to put back into the earth the elements which are lacking for 100 per cent fertility. Following his address the speaker showed a technicolor film, "The Life of the Oil."

Two Pay Fines

W. Russell Fife, RR 2, Omemee, was fined $5 and $8 costs in court Thursday on a charge of making an improper left hand turn. The charge was laid following an accident on November 27 between a truck driven by Fife and the car of James E. Girven, 367 Mark St. The accident, which cause about $450 damage, was on the Chemong Rd., near No. 7 Highway. Fife's truck had been turning into a driveway when the Girven car struck it on the rear, police evidence said.

Hubert Peterson, no fixed address, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for being drunk in public.

Northenders Win

Lakefield and the northend tadpoles tangled at Inverlea rink last night with the homesters winning 3-1, despite the snow. It was a hard-fought fray with the weather conditions partly responsible for beating the visitors. Murphy got the first goal and Olmstead notched one from Stewart. Olmstead added one on a rebound off the goalie. In the third period Wilfred counted for Lakefield. Teams:

Lakefeild: Goal, McIlwaine; defence, Kemp and McIlmoyle; centre, Hill; wings, Heffernan and McCracken; alternates, Darling, Neil, K. Henry, P. Henry, Wilfred, Nichols, Fraser and Sullivan.

Northend: Goal, Brown; defence, McNamee and Grose; centre, Murphy; wings, Olmstead and Stewart; alternates, Manley, Rose, Hamilton, Conway, Jarvis and Tucker.

Riley's Climb With 3622 In Men's Loop

The race for first place in the Men's City League becomes hotter each week as first one team after another gains possession for a week and then loses it. Last week Shockey's took over top place with Riley's and Ostrander's tied for second and Fashion Craft only two points back. Last night Riley's took six points from Charlotte Credit Jewellers to go into a tie for the top slot as Shockey's lost one game to Sunocos. Fashion Craft took six points from Empress Old Timers as Ostranders dropped two games to King George and as a result the Ostrander entry dropped below Fashion Craft in the standing.

Russelles blanked Clappers as Bond Clothes, Cavanaghs and Esquires each took four points from McCannan Electric, DeLaval and Marinos Lunch.

Basketball on two fronts here tonight and one tomorrow. At the YW this e'en, starting at 8.15, Normals play Neill's, and it's followed by the Collis colleens against Electrics. Three Cobourg teams are at the Collegiate tonight for group games with PCVS bantams, juniors and senior boys. Saturday night at the Collegiate, Port Hope plays at seven Marines "B" cagers of the Lakeshore League, a regular fixture, and Gord McIntyre's bunch hope to make it seven straight. This tussle is followed at 8.15 by an exhibition girls' game betwixt Cobourg and the Towne Togs. The Marines "A" men, under Al Clark, are off for Guelph tomorrow to tackle the Aggies.

Bobbie Rosenfeld of the Globe and Mail gives a big plug for the two-day international clinic on synchronized and ornamental swimming being held here tomorrow and Sunday. Gives much credit to Mrs. Pansy Forbes and N. C. Munro in getting Peterborough the first such clinic ever held. "With an enthusiast like Mrs. Pansy Forbes around," writes Bobbie, "it is easy to understand why Peterborough is on the select list of swimming." She recalls the feat of Jean Millard and Iris Forbes-Reilley in taking the duet synchronized crown last spring in April. Mrs. Forbes and Mr. Munro have put up a trophy for duet swimming to music, for national competition annually.

More Customer Appeal

Miss Ellen Murphy, Chicago swim coach—who will be here, along with other international aquatic figures—says: "Synchronized swimming leaves ornamental swimming wallowing in its wake for customer appeal. We've staged four-hour shows and, at the finish, have had spectators ask: 'Is that all?' It fills a need for the good swimmer who is not a speed swimmer." Some claim that ornamental swimming is more stunt stuff, though pleasing to see, whereas the synchronized style is interpretive swimming to music—or precision water patterns worked out to a definite theme. Mrs. Forbes says: "We hope to get fancy swimming listed for Olympic and British Empire Games competition." More power to them.

Starting off the second half of the Industrial Hockey League schedule, three lively jousts were staged last evening in Civic Arena. Some good hockey is served up in this circuit, most of the teams having players aboard of OHA calibre. Plans are to have three loop fixtures at Civic Arena every Thursday night from now on, and two tilts each Friday p.m. in the Omemee rink. Frank Shine assures us that the fans will more than get their money's worth both here and in Omemee for the rest of the schedule and throughout the playoffs.

Clippers And Legions

At 8.30 this eve in Civic Arena, the Stouffville Clippers clash with Legionnaires in an OHA senior "B" encounter. Clippers have a speedy young squad, full of fight and hustle, so the locals will have to step lively if they want to maintain top spot in their grouping. Legion will win it if they play the kind of classy hockey dished up against Meteors over Lindsay way last start. The Vitarelli pack have plenty of foot and scrap, too, and that's why they're perched up there on the top rung with Markham Millionaires. It ought to be a nifty number—Stouffville's only appearance here this year—and should draw a big crowd. Petes go to Lindsay tonight.

* * * * * *

Our three minor hockey squads came through their first OMHA playdown rounds last eve in Lindsay with flying colors. The ice wasn't the best and the tussles somewhat rugged—and Lindsay teams played harder at home than they did here—but the PMHA-ers earned their dukes. Bantam Marines won their round 9-4 with a 4-2 victory on goals by Frizzelle, Kearns, Turner and Holden, as Strickland, McGillen and Kearns shone. Midget Clapper's took a 4-3 verdict to sweep their series 13-4 with Pammett scoring two and Stewart and Floyd one each. Goalie Bob Curtis sparkled in a tight tilt. Juvenile Trojans triumphed 4-2 o'er Lindsay for a 13-3 round victory with Jensen, Doris, Jones and Robinson the snipers. Albert Watkins coaches Marines, Doug Mortimer handles Clapper's, and Johnny Godfrey pilots Trojans.

Riley's Rolling Along

Riley's climbed into a first-place tie with Shockey's in the keen men's City Bowling League race last p.m., with Fashion-Craft close behind and Ostrander's much in the hunt, too. Riley's rolled high pinnage of 3622 and top single of 1269. Jack Wade led the individual trundlers with a neat 375 singleton, and W. Martin had high cross of 835. Quite a few of them rolled over 300 in the singles division and better than 800 in threesomes. It's a sizzling scrap down the stretch now in this classy bowling loop as the lead see-saws back and forth.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

Our juniors playing up at the Guelph boys' open bonspiel, on Thursday, won their first game 13-2 from Port Elgin, and now the story comes from Guelph. It seems there was a banquet given to all the boys by the Guelph Club and one of our young chaps, after playing only one 10-end game, was so awfully tired he couldn't attend the banquet.

Another good story came to us lately. It seems that during last Saturday's bonspiel one rink had won their first two games, each by a good score and as the third game was about half over the skip said to one of his players, "How do you like being on a good rink?" He replied: "I don't know, I have never been on one."

Cobourg Girls Gain Win Over The Togs

Cobourg colleens took a 22-18 exhibition basketball victory over Towne Togs in Cobourg last evening. The same teams meet here tomorrow night. The smaller gym bothered the Peterborough girls, but the passing of the homesters also bothered them, and Togs were caught flat-footed down the floor of a number of ocasions. All of Hy Smith's squad worked hard and it was a good game, with no particular player outstanding for the losers. A. Dufton led the attack for Cobourg, and the whole team clicked well. The teams:

Towpe Togs: B. Deyell, J. Castle 2, J. Dunk 3, D. Callan 1, J. Plunkett 4, J. Caverley, S. Curtis 2, E. Whittaker, J. Vass 2.

Wings Bounce Chicago 4-2 As Leafs Wallop Habs 4-1

By The Canadian Press

While all other clubs have played a little better or worse than .500 hockey all season, Detroit Red Wings are the one team in the National Hockey League with a healthy won-lost record. The rampaging Wings bounced Chicago again Thursday night, 4-2, and now lead second-place Boston by 12 points with 25 victories and four tries in 44 games.

Lindsay Thursday night connected once as the Wings downed the Hawks for the second time in two nights. Wednesday night he scored three times.

In the only other fixture Thursday night, Toronto Maple Leafs handed the hated Montreal Canadiens a 4-1 licking right in the Habitants own back yard. The triumph moved Toronto into fourth place ahead of the slumping Hawks.

Detroit had an easy time beating Hawks before 15,931 Chicago Stadium fans Sid Abel, Gordie Howe, Bud Poile and Lindsay punched home tallies for the Wings before Jim Conacher and Gus Bodnar connected for the Hawks in the final eight minutes to rob Harry Lumley of his fourth shutout.

Leafs Look Better

The Leafs looked better than they have all season in chalking up their impressive victory over the deflated Habitants.

The game was costly for the Habs who lost the services of winger Norm Dussault and defenceman Ken Reardon through injury. Reardon hurt his shoulder muscles and will be sidelined for weeks, while Dussault wrenched a knee and will miss the next game at least.

The Leafs grabbed a two-goal lead in the opening frame on a pair of goals by Max Bentley and coasted home on that margin. After a scoreless middle session, Harry Watson set Toronto three-up before Maurice Richard hit the target for Canadiens. Joe Klukay put the issue beyond doubt with a goal in the 17th minute of the period.

Those old rivals, Wild Bill Ezinicki of Toronto and Montreal's Rocket Richard put on a little boxing show for the 11,226 Forum fans. This time Richard got the decision.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

At Halifax, a Halifax Curling Club rink skipped by H. P. Webb Thursday night won the right to represent Nova Scotia in the Dominion Championship Bonspiel at Hamilton.

Running up an early lead, Webb's four defeated a quartet from the Halifax Mayflower Club led by Hugh Little, 11-6.

Veteran Dave (Sweeney) Shriner, star leftwinger of Regina Caps of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League, will be out of action for at least three weeks, it was learned Thursday night at Regina. The former N. H. L. star crashed into the goal post in last night's game against Calgary and suffered a cracked shoulder bone.

Kenny McKenzie, owner of the New Westminster Royals in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, has refused $50,000 for his club. Frank Welters, President of a Vancouver construction company, disclosed Thursday at Vancouver that he had made the offer, first $40,000 and then $50,000 cash, but was refused.

Lloyd Mangrum, shooting one of his best rounds of 1949, Thursday took the first-round lead in the $10,000 Tucson Ariz., open golf tournament with a six under par 64. One stroke behind were Chick Harbert, Eric Monti and Johnny Bulla. Within easy striking distance were 11 contenders with cards of 66.

The W. R. Cruikshank rink, representing the Charlottetown Curling Club, Thursday night won the Prince Edward Island curling title at Charlottetown and the right to enter Dominion championship at Hamilton.

The Cruikshank rink made a clean sweep of the Provincial series, defeating the Dr. W. MacDonald rink 11-7 in the final. It was the fifth time Cruikshank skipped a rink to the Provincial title.

From Prague comes word that Jaroslav Drobny, Czechoslovakia's versatile tennis and skating star, will not play in the coming World Amateur Ice Hockey Championships, despite pressure from some Communist quarters. The official list of 17 players to represent Czechoslovakia in the hockey tournament to be held in Sweden was announced Thursday night and Drobny's names was not on it. His presence on the squad had been demanded by some Communist sports editors, who felt the Davis Cup star should be doing more for his country than playing tennis.

Casey Stengel, new manager of the New York Yankees, said Thursday at New York that Boston Red Sox and not the defending champion Cleveland Indians, are the team to beat for the 1949 American League pennant. Furthermore, the outspoken Stengel said his own Yankees are potentially as good, if not better than the tribe.

Allan Stanley of Timmins, rookie defenceman for New York Rangers, may return to action in the National Hockey League Saturday or Sunday, a club spokesman said Thursday at New York. Stanley, who has been the bulwark of the New York defence until recently, was sidelined with a sprained ankle Jan.22. Coach Lynn Patrick said he would be taken on a road trip which carries the Rangers to Toronto Saturday, Chicago Sunday and Detroit next Wednesday.

PMHA Squads Victorious Over Lindsay

Three Peterborough Minor Hockey Association teams survived the first round of OMHA playdowns as they cleaned up their provincial series last evening in Lindsay. The bantam Marines defeated Lindsay 4-2 to take their series 9-4, the midget Clapper's edged their Scugog rivals 4-3 for a 13-4 round victory, and the juvenile Trojans took a 4-2 triumph to sweep their series 13-3

The Marines, coached by Albert Watkins—with Ed Woodcock aiding—turned in a neat effort in the bantam battle. The work both ways of McGillen, Strickland and Kearns was extra good all the way through. Frizelle, Kearns, Turner and Holden did the sniping for the visiting squad. This team will probably meet either Port Hope or Trenton in the next playdown round. The teams:

Marines: Goal, Delahaye; defence, Burns and McCormack; centre, McGrath; wings, Strickland and Frizzelle; alternates, Ball, Lilly, McGillen, Gurner, Holden, McDougall and Kearns.

Lindsay: Goal, R. Truax; defence, Graham and Pullen; centre, Hutton; wings, Burns and O'Neill; alternates, Barkwell, Hennessey, Dickery, J. Truax, Sinclair, Stratham, Finley and Williams.

Midget Tilt

Doug Mortimer's midget Clapper's had quite a battle before winning out, the ice being slow and the game rather rough. Stewart, Pammett and Floyd did the countering for the visitors, with the whole squad turning in a good effort against an improved Lindsay team. The victors will probably meet Port Hope, Whitby or Belleville next.

The teams:

Clapper's: Goal, Curtis, defence, Stewart and Reynolds; centre, Pammett; wings, Scriver and Sullivan; alternates, Murdock, Seabrook, Wood, Floyd, Kimball, Clapper, Mongraw and Ferguson.

Lindsay: Goal, Foshay; defence, D. Magee and N. Magee; centre, Lewis; wings, Wallace and Bevin; alternates, Reesor, Cain, Wakelin, Stockler, Bonisteel, Dawson, Logan and Johnston.

Juvenile Fray

The Trojans, coached by Johnny Godfrey and managed by Ed Grose, also ran into a rugged session before emerging on top. Jensen got the first marker in a 1-1 first frame, and Doris gave them a 2-1 edge in the second. It was tied up in the third with Trojans often short-handed for penalties, but Jones and Robinson tallied late in the game for the decision. The team now awaits word on the next round. The teams:

Trojans: Goal, Batley; defence, Armstrong and Bigford; centre, Jensen; wings, Doris and G. Jones, alternates, B. Jones, Fowler, B. Robinson, G. Robinson, Douglas and Buckton.

Lindsay: Goal, Fitsell; defence, Lucas and Stewart; centre, Caley; wings, Burns and Sinclair; alternates, Greg, Walling, Beliamy, Stratham, Butts, Quibell, Hickson, Spratt and B. Fitsell.

Find Sweeps' Tickets

CARLETON PLACE, Feb. 4—(CP)—Ontario Provincial Police said Thursday night they found a large number of allegedly counterfeit sweepstakes tickets in an anti-gambling raid here Wednesday. Police said the bogus tickets on the Grand National and the Kentucky Derbies as well as 65 books of Irish Sweepstakes tickets were found in the home of K. D. McKittrick. He will appear in court Feb. 17 on a charge of running a lottery.

MARMORA, Feb. 4—(ENS)—Marmora Juveniles were at home to Campbellford Juveniles on Thursday evening in the first of a home and home series in OMHA play-offs Marmora won by the score of 7-2. 1948 Immigrants Number 125,414

OTTAWA, Feb. 4—(CP)—Resources Minister MacKinnon announced that 125,414 immigrants, including 46,057 from the United Kingdom and 7,361 from the United States, entered Canada in 1948. The 1947 total was 64,127.

Justice Minister Garson said the Dominion understands the Prince Edward Island government plans to amend the much-criticized labor bill which outlaws unions with national or international affiliations.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the Agricultural Prices Support Act has been continued in force by government order to March 31, 1950. A further extension will be considered before that time, as provided under the act itself.

The Senate heard Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, charge that $500,000,000 had been "stolen" from western farmers under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement and urge that it should be paid back by the rest of Canada.

Rodney Adamson (PC-York West) criticized the government for "tying" Canada's currency to that of the United States, terming it a "dangerous" action, and urged that the Foreign Exchange Control Board Act be allowed to lapse on its expiry date of March 31.

Dominion-Provincial Set-up Under Fire Again In House

OTTAWA, Feb. 4—(CP).—The Commons swung from trade to the St. Lawrence waterways scheme yesterday but, try as it did, it couldn't get away from the vexing, clinging question of Dominion-Provincial relations. Swiftly becoming a bat-ball between the Liberal and Progressive Conservative ranks, the constitutional issue was tossed into the lumbering Throne Speech debate by Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) and then was flipped back to the Opposition benches by David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina).

Mr. Fleming, stepping along the Progressive Conservative line, took another swing at the Government, charging that Prime Minister St. Laurent apparently has made up his mind not to call any more Dominion-Provincial conferences.

Mr. Croll, pursuing the government's tactics, levelled the customary blast that Ontario wrecked the 1946 Dominion-Provincial conference with its attitude of "you must pay my price or else I won't play". Ontario must not "squeeze the last dollar out of the rest of Canada".

Reach Agreement

But if the government and opposition could not find agreement on that question, they reached it in another quarter—the more solid substance of the projected St. Lawrence scheme.

John R. MacNicol (PC-Toronto Davenport) and Rev. Dan McIvor (L-Fort William) joined in the hope that the waterway and power projects embodies in it will be carried out.

Other speakers included Robert Fair (SC-Battle River), Rodney Adamson (PC-York West), Joseph Bradette (L-Cochrane), F. S. Zaplitny (CCF-Dauphin) and Herve Brunelle (L-Champlain).

In the Commons, Mr. NacNicol expressed doubt that the United States Congress would pass legislation for power development of the St. Lawrence alone, as suggested last week by Prime Minister St. Laurent. It would have to be power and navigation together, not one or the other alone.

Mr. MacIvor said the people of the Head-of-the-Lakes regard development of the St. Lawrence seaway and power projects as "absolute necessities." President Truman was doing all he could to see that they were brought to fruition.

He called, too, for reduction in taxes and the inauguration of a national contributory old-age pension plan.

Two Languages Said Necessary

OTTAWA, Feb. 4—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent Thursday night declared the strongest safeguard of both English and French speaking rights in Canada were "the good faith, the mutual tolerance and the common understanding which are in the highest glory of most Canadians of both races and both languages."

In a broadcast address, Mr. St. Laurent referred to attacks on him for his interpretation of the British North America Act indicating his belief that legality of French as an official language in parliament could be ended by a majority in parliament.

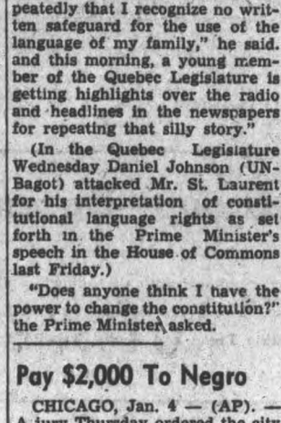
"I know the people of my province have been told and told repeatedly that I recognize no written safeguard for the use of the language of my family," he said, and this morning, a young member of the Quebec Legislature is getting highlights over the radio and headlines in the newspapers for repeating that silly story."

(In the Quebec Legislature Wednesday Daniel Johnson (UN-Bagot) attacked Mr. St. Laurent for his interpretation of constitutional language rights as set forth in the Prime Minister's speech in the House of Commons last Friday.)

"Does anyone think I have the power to change the constitution?" the Prime Minister asked.

Pay $2,000 To Negro

CHICAGO, Jan. 4 — (AP). — A jury Thursday ordered the city of Chicago to pay a negro $2,000 because it failed to protect him from mob violence in a race flare-up. The jury awarded the damages to Kenneth Kennedy, a 24-year-old law student. He was injured two years ago in an attack by a crowd of white persons when several negro families attempted to move into a housing project built for both whites and negroes in a white district.



CHARLES M. TAYLOR, a student at Trinity College School, Port Hope, has been chosen to represent Canadian secondary school boys at an international forum in England organized by the Council for Education in World Citizenship and the London Daily Mail. It will be held next month. Mr. Taylor is a resident of Montreal.

Small Ice Rinks Cramping Barbara Ann Scott's Style

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—(CP).—If Barbara Ann Scott were the complaining type, her big beef these days probably would be the shortage of ice. That's the one angle of professional figure-skating that has temporarily — but not seriously — cramped her style.

At the Chicago theatre, for instance where the Olympic and world champion starts a two-week engagement tomorrow she'll perform on a "rink" 20 feet by 24 feet. It's smaller than the tiny 30-by-40 slab of ice she had for her pro debut at the Roxy Theatre in New York.

New Challenge

But the cramped quarters present a new challenge which she says she enjoys—even if it does mean plenty of hard work.

Osborn Colson of Toronto, former Canadian champion who up the choreography for her Chicago show and put her through a stiff one-week rehearsal here, says she's doing fine.

Her daily practice sessions here lasted 1½ hours. They were in a roped-off corner of the big Chevy Chase ice palace, home of Washington Figure Skating Club. Colson is the club's pro.

Old Friends

Miss Scott and Colson are old friends, although the teacher-pupil set-up fairly new. She has taken individual lessons from him in the past but the Washington routine was the first time Colson trained her for a specific preformance.

Judging from the favorable reaction of the Washington railbirds, Miss Scott's Chicago show should be a hit.

After the Chicago theatre show comes a role in a charity attraction sponsored by a Chicago newspaper (Sun-Times). Miss Scott was enthusiastic about that, too, although she had no details.

"I'll be on a big rink," she smiled.

Library Board Frowns On Lending Records

W. L. Graff, chief librarian, asked the Library Board to approve a gramophone record circulating library to be operated at the Public Library at the annual Board meeting on Thursday. The request, which Mr. Graff said followed inquiries from many members of the public library using the library's book service, was refused by the Board.

W. A. Richardson thought that if people wanted to hear records they would purchase them for themselves. Mr. Graff thought there were a number of people who could not afford to buy their own records, but Mr. Richardson thought there was inclined to be an overestimation of what people could not afford. Mr. Graff reiterated that teh people of Peterborough already knew that the library possessed 200 records and were asking for them to be circulated.

Two Cents a Day

Mr. Graff explained that if the scheme were brought into operation, records could be loaned at the rate of two cents a day with liability for breakages and scratches falling on the borrower. He said he thought Peterborough was the only city of its size in Ontario which did not operate a record circulating library.

The Board declined to build up a collection of paintings by Canadian artists and a sum of $200 was included in the 1949 estimates to be presented to the Council for purchase of the first picture.

Chairman Keith Wightman was unable to tell the Board the date of the opening of the proposed branch library on Park St. S., although he intimated that it would probably be open before the spring. Staffing arrangements were discussed in detail and F. Hickey said chairs and other furniture was being purchased.

Estimates up $500

The year's estimates for the new branch were $6,300 and the figure for the main library was $31500, an increase of $500 on last year's figure.

Salaries were estimated at $24,300; $8,000 was required for books, $600 for periodicals, $200 for book binding, $100 for gramophone records and $200 for art exhibits.

$1,200 was estimated for maintenance of the library building, $750 for fuel, $400 for furniture, $350 for light and water and $100 for taxes.

Keith Wightman succeeded J. C. Rutherford as chairman. Committees were elected as follows, the chairman leading: Library committee, the Rev. E. C. Moore, J. C. Rutherford and A. E. Borland; finance committee, W. A. Richardson, W. C. Ackerman, and J. R. Marshall; property committee, F. Hickey, E. C. Moore and A. E. Borland.

CAR AND TRUCK COLLIDE

A truck driven by Hubert J. Mullins, 137 Lake St., and a car driven by Patrick J. Ryan, R.R. 1, Douro, collided at Hunter and Sheridan Sts., about 7.30 Thursday night. Damage to each vehicle was about $60. PC Sherman Keliele investigated.

Community Fund Officials Name Canvassing Teams

This year the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund objective has been raised to $75,000—a 25 per cent. increase over that of 1948. The ninth annual canvass will take place during the campaign week, February 25 to March 4.

Additional beneficiaries and increased cost of maintaining the various agencies included in the Fund are the chief reasons given for the higher objective. Last year $10,000 was taken out of the reserve, thus boosting the figure to $70,00C, but in 1949 the reserve will not be drawn on.

Ross Dobbin once again heads the committee as chairman, and he had divided the city into three teams for effective canvassing: Ian McRae, chairman of Industrial; Mrs. W. E. Fanning, chairman of Women's Division; and W. C. (Chris) Hughes, chairman of the Retail.

Find Cash Box Of Theatre On Parking Lot

The cash box of the Regent Theatre, which has been missing since January 21, has been located and turned over to city police. The theft of nearly two weeks ago included more than $4,000 worth of theatre tickets and $200 cash as well as supplies of passes. The tickets and passes have been found to be intact. The cloth bag containing the cash was found lying beside the box, empty.

Harold Minion of the tire department of J. K. Hughes Ltd., Water St. made the discovery shortly after noon hour on Thursday. He found a cardboard carton containing the metal strong-box under an old truck which has been parked in the parking lot at the rear of the garage.

Turned over to city police, it was found that the large rolls of tickets had not been disturbed. Gordon Miller, manager of the Paramount Theatre who is now handling the business for the Regent, identified the tickets, which are identical with all the theatres of the chain.

From checking with office records of the missing tickets, it has been found that there was none taken.

Truck Struck By Train

A Toronto delivery truck, driven by Burton Rose, 15 Merritt St., Toronto, was badly damaged Thursday afternoon when it was struck by a CNR train. The accident happened about four o'clock at the crossing near McDonnel and Bethune Sts. There were no injuries.

Rose told police that he did not see the train in time to stop on the icy street. Damage to the truck charge of the train was J. Graham of Lindsay. Engine casing was damaged on the train and a cylinder cock broken.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

TAXI-TRUCK TANGLE

About 4.20 p.m. Thursday, a truck collided at Simcoe and Queen Sts. The truck was driven by Joseph T. Tully, R.R. 11, Peterborough. Taxi driver was Austin B. Flagler, 894 Western Ave. Bumpers, fenders and running boards were damaged.

MARGARINE SOLD OUT

Margarine counters in city stores today bear "temporarily out of stock" notice. Demand has been heavy and store keepers, who were a little reluctant to buy large stocks before they saw what kind of reception the butter substitute would have, are unable to meet the present demand.

HIT BY PUCK

Miss Phyllis Thackeray, 465 Stewart St. was hit in the face by a deflected puck during an Industrial League game in the Civic Arena Thursday night. She has a small cut under her right eye and a badly swollen nose. It was believed at first that her nose was broken but the doctor denied this.

VANDALS AT ARENA

Damage estimated between $60 and $75 was done by "playful" individuals to the corner upstairs dressing-room in the Civic Arena on Tuesday night. They broke windows, ripped hangers off the walls, and broke the benches. The vandals even tried to break the toilet bowl but didn't succeed.

FOX HUNT ARRANGED

Plans are complete for the second fox hunt Saturday. Hunters will meet at the Charlotte parking lot at eight a.m. for briefing. The heavy snowfall will make beating the bush and fields somewhat laborious, but the snow is not heavy enough to cause much difficulty. Those who wish to use snowshoes would be well-advised to do so, and for the others the usual high boots or four buckle galoshes will be satisfactory.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

Rev. Father Killen celebrated requiem mass in memory of Mrs. Wm. O'Toole at the Church of the Immaculate Conception Wednesday. The funeral prayers at St. Peter's Cemetery were offered by Rev. Father Greenan. Pall-bearers were six grandsons of Mrs. O'Toole: Bernard, Francis, William, Cyril, Edward and Lawrence, all of Peterborough. The funeral was from the home of her son, Michael O'Toole, 128 Sophia St.

FIND MISSING MAN DEAD

The body of Peter J. McNulty, elderly resident of Johnson's Corners who has been missing since last October, was found this week in the bush five miles from Queensboro, which is nine miles from Madoc. Two woodsmen made the find. It is not expected that an inquest will be held. It is believed that the elderly man collapsed during a lonely walk.

GIVES NO SIGNAL

Quick movements by Ivan Fletcher, Keene bus driver, this morning prevented a possible serious accident at George and Lansdowne streets. A car ahead of Fletcher driving west on Lansdowne suddenly turned into the Exhibition grounds without any signal of the left turn being made. Fletcher had blinked his lights when at Lock St. indicating that he was going to pass. The bus was swerved off the road and stopped about five feet from the Exhibition gates. The driver of the car never stopped.

Children's Breakfasts Lack Vitamins

School Survey Of Breakfast Habits Uncovers Unusual Information

Results of a survey of the breakfast habits of 2,000 Peterborough school children were given Thursday night, showing deficiencies in several major nutritional factors. Dr. Ross Matthews was guest speaker at a meeting of the Y's Men's Club presented by the Peterborough Branch of the Health League of Canada. The survey, in which children throughout city had reported their breakfasts for one week, was conducted as a project of the Peterborough Branch of the League.

Dr. Matthews gave the report on the basis of the five basic food requirements—fruit juices, cereals, bread, milk and bacon and eggs.

Too Few Had Juice

It was found that only 31 per cent. of the children had juices for their breakfasts—showing that "diets in Peterborough on the whole are lacking in Vitamin C." He said that the report had a wide spread from school to school — ranging from more than 50 down to 20 per cent.—and reflected general economic divisions.

Of cereals, 68 per cent of the breakfasts included that item. The reports do not give a breakdown of the kind of cereals, said the doctor, adding that there was a wide spread of the value of cereals. Cooked cereals have the highest B1 content, with the lowest to dry cereals, some of which are almost devoid of that vitamin.

A "glaring deficiency" showed up in the report on bread. Although 78 per cent of the children have bread for breakfast, Dr. Matthews further broke this down into: 5 per cent eat whole wheat bread, 5 per cent eat Canada-approved or equivalent and 90 per cent have bread made from purified flour, unenriched with the natural food values of the wheat, said the speaker, or from the newly developed fortified white flour.

Seventy-two per cent of the children reported milk as a part of their breakfast, which is fairly good. As the "best single food," he said that milk was valuable. However, he deplored the slogans which stress richness in milk.

"Skim milk, nutritionally, has the same value as whole milk." Cream is relatively unimportant, he said.

Bacon and eggs were listed by 21 per cent. Mr. Matthews said he was not greatly concerned about this, as the item was probably made up in other ways during the day.

One Third Affective

Discussing the subject of nutrition generally, the speaker said that the problem of obvious nutritional diseases as such has been fairly well wiped out. The problem now is "sub-clinical conditions"—people living below par, with lessened mental and physical energy, less resistance to disease. It has been estimated that one third of the population is eating at a standard which does not make for optimum health.

Referring to recent group tests in Toronto in which records of ordinary diets and nutritional computed diets were kept, he gave results which showed startling differences to the advantage of those taking the supplementary supplied to their diets which gave a full nutritional value.

"In these cases, these people had no obvious clinical deficiencies—but the lack showed up in their functions as reflected by the records."

Because of the refining processes of our modern foods, he said, two-thirds of our diet is almost "entirely lacking in fortifying elements." People are not having the right things to eat.

Canada has been fortunate in being in a position to make up these losses from natural foods from other sources, mainly animal products. This is wasteful, said Dr. Matthews. Wheat and other grains are the most economical means of getting calories.

A Tragic Condition

"We grow our grains, take all the essential food values from them, then get it back in the most expensive way. On a global scale, this is tragic."

The doctor, who is a child specialist, also discussed in some details the eating problems with children. Speaking of seeming lack of appetite and thin children, he said:

"Parents don't understand this fluctuation of appetite which goes with growth... it is the child's reluctance to adopt the national adult habit of overeating. So we roll up our sleeves and go to work... tickle the babies, trick them into opening their mouths, then pop the food in... bribe the older children to eat... meal times for many children become long, unhappy experiences... appetite and the joy of eating should be natural and unforced."

He referred to an experiment in Chicago in which a group of children were given their own choices of natural foods and permitted to take the kind and amount they wanted. The diets chosen by these healthy children was checked against nutritional standards and were found to be very close.

"In other words, the kids knew what they needed all the time."

However, this applies only to natural foods and the foods in our pantries today carry many refined and processed foods.

The doctor said that parents should control the types of food which are offered to the children, making it mainly natural food, but let them have their choice of it. There should be no feeding problem.

Let Children Choose

"It is our own fault. We have set up food diets and said, 'This is what your child must eat.' What we should do is give a list of foods and say, 'This is from which your child must eat'." Leave the children alone to eat as much or as little as they select.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, Peterborough medical officer of health, who thanked the speaker, commented on the report. Parts of the deficiencies found, he said, should make the city "ashamed."

"This situation is due either to ignorance or indifference. I hope it's ignorance because we can correct it. If it's indifference, the job is harder. But whatever the cause, our job is to correct it."

He expressed his appreciation for the work of the Peterborough branch of the league.

Y's Men president, William Moorhead, and George Barns, president of the Peterborough branch, were co-chairmen of the meeting. About 50 members of the league were guests of the club. Jack Stuart led a sing-song and Quirt McKinney played the piano.

Veteran Donors Rally To Aid; Newcomers Shy

Most of the people registering as blood donors in the current Red Cross campaign are people who have already given blood, and the number of new registrations in Peterborough has been disappointing so far, the Red Cross reports.

In an expanding city such as Peterborough, where there has been a large influx of population in recent years, there are thousands of people who have never given blood, and it is chiefly to these people that the Red Cross is appealing.

This week 200 have registered at the Red Cross rooms on George and Brock Sts. and registration is going on in eight industries in the city. The Red Cross rooms are open between 2.30 and 5.30 and 7-9 p.m. today and Saturday, and in the afternoon of Monday, Tuesday and Thursday next week to enable people not covered by industrial and business campaigns to register.

There will be no house-to-house canvass, but almost every section of the employed community is being approached.

333 Foxes January Bag Matt Didero Gets 2 Wolves

Local hunters still seem eager for that fox bounty. On Thursday 86 pelts, a record number for any week since the bounty became effective, were brought into the office of the county clerk and treasurer.

This makes a total of 333 pelts which have been identified and marked and on which the $3 bounty has been paid since January 1.

First claim for wolves since before Christmas was made this week Matthew Didero of Patterson St. bagged two while looking for foxes in Otonabee.

Leading marksman was Don Taylor of Curve Lake, who shot 12 foxes; second was Mark Lonsberry of Dummer, who shot nine and trapped two.

Belmont had the highest number of wolves this week with 20; it was followed by Otonabee with 17 and Douro and Harvey with 16 each.

Those claiming a bounty on the latest bag of foxes were: Roy Armour, Peterborough, three shot in Otonabee and two in North Monaghan; Herbert Foster, Smith, one shot in North Monaghan; J. McIntyre, Peterborough, seven shot in Otonabee; Earl J. Pollock, Belmont, five trapped in Belmont; Ted Watson, Havelock, seven shot in Belmont; H. W. Kennedy, Havelock, six shot in Belmont; Vincent Hickey, Douro, three shot on the 7th Concession of Douro; Gordon Manley, Peterborough, one shot near Stewart's Hall, Otonabee; Richard McMahon, Douro, one shot on the 9th Concession of Douro; Mark Lonsberry, Dummer, nine shot, two trapped, in Dummer and Douro; Garfield Dunford, Douro, one trapped near the 4th Concession of Douro; John S. Hicks, Peterborough, two shot in Douro; William E. Chapman, Otonabee, two shot in Otonabee; Guy Minnie, Belmont, two shot, two trapped in Belmont; Leo Collins, Peterborough, one shot near Buckhorn in Harvey; Matthew Didero, Peterborough, four foxes and two wolves shot in Otonabee; Don Taylor, Curve Lake, seven shot in Harvey, five in Smith; Thomas Traynor, Harvey, eight shot in Harvey; Michael Mahoney, Chandos, one shot in Chandos; Sampson Taylor, Peterborough, four shot in Douro.

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 4 (ENS)—Farmers do not receive adequate payment in the marketing of swine it was decided at a recent meeting of the Bailieboro Farm Forum.

Pigs are slaughtered, graded and weighed by the packing company, and then the farmers has to accept whatever the packers decide to send him, the forum decided.

The forum agreed that co-operatives, if properly managed, are good.

After the discussion progressive euchre was played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Howard Fair and Harry Campbell.

Lloyd Jackson was chairman of the forum which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis. Next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell and H. C. Howson will be chairman.

THEY'RE SINGLE, TOO—This group of single girls is part of a crowd of 360 immigrants who arrived in Montreal recently. The group includes domestics and garment workers who will find employment in Canada, some in Quebec province. The above group was made up mostly of Estonians, Latvians and Ukrainians. Father S. Frederickson of the United Lutheran Church of Montreal (centre) was on hand to meet the immigrants.

Labels Seaway Plan MadSocialisticScheme

ALBANY, NY, Feb. 4 (CP). — A Republican Assemblyman on Thursday labelled the proposed $1,000,000,000 St Lawrence seaway "a mad Socialistic scheme of the new deal vintage."

Wilson C. Van Duzer said in a statement that the "usefulness of our railroads, our ports, our barge canals are being placed in jeopardy by this plan to create a tax-free political enterprise of doubtful economic value."

President Truman has asked Congress to approve the combined power and navigation development in the international rapids of the St. Lawrence River.

Taxi Strike Delayed

Oshawa's School Estimates Increase Tax Rate One Mill

OSHAWA, Feb. 4 —Members of the Oshawa Board of Education this week approved a record-breaking budget calling for an expenditure of $611,164.50, an increase of more than $36,000 over 1984 expenditures, and almost $60,000 more than the 1948 budget.

Of this total, only $373,842.91 is to be collected through the municipal tax levy, the remainder being paid through provincial grants and other receipts. This total compares with $361,112.57 received from the municipal levy in 1948. On the basis of the 1948 assessment, this would mean an increase in the school rate from 13.47 to 14.69 mills.

Expenditures Over $600,000

Of the total expenditures of over $600,000, $184,117.80 will be taken up by the expenses of Oshawa Public Schools, and $107,627.70 for training through the Vocational School at the Collegiate.

Over ninety thousand dollars will be raised through the tax levy to support the collegiate, thirty-five thousand dollars for the vocational school, and almost two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for Public School use.

Business Administrator W. Gordon Bunker revealed that increases in the cost of materials had made necessary many of the of the raised estimates for the department. One portion of the estimate in which this increase was most felt was the estimated cost of replacement and new equipment for the schools. Although the budget provided only $3,540 for equipment, it was revealed that this item had cost the board $13,878.20, not including the cost of new building equipment, which is provided for in debenture funds. The 1949 budget allows only $6,650 for this item.

Teachers' salaries, always the largest item on the estimates, have again shown an increase above 1948's expenditure. This year's budget provides for salaries totalling $451,232.50, compared with an expenditure of $389,688.92 in 1948. This figure covers the salaries of principals, teachers, officials and office staff, departmental examiners, and substitute teachers. The salaries of janitors and caretakers are not included in the estimate.

White Slave Racket

BERNE, Feb. 4 — (Reuters)—The Swiss government Thursday night issued a warning to Swiss girls to beware of white slave traffickers, particularly of gangs operating to South America. "Many cases have occurred of Swiss girls who respond to newspaper advertisements accepting jobs as secretaries, nurses or maids, being taken abroad, particularly to South America, and being delivered over to prostitution," the announcement said

LONDON, Feb. 4 (Reuters)—Harriet Cohen, one of Britain's best known pianists, revealed to-day that an accident to her hand may keep her from the concert platform forever. Soon after she returned here from a successful tour of the United States and Canada last spring, she fell with a tray of glasses. Glass penetrated her right wrist.

Recognizes Writing

FULTON, Mo., Feb. 4 (AP).—A mother's insistence that she recognized the handwriting of her long-lost son led to the discovery that a patient in the State Hospital here is a Kansan declared legally dead in 1932. Hospital Superintendent W. J. Cremer said the man, listed on hospital records as Ray Howard, had been identified by a relative as Bryan T. Grove, 52, of Arkansas City, Kas. Grove disappeared mysteriously in Denoya, Okla., May 25, 1925.

Betty Hutton Will Stick To Violent Roles

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4 (AP)—It looks as though Betty Hutton will stick to the violent screen roles that shot her to fame.

Right now Betty is getting the full treatment in "Red, Hot and Blue"—pie-throwing and everything. Despite all the vehicles that have been announced, her next likely will be "Little Boy Blue," a night club yarn. Only other set for the cast as yet is Billy DeWolfe.

There is good reason for Betty's hewing to knockabout roles. "Dream Girl," in which she played a wistful Walter Mitty, was not among her best-selling pictures.

People's Plans

Montgomery Clift still has no picture plans. He is in Switzerland on a vacation. He is reported mulling "Lorna Doone" for Edward Small in England, but nothing has been set. At any rate, Hollywood won't be seeing Monty for some time, unfortunately.

Peter Lawford will take his father and mother to England this summer, for their first return to the homeland since they left in 1937. They will leave as soon as Pete finishes "Storm Over Vienna."

Veterans' Hospitals Subject Of 40 Films

TORONTO, Feb. 4—(CP)—Cameras at work in the wards and operating rooms of Toronto's two veterans' hospitals, Christie Street and Sunnybrook, have turned out 40 feature-length films depicting the techniques of surgeons and doctors in their fight against pain and disease.

The films, many of them in color, have been circulated in Europe, Africa, South America, Australia and the United States.

One film, in wide demand by overseas doctors, shows methods used in treating and rehabilitating paraplegics—veterans who have lost the use of arms or legs.

The team of photographers, Frank Hall, Len Quartermain and Bill Methven, were in the photographic service of the RCAF during the Second World War.

Red Political Interference May Wreck Farm Program

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—(AP). — American scientists say the Russian agriculture program may be damaged seriously because Communist politicians have proclaimed ideas about breeding. The central committee of the All-Russian Communist Party, a political and not a scientific group, apparently has taken sides in a scientific argument that has raged in Russia since about 1936.

It claims Russian scientists have not been giving enough importance to the part that environment — living conditions — play in creating new and better varieties of plants and animals.

S. Kaftanov, Minister of Higher Education in Russia, wrote in the government newspaper Izvestia that scientists and teachers will have to ignore the old set of theories and adopt the new ones.

If the Communist theory had been applied in Canada and the United States only a few years ago it would have prevented the development of hybrid seed corn, which boosted corn production about one-fifth and virtually all recent improvements that have been made in seeds and breeding animals. These include new disease-resistant wheat and improved dairy cattle.

The Russians, however, say they have produced wheat that matures early by subjecting the seeds, before they are planted, to cold. They say this produced wheat plants made to order for northern Russian regions where the growing season is short.

American scientists agree this can be done.

Teachers' Choir Delights Audience

By HAZEL PAUL

A group of Toronto men, all secondary and public school teachers, who have earned a high reputation in Canada and the States as an excellent male voice choir, visited Peterborough on Wednesday to sing in the Collegiate auditorium. Their concert, which has long been awaited with enthusiasm, proved to be one of the musical highlights of the city this winter.

The choir, which started in 1942 with only 14 voices, has developed into a fine group of accomplished singers whose love of choral music radiated a keen sense of the joys which only a competent choir can bring.

Unaccompanied male voice singing can be the finest form of musical art and the three unaccompanied items in this concert were gems rarely within the reach of Peterborough music-lovers.

When Fierce Was the Wild Billow, with its brisk, awakening melody was sung, the audience became well aware of the calibre of this noted choir. The skillful treatment of expression was masterful and was an excellent example of perfect co-ordination between conductor and choir.

Different Technique

The American song, Kentucky Babe, required a different technic which was not beyond the reach of the singers and for sheer beauty of tone and expression, the lullaby Sweet and Low was an outstanding performance.

The conductor, Eldon Brethour, Director of Music of Toronto public and secondary schools, and the choir were obviously in high spirits and they shared their joy with several hundreds in the audience.

Such carefree songs as Little Jack Horner, Jingle Bells and We Went to the Animal Fair brought some lively moments in a program which demanded great versatility.

Two groups of piano duets were played by Gwen Craw and Mary Baker, Peterborough pianists of exceptional ability. It is all too seldom that these pianists, living in the very midst of a city which has few opportunities of hearing live performances of good music, appear on the public platform. Wednesday's audience gave ample proof of a great demand for more of this type of entertainment.

Piano accompaniment for the choir was provided by Alec Turner.

The concert was presented by Grade 13 of Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School, and Henry Dinsdale, president of the Students' Council, extended a welcome.

THEY GOT THE DECISION . . . and the judge got the hugs in Huntington Park, Calif., after the district attorney decided to withdraw prosecution of the first "test case" against so-called "Pyramid Clubs". Judge Stanley Moffatt who is being embraced by a club fan here, also appeared as a witness in the case, which involved money raising by alleged "chain-letter" methods.

Farm Frolic Big Success

Farmers were "king" for a night as Trinity Baby Band Mother's Auxiliary entertained their husbands at a most enjoyable party in the church basement Wednesday. The affair was in the form of a farm frolic and guests really followed the suggestion in the invitations, "Bring the missus and come over right in yer overalls as soon as ya git the chores done."

Farmerettes in slacks, gay print dresses and pinafores joined the festivities with their escorts in overalls and bright plaid skirts. A cowbell over the door announced the arrival of each guest.

The scene greeting their eyes was truly rural. A scare-crow stood watch beside a pile of hay while chickens, ducks and pigs, very lifelike in appearance, made it a real farmyard. Walls were covered with pictures of flying ducks, birds and sleepy old owls.

Sign-posts pointed out the places of interest, such as "hog hollow," "fun corners," "Jones' Junction," and others.

The deceptive decorations were designed and carried out by Mrs. W. R. Philp.

Farm communities are noted for a capacity to enter wholeheartedly in any entertainment and this one was no exception. From the moment fun began with the grand march until it ended with a Russian folk dance, guests had the time of their lives.

The Rev. Geo. Kelly of Lakefield conducted the recreation, assisted by Miss Helen Kelly who accompanied the musical games. Sincere thanks from the Auxiliary goes to them for making the party the success it was.

Fitting end to a fine evening was the lunch the ladies served which should make any man resolve to return to the farm. Luscious chicken on a bun with sweet pickles for the first course, followed with pie that was a challenge to the culinary art of any farm housewife, and coffee.

Thus went the finest Baby Band Auxiliary party to date.

Prizes for the best costumes went to Mrs. W. A. Davidson and Mr. J. Clark.

Mrs. Chas. Huffman was convener, assisted by Mrs. D. B. Gordon and Mrs. S. Jackson, who looked after invitations, Mrs. J. Clark, Mrs. H. K. Fallis and Mrs. F. Stenson, who prepared refreshments.

YW Observing Health Week

Health week is being observed in the YWCA where posters and pictures of robust girls engaged in healthful activities meet the eye at every turn. The latter are mostly all personally duplicated in the gym and pool and the girls are giving weight and height scales overtime work.

During the Tuesday fun-nite Miss C. Littlefield, physical director, gave a talk on health to the group and girls from the business girl's class demonstrated routines that encourage good poise, strength and flexibility. As each type of exercise was performed by Madge Banks, A. Price, Ethel Hopkins and Nellie Tinny, she explained what part of the body it develops.

Miss. J. Amstrong and Mrs. J. Sharpe have assisted with the records taken on each girl's weight, advising if increase or decrease is indicated.

Miss M. Jory will give a health talk to Jr. Gym and babies on Saturday morning. A "health picture" contest is being carried on and a prize will be awarded Saturday.

Jr. and babies ballet class remains in the lead in the Y membership campaign under captains Carol Hollingsworth and Helen Zakos.

Potatoes Now Being Used In Making of Desserts

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 — (CP). — The Irish are not the only ones who claim potatoes as their favorite food. Down through the centuries the lowly spud has found its place on the best of tables.

Nor is its use confined to the vegetable side of a dinner-plate. Home economists have moved it into the class of glamorous desserts.

Potato Puff Pudding—Ingredients: Two cups mashed potatoes, four egg yolks, one-half cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, two tablespoons blanched slivered almonds, one teaspoon vanilla, four egg whites.

Press potatoes through a sieve. Beat egg yolks with sugar and salt until very light and add to potatoes. Add almonds and vanilla. Fold into stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a greased pudding dish and bake 30 minutes in a moderately slow oven of 325 degrees Fahrenheit. Serve hot with pudding sauce. Yield: Six to eight servings.

If it is a supper dish the housewife is seeking, she might cook her potatoes another way.

Potatoes and Cheese—Ingredients: One quart of one-half inch potato cubes, one onion, three pimentos, two cups white sauce, one-half pound mild cheese, one-half teaspoon salt.

Cook potatoes and onions, finely chopped, in boiling salted water to cover five minutes. Add pimentos cut in small pieces and cook seven minutes. Drain. Turn into a buttered baking dish and pour over white sauce mixed with cheese and salt. Bake in a moderate oven until potatoes are soft.

Potato Soup is another cold weather supper dish.

Ingredients: Three potatoes, one quart of milk, two slices of onion, three tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, one-quarter teaspoon celery salt, dash pepper, dash of cayenne, one teaspoon chopped parsley.

Cook potatoes in boiling salted water. When soft push through a strainer. Scald milk with onion, remove onion and add milk slowly to potatoes. Melt half the butter, add dry ingredients, stir until well mixed and add to the boiling soup. Add remaining butter and sprinkle with parsley.

Baked Sweet Potatoes — Ingredients: Six medium sized sweet potatoes, two tablespoons butter, juice of one orange, one cup shredded pinespple, one-quarter cup chopped walnuts, one teaspoon salt, one dozen marshmallows.

Bake potatoes and scoop out shells. Mash potatoes well, adding butter, salt, orange juice. Stir in all the rest of ingredients except marshmallows. Refill shell with mixture. Cut up marshmallows. Place them on top. Replace the potatoes in hot oven until heated through and browned slightly on surface.

Of Interest to Women

Sick Wife Avoids Dentures To Please Admiring Husabnd

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a middle-aged woman in good health, except for my teeth which are ulcerated and cause me great pain and make me very nervous. My husband will not agree to my having my teeth out, as he says he fell in love with me on account of my sweet smile and beautiful teeth. I dare not tell my husband how I suffer with toothache, as he always says that I just want to complain. Yet he, himself, has had false teeth ever since he was a young man.

Dorothy Dix

If he had a spell of rheumatism, he goes directly to the doctor. So I do not understand why he is so opposed to having a wife with false teeth, as I am sure a good dentist could make them look natural, and the knowledge of no more toothache would make my smile really lasting.

Is there not some way in which I can make my husband realize how much being relieved of my toothache would mean to our happiness?

A FRIEND IN NEED OF HELP

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A wife who suffers the agonies of toothache in order to retain her husband's affections certainly has a martyr complex, and the marvel is that any woman would endure aching molars just because her husband liked to see her smile. You would think that she would feel more like biting him than grinning for his pleasure.

Monopoly on Aches

One of the queer things about marriage is that the majority of husbands seem to think that they have a monopoly on all the different varieties of aches and pains, and that when their wives complain of suffering they are putting on an act.

But when a man gets sick, it is a different story. He is sure he is going to die and summons all possible help. And, in a way, this shows how much smarter men are than women, for no man would be silly enough to endure aching teeth just because his wife admired them. He would have them out, and that is what every sensible woman should do—use common sense on her aching jaws instead of poulticies.

And for the comfort of the feminine sex, let them realize that false teeth often are a great beautifier. A new set of dentures has made a homely girl kissable.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married for a year and a half, and my husband and I are both employed. We share all the living expenses equally and I spend very little on clothes. At night I cook, do the dishes, clean the house and wash, iron or sew; but my husband never does one thing to help me. When I ask his assistance, he raves and storms.

I consider marriage a 50-50 proposition and, since I work and pay my share of the bills, I expect my husband to help me in the home. I love him, but shall cease to do so if he doesn't start acting like a human being and turn his hand to a little housework.

What can you do with a man like my husband?

UNHAPPY

ANSWER: Depends upon the kind of a woman you are. If you have a backbone, you show him the door and lock it behind him. If you are a bowl of mush, you kiss the hand that strikes you and cry over how your husband mistreats you, but you let him go on making a white slave of you.

When a woman's work was confined exclusively to making a home, there was some excuse for a man not helping with the domestic chores. If the wife had good health, she was amply able to take over the housework and take care of the children, and there was no reason why the man of the house should not take it easy after his hard day's work. It was a fair division of labor.

But now, when the wife so often carries on with her job after marriage, the situation is entirely changed. If she pays half the expenses of living, the husband should do half of the housework. And any man who has any affection for his wife, or any sense of fair play, will see it in that light.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY: DIX: I am a 26-year-old girl — divorced. A man wants to marry me. Should I tell him that I have been divorced, or should I forget about it?

LINDA LOU

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly should tell the man you expect to marry that you are a divorced woman. He would be sure to find it out and your secrecy about such an important matter would put you in a very bad light. Honesty is the best policy in marriage as well as business.

"He says he can't discuss it, because now we're here he considers it sub-judice!"

Ask Death Sentence For Cardinal

Prosecutor Furious At News Reports Prelate Tortured

BUDAPEST, Feb. 5 (AP) — The government prosecutor today demanded a "hard" sentence for Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty—meaning death.

Hungarian prosecutors never ask for life or death sentences. But when a prosecutor asks for a "hard" sentence it means the most severe possible—death by hanging.

A verdict "hard and inexorable, labelling tyranny and exploiting" was demanded by Prosecutor Gyula Elapi not only for Cardinal Mindszenty but for all his six co-defendants as well.

"The verdict should stigmatize the traitors," he added.

In a summation for the Cardinal, the court-appointed defence counsel, Kalman Kicko, asked for a "wise and lenient decision" by the five-man "People's Court" which will decide both the question of guilt or innocence and the penalty.

Did His Best

"My task was difficult, but I did the best I could for the defendant," said the defence lawyer. "I remind you that all of you in this courtroom will likely be mentioned in world history and your deeds will be judged through the next century."

Kicko made a weak and apologetic statement. He praised the peoples' democracies (Eastern Europe's Communist regimes) and agreed with the prosecutor that his client's activities had "harmed the country immensely". He also commented that many untrue stories had been printed abroad.

Kicko, commenting on the Cardinal's own statements, said there is no attack on freedom of religion in Hungary.

"On my part, I should like to adds that this people's democracy, when it made religious teaching compulsory in the schools, went further in this respect than countries of the west," he said.

In the early part of his summation, the prosecutor had pointed out that the case was attracting the most intense interest throughout the world, and struck back at "false rumors" that the Cardinal has been drugged, tortured or threatened to extort confessions.

CHINESE CALENDARS show that February 4th is spring and they have a saying that an egg can be made to stand upright on that day before ten o'clock in the morning. Mrs. O. Laderach, 62 Lansdowne St., heard about this last week and decided to try it. It took a lot of patience but she finally succeeded in making four eggs stand upright, two on the hallway carpet and two more on the dining-room table. Peterborough restaurant owner Jim Hum had heard about this as a boy in China but had never seen it done. He and the photographer went to see for themselves and the above picture is the result. On the card in front of the egg, Mr. Hum wrote the Chinese characters for the word "spring." This good egg stood on its own feet for two hours. Chinese compute seasons by phases of the moon.

British Say Conditions To Be Worse

Latest Traffic Cut Answer To Stalin Soviet Papers Protest

BERLIN, Feb. 5 (AP)—Tightening of the Western Allies' counter-blockade of Soviet occupied Germany brought a bleat today from a Russian-licensed newspaper that this was "the Anglo-American answer to Stalin's peace initiative."

The Berlin Zeitung, which carried the headline, also predicted further hardships now would be inflicted upon the already hard-pressed Russian occupation zone.

A British information survey said the Soviet zone is in a bad way economically and probably will get worse.

Berlin's anti-Communists have endorsed the Anglo-American action, which prohibited any highway freight traffic between western Europe and the Soviet zone from crossing the British and American zones. Rail traffic was shut off last fall to counter the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Meanwhile, the Soviet official press announced conclusion of a trade agreement between the Russian zone and Denmark providing for an exchange of goods worth 18,000,000 Danish kroner from each side.

Don't Tell Full Story

The West's counter-blackade is pinching off what was left to eastern Germans after the "vacuum cleaner" of Russian reparations got through.

This counter - blockade has chopped more severely into eastern Germany's industries that the Russians dare admit.

Latest move was the ban on truck freight across the combined British and American zones to Soviet Germany announced last night. The trucking prohibition affects neighboring countries, especially Holland, which ran a big line to Czechoslovakia, across Western Germany.

Trace Food Poisoning

TORONTO, Feb. 5—(CP).—The food poisoning of 30 guests last month at a wedding dinner here has been traced to an eye infection of a girl employee of the catering firm, Health Officer Dr. Gordon Jackson stated in a report to Mayor McCallum yesterday. The girl was formerly employed in Kirkland Lake before coming to Toronto.

Cost Of Living Soars Again To All-Time High

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Feb. 5 — (CP)—The cost-of-living index is hitting the stardust trail once more, sweeping into the economic stratosphere again after a one-month breathing spell.

The Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday that the index resumed its upward pace during December to register a gain of seven-tenths of a point between Dec. 1 and Jan. 3 and return to its all-time high of 159.6. It had dropped in November from 159.6 to 158.9.

The bureau reported that part of the December rise was seasonal. More than half of the advance, it said, developed from changes in service rates, including health, personal care, laundry and fuel gas which are adjusted only periodically.

The major portion of the gain resulted from price increases which had accumulated during a period of some months rather than one month alone. The index covering this group—the miscellaneous index—rose from 124.6 to 126.6.

The main index is calculated on the basis that living costs in pre-war 1935-1939 totalled 100.

U.S. Prices Down

Price trends in the United States, which usually set the pattern for Canadian economic movements, are on the downgrade, with the U.S. official cost-of-living index for December again lower at 171.4 for the third consecutive monthly decline.

Back in Canada, the bureau reported that the food index rose slightly during December—going from 202.0 to 202.2—with lower prices for eggs and fruits again

Treat Moscow Conciliation With Cool Appraisal Pearson Warns Commons

Appeals For Unanimous House Approval Of North Atlantic Pact; Describes It As Greatest Hope For Peace

OTTAWA, Feb. 5—(CP).—Parliament today pondered a warning from External Affairs Minister Pearson to treat Moscow conciliation proposals with "cool analysis" rather than "easy optimism." While declaring it would be folly and worse to reject any sign of friendship from Soviet Russia, Mr. Pearson told the Commons yesterday that the door to co-operation should be kept open—but not for "trojan horses."

The Minister, making his first appearance in House debates, drew universal applause until he jibed at Progressive Conservatives who had spoken in the Throne-Speech debate for not talking about the North Atlantic security pact.

He suggested the official Opposition was "playing politics with peace." This was greeted with some sharp denial from George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader.

Mr. Pearson's speech was mainly an appeal for universal approval of the North Atlantic security pact, now being negotiated in Washington.

He offered the pact as the one great hope for halting immediate aggression and offering a breathing space in which the dangers to world peace may be dissipated.

Mr. Pearson frankly warned that "fear has gripped the world again," and he unhesitatingly placed the responsibility on Russia.

The fear, he said, arose primarily from "the extension of the brutal domination of revolutionary Communism based on the massive and expanding militarism of totalitarian Russia."

The North Atlantic security pact, now being drafted in Washington, was no certain security against aggression, but it was an assurance that the power of the Western democracies were united against it.

"That is all that we can ask for at this time from the Atlantic pact," he said. "But it is much and I think it is within our grasp."

Mr. Pearson said the United Nations must remain the basis of Canadian foreign policy, but he recognized that it could not at this moment ensure the safety of any country against aggression or even remove the possible causes of war.

The security pact was completely within the charter of the UN and should be registered with that body when, and if, it is concluded.

He told questioners there was no move afoot, so far as Canada was concerned, to form a Pacific security pact.

ACCEPTS RESIGNATION

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP) — The King today accepted the resignation of Lord Winster as governor and commander-in-chief of Cyprus.

Ask Benchers To Leave Course Alone

NIAGARA FALLS, Feb. 5 (CP) —Controversy over legal training methods at Ontario's Osgoode Halle Law School is sparking the meetings of the Ontario Branch of the Canadian Bar Association here.

A majority of the 300 lawyers attending the annual meeting yesterday rapped the Law Society of Upper Canada for its decision to increase the time spent by law students at practical law office work while reducing the amount of academic instruction at Osgoode.

A resolution was passed asking Law Society benchers to reconsider their decision to change methods at the school. It charged that the decision to increase apprenticeship work done by students would lower the standards of training at Osgoode.

The announced changeover in Osgoode training methods last month resulted in the resignation of the school's dean, Cecil A. Wright, and three of five lecturers. The four had opposed extension of law-office training for sutdents and favored more classroom instruction.

A second resolution to be considered today calls for altering the school's system to conform with a proposed division of the profession into two branches, court lawyers and office lawyers.

Prime Minister St. Laurent speaks at the annual dinner tonight. He will be accompanied by Justice Minister Garson.

Rebel Leader Said Liquidated

ATHENS, Feb. 5 — (AP). — The Communist radio announced Friday night Markos Viafades had been relieved of his political responsibilities and the broadcast was officially interpreted here as meaning the veteran guerrilla leader is dead.

A spokesman for the Greek army's general staff said the broadcast confirmed general staff suspicions that the Communists had executed their slim, Turkish-born field commander for his failure to conquer Greece.

Markos, 43, had been seriously ill for several months, the broadcast said, and he was relieved by the central committee of the Greek Communist Party. It said he could not carry out the important tasks assigned him.

The announcement did not mention a successor.

Eight days ago the Communist radio broadcast new peace proposals, saying the Viafades government was prepared to send representatives to Athens if the national government accepted. Greek Government authorities rejected the proposals which included ending of United States aid.

Iranian Ruler Wounded Tehran Under Martial Law

TEHRAN, Feb. 5—(AP).—This capital city of oil-rich Iran was under martial law today after an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the country's young, pro-western Shah. Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, the 29-year-old ruler, escaped with slight injuries when a would-be assassin fired five shots at him late yesterday.

Authorities identified the attacker as Fakhr Raiee, a newspaper reporter.

Raiee's political affiliations and his possible motives were not immediately made public. The paper he worked for was not identified.

Two of the shots, fired as the Shah entered Tehran University to take part in an anniversary celebration, struck him. One went through his cheek and upper lip and another through his side. The other three bullets pierced his hat. An official communique issued late yesterday said he was in excellent condition.

Raiee was reported beaten severely by bystanders following the shooting.

The young ruler of Iran, formerly called Persia, less than three months ago divorced Princess Fawzia, sister of the King of Egypt.

Iran has been torn by political dissension as a result of its oil fields, reputed to be the largest single oil pool in the world.

Leftist political factions have favored granting oil concessions to the Soviet Union, which borders on the north. Mohammed Saed Maraghei, made premier last November, firmly resisted Russian demans for oil leases.

16,000 Troops Bolster Canton

CANTON, Feb. 5 — (CP). — China's government opened its provisional capital in Canton today and hurriedly brushed up its defences by bringing down an army of 16,000 men from Shanghai.

A government spokesman asserted Canton would begin functioning as a capital today, but few ministries were ready for business. Offices are scattered all over this gloomy city.

Premier Sun Fo and Foreign Minister Wu Te-Chen arrived from Shanghai. Acting President Li Tsung-jen stayed in Nanking. He will remain as long as he sees hope of a peace deal with the Communists.

Since Li is the head of the government, Nanking remains the capital, technically at least. Most of the embassies are keeping the heads of their missions in Nanking. Only Russia so far has moved its ambassador to Canton.

The 39th Army, arriving from Shanghai, helped to bolster the outnumbered garrison of Canton and surrounding Kwantung province.

Harold K. Milks of The Associated Press said in a dispatch from Nanking that rifle squads of troops and gendarmes patrolled streets almost empty of vehicles and pedestrians.

It appeared the Communists could take both Nanking and Shanghai with little difficulty if they had to fight for them.

Britons Trapped In Burma Battle

RANGOON, Feb. 5—(Reuters)—A party of 27 Britons, including women and children, today was trapped in smoke-filled Insein Town, 10 miles north of Rangoon, where heavy fighting has been going on since Monday.

A British embassy spokesman said efforts to evacuate them to Rangoon had failed because of the fighting between Burmese forces and Karen rebels.

The British Indian and Pakistan embassies here have asked the Burma government for facilities to evacuate their nationals from Insein, it was learned.

Government artillery yesterday shelled positions in Insein held by Karen insurgents, who have made Toungoo, 175 miles north of Rangoon, their central Burma stronghold and have been advancing south.

The Karens seek to set up an independent state of Karenistan.

Quebec By-Election Test For Liberals

NICOLET, Que., Feb. 5—(CP) — Monday's Federal by-election in Nicolet-Yamaska is looked upon by political observers as not only a prime test of strength for the Liberal party, but of their new leader, Prime Minister St. Laurent.

It will also be more of a test between Mr. St. Laurent and Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew than between the candidates themselves.

The ace-in-the-hole, so to speak, of the conservatives may turn out to be the third candidate, running on an independent Liberal ticket and reported to carry quite a bit of weight in this predominantly rural constituency.

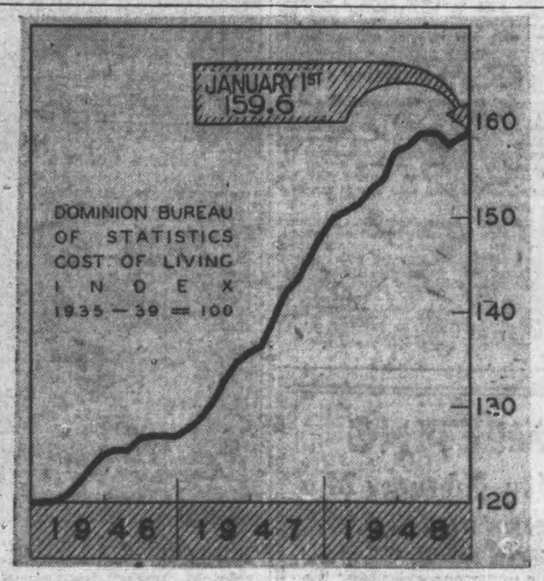
The Independent Liberal is Farmer Romulus Mariseau, who was nominated by a group of dissident Liberals who refused to accept the official party choice, Lawyer Paul Trahan. The Progressive Conservative standard-bearer is Renaud Chapdelaine, a lawyer.

Gets 6-Month Term For Beating Son, 2

TORONTO, Feb. 5—(CP)—For beating his step-son who doctors said "looked more like a five-months-old than two years," because of the punishment he suffered, William L. Shortt, 23-year-old railway brakeman, Friday was sentenced to six months.

Mrs. Mary Shortt, the child's mother, was acquitted of a joint charge of assault causing actual bodily harm.

The baby was put in the charge of the Children's Aid Society.



LIVING COST JUMPS—After dropping in November for the first time since 1946, Canada's cost of living index climbed seven-tenths of a point during December to again touch the record high point of 159.6 as of January 1. The index remained stationary during October as this graph indicates. Higher costs of services accounted for half of the increase.

Willing To Raise Damages' Fund

TORONTO, Feb. 5—(CP)—The Ontario Government is willing to increase the amount of damages collectable from the province's unsatisfied judgment fund if the insurance companies will raise the amounts of their standard policies, Queen's Park sources said Friday.

The fund was established to reimburse persons unable to collect judgments given in traffic accident cases. It limits to $5,000 the amount to be paid to one person and $10,000 to two or more persons injured in a single mishap. For property damage, the maximum is $1,000. This is the standard protection granted by the insurance companies.

Every Ontario driver is assessed 50 cents a year for the fund. Officials said the levy would have to be higher if damage payments were increased.

Belleville Inquiry Will Begin Monday

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 5—(CP)—A Royal Commission Monday begins investigating charges of fraud, perjury and maladministration of justice levelled at eight Ontario Provincial Police officers and crown attorney.

Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay of the Ontario Supreme Court will investigate the charges, made last month by Constable J. E. Keays of Belleville, a veteran of eight years on the force.

Commission Counsel C. P. Hope of the attorney general's department said the hearing would begin at 11 a.m. It is expected to last for at least a week.

Volcano Erupts After 97 Years

TOKYO, Feb. 5—(AP) — The Tokyo weather bureau reported today that Mount Yake, a 7,900-foot volcano dormant for 97 years, erupted violently today and scattered ashes over a wide area.

Mount Yake is about 150 miles from Tokyon, in West-Central Japan. Its previous eruption was in November, 1852. The weather bureau said its information was scanty because the area is snowbound.

Ashes fell on surrounding areas for about 20 minutes after the eruption, the weather bureau added. Winds carried some of the ashes 90 miles.

Plane Said Overdue Arrives In Bermuda

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5—(AP)—A four-engined plane arrived safely in Bermuda today after being reported several hours overdue.

The plane left Tocumen, Panama, for Nassau, Bahamas, the Coast Guard Air-Sea Rescue Service was informed.

When the trans-ocean airline craft was several hours overdue at Nassau, a search was begun.

Bermuda is several hundred miles northeast of Nassau. Coast guardsmen said they had no information as to why the aircraft flew to the more distant island but apparently its crew had "filed the wrong flight plan."

Canada Sets Record In '48 Chief Supplier For Britain

LONDON, Feb. 5 — (CP). — Treasury officials said today that Canada made history in 1948, displacing the United States as Britain's chief supplier.

Britain's largest trade deficit with any country last year was with Canada.

Detailed trade figures are still to be published by the Board of Trade, but it is understood that 1948 imports from Canada are valued at £216,600,000 ($866,400,000) and United Kingdom exports to Canada at £69,600,000 plus re-exports of £1,600,000 — a total of £71,200,000.

This made the trade deficit £145,400,000.

Canadian sales to the United Kingdom in 1947 totalled £230,300,000. Canadian purchases from the United Kingdom in that year were £43,300,000.

In 11 months of 1948, imports from the United States were valued at £172,600,000, compared with £278,400,00 in the same period of 1947. Exports to the United States in the same 11 months were valued at £60,700,000, compared with £43,000,000 in the same period of 1947.

The Treasury said Canada was fifth among the six chief export markets of the United Kingdom.

Australia was the biggest single export market. Canada was a leading customer for woollen textiles, with 1948 purchases valued at £18,300,000, and fifth largest for cotton textiles, valued at £6,600,000.

In 1948, Canada became by some margin Britain's largest supplier, whereas both in 1947 and 1938 the United States had been Britain's biggest supplier by a considerable margin, with Canada second.

Security Police Announce Warsaw Purge

Those arrested were charged with planning acts of terror. Names of the leaders—who police said were marked for death — were not made public.

Drew Slams Back At Critics Throws House Into Uproar

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Feb. 5—(CP).—Under unremitting Liberal fire for a week, George Drew slammed back at his critics in the Commons last night. In an unexpected re-entry into the Throne Speech debate that threw the House into frequent uproar, the Progressive Conservative leader defended himself from a succession of Government charges on his attitude on the Atlantic pact, Dominion-Provincial relations and family allowances.

He struck back with allegations that the Government is playing politics on the defensive alliance and on the issue of revising Canada's constitution.

His belligerent plunge into the debate for the second time in a week was punctuated by sharp clashes with his old enemy, Justice Minister Garson, and by turbulent outbursts of mingled cheers and jeers from a House suddenly jolted out of a humdrum debate.

It was the Commons' first taste of the slam-bang tactics for which Mr. Drew, former Ontario Premier, was noted before moving to the Federal field.

Needled earlier in the day by External Affairs Minister Pearson on the ground Progressive Conservatives had not discussed the Atlantic Pact at this session, Mr Drew said their attitude would be made unmistakeably clear when legislation the alliance comes before the House.

Mr. Pearson had asked if the Progressive Conservatives were "playing politics with peace," but Mr. Drew alleged it was the Minister who was playing politics.

Charges Slyness

He accused Prime Minister St. Laurent of not being "frank or fair" in reading an excerpt from a 1944 speech quoting Mr. Drew as calling the baby bonus a bribe to Quebec.

Mr. Drew, taxed by the Liberals with helping wreck the Dominion-Provincial Financial Conferences, read a quotation from Premier Manning of Alberta placing responsibility on the "unucompromising rigidity" of Rt. Hon. J. L. Isley, then Liberal Finance Minister.

Mr. Drew, by turns angry and amiably derisive, hit at the Prime Minister for a radio statement this week saying he favored giving Canada the power to amend her own constitution.

"Was that just a political statement?" the Progressive Conservative chief asked.

Mr. Drew's tilts with Mr. Garson threw the House into turmoil several times, forcing the Speaker to call for order.

At one point, after Mr. Garson had called on him to state his stand on international matters, Mr. Drew exclaimed sarcastically that the interruption was "a perfect example of how much we got in the way of useful views" from Mr. Garson at the Dominion-Provincial meetings. The Minister then was Premier of Manitoba.

sented by some leaders of the Roman Catholic Church and first of all by Joseph Mindszenty himself." He said this was the demand of the Hungarian people.

Presiding Judge Vilmos Olthys said a verdict could not be expected before Monday.

Dislikes Reports

At the outset, the prosecutor took notice of what he said were reports about confessions of the Cardinal.

Declaring the foreign press was trying to "compromise the peoples' democracies"—the Communist regimes in the Soviet orbit—Elapi demanded, "who dares say that threatened or tortured people are sitting here in the dock?"

He said he had no doubt whatsoever that those who were present would state that the proceedings were conducted according to the regulations of every civilized country.

"It is not Joseph Midszenty, head of Hungary's Roman Catholic Church who is indicted, but it is Joseph Nidszenty, Hungarian citizen, who committed great crimes, who is responsible, whether he wears the purple of Cardinal or is clad in rags," declared the prosecutor.

He said his case was not based on any pastoral letter or sermon by the Cardinal although these also contained parts which could easily induce prosecution of the Prelate.

The charge, he said, is that Cardinal Mindszenty led an organization to overthrow the "Democratic republic of Hungary and to help Otto Hapsburg to the throne."

"There is no name more hated in Hungary than the name of Hapsburg," he added.

An authorization given to Archduke Otto by the Cardinal to represent Hungarian Roman Catholics abroad, the prosecutor said, "was an idea" of Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and the authorization was "aimed to increase the credit of Otto Hapsburg."

He said the Cardinal wanted the United States army in Germany to keep possession of the crown of St. Stephen, "until he can put it himself on the head of Otto Hapsburg."

The crown now is in American safe-keeping.

James Fraser Hits Communism

If for no other reason, the Chamber of Commerce has proved its value to both the community and the nation at large in its vigorous opposition to Communism, James M. Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber, told the Friday Night Club at its weekly dinner. His topic was: "What the Chamber of Commerce Means to Canada."

"eW will continue to expose the Communist menace and develop a wider public appreciation of the danger it presents," he stated. "Further, the Chamber believes that a reaffirmation of belief in the democratic system and in Canadian traditions by all Canadians would provide a positive answer to the negative threat offered by Communism."

Mr. Fraser stated that recently the Canadian Chamber sent to each of its 570 member Chambers and Boards of Trade across Canada a "different kind of comic book" which pictured, under the title, "Is This To-morrow?" just what might happen in Canada if the Communists should succeed in their plans to seize power in this country. "Any reservations we might have held as to the effect of this new type of anti-Communist weapon have been dispelled completely by the bitter and vitriolic reviews carried by Communistic publications in recent weeks," he declared. Copies of this comic book will be available for distribution in Peterborough soon.

Mr. Fraser announced that a new series of 13 radio dramas under the title "Canadian Heritage" would be sponsored soon over CHEX by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce. "These broadcasts are designed to sell Canada to Canadians and to dispel many misconceptions about business operation and profits," Mr. Fraser said. "As a free-enterprise nation we have amazed the world with our productivity, and it seems time we talked about it."

Swinging from national to local affairs, the speaker outlined how the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce gave its support to such community projects as the passing of the Civic Hospital by-law, hydro power conservation, the Governor-General's visit, and more recently, the proposed citizen's recreation area north of Burleigh Falls. In addition, scarcely a day passed without the Chamber being called upon to act as a Better Business Bureau on behalf of cifizens.

Cautious Investors

"Investigate before you invest", the speaker cautioned. Among the many things the Chamber has been asked to inquire into by local citizens were new types of antifreeze, door-to-door canvassers, doubtful advertising schemes and suit clubs.

Mr. Fraser commented on the record $270 million spent by U.S. tourists in Canada last year. "This means extra money in the pockets of almost everyone in Peterborough," he maintained. "Not only our resort operators but our retailers, most of our industries, our local hotels and restaurants and even private citizens who have cottages to rent or services to sell benefit from this," he said.

The Chamber of Commerce last year answered more than 600 direct requests for information on summer accommodation in the Kawartha area, the speaker said. In addition, many visited the office in person for help in finding a place to spend their vacation, best fishing spots, shopping information and so on. The Chamber's executive was at the moment studying a wide program of tourist development expansion for the coming year, designed to bring extra business to resort operators and retailers in Peterborough and surrounding area.

Police Deliver Blood Supply

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 5 (CP) — Two racing provincial police cars rushinge vials of rare blood from London to Chatham have saved the life of a Dresden woman who otherwise would "almost certainly" have died, authorities said Friday.

Mrs. Arthur Nicholas, mother of two children, began hemorrhaging profusely prior to the birth of a third child, and her physician, Dr. L. G. Payne, of Dresden telephoned an emergency request to London for blood.

Mrs. Nicholas could use only RH negative blood, a comparatively rare type, which could not have been obtained anywhere but in London in time to save her life.

Constable William Laughy of London detachment of the Provincial police called for the blood at Victoria Hospital, drove 35 miles to Wardsville, where he was met by a provincial police car from Chatham, driven by Corporal Robert Clarke.

Clarke drove the remaining 33 miles to Chatham. Just one hour and 15 minutes elapsed from the time Dr. Payne called London up to the time the blood was in his hands.

After a transfussion it was possible to perform a caesarean operation to move the baby, Dr. Payne said. The baby died.

New Methods For Fighting Rail Thieves

BY MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, Feb. 5—(CP)—New methods of fighting thieves who prey on the railways are being put into effect at London's key Euston station.

Pilferage of this type costs millions of dollars yearly, some of the thefts being from shipments destined for Canada. Countermeasures include:

1. An emergency warning system by which police may be summoned within 10 minutes.

2. Provision of specially-trained dogs for patrol duty on outlying sidings.

3. Establishment of flying squads in radio cars.

4. Hour-by-hour watch from factory to consignee of goods in short supply—textiles, wines and liquors, clothing, nylons and silk stockings, cigarets and food.

B. W. Richards, chairman of the railway police committee, says the emergency warning system will be operated through code numbers known only to railway employees.

"When the system is started, it will be controlled from Euston station," he said. "If we find that it is successful there, it will be quickly extended to Leeds, Birmingham and other big cities."

Spot checks by Scotland Yard officers also helped cut thefts.

Girls Get Beauty Nap Machine Does Work

A new type of accounting machine which has been installed at the Bank of Montreal gives six girls an extra hour in bed every morning.

Know as the I.B.M., this machine does most of the work previously done by the tellers while the customer waited at the counter and it also saves a great deal of work back stage.

The customer no longer has to wait while the teller checks the deposits slip with cheques and bills and the back room adding machines are no longer needed before ledgers can be posted.

The new machine does all this and more besides. It does all the work involved in clearing cheques from out of town banks within the city. In the past, seven girls have been at work before the bank opens at nine o'clock clearing cheques sent in from other banks. All that is now done by one girl who operates the machine.

Although it is known as an accounting machine, this robot does accounting and distributing work and can complete approximately 1,000 items in the time it would have taken several people to do approximately seven or eight hundred.

Three girls are busy learning how to operate the machine which is the only one of its kind in Peterborough, and when they become more accustomed to it accounts will be proved at an even greater speed.

Federation of Agriculture Will Sponsor Grassland Day

Directors of Peterborough Federation of Agriculture assumed Thursday night sponsorship of the proposed district Grassland Day in late June without restrictive reference to its financing.

"Let's carry it through and make a success of it," said Fred Eason of Otonabee in an amendment, seconded by Clifford Lowes, with the ample directive "and no strings tied to it."

The motion by Milton Clark, seconded by Alex Huston, suggested that sponsorship should not entail more than a $250 grant from the Federation.

Majority of the directors voted for the amendment after incidental comments to the effect that Peterborough County Council was inclined to take a dim view of responsibility in supporting local agricultural affairs.

Grassland Day was inspired by Peterborough Crop Improvement Association at their recent annual meeting. But, the Crop Improvers are never flush of funds. W. W. Dawson of Otonabee is president of both that group and the Federation. It happened during the recent sessions of the County Council that the Federation asked for a levy of one-fifth of a mill on the equalized assessment, as its main financial resource of the year. Needs of the Crop Improvement Association for its Grassland Day were presented that same afternoon.

County council finally agreed to the one-fifth of a mill, estimated at $2,189, for the Federation providing it made a Grassland grant to the Crop Improvement Association.

The information was published in the reports of the Council's sessions, but did not officially come to the Federation's board until last night. Both the motion and amendment at the directors' meeting was in favor of relieving the Crop Improvers of the planning of the Grassland project, differing only in the extent of financial obligation.

Mr. Dawson as CIA president asked for a Grassland Day a year ago, and was told by A. H. Martin of the Department of Agriculture to renew the application for this year. That was done. The Department is contributing to three of those days, located in east, central and west sections of the province. Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham, Ontario, Hastings and Prince Edward counties comprise the central group.

Ontario county was considering the making of a claim but finally decided they were not ready, and the assignment came to Peterborough.

Double Chairman

As president of the Federation, Mr. Dawson said he was in a somewhat dubious position because he was chairman of the Crop Improvement Association, and he was leaving the decision entirely to the directors of Federation.

The result of Thursday night's discussion was that the Federation should take charge of the program for Grassland Day, Frank C. Paterson said the Department was contributing $250 and there might be some other sources of assistance.

"If it has to be financed by the Federation and the Department I think we can get along," Mr Paterson said.

Neighboring counties will be asked for contributions, and possibly the city council may be asked for a grant.

"We spend money in advertising for tourists," Mr. Eason said. "Grassland Day is one of the biggest advertisements for agriculture that we've had in a long time."

Mr. Clark and Mr. Eason were among those who heard Ollie E. Fink, executive secretary of Friends of the Land, Columbus, Ohio, Federation dinner speaker in Toronto last week. His "food for a hungry world" message gave them a more sharply focussed impression of the essential importance of soil conservation and the maintenance of fertility of mineral sufficiency and balance.

Criticism of the county council was directed at the contingent feature of its grant. It was said the council should have adopted the Federation levy and also made a contribution to assist in financing Grassland Day.

"The Federation could not think of engaging a field man as it would like to do, hold its annual field day, and also make grants that are asked of us," said Don Milburn.

Pass up Holstein Group

Carman Seymour of Cavan: "One-fifth of a mill is nothing when you consider what the Federation of Agriculture has done for us. Of course, I am from Durham County, and I should not say anything about the levy in Peterborough."

John Kitney: "The council refused to make a grant to the Holstein championships show; now they are refusing to help with Grassland Day."

Mr. Dawson: "The big feature of Grassland Day is that it teaches farmers more about the management of their land, soil fertility, mineral content, importance of pastures and so on."

Mr. Seymour said the other counties in the group should be asked to help financially.

Alex Huston: "How can you ask them if our own county doesn't help?"

John Kitney: "I think we should have some better understanding with the County Council if they are to support the federation as they should."

Deputy-Reeve Dick Stewart of Otonabee explained the circumstances of the two requests for finances that were made to the County Council.

Mr. Kitney said he was not impressed that the county council was sufficiently sympathetic to the Federation. In Halton county the reeves of its villages proposed the one-fifth of a mill blanket levy because they realized that what was good for the townships was good for their communities.

Being Let Down

Mr. Eason: "I think the Council is letting us down."

Stewart Nelson remarked that the Federation could hardly ask the city for a grant if the county did not help.

Stanley Wood: "The city gave $100 for the Holstein show, but the county didn't."

Frank C. Paterson: "Expressing just my personal view, I don't think it is fair that John Kitney should be expected to do all the work he has to do as secretary of the Federation, and look after so much detail. My own opinion is that the Federation generally should have more financial help from the county council.'

Mr. Dawson: "I'm afraid the county council let us down. There is no person who has done more for the Federation than Mr. Kitney. I don't think the county council would have taken their attitude if they had realized all that was required. No part of the county where a farm forum is established would let them get away with it. If the county council won't provide some financial assistance, we'll have to find the money some way."

Mr. Kitney: "If we have a Grassland Day I don't think we should have our Federation field day this year."

"I don't think we could have it," Mr. Dawson said. "We'll just have to curtail some of our work."

Appeal Again

Don Milburn suggested that another appeal be made to the council in March.

"One of the things the Federation would like to do is look for a fieldman," said Mr. Kitney, "but I don't see how we can without the backing of the county council."

Henry Sharpe: "If the county council finds that the Federation is backing Grassland Day, we'd probably get nothing from them if we did not go back to them."

John Kitney: "And if we don't back it, we don't get the one-fifth of a mill levy."

Mr. Dawson said the Crop Improvement members all agreed that Peterborough should institute Grassland Day in this part of Ontario. "So, we really have got to go ahead. The Department is behind us, the machine companies are with us, and with good weather it would be a big day.'

In a brief discussion about immediate action, Mr. Paterson advised that a first step should be taken without delay.

The anwer to that implication was Fred Eason's challenge: "Let's go ahead and carry it through."

Knox Presbyterian Presents Fine Record Of Work For 1948

HAVELOCK, Feb. 5—(ENS)—The annual congregational meeting of Knox Presbyterian Church was held recently in the church and showed a successful year in all departments.

Rev. R. D. Duncanson presided with F. L. Mc. McMKenzie as secretary.

Mr. Duncanson gave the session report showing a church membership of 96, (83 resident and 13 non-residents. There were four deaths and one marriage. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is to be observed three times —in January, May and September. Mr. Duncanson said he had made 45 pastoral calls and 3 hospital calls and was taking an active interest in boys' work in the village.

The treasurer's report was given by Miss Gladys Hunter in the absence of her mother who was ill. It revealed that all obligations had been met and a substantial balance was on hand. Reports were read from the Women's Missionary Society, Ladies' Aid, Sunday School, Mission Band and choir, showing that each one had enjoyed a successful year with a balance carried. The Mission Band was organized during the year under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Duncanson.

George Kennedy, chairman of the Board of Managers gave the report which showed that no major improvements had been done to the church or manse.

An expression of thanks was extended to the Ladies' Aid for renovations on the kitchen and also to J. McQuigge for his services as caretaker.

Four resignations were accepted namely: G. Kennedy, R. Sayers and H. Krantz from the Board of Managers and Mrs. J. Hunter as church treasurer.

The new Board of Managers was enlarged and now has nine members: 3 years, H. A. McNeely, M. Dafoe, D. Buchanan; 2 years, A. Spencer, H. Jamieson, O. Patterson; 1 years, G. Wright, D. Green, H. Hunter.

The matter of appointing a chairman and secretary-treasurer for the church was left in the hands of the new Board which will meet at the call of the congregational-secretary F. L. McKenzie.

Mrs. C. McMillan and Mrs. H. A. McNeely were appointed auditors and it was decided to have financial report printed.

Tourist Gold

All is not gold that glisters. Tourists provide a modern instance. They are gold to us—much gold—even if they do not glitter and even if occasionally they are a plaguy nuisance. American tourists spent in this country last year the munificent sum of $270,000,000. That was 29 million dollars more than the 1947 previous record, and 158 million dollars more than Canadian tourists spent last year in the United States. The $270,000,000 was hard currency. It was as good as gold. It was big business. It is the kind of business worth working hard for, the kind that must be preserved and nourished as no flock of gold-egg-laying geese has ever been nurtured.

* * *

It was big business in this district. Tourists locally spent their good money on a thousand and one things from parking space to fur coats, from beer to beds. This was to our own benefit and we hope to theirs. That is the point. We the hosts cannot continue to benefit unless the tourists benefit. Our advantage is chiefly pecuniary; theirs must be in fun, ease, and soul-flattering delights—at a fair price and always with fair dealing. We might take tips from the Swiss who have been entertaining tourists for more years than Canada has been on any map. Through the centuries the Swiss have learned not only to give honest, solid measure but also to wrap it up handsomely, so that the tourist who came once out of curiosity returns again and again for contentment. Thus has Switzerland preserved its major industry (with assistance from some mountains). We have to learn the Swiss lesson in a hurry. There are signs that we are doing so (with the help of some lakes). There is also as much room for improvement as there is space for the tourists.

Some Facts About Federation With Newfoundland

On the last day of next month Newfoundland will cease to exist as a separate national entity. On the next day, April 1st, Newfoundland will become the tenth Canadian Province. This event is of very great moment to the people of Newfoundland and Canada. Beside it the discovery of Newfoundland by John Cabot in 1497 is trifling. Canadians know that Newfoundland is federating with us, but so complicated are the matters arising from it that they may tend to shrug off its history-making importance. With a view of emphasizing that importance by clarifying some of the issues, we set down a few facts.

Newfoundland's decision to enter the Canadian union came to a point last summer, after two other protracted conferences (1864-67, and 1894) and the successful preliminary one in 1947. Two referendums were held, the first on June 3, 1948, when the vote was 22,000 for continuing commission government (which had been in force since 1934 when the Dominion of Newfoundland reverted to colonial status after an economic collapse), 64,000 for Confederation and 69,400 for responsible self-government. Since there was no majority for any one form of government, a second referendum was held on July 22. Confederation received a majority of 7,000 votes over responsible government, and a majority in eighteen of the twenty-five electoral districts. On the basis of that vote, final negotiations were begun at Ottawa on October 6th last. Terms of union were signed on behalf of Canada and Newfoundland on December 11th, 1948.

The most difficult aspects of the problem of federation encountered throughout the negotiations in 1947 and 1948 were financial. At Confederation in 1867 the Dominion took over all the debts and liquid assets of the provinces, without payment for public works coming under federal authority. However, debt allowances were made on a per capita basis. The highest—$50—was allowed to Prince Edward Island. Newfoundland's present debt is about $225 net per capita. Canada will assume most of it ($63,000,000)—about $200 a head. On the other hand, the Newfoundlanders will become citizens of a country whose net debt is almost $1,000 a head.

Since 1941 Newfoundland has accumulated a surplus which amounts now to about 24 million dollars. This the new Province will retain in order to be solvent during the first years of union and to develop economically and socially into parity with existing provinces. It should be remembered that now 85 to 90 per cent. of all Newfoundland's revenue come from customs, personal income taxes and corporation taxes which will be lost to it after March 31st. Special financial arrangements have been made. Newfoundland will receive (a) statuary subsidies comparable to those payable to the Maritime Provinces, (b) a transitional grant payable annually in amount totalling 6½ million dollars for each of the first three years of union, and declining thereafter until the twelfth year, when payment will cease. Within eight years of the union a Royal Commission will be appointed to inquire whether Newfoundland needs and should have additional financial assistance — the prevailing financial and social conditions in the other Maritime provinces being taken as yard-sticks.

These, in brief, are the chief financial arrangements. There are other large costs which will fall on the Federal Government. However, in a matter of such important state-craft, financial considerations must not be judged the principal ones. Newfoundland brings with it into Canada 150,000 square miles of territory (including the Labrador section which is larger than the Island itself), 322,000 people of hardy seafaring stock, six strategic airfields, and incalculable natural resources. Speaking to the Newfoundland Delegation in his address at the closing ceremony of the recent negotiation, Prime Minister St. Laurent said: "We believe that, with you, we have had the privilege of completing the structure of a 'Union Strong and Great'." So may it be.

Army For Hoodlums?

An Ontario magistrate has suggested that the young hoodlums who appear in court in "gang" cases should be compelled to join the army, and some approval has been heard of this suggestion. Apparently there are people who think that Army discipline would make decent men of these boys. We disagree with this point of view, for we should not like to see a revival of press-gang methods which would make enlistment in the Army into a punishment, and we do not think that hoodlums would make good soldiers.

Great steps have been taken in the last few years to raise the status of the permanent force, and to attract young men of good character and superior intelligence into it; arrangements have been made to provide good careers in the Army for decent young fellows, and to destroy the old idea that nobody but a good-for-nothing is a private soldier in peacetime.

Now if we put hoodlums into the Army to reform them, we shall discourage enlistment among the young men of the very type the Army wants. We shall, furthermore, put a heavy burden on the officers and N.C.Os who are charged with the job of making soldiers out of young ruffians. And what will we get from it?

Will we get any good soldiers? We doubt it. A reckless, devil-may-care fellow may show himself a hero in battle, but these gang-boys are not devil-may-care fellows; a great many of them seem to be depraved and vicious young scoundrels, courageous only when they are in a gang. To put them into the Army would disgust the other soldiers, exhaust the patience of the officers, and cost the country money. The problem of juvenile hoodlums must be met in some other way.

That Books May Travel Freely

A commendable system of book tokens has been arranged by UNESCO which will make it easier for books to travel between one UN country and another, regardless of currency. It works thus: if, for example, a British scholar wants some scientific books from the United States, he can buy a book token with sterling currency to the value of the books he desires, and send it to the bookseller in the U.S.A.; UNESCO will redeem the sterling token in American dollars. It is, in effect, an international money-order system for use by people whose work requires the buying of many books.

We have often wished that it were easier for books to enter Canada—that the excise on books were reduced or removed altogether. It is a very costly business for a Canadian to acquire a good library, for virtually every book he buys bears a heavy tax, and Canadian book-jobbers add a profit—sometimes an inexplicably large one—to the excise. Such taxation of the tools of scholarship and the means of knowledge is hard to understand and harder to defend.

Diary Of A Lumpist

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Became involved in an argument about modern painting, a subject upon which I am spectacularly ill-informed; however, many of my friends can become heated, and even violent on the subject and I enjoy their wrangles. In a modest way, I am an artist myself and I have some sympathy with the abstractionists, although I have gone beyond them in my own aproach to art. I am a Lumpist. Two or three decades ago it was quite fashionable to be a Cubist, and to draw everything in cubes; then there was a revolt by the Vorticists who drew everything in whirls; we now have the Abstractionists who paint everything in a very abstracted manner. But my own small works (done on my telephone pad) are composed of carefully shaded, strangely-shaped lumps, with traces of Cubism, Vorticism and Abstraction in them for those who possess the seeing eye. As a Lumpist, I stand alone.

MONDAY: Read in the fashion news that the Handkercnief Skirt is coming back; this garment, fashionable in the twenties, is short and hangs in rags, as though the wearer had been fighting a particularly sharp-nailed wolf. I hope that this is not true, and that the Handkerchief Skirt will remain in Oblivion, where it belongs. I do not like short skirts; I like long skirts which swish and whirl. A short, tight skirt on a girl is ugly enough, but on an older woman to whom life and her metabolism have been unkind it is a cruel joke. Some men whose notion of Fashion is to bring women as near to utter nakedness as possible like short skirts because they reveal a lot of leg; but to my mind a really graceful woman is shown to greatest advantage in a skirt which complements the poetry of her walk, instead of revealing the muscular action of her gluteus maximus. And though I yield to no man in my admiration of the female leg, I do not want to see all the legs in the world; there are thousands which I am ready to take for granted as useful, sturdy servants. Let us be spared Nature's rougher handiwork.

TUESDAY: Was talking to a lady who had just come from the hairdresser's. Such women are full of information, for they read old copies of digests and news magazines under the drier. She told me that a psychologist says that it is wrong to repress anger, as anger creates adrenalin and if this nasty stuff is not used up it poisons its owner, giving him indigestion, communism, rabies or ulcers. Anger, this fellow says, should be rationalized by violent physical action. It seems to me that the trouble with this idea is that the kind of violent physical action which follows anger is awfully hard to explain. If a man disagrees with me, and I become angry and pop him on the button and then say, "Nothing personal, you understand; I'm just rationalizing my anger and working off my excess adrenalin", he will probably secrete a lot of adrenalin himself and pop me back again. Then I shall fill up with adrenalin for a second time, and be compelled to re-pop him, and when the cops arrive it will look just like a low brawl, and not like a high-class adrenalin-rationalizing party. I wish psychologists wouldn't fill women up with such stuff; I am slopping over with adrenalin all the time and it doesn't seem to hurt me—very much.

WEDNESDAY: A man gained entry to my Ivory Tower this morning by pretending to be an admirer of my work; these creatures are so rare that I was agog to see one, but when he settled himself in my visitor's chair he threw off his disguise and revealed himself as a book-agent. He wanted to give me, absolutely free, an encyclopaedia; I was to give him nothing except well over a hundred dollars to pay the bare cost of the monthly supplements which would keep this handsome gift up to date. He wanted to give me this present in order that he could boast to other people that I (in company with several Senators, ministers of the Gospel, advertising men, University professors and similar aristocrats) used his book. But I thought it over and decided that I was not worthy of the honour he pressed upon me; it would have been a snappy trick to take such a fine work of reference, merely giving my name and a trifle of dirty money in return; and now people would laugh when they saw me named among the intellectual grandees he had on his list! It was generous of him, but foolhardy, and I would not allow him to cheat himself. After a while he went away, looking mad.

THURSDAY: Somebody was hounding me to talk to a women's club this afternoon. "Don't prepare anything; just tell them a few jokes", he said. Anybody who has tried to tell jokes to a horde of women, all wearing their best hats and expecting a cup of club tea, knows how stupid such advice is. "I can't", I replied; "my doctor says I'm dying by inches"....This is literally true. I die at the rate of about an inch a year, and the process began a year ago. As there are only about 72 inches of me longitudinally and even fewer latitudinally it will be seen that I haven't long to last, and I must save myself as much as I can.

FRIDAY: A strange smell wafted through the office where I work today, reminding me of the time when I tried, and failed, to housebreak a kitten. But as there is no office cat, and as no one appeared to have been sick in any of the wastepaper baskets, the smell defied detection, until it was tracked down to a new filing cabinet; apparently it is now the fashion to varnish these things with a nasty-smelling substance which makes office work even more intolerable than it was before....Later became involved in an argument about the pronunciation of Bishop Strachan's name. The products of his famous girl's school all call him "Strahn". But I have known several Scots of that name who insisted on being called "Strawkn". The extra sound is produced by making a small disgusted noise before the "n". Canadians, who have lazy tongues and talk through their noses as a general thing, cannot make this noise and pretend that it does not exist. But what did Bishop Strachan call himself? Does anyone know?

SATURDAY: Became involved in a discussion of the merits of facial massage for men at a male gathering today. I have never had my face massaged, having a naturally exquisite complexion and a distaste for being slapped and mauled by strange men. But a fellow who was present, and who is an addict of this form of self-indulgence, told us that he had once been massaged in Ottawa, and boasted that he had been rubbed by the same man that rubs the Prime Minister. I thought this in rather bad taste, and a horrid form of social-climbing to boot. I once knew a man who spent the whole morning in the barber's chair before going to an important interview, and after he had been rubbed, smacked, kneaded, vibrated, squeezed and wobbled, and after all his pimples, warts, bubukles, fleshy knobs and carbuncles had been painted the colour of the rest of his face, he looked astonishingly like a product of the embalmer's art. What is more, he felt so queer, and his pores were so empty of their wonted accumulations, that he was unable to talk like himself, and kept making remarks which were a complete surprise to him. His interview was a failure, and small wonder.

"HEY, FELLAS!"

People In The News

Mr. Marshall

The Manchester Guardian: When Mr. Marshall was appointed Secretary of State in January, 1947, he had clear but limited views on foreign policy. He believed implicitly in Washington's dictum that peace could be secured only by strength; and he was, and remained, determined to contain Russian expansion by every means in his power. It was not long, however, before he saw that, in his own words, "enduring political harmony rests heavily upon economic stability."

It was this conviction that inspired his whole policy of "Marshall aid" and support for western Europe, to which he brought the steady vision of a great strategist combined with the administrative ability of a great organizer. These qualities, always infused by the unmistakable honesty of a noble character rather than by intellectual brilliance, won him the support of the two great political parties in the United States and the willing co-operation of the countries of western Europe. In the two short years in which he has held the office of Secretary of State George Marshall has shaped the policy of the western world.

Sam Carr

Montreal Star: Carr, you remember, was the leading light of the Canadian Communist Party, its organizing secretary and really its head man until the spy inquiry caught up with him. Or rather didn't catch up with him, for Carr ran underground almost as fast as Tim Buck did at the beginning of the war. The party immediately disowned him, tried to make it appear that he had never really been a Communist because of course a good Communist is loyal to the country in which he lives and Sam Carr wasn't.

Now Carr has been arrested and the Canadian Communists, afraid that when he comes to trial more light will be thrown on the party's intimate connection with the spy ring, offers an explanation of why he has been arrested at this time. Here it is, over the signature of the national executive committee of the Labour-Progressive Party:

"The Carr case is being calculatingly used for political blackmail against peace by the enemies of peace. The monied 'hate-Russia' gang, the 'fight-Russia' war-mongers have timed this operation to make capital for Wall Street's war program out of an alleged case of transmission of unauthorized information to a wartime ally."

What interests us here is the suggestion that Carr betrayed the party again by turning up in New York to fit in with the timing of its enemies. A very obliging fellowing, this Mr. Carr!

Fridolin

Montreal Gazette: Those who know or have heard of Mr. Gratien Gelinas only as the creator of the gamin character of Fridolin, for the comic and satiric revue sketches which made him famous in French Canada, may conceivably have been mildly surprised to learn of the serious and distinctive honour to be paid him by the University of Montreal in the form of an honorary degree.

But the ever increasing public which has followed the maturing of his talents and the growing stature of his work in the past few years will recognize the honour as particularly well deserved, and will commend the University for its discerning tribute.

In little more than 15 years, Mr. Gelinas has risen from the status of amateur actor and radio monologist to that of a successful playwright, a producer-director of his own work, and an outstanding character actor in both French and English. This is reflected in the current success of his play, "Tit-Coq." The distinguished flair he has shown in all of these capacities, and the receptive acclaim that he has won, have enabled him to make a clear-cut contribution to French-Canadian culture in the art of the theatre.

Furthermore, there has always been a strong undertone of philosophic and social purpose in the sly, satiric barbs he has tossed at the foibles of French-Canadian life, and at the factors which have inhibited solution of French-Canadian problems. If for nothing else, this earnest effort to lend his work a significance more than that of mere entertainment fully warrants the encouraging tribute being paid him by the University at a special convocation on Monday.

Chiang Kai-shek

Ottawa Citizen: In stating what is said to be the view of the majority of Vancouver's large Chinese population, Mr. Foon Sien, president of the Chinese Benevolent Association, writes in the Vancouver Province that "the exit of Chiang Kai-shek from politics brings an abrupt end to a ruthless dictatorship that has ruled China for a quarter of a century." Mr. Foon hopes for a coalition rather than an outright Communist regime. But he says the Communists have given "self-government and democracy to a degree," land to the tillers, and new hope to those suffering from hunger, indignity, and violence.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels. For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth; so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations. (Isa. 61: 10, 11.)

* * *

The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?....

When thou saidst, Seek ye my face; my heart said unto thee, Thy face, Lord, will I seek. (Ps. 27: 1, 3.)

* * *

My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God....

Behold, O God our shield, and look upon the face of thine anointed.... For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will be withhold from them that walk uprightly.

O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee. (Ps. 84: 2, 9, 11, 12.)

* * *

Lord, hear my voice: let thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications....

I wait for the Lord, my soul doth wait, and in his word do I hope. My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning: I say, more than they that watch for the morning. (Ps. 130: 2, 5, 6.)

With PETE McGILLEN

MORE THAN 300 delegates from all parts of Ontario attended the annual meeting of the Federation of Anglers in Toronto, Monday and Tuesday. It was a great success, and a highlight was the speech by the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests. He said bounties had been paid on 2,700 wolves in Ontario in 1948, and he did not favor increasing the bounty. In Quebec the bounty is $15, in Ontario $25. If it went any higher in Ontario, he was sure many of the Quebec wolves would move over into this province where they are worth more. A few of the items mentioned were that an area had been set aside in north-western Ontario to try and re-establish caribou in the province; that beavers were coming back under the zoning system; that there was a good partridge hatch in 1948; that 30,000 pheasants were released last year and may supplant the partridge as Ontario's number one game bird; that 27 Ontario fish hatcheries were being renovated and modernized; that sportsmen were not co-operating in the fish and game census.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

HE EXPRESSED GRAVE CONCERN over the rapid depletion of the moose, and assured the delegates, the department would not let this fine animal disappear from Ontario. To add to his headache, two of the three northern zones voted in favor of a closed season for two years, and the third opposed it. W. Shields, Schumacher, said cow moose were very plentiful in his zone, but bulls were scarce. He favored retaining the open season until such time as sufficient game wardens were named to enforce the laws. Mr. Shields declared that 75 per cent more moose were taken illegally, than were shot during the open season. He further pointed out that game wardens in the vast northern area were 162 miles apart in some sections. Most of the northerners favored an increase in the wolf bounty. The southern delegates did not provide any opposition because they figured the men on the ground had far superior knowledge of the true facts. However the 24 members of the Central Body, that is the Sportsmen's Parliament, will have to make a decision before the fish and game committee of the Legislature meets.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

DELEGATES WERE BITTER over the low fines being imposed by magistrates on offenders under the fish and game regulations. A case at Timmins where a man shot two moose brought criticism. He was assessed $40 in all, $20 on each animal. Dr. Giardine, a northerner, described the decision as "stupid", and said the Minister had assured him, the case would be re-opened. Such a move would improve the already friendly relations between sportsmen and the department. Two Bobcaygeon men were charged this week with shooting a deer out of season. When they appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, they paid fines of $50 each. That is more like it, and it indicates that the magistrate here is taking a serious view of poaching. A bouquet also goes to the two game overseers, Simpson and Windsor who made the arrests. One other thing I learned at this convention was that sportsmen watch the newspapers closely for news of convictions under the fish and game act.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

POLLUTION WAS A HOT TOPIC. Toronto delegates reported a dye plant would soon be built at Coboconk, and that the industrial waste would go into the Gull river. The resort owners on Balsam lake will like that. However, when one considers that organized resort owners are not doing too much to curb or control pollution, then sympathy would be misplaced. Reference was also made to the firm which is being built at Lindsay to manufacture meat casings. This firm has an industrial effluent that contains sulphuric acid. It is anticipated that this waste will play havoc with the marine life in the Scugog, and may even extend its damage into Sturgeon lake. A strongly worded protest was framed censuring the Ontario Government for lack of action to curb pollution. The same motion should have been sent to the Ontario Dept. of Health. Dr. L. H. Stirrett, an official of Dominion Wildlife Service told the meeting a pollution clause had been put in the Migratory Bird Act. It came into force last August, and means that pollution harming migratory wild fowl can bring effective charges.

KENNETH CLARKE of Sudbury, labelled "the grand old man of conservation" in the north, was awarded the Carling Conservation trophy. He was so overcome by the honor that he couldn't speak. Col. H. J. Heasley of Carlings made the presentation. This trophy was donated three years ago to be given the man who made the finest contribution to the cause of conservation during the year. It was first won by the late J. P. Turner, Ottawa, and last year went to William Smith of Dundas. Three men won honorable mention, Austin Peters, Kingston, William Shields, Schumacher and myself. The award was decided on a vote of executive of which I am a member. Clarke is an elderly man, has a wealth of knowledge about the outdoors, and his colleagues report he carried fish fry in containers on his back, as far as ten miles in the bush to stock lakes that were bare of game fish. The three men who won honorable mention were nominated for the award and it is the second time I have been so honored. Some day I hope to get that silver mug, but there are so many entitled to it, that day may be a long way off.

USE OF AEROPLANES for hunting and fishing was condemned by the delegates. In a resolution they asked the Government to enforce the law requiring all planes to check in at a border point, and check out at a border point. They had no objection to planes being used for transportation, but they do not want the plane to be used as a carried from which to fish. They oppose using the plane to spot deer and moose, and to drop hunters at points close to game. The delegates want sportsmen to travel to a proper base, then reach their fishing or hunting grounds by boat or on foot. This is a matter for the Dominion Dept. of Transport. Effective control was exercised over use of planes for duck and goose shooting at James Bay, and this measure won applause. There is no doubt but the question is one requiring immediate attention. Planes are being used to fly fish and game out of north-western and northern Ontario to be sold to the restaurants and hotels in large American centres. Failure to curb such a practice now would be disastrous to the fish and game resources, and also to the furbearers.

AHOY RESORT OWNERS: Zanders and Russ Hardware, cor. Cherry and Walnut Streets, Canal Fulton, holds a sportsmen's show in their big store every February. This year it will be during the week of Feb. 27. Last year in two nights they had 400 people attend, and are anxious to get 16 mm movies in sound of this district that they could show in their basement auditorium. It would be a good idea if any resort owner in this district were to send a small amount of literature to these people, before Feb. 27, and it can be distributed to the customers. Lucky Strike baits might send along some sample baits, and if any of the merchants have any ideas, they could pass them along to Mr. Zanders. The Chamber of Commerce could send maps or arrange for a film of the district to be shown. The Kawarthas draw heavily from Canton, Massillon, Canal Fulton and Akron, all of which are quite close to this hardware store, and the fishermen congregate there. Zanders would be glad to display fish pictures if you have any extra prints. It is an excellent chance to make direct contact with good customers of this area and to discover new ones—and it is free.

City Health Service Expanding

Many Peterborough residents are unaware that they have a 24-hour-a-day guardian charged with the task of preventing disease entering their homes. This week is Health Week and interest is centered on public health institutions throughout the Dominion.

In Peterborough the burden of this work is borne by the Department of Health under the careful supervision of Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH. The department is operated and maintained by the Board of Health which is a corporation (an autonomous body responsible to the City Council for finances only).

Each year a new board is named by the Council: the MOH and the mayor are automatically members, and the three other appointees must be resident taxpayers. Besides Mayor Swanston and Dr. Kelly, the 1949 Board of Health includes Alderman P. Anglesey, James Dutton, Sr., and William Tinker.

Function of the Department is the preventative rather than the research or curative aspect of medicine. In Peterborough there are not the finances, equipment or staff for research, and curative work is considered the prerogative of the family doctor.

Prevention is emphasized through two branches of social health work; individual hygiene and environmental hygiene. The Department feels that one of its most important tasks is education in public health.

Because of the many services offered by the Department it has access to a large number of homes in the city, and no occasion is lost to demonstrate the advantages of careful personal hygiene or sound sanitary practices.

Estimates indicate that about $30,000 of the taxpayers' money is being earmarked for this purpose in 1949. Helping Dr. Kelly in the unceasing battle to eliminate the threat of disease are six public health nurses, including the supervisor, Miss Gene Clark. The five nurses are all R. N. and have held a special training for their work during a year spent at the University.

R. M. MacPherson is the Sanitary Inspector whose chief interest is environmental hygiene or sanitation. He also is mainly concerned with the preventative aspect. At present Dr. Harold Worton is taking a course in Toronto to obtain his diploma in veterinary public health (D.Ph.)

In addition there is a secretary to look after the clerical work of the Department.

Instead of the present $30,000 Dr. Kelly estimates that Peterborough should be spending about $40,000, on a per capita basis of $1.10-$1.20. This would be through a generalized public health service which he explains obtains in all urban centres in Ontario with the exceptions of Peterborough, Ottawa, and London.

The MOH claims that the chief benefit from such a scheme would be the elimination of confusion and duplication of service between its health service and that of the Board of Education. And he contends a more efficient service would result for the same money.

(At present the Board of Education maintains its own medical and dental service for the school-children, hires its own staff and sets the salaries.)

If this were eliminated, Dr. Kelly claims, it would not be necessary to have public health nurse and occasionally a public school nurse entering the same home to attend a child.

Public Health Officials also feel that it would be to the benefit of children under observation if they could follow their progress through school after compiling relevant data during his pre-school days. Under the present system they lose track of him as soon as he enters public school.

Separate schools all utilize the services of the department.

Another future move in the direction of efficiency would be the establishment of a County Health Unit, Dr. Kelly believes. Under this organization the complete county would be included in one comprehensive unit. There would be subsidies from the Ontario government amounting to 50 per cent on rural expenditures and 25 per cent on city.

Other improvements desired by Dr. Kelly are an increase in trained personnel and sufficient office accommodation.

"We become interested in an individual six months before birth," says Dr. Kelly.

General Health supervision is done by the family physician, but the Department feels there is ample scope for pre-natal education. The mother must know how to take care of herself during pregnancy and approach the problems of childbirth in the right attitude — free from the taboos and old wives' theories that are associated with the subject.

"A woman approaching labor understanding what she has to face and not confronted by unknown fears, is a better patient," he says.

Dr. Kelly contends there should be a public health nurse for every 5,000 persons in the community, and describes the work of these nurses as that of liason between the home and the physician. In some respects the nurse may be considered a social service worker with exceptional medical qualifications.

Each nurse tries to become acquainted with every family in her district, particularly those families with young children.

"We are essentially educational in nature," says Dr. Kelly. "No matter what the purpose of the trip may be our main job is education, and we try to put it on a family basis. That is the proper foundation for a good health program."

In the opinion of the MOH the public health nurse by her intimate knowledge of the family can in some measure help to bridge the gap left by the gradual disappearance of the old-fashioned family doctor. Medicine is now more specialized and thus also more unpersonal. An introductory letter is sent to each mother at about the time she is scheduled to leave the hospital. The nurse then calls at the home and gives any advice that is required.

Prospective mothers are urged to contact the Department of Health six months before the birth of their children. A nurse will call for educational purposes.

The nurse does not diagnose or treat. If she suspects that the baby needs extra attention she will advise the mother to call in the family physician. Her work in advising the mother falls within the framework of the physician's orders. Whether there is one visit or 50 depends on the health of the baby and the mother's ability in caring for it.

While the nurse urges the mother to have the supervision of the family doctor in caring for her infant, sometimes the mother does not want to continue treatment under the doctor. If so the nurse suggests she take the child to the Well Baby Clinic.

Three of these clinics are held every week, on Tuesday afternoon at All Saints' Church, Thursday afternoon at Dixon House, and Friday afternoon at 440 Water St. Babies are weighed, and cards are kept recording changes in growth and development.

Nurses interview the mothers advising them on diet, clothing, and habits. If there are any problems, these also are discussed. The medical officer is also there to instruct the mother on caring for her child. If it is not well he usually refers her to the family physician

A preliminary report of the year's work shows that there has been a reduction in still births from 28.62 to 23.34 per 1000 population. Infant mortality was also reduced from 36.25 to 34.05.

When the child is six months old a second letter is sent to the home suggesting immunization for diphtheria, whooping cough and vaccination for small pox. After the first year the child may also receive scarlet fever immunization if the mother so desires.

A booster dose is given for whooping cough and diphtheria at the end of another year, and the last dose before the child begins school.

The Department ensures that regulations dealing with communicable diseases (contact, isolation, etc.) are strictly enforced.

All T.B. patients are reported to the Department which sees that they get adequate treatment. If the disease is active this usually means institutional care. The family physician is assisted in caring for the patient and aid is also given in investigating contacts.

Twice a month X-rays are given at the hospitals for suspects and contacts. Appointments are made through the family physician and the department arranges it. Copies of the reports are then sent to the family physician.

This costly work of X-raying is financed by the Peterborough County TB Association through the sale of Christmas seals. In 1948 761 X-rays were provided without charge to the recipients and this year it is hoped that every Peterborough resident will be examined.

Venereal Disease is another problem for the department. However it reports that during the year the disease was declining. In 1947 there were 59 cases of gonorrhea and 22 cases of syphilis; a year later the figures were 23 and seven, respectively.

Task of the department is to trace the contacts, interview them and carry out a thorough examination. If the result is positive, the person is placed under treatment. Delinquents—those refusing or neglecting treatment—are investigated.

The decrease in VD is general throughout the province, said Dr. Kelly.

The MOH confesses the department has not much to offer in the way of mental health. He hopes to get a psychiatrist soon who will establish here a mental health clinic.

The other service performed by the Department from the standpoint of individual hygiene is advising on nutrition.

Sanitary Inspector MacPherson who looks after environmental hygiene ensures that the food customers eat in restaurants and other eating places is pure. He inspects the kitchens to see that the proprietors observe all the health regulations.

Recently Mr. MacPherson reported that this year there were no outbreaks of disease attributable to food. A new insecticide has been responsible for the almost complete eradication of cockroaches in food establishments. Experimenting with a new poison indicate that a way has been found for wiping out colonies of rats.

Because they go into nearly every home, both milk and water are carefully inspected. To guard against bacteria getting into milk a check is made on the cattle, barns, methods of transportation, and the processing.

Not much difficulty is experienced in dealing with water because almost all residents get their supply through the common source of the waterworks. Chlorination and continual tests guard against an excessive bacteria count.

Chief worry of the inspector at present is the polluted water in the Otonabee, caused by the city's inadequate sewage disposal facilities.

White Cane Week Is Plea For Co-operation of Public

White Cane Week opens Sunday. This is the fourth annual information campaign sponsored by the Canadian Council of the Blind and The Canadian National Institute for the Blind to give the public a better understanding of the problems and the abilities of the blind.

"Too many people think of the blind as a group of apart who have lost not only their sight but interest in normal human activities", said Mrs. W. C. Bending, of London, Ontario, President of the Canadian Council of the Blind. "We would like sighted people to realize that we who are blind do need their assistance sometimes and we accept is gratefully. But with their assistance we are enabled to take our own responsible part in the affairs of our community."

Mrs. Bending said that the purpose of White Cane Week was two-fold: to make people aware of the White Cane as a symbol of blindness and as an appeal for guidance in traffic; and to improve public understanding of the problems of the blind. "The people of Canada have taken a greater interest in the blind as a result of previous White Cane Weeks. We hope the present campaign will produce greater opportunities for co-operation between the blind and the sighted for our mutual benefit in both social and vocational fields," Mrs. Bending concluded.

Most blind men and women have no wish to be babied, but there are many ways in which sighted people can help. For instance, to a blind person who lives alone, a regular visitor is a tremendous asset—one who can read letters or the newspaper to him, who can find things that may have been mislaid, check over accounts and do other such small tasks which are impossible for one who is blind.

A blind housewife would appreciate a little neighbourly assistance with her shopping, either at the local grocer's or on a downtown expedition to select a spring suit. Any blind student requires a regular reader, and many who are not students would enjoy the mutual pleasure which reading aloud affords.

Elderly people who have lost their sight are less able to go out by themselves than the younger ones and may, for lack of opportunity become shut-ins. A companion on a daily walk or an occasional drive would mean a great deal to this group, both for their health and their morale.

The men and women who carry the White Cane in their travels about city streets and country walks are always grateful for a guiding hand to help them across busy streets, to locate the entrances to buildings, to lead them on the street-cars. When offering to guide a blind person on the street, the Council reminds the sighted person to speak to the blind man first to find out where he wants to go and then to offer his arm for the blind man to take.

All these small acts of courtesy help to smooth the path of those who cannot see. The Council and the Institute hope that more sighted Canadians will take time from their busy lives to help their blind neighbours in this way.

Petes Turn Back Meteors By 8-5 Count In Neat Tilt

By FRED MAYBEE.

Honey Tompkins led Red Creighton's fighting Peterborough Hockey Club to victory over Hank Goldup's Toronto Meteors in Lindsay last evening by a score of 8-5 in a regular Senior "B" game before a fair crowd. Tompkins pulled the hat trick with three goals and one assist while his old partner on the razzle-dazzle line, Bun Kingdon, potted one and assisted on three others to combine a card of four and four as the two veterans played a magnificent game. Each centered a separate line, the former working between Freddy Garvey and Jerry Creighton while the latter centred Jack Mortimer and Johnny Quigley.

Play opened fast in the first and following a face-off Kingdon flipped a pass over to Mortimer in front of the cage and the latter sank a low hard one past Cleary. A few seconds later, Tompkins broke away from his own end fast following an enemy attack, found himself in the clear and went in alone to flip a neat backhander past Cleary from close range.

Fought Hard

Play speeded up as Meteors fought hard to break into the scoring column and finally their criss-cross passes clicked when Bill Thoms (former Leaf) slipped a short forward inside the Pete's blue line ahead to Robinson parked in front of Harding and he drove a hard one under the sprawling goalie. Play continued with little to choose between them as Kingdon, Mortimer and Quigley, Tompkins, Garvey and Jerry Creighton matched every move of the Veigel, Robinson, Williams and Campbell, Sadler, Bell combinations.

The defence pair of Drake Jopling and Ron Horton looked strong in the fast going with effective relief from McMasters and Parsons, who also toiled hard. The former was chased for charging midway in the session and Sadler, Bell and Veigel came close. Tompkins drilled a couple of hard ones at Cleary then he, Kingdon, and Quigley narrowly missed on a fine passing play as both squads tried neat plays on which Harding and Cleary both had to be good. With seconds to go, Petes clicked for number three when Horton sent a pass from right wing to Quigley parked on the outer edge of the red circle and the latter zinged a hard one to the right corner of the mesh.

Made It 4-1

With Williams off for boarding to start the second, the Creighton crew made it 4-1 as they swarmed around Cleary, and Tompkins shot a quick Creighton pass into the twine. Meteors fought back hard and Thorns, Parkes and Bell finally clicked when Harding stopped Thoms' try around the net as he fell but Bell snagged the biscuit and slid it to Parkes who shot over the prostrate goalie to narrow the margin to two. Play speeded up both ways with Mortimer, Kingdon and Quigley clicking in great style. Mortimer deflected Kingdon's hot drive past Cleary midway in the period from point blank range and two minutes later the durable veteran Kingdon went down alone, shot a terrific low one through the defence and beat Cleary again.

Meteors scored a freak goal to wind up the second as Williams shot was deflected upwards in some peculiar way and as Harding dived to save, the disc slowly rolled over his back into the net.

Peterborough added two more in the third to match a pair by the home squad as McMaster from Tompkins clicked at 4.05 and Kingdon and Tompkins combined in old time style on a thrilling play climaxed by Tompkins scorching drive from 20 feet on left wing that rifled wide high past Cleary into the far corner for possibly the nicest tally of all. Sadler and Vallerie scored for Meteors. It was a fine game and though 11 penalties were handed out by referee Max Reesor most were for minor offences in a clean game.

Neill's Take Cage Win Over Normal

Neill's uncorked a terrific scoring attack in a Girls' Basketball League fixture last evening in the YWCA gym to take a 50-11 victory over Normals. They rolled up a 27-2 lead in the first half with J. Dunk and W. Floyd leading the way, though nearly every player was in on the scoring. They had a 23-9 margin the last half, with W. Floyd and J. Dunk again the big scorers.

Joan Dunk accounted for 15 points altogther and W. Floyd had 14, with every player on Neill's team figuring in somewhere in the points amassed. None of the Normals got more than three points. Play was fast and quite clean throughout with the winners clicking better on the comparatively few foul shots sailed. Teams:

Neill's: D. Callan 6, J. Caverly 4, J. Dunk 15, M. Freeman 4, J. Vass 2, J. Smedmor 3, D. Gilmour 2, W. Floyd 14.

Normals: V. McCurdy 2, F. Bate 1, J. Smith 2, V. Jameson 3, R. Dougherty 2, P. Wilkinson, M. Pearse 1, R. Hircock, G. Webber, M. Bayne, J. Abernethy.

Referees: J. Armstrong and J. Cooper; timer, S. Ecobichon.

City Carpetball

The Fighting Parsons went down in two straight before the Money Grabbers to be eliminated from the President's Cup playoffs in the elimination game. The first game was close with the Fighters leading 6-5 in the sixth frame, only to drop the final ends and score 8-6. In the second game it was one-sided all the way with the Treasurers taking it 16-4.

The Glengarys have made the second round of the Cup by defeating the Bonner Wool-gatherers two out of three. The Glens lost the first 3-6, coming back to take the second 12-2, the final game being a close contest for the score of 7-6.

Four games were played in the league schedule. King Billie, getting reinforcements from the gallery, outrang the Bell Ringers two straight 16-5, 13-8. This was a bad week for the Bell Ringers, apparently they are a little strong on the pull at the wrong time for they got tangled up with the Thistles and sank in the bog for their efforts, the Thistles chalking up the scores of 13-7, 9-8.

Old Money Bags picked up every cent he and his gang could this week, getting hold of first place. This week's victims turned out to be the Bouncers who happened to get on the wrong end of the bouncing, losing 13-5 and 17-2.

Doubleheaders seemed to be the hit of the week, for the Glengarrys went after Garside's Spark Plugs and left them without any spark at all by scores of 14-3, 12-9 into the bargain.

Standings:

Team	W	L	D	Pts	Avg
1	16	8	0	32	59
2	15	7	0	30	59
5	14	7	1	29	56
7	12	12	0	24	47
3	10	7	3	23	49

6	8	13	1	17	44
9	7	15	0	14	40
8	5	13	2	12	46

The schedule for the coming week is:

Bonner No. 8 vs BESL No. 5; BESL No. 6 vs SOE No. 2; LOL No. 3 vs Treasurers No. 1; Garsides No. 9 vs BESL No. 5; LOL No. 4 vs BESL No. 6; SOE No. 2 vs LOL No. 3; Bonner No. 8 vs Treasurers No. 1.

In the President's Cup games Treasurers No. 1 will meet Garsides No. 9; LOL No. 3 vs LOL No. 4; BESL No. 5 vs BESL No. 6.

The Glengarys will play with winners of the 5 vs 6 contests.

Some alterations are made in the doubles with P. Gahagan now playing with O. Maley instead of Dick Hocking who has retired from the doubles play. Also A. Bromley takes the place of N. Killingbeck whose name was entered on error with F. Parsons. The name of O. Maley was recorded with the Glengarrys.

The elimination for the doubles is as follows: G. Palmer and J. Cridland vs N. W. Morley and W. McMahon.

O. Varty vs J. Wilson vs J. Douglas vs H. Doleman.

S. Cummings and A. Sims vs G. Self, W. Gracie.

A. Maley and P. Gahagan vs V. H. Lowes and E. Stadman.

G. Fulford and W. Wilson vs V. D. Bartley and T. Nice.

H Lundy and H. Harrison vs V. A. Robinson and R. Ralston.

Lindsay Boys Lose 'Spiel 8-7

GUELPH, Feb. 5—(CP)—Four schoolboy curlers from Sault Ste. Marie are established as the Province's junior champions today as the second annual Ontario Schoolboys' Bonspiel draws to a close.

Glen (Red) Sagle skipped his foursome to victory in a spectacular extra-end match Friday night to edge out a Lindsay rink skipped by Lawrence Skitch 8-7, and carry off the Esso Trophy, the spiel's top prize.

One bad stone by Skitch in the extra end of Friday night's final cost him the trophy. The Lindsay curler had an opportunity to win the game on his last shot but chipped out one of his own stones, leaving the Sault rink with the 8-7 victory.

In the eighth end, with the Lindsay rink lying two, Sagle eased through two guard rocks by inches and dropped his shot in the centre to win the end by one. Lindsay went into the tenth end trailing 7-6 but managed to tie it up and force an extra end.

Lindsay qualified for the final by ousting the Hornepayne rink skipped by Reg Goldberg 8-7, while the Sault rink defeated H. Richardson of Hamilton Westdale 10-2.

A couple of cage contests listed for the Collegiate gym tonight. Port Hope men and Gord McIntyre's classy Marines "B" squad tangle at seven in a Lakeshore League fixture, the locals being undefeated to date. This tussle is followed there by a girls' exhibition betwixt Cobourg colleens—who edged 'em out the other—and Hy Smith's local Towne Togs. Both should be interesting contests. Al Clark's good Marines "A" hoopsters are off to play the Aggies tonight in Guelph. It won't be long till the provincial playdowns commence for these clubs. Results of the girls' and the PCVS tilts last evening should be in elsewhere.

In a recent Kingston radio interview, Jake Edwards, physical director of Queen's, remarked: "We have a natural athlete at the university, one who will with training become another Jack Parry: he is Jack Sisson of Peterborough." High praise, indeed, but Sisson no doubt rates it. The 21-year-old first-year student in physical education proved a fine youth athlete in various sports here, being an outstanding gridder with the senior PCI-ers, and winning the Fred Craig Trophy as most valuable baseballer in Peterborough a couple of years ago. He is presently recovering from an appendicitis operation. Jack isn't taking part in sports this year, but no doubt will be prominent in Queen's football another year.

Facts About The TVL

Art Duncan, president of the Trent Valley Hockey League, was in town the other day. Dropped in to say thanks for TVL publicity and to state emphatically: "We're well on our way back to the days when the TVL was a really outstanding district hockey circuit—just about the best of its kind in the province." We agree. He said Marmora would represent the league in OHA playdowns this year, having won the title last season. That's the way they work it, so that OHA playdowns do not interfere with TVL schedule and playoffs. This year's winner will represent the loop next year in provincial playdowns. The loop will have six clubs in playoffs, first and third, second and fourth, fifth and sixth, all two of three games, finals being best of-five. Monday's games are: Hastings at Frankford/Lakefield at Madoc, Tweed at Marmora, and Campbellford at Norwood.

* * * * * *

Big game of Monday evening here is the clash between Petes and Legionnaires at 8.30 in Civic Arena. It's a four-pointer and therefore doubly important to both clubs. And it's the second last OHA senior "B" scheduled encounter before group playoffs commence, though we believe there's a postponement or two. Anyway, it should be a dandy scrap between these bitter city rivals, and no doubt a large crowd will be on deck for the struggle.

A Coat Of Whitewash

Legion were hot here last night and there wasn't much to it as they whitewashed Stouffville 8-0 before a goodly gallery. The first line, in particular, looked "hungry" as they tore in there repeatedly to fatten their batting averages. Joe Rochetta and Bob Greenlaw were the main snipers with Bob showing a lot of finish around the net. Stewart, Hill and Coombs clicked well, also, and the whole team was hitting on all cylinders most of the way. Al Burns was hitting the opposition some jaw-jarring body-checks and one of the Clippers lost all interest in proceedings after Al tossed his torso at him. Nicholls earned his shutout. Game was fast, clean and interesting, but one-sided.

* * * * * *

Petes were hot, too, last eve over in Lindsay as they romped to an 8-5 senior "B" win o'er Toronto Meteors. Honey Tompkins and Bun Kingdon sparked the attack for the Creighton crew, each being in on four markers, though centering different lines. Bun's line as a unit played a bangup driving game, while Jopling and Horton were outstanding on defence. Both goalies shone in a fast, open tussle with a lot of hot rubber poured their way. Game was clean and exciting throughout, and you can't write off the Petes as long as they play that kind of hockey. There's a lot of experience in the men o' McGillis and the veterans are gradually playing themselves into shape with an eye on the playoffs.

Harriers Getting Set

The Peterborough Harriers Club starts its indoor track season Tuesday night in the YMCA. First event, a conditioner, is the annual two-mile run, starting at 7.30 p.m. Athletes compete in pairs with times taken and the fastest three times get first, second and third prizes. W. A. Thistlewaite and Jack Martin are favored in this event, though Dean Reid holds the record for two miles with 12 minutes and 26 seconds. The athletes have been drilling for three weeks and this race ought to be fast for the small track. The club has grown since a year ago with 15 competitors, including some newcomers. Knude Eliason of Copenhagen, Denmark—a former track pupil of Neils Holst Sorenson, European 400 metre champ and Danish 400 and 800 metre champion—is one of these chaps. While the two-mile run is a club event, any athlete may compete.

It was a good fast game, with lots of excitement from start to finish. Norwood were three up before Havelock stared tin the last half of the second. Brown of Norwood tried a new system, got behind Goalie Hill after he had made a save and would not let him back in the net. He was given a couple of minutes to think it over. Granites Swamp Wood Rink In Quebec 'Spiel

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Feb. 4—(CP)—Mrs. L. E. Woolley's Toronto Granite foursome, defending champions, shared the lead with two other rinks after the initial second round matches were completed in the Sewell Trophy Women's Curling competition here Friday night.

Mrs. Woolley, a Royal Montreal rink skipped by Mrs. J. C. Riddell, and a Toronto High Park four led by Mrs. J. A. Taylor all boasted plus margins of 20, after winning both their matches by 10 points or more. Rules of the competition do not permit a score of more than 10-plus in any one game.

Mrs. Woolley, who has captured the Sewell Trophy for Toronto Granite on seven previous occasions, had an easy time in piling up her maximum margin today when she walloped Mrs. G. A. Wood of Peterborough 19-2. In the first round Mrs. Woolley swamped a Montreal West crew led by Mrs. H. W. Reynolds, 16-4.

Results included:

Well, it looks as far as the Ontario Tankard and District Cup are concerned as if "we've had it"—and we did want to see either one or both come this way. However, we have not given up hope yet. We still have the Ladies' Tankard to play, also a men's competition, and also the Colts' competition. We might click on some of these, and by the law of averages, it's our turn.

The junior boys are back from Guelph. Won two games and lost one. Had a good time, and got some real experience.

King Edward Loses

King Edward junior school puckists took a 7-1 victory over the Grove School team in a neat number. The K.E. boys ran up a 5-0 lead in the first period, but were held scorless in the second and they added two more in the third as Grove counted their lone tally in the final frame. Glenn Pagett notched three markers for the winners with Jimmy and Danny Sutherland each counting one, and Vern Smythe and Paul Dugan getting one apiece.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP) — A doctor's statement that President Franklin D. Legion Trounces Stouffville To Stay Atop Puck Group

Clipping the Stouffville Clippers 8-0 here last night Legionnaires remained on top of the OHA Senior "B" grouping. A good-sized crowd saw a fast, clean tussle on good ice, with the visitors outclassed in every period. They skated fast and tried hard—threatening at times to tally — but Legion had too much for them.

The Vitarelli pack struck early to ram home three goals in the first nine minutes, and it was just a case of playing out the string after that. They added three in the second and got a brace in the third. Only five penalties were handed out as they stuck to hockey, though occasionally checking hard in the speedy going.

Led Attack

Joe Rochetta and Bob Greenlaw sparked the home attack, the first line looking good. Joe scored one and set up four more, and Bob notched four, with Crowley in on a couple. The line of Hill, Stewart and Coombs was hustling, too. While the four local defencemen turned in a solid blue-line effort, the stiff body-checking of Al Burns was a potent factor in slowing down the Stouffville attack. He hit one player, Bradbury, so hard the latter had to be helped off the ice. Nicholls earned his shutout with some fine saves, though he wasn't too busy. Legge and Smith were probably the pick of the losers.

Toodie Greenlaw came close early as Legion pressed almost from the start. Bradbury had a good try and then Coombs scored on neat in-close combination with Stewart. Bob Greenlaw added one a minute later on Rochetta's pass, pulling the goalie right out. Bob got another shortly in close with Rochetta and Crowley building up a play. A dash by Parnell and D. Vitarelli nearly paid off and Ned Vitarelli made Harper hop. Stewart went off for slashing but nothing happened in his absence.

Draws Penalty

Ned Vitarelli was gated to start the second for high-sticking but returned and Legion pressed some more. Rochetta was right in but robbed and Johnston tested Nicholls. Bob Greenlaw made it 4-0 from Rochetta as he raced in fast to pull out the goalie and park the biscuit in the oven. Clarke and Ned Vitarelli were waved over for high-sticking and a rush by Mortimer and Toddie Greenlaw was close. Later, Rochetta rapped in Burns' pass as the power play was on. Toddie scored but it was offside. Hill made it 6-0 on Stewart's passout near the close.

Less than half a minute of the third had gone by when Crowley roared in to score with Ned Vitarelli's forward pass. Legge was chased for tripping but returned and they pressed for a space, with Hochber almost netting the boot-heel. Bradbury was flattened by Burns' body-check and helped off. Bob Greenlaw ended the scoring in close, with Ned Vitarelli and Rochetta aiding. Hill and Coombs came close and Nicholls robbed Smith near the end.

The teams:

Stouffville: Goal, Harper; defence, Campbell and Hochber; centre, J. Rumney; wings, Lawrie and Bradbury; alternates, Johnston, Legge, Smith, G. Rumney, Roose, Clarke, Crewson and Jewett.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and N. Vitarelli; centre, Rochetta; wings, R. Greenlaw and Crowley; alternates, Hill, Stewart, Coombs, Parnell, D. Vitarelli, H. Greenlaw, Burns, and Mortimer.

Referee, J. Heard; linesman, P. Calladine.

Summary:

First Period:

Legion—Coombs (Stewart) 6.10.

Legion—R. Greenlaw (Rochetta), 7.22.

Legion—R. Greenlaw (Rochetta, Crowley), 8.35.

Penalty—Stewart.

Second Period:

Legion—R. Greenlaw (Rochetta), 6.45.

Legion — Rochetta (Burns), 13.25.

Legion — Hill (Stewart), 17.50.

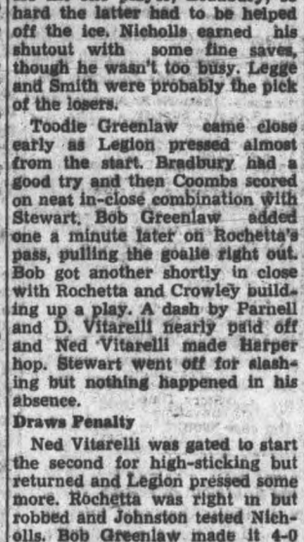
Penalties—N. Vitarelli (2), Clarke.

Third Period:

Legion—Crowley (N. Vitarelli), 2.0.

Legion—R. Greenlaw (N. Vitarelli, Rochetta), 7.40.

Penalty—Legge.



SETS 'EM UP—Joe Rochetta scored one and set up four more as Legion trimmed Stouffville 8-0 here last night. He and Bob Greenlaw—who scored four—were the leading marksmen.

Toronto Leafs Have Chance To Climb Higher

By The Canadian Press

Detroit's mid-season spurt has all but dashed the championship hopes of the other five National Hockey League clubs. Unless the Red Wings go into a tailspin in their last 16 games their 12-point lead should carry them through.

The Wings look like a sure bet for the pennant, but it would take more than a crystal ball to predict who will grab the other three playoff spots.

Boston and Montreal are in the favored spots right now, running second and third, with the Canadiens holding a four-point edge on the fourth-place Toronto Maple Leafs. The Leafs, who have been long overdue for a win streak, appear to be the main threat to pass Boston and Montreal, but you can't count the fall-enders, Chicago and New York, out of the picture by any means.

This week-end Toronto has an opportunity to close the gap. The Leafs play host to the Rangers tonight and move over to Boston for a clash with the Bruins Sunday night. In other jousts, Boston is at Montreal Saturday while on Sunday Canadiens go into Detroit and Rangers make the long trip to Chicago.

News that Conny Smythe, the Leafs' fiery general-manager, is on the way back from Florida, may pep up some of the lagging Toronto players. They know that Smythe can write a ticket to Pittsburgh quicker than any railway clerk.

Rangers will be strengthened for their clash with Toronto by the return of defenceman Allan Stanley and Edgar Laprade, both sidelined with injuries for the last game. It's likely they will be only used sparingly.

GOVERNOR'S PAINTING — Viscount Alexander shows a good sense of color in his painting and his perspective is good. This is the opinion of Rowley Murphy, well-known Canadian artist, who ran a critical eye over an Ottawa Valley landscape in oils which governor-general presented this week to the Toronto Men's Press Club. "I'd like to see him work on something larger—a six-foot canvas, say," the artist added.

Marlboros Ride Roughshod Over Stratford Team 10-0

By The Canadian Press

There'll be no victory cheers in the Stratford camp when the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A schedule winds up next Friday. Instead there'll be a sigh of relief.

Last night the Indians suffered their 31st loss in 37 starts as the second-place Marlboros blanked them 10-0.

The win gave pudgy Howie Harvey his fifth shutout of the season and boosted the Dukes to within two points of the league leading Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen.

In another Senior A game last night, the third-place Hamilton Tigers defeated the fourth-place Owen Sound Mercurys 7-4. In the Junior A division, St. Catharines Teepees took over sole possession of fourth place by besting the second-place Stratford Kroehlers 10-5 and the last-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors defeated the third-place Barrie Flyers 3-1.

The Dukes ran roughshod over Stratford. The Toronto squad rolled into a 1-0 lead in the first period, made it 6-0 in the second and then added four more in the third. Gord Hannigan paced the winners with four goals, followed by a two-goal performance by Chuck Blair and Johnny McCormack. Al Buchanan and Ken Johnson got one apiece.

Overcome Deficit

The Tigers overcame a two-goal deficit in the first period, counted four unanswered goals in the second period and outscored the Mercurys 3-2 in the third.

Clare Shillington and Johnny Conick, waging a two-man battle for the league scoring honors, picked up four and three points respectively for the Bengals. Shillington counted two goals and two assists while Conick got three assists.

Other Hamilton scorers were Tom Smelle, Murray Comfort and Hal Cooper. Doug Gillespie, Mike Shabaga, Alal Forslund and Tommy Burlington counted for Owen Sound.

Toronto's Don Rope sent the Irish up 1-0 early in the first period and Joe Decourcy lengthened it to 2-0 early in the second. Both goals were scored while the Flyers were a man short. Walter Clune sent St. Mike's up 3-0 in the third before Rick Hogg and Gord Pennell each got one for Barrie.

Outpoint Kroehlers

The Teepees shot into a 4-0 lead in the first period, were outscored 3-1 in the second, and then outpointed the Kroehlers 5-2 in the last frame.

For Teepees Red Sullivan tallied three goals. Fred Hildebrand and Obie O'Brien got two each while Gord Byers, Bud Evans and Wayne Brown got one each. Pierre Cadieux scored twice for Stratford. Others went to Doug French, Bob Markle and Danny Lewicki.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 5 (CP)—Canon Richard Charles Brown tonight was inducted as rector of St. Paul's Cathedral here and installed as Dean of the Anglican Diocese of Huron. Lakefield Bows By 5 to 4 To Campbellford CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 5—In a wide open TVL hockey tussle on Friday night the local boys edged out the Lakefield aggregation by 5-4 before some 600 fans. In the first frame the homesters, backed by goalie Nelson, chalked up two markers and held the visitors scoreless. The middle stanza opened with four quick counters within three minutes of play, two going to each club. The stalemate was broken at the 14 minute mark when Blake counted on a pass from Robinson. Lakefield grabbed two goals in the final period without a response from the local puckmen and pulled their goalie for the last minute of play but could not fire home the equalizer.

The teams:

Lakefield—Goal, Jones; defence, Jopling and Blewett; centre, Fawcett; wings, Paterson and Birch; alternates, E. Jewell, C. Birch, Henry, Hopkins, S. Longsberry, and White.

Campbellford—Goal, Nelson; defence, Tanner and Hendy; centre, Robinson; wings, Blake and Peloquin; alternates, Smith, Free, Kruger, Chernoff and Hendricks.

Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said Friday at Edmonton that Canada will not bid this time for the world's amateur hockey tournament, scheduled to be held in the United States next year.

"We doubt if it would be financially successful in Canada as yet," Dr. Hardy said. "The Allan Cup is so important in our minds that I don't think we could compete against it right now."

There is also the fact that the tournament first was asked for by the United States where it "probably will be more successful financially."

Skiing conditions at most Ontario centres were described as excellent Friday by the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity. A heavy snowfall Friday added up to 10 inches to Southern Ontario hills. Powder snow covered tow-hills and bush trails at most ski centres. Snow was packed, however, at Fort William and Port Arthur and Kenora.

Ben Hogan, the mighty mite of the links doesn't have a severe back injury his doctor said Friday at El Paso, Texas. The statement came from Dr. Davis Cameron, one of the doctors treating the golf champion for assorted injuries suffered in an automobile-bus collision Wednesday. A bulletin said Hogan's injuries should be fully healed in about two months.

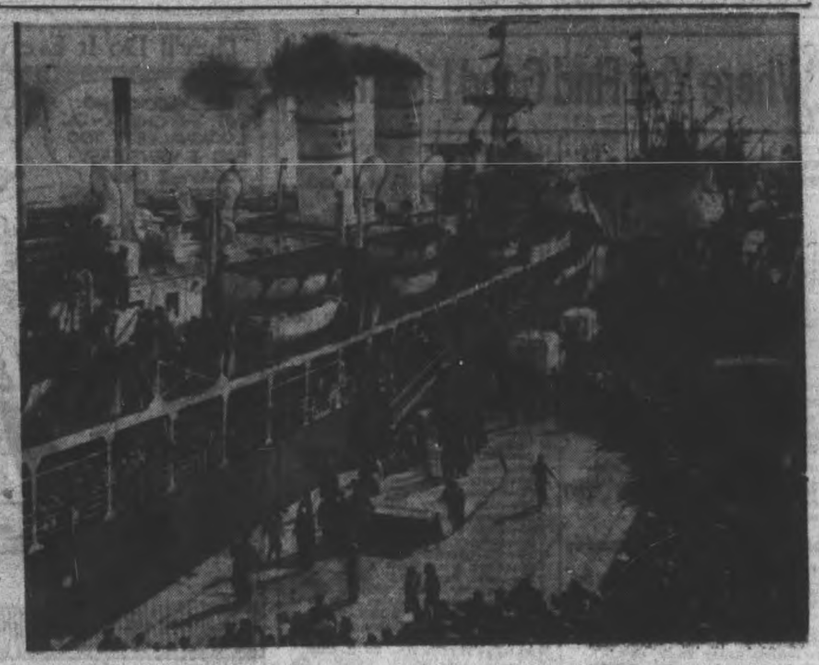
Amateur Skee Riegel reeled off a six-under-par 64 Friday to move into a tie with Lloyd Mangrum for first place at the halfway mark in the $10,000 Tucson open golf tournament. Both had 36 hole scores of 130. Mangrum, the opening-round leader, fashioned a 66 Friday on top of Thursday's 64. Riegel reversed the procedure. He had a 66 Thursday.

Promoter Frank Tunney said Friday night he had offered $4,000 to Johnny Greco, Montreal welterweight, to fight Pete Zaduk of Toronto in a 10-round bout at Toronto March 1. "I made the offer through Eddie Quinn, Montreal promoter, and I'm waiting to hear from Greco," said Tunney.

Jack Forbes, 19, left Toronto Friday for the Philadelphia Athletics training camp at West Palm Beach, Fla., for a tryout with the American League baseball team. Forbes doubled as pitcher and infielder last year in Toronto's Greenwood Park Junior League.

The first covered rink ever to be built in Minden, Haliburton County village, was officially opened Friday night before a capacity crowd. Voluntary subscriptions raised the entire $32,000 needed to build the modern Arena and Recreation Centre.

University of Western Ontario Mustangs had an easy time in trampling McGill Redmen 66-17 at the London Arena Friday night to register their fourth straight win in the Senior Intercollegiate Basketball League. Bob Phibbs, the Mustangs' leading scorer, set the pace with 17 points.



THE FIRST SHIPMENT of Cyprus refugees released by the British arrive in the port of Haifa. The Israel Government called the event "Operation Rescue". The SS Galilo, with some 1,500 refugees aboard, was the first ship to carry these people back to their homeland. Thousands of people came down to the boat landing to welcome the refugees back.

Many Mourn Alfred Driver, Veteran of the Boer War

BETHANY, Feb. 5 —(ENS)— Funeral service of Alfred Driver, veteran of two wars, was held on Wednesday from his home in Bethany and was conducted by the Rev. W. Crandall of the United Church. His death occurred on Sunday following a brief illness.

Many friends gathered to pay their last tribute to one who had justly earned the high esteem of the neighborhood.

Mr. Driver, who last month celebrated his 80th birthday, was born in Norwood, Surrey, England and for a number of years was employed with the publishing firm of Hodder and Stoughton in London. Together with his wife and family he came to Canada in 1906 and took up farming in Bethany. He retired in 1925.

Mr. Driver volunteered in the South African Campaign, serving with the Second Battalion of the East Surrey Regiment and was decorated with the Queen Victoria Medal and five bars. Another momento of that war was a treasured gold box presented by the late Queen Victoria in recognition of special service. He was one of the original Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, leaving Canada in 1914 for France and was invalided home in 1916, receiving the 1914 Star as well as the General Service and Victory Medal.

In 1916 he joined the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve with the rank of Chief Petty Officer and was stationed at Halifax and Esquimault. At the close of the war he came back to Bethany, busy in various community activities including offices in the Loyal Orange Lodge No. 1022 as Master and First Lecturer. His musical ability was outstanding and he was the local bandmaster and leader of the United Church Choir for many year.

Mr. Driver was remarkably active despite his advancing years, always taking part in the Warrior's Parade at the Canadian National Exhibition and last summer he marched with the Orangemen at their July 12th celebration. In July, 1948, Mr. and Mrs. Driver celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary.

The Bearers of the flag draped casket were Thomas Staples, Walter Price, William Rowan, George Waddell, Offa and L. H. Staples.

Bearing the many floral tributes were Gordon Driver, Donald Driver, Vern Mulligan, Maurice Driver, Douglas Bruce and Robert Driver.

Members of Bethany Orange Lodge attended in a body and officiated at the burial service in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mr. Driver leaves his wife, the former Emma Bristow; three sons, Gilbert of Moose Jaw, Sask., Douglas, New Toronto and Leonard of Bethany; and a daughter, Phoenix, Arizona. Another daughter Gladys, died in 1913.

There are seven grandchildren: Donald and Gordon Driver, New Toronto; Miss Gladys Driver, Toronto Miss Grace Driver, Peterborough; Mrs. Verne Mulligan, Robert Driver and Maurice Driver, all of Bethany and one great granddaughter Dianne Mulligan, also of Bethany.

MR. ALFRED DRIVER, highly esteemed Bethany resident, who died this week. Mr. Driver served in the Boer War and also was one of the originals of Princess Pats in the First Great War.

NORWOOD, Feb. 5—(ENS)— Westwood defeated Havelock 3-0 in the first of two games Havelock played in both to make up for a postponed game at the start of the series, playing Norwood in the second encounter of the evening. Peterborough Wins Tribute From Sister City In England

"Our sister city across the sea" is the heading of sketch of Peterborough, Ontario, published in the weekly Standard of Peterborough England. It was written by D. J. Cadman, B. Sc., F.R.G.S., from his reading of illustrated articles from this city, and other Canadian sources.

"It was indeed good to read in the Standard that Peterborough, Eng., has been adopted by Peterborough, Ont., and that food parcels will be sent to us here from our Canadian sister city." Mr. Cadman wrote in his introduction.

"What sort of place is this city across the Atlantic? In what sort of town do those generous folk, Petriburgians of the American continent live?

It has, to start with, population of about 35,000, so their city is somewhat smaller than ours. To make up for this it has a truly delightful position. To its north lies the great northern forest of Canada, with its rushing streams, quiet lakes and sturdy trees. And to the south lies the smiling agricultural lands of sunny southern Ontario, almost surrounded by the famous Great Lakes and unrivalled throughout Canada for abundance and variety of crops. Here are fields of grass grazing sleek cattle, and fields of wheat and barley; here, also, we have orchards of apple, plum and pear.

Holiday Resort

In Peterborough's immediate neighbourhood, both east and west is to be found a delightful lakeland—known as the Kawarthas. This, indeed is a favourite holiday area of the Canadians. Peterborough is the gateway to the Kawarthas and to the city come many thousands of people from Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and other centres of Canadian population; and from hence they go to enjoy fishing in the well-stocked water, sailing on the quiet still lakes or cruising through the winding rivers, enjoying their beautiful sylvan setting as they sail along.

But Peterborough, Ontario, like its English counterpart, is no idler. It is a busy industrial city. It makes, for instance, clocks, and one of its slogans is "Peterborough keeps Canada on time". Numerous other industries have settled in the city; boat building and flour milling are but two. It is also a ham curing centre, and it is here that "Tendersweet" hams, famous throughout Canada, are prepared.

Such hams, might it be whispered, included in food parcels, would be more than welcome in the hamless sister city of the Mother Country.

Trent Canal

Our transatlantic counterpart has one other interesting feature of which mention must be made. The Trent Canal passes through Peterborough, and here the land rises 65 feet so naturally a means had to be found to raise the canal this distance.

Rather than use the conventional way and construct a series of locks they built a hydraulic lift lock which first went into operation in 1904. It works by balance and one huge iron box (130 feet by 39 feet) is raised complete with boat and water and down the other side comes a similar box also containing a floating ship. It is indeed unfortunate that this canal can only be used by small ships ad that it is closed to the large type of steamer plying on the Great Lakes.

Peterborough, Ontario, is thus an interesting city. A thriving, growing community, well placed in the Dominion, and with many industries. A very different city from its English namesake, yet linked to it with bonds of friendship. And we here are indeed grateful to the Petriburgians across the Atlantic for their latest show of generosity.

Young Actors Making Good On Broadway

BY PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 —(CP)—Whatever the shortcomings of the current theatrical season on broadway, it has turned up some promising young actors who should give good accounts of themselves in the future.

New productions may have lacked originality and play may have flopped with the same dismal regularity as in previous years. But there have been enough outstanding individual performances to show there is plenty of fresh talent on the way.

One of the most sensitive and touching portrayals was that of Margaret Phillips as the herione of Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke."

Canadian-Born "Find"

Another "find" was Allyn McLerie, playing opposite Ray Bolger in "Where's Charley," the uproarious musical version of "Charley's Aunt." Miss McLerie is a native of Grand'mere, Que.

The revue, "Lend An Ear," presented a cast studded with bright and talented young people. Among them were George Hall, Toronto-born comedian; Carol Channing, a tall blonde with a sense of humor, and two versatile dancers, Gene Nelson and Bob Scheerer.

Johnny Coy, an agile tap dancer form Montreal, and Viola Essen, a ballet dancer, contributed a notable sketch to another revue, "Along Fifth Avenue."

A young, little-heralded actress named Julie Harris and a big dramatic moment in "The Young and Fair." Cast as a kleptomaniac school girl, who becomes insane at one point, she gave a terrifyingly convincing performance.

Canadian Opening

"The Ivy Green," a play about the life of novelist Charles Dickens, will have its first showing at the Grand Theatre in London, Ont., March 4. After a two-night stand there it will run for a week in Toronto starting March 6, then to Boston and Broadway the week of March 28. Judity Evelyn, originally from Moose Jaw, Sask., who began her acting career in Winnipeg, will appear in the play.

Sombre is the word for "Forward the Heart," a two-act play by Bernard Reines at the Forty-Eighty Street Threatre.

Only four persons are in the cast. William Prince acts well as the irritable and wilful veteran. Mildred Joanne Smith is the negro maid, as gentle and reasonable as her suitor is adolescent and selfish.

Footlight Footnotes

"Oh, Mr. Meadowbrook?." The Ernest Truex vehicle produced by Toronto-born John Yorke, closed at the Golden Theatre last Saturday night. . .Willard Stoker has acquired the English rights to "The Young and Fair." Flora Robson will play the part of the headmistress.

A letter from the Ontario Association drew attention to its service diplomas which are offered to Agricultural Societies for presentation to active members of long standing.

God Gives Money To Man For Him To Use As A Trust

By REV. E. R. JAMES.

God said unto the rich man: "Thou fool."—St. Luke 12: 20.

Are you shocked that God should a call a rich man "a fool"? This statement is made by the greatest of teachers, who knew all about God. Our forefathers, who had time to think, called an insane person "a man possessed." This Scripture is written that we may have a clear idea of the mistakes about money. A careful, hard-working farmer has become possessed with wealth honestly. You have a small pension together with a small cottage and garden. You are not rich but you are comfortably off. Are you in spiritual danger? The Master said:—"How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the Kingdom of God.

HE FORGOT GOD. This is very easy for a man in comfortable circumstances. It is a temptation that appeals to every generation. When you were married you went to church regularly. But now, when you have no financial worries, you rarely enter God's House. Hearken to Moses writing nearly four thousand years ago: "When thy flocks and thy herds multiply, and thy silver and thy gold is multipiled, then beware lest thou forget the Lord thy God, which gave thee power to get wealth." A farmer of all men, should not forget God, who gives him the rain and sunshine in their season. You will notice how this farmer is full of himself. "I" and "My" repeated over and over again.

HE STARVES HIS SOUL. "Soul, take thine ease, eat, drink and be merry." He thinks that he can feed his soul on money. Does the following Scripture strike a responsive note in your mind. "God gave him his desire but sent leanness withal into his soul." God has given you reasonable wealth, is your spiritual side deadened to the things of God. If there leanness in your soul? If so, you are in the class with this rich farmer.

HE DID NOT KNOW THE VALUE OF MONEY. Are you startled by this statement? A keen, clear headed business man not knowing the value of money. Christ does not condemn in itself. He advised the rich young man to go and sell all that he had and give to the poor. To Nicodemus, a wealthy ruler of the Jews, who values his social position on the Sanhedrin, the Lord says he must be born again. Do not forget the Master was buried in a rich man's tomb.

God's purpose in giving you some measure of prosperity is that you should use that money as a trust. This writer was deeply moved, when visiting a poorman's home to hear the bread winner say:—"Every week my wife puts the church money in an envelope. It is God's money; we would not think of robbing God." What a beautiful ideal? Are you practicing it?

When you hear of some friend or neighbour in some money difficulty, does your hand go instinctively into your pocket? It is a good sign that you know the value of money. Money is a responsibility. God has placed that trust in your hands. Do not worship money. You will become like it—hard and selfish. Remember Plato's parable. A temple with a mirror at the door. The worshipper was invited to look into it. He saw his own face. "Keep on looking" was the order. His face slowly changed till he saw the face of the god he came to worship, a profound truth. You become like the God you worship.

TAKE HEED, BEWARE OF COVETOUSNESS.

Religion Should Make Men Kind, Humane, Considerate

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY D. D.

A plausible philosophy of life has said, "Be good and you will be happy." But if happiness consists in being free form danger, and immune form pain, the sufferings of good men, often persecuted because of their very goodness, have revealed how false is that easy adage.

A deep mystery of life is that the innocent have suffered with the guilty. It is the mystery of the Cross, and the suffering and sacrifice of Christ himself.

The hostility that Jesus aroused in His prejudiced fellow-townmen as He began His ministry in Nazareth continued on the part of many throughout His ministry. Strange to say, it was the finest things that He did that arounsed the most violent opposition.

Religion ought to make men humane, kind, considerate, ready and eager to help one another. But unfortunately it has often made them bitter and full of hatred.

It was to unnatural that the claims of Jesus should be questioned by some, as they had been by his own brothers (John 5:7). But why should His pronoucement to the forgiveness of sins have aroused such hatred? If He had no power to forgive sins, the sins would not be forgiven. To question His authority was one thing—to hate Him, and seek to kill Him, was another.

Again the Sabbath was a noble Jewish institution, a symbol of the utmost sacredness and devotion. Its observance called forth the loftiest feeling in devout Jews. But when its observance became so formal that concern for the welfare of one's fellowmen was oblitered, the glory of the Sabbath was lost. To break the Sabbath, in their idea of it, was a greater sin than to have hatred and murder in one's heart.

The opposition of certain Scribes and Pharisees and official religious authorities had more justification. They were the official representatives of religion. As Jesus himself said, they "sat in Moses' seat." They had some warrant for asking this unofficial zealot from Nazareth, "By what authority doest thou these things? And who gave thee this authority?"

The mistake that they made was in ignoring the actual words and deeds, in being blind to the authority of goodness, and in hating One whom the people heard gladly.

Are we wiser than those of old? Is religion our response to the goodness of God, or is it dominated by prejudice and bigotry?

Prince Phillip's Mother Dedicates Life To Church

By L. S. CHAKALES

TENOS ISLAND, Aegean Sea, Feb. 5 —(AP)—The paternal grandmother of Britain's young Prince Charles is wearing the sober grey of a sister in the Greek Orthodox Church.

The 63-year-old mother of Prince Philip, Princess Alice of Battenberg, in her own words "withdrew from the world" last July to dedicate the rest of her life to "service." She has yet to see her two-months' old grandson.

"Every year," she told the Associated Press in an interview, "each sister is given four weeks' holiday. I hope to use those this summer to go to London to see my son and grandson and other relatives, including my 86-year-old mother."

Princess Alice lives in four simply furnished rooms on the first floor of a two-storey villa on the end of this Aegean Island town where thousands of persons make bi-annual pilgrimages to the miracle-working icon of the church of the Virgin Mary. She has no servants. Living with her as a companion is black-robed sister Sophia Dimitriou Alverti, a nun in the Greek Orthodox Church.

Between them they perform all household duties. There is no telephone. They have electric power only a few hours each night.

On rare occasions Princess Alice goes to Athens to visit her nephew and niece, King Paul and Queen Frederika.

Asked if there were a possibility that Prince Philip might visit her here, she declared it would be "impossible" in less than a year. He would be required to stay in England because of the King's illness.

Demanding Schedule

Tall, erect and vigorus despite her 63 years, the British widow of the late Greek Prince Andrew maintains a demanding schedule. Usually she arises at six. With sister Sophia she goes each morning to the Church of the Virgin Mary for worship.

The entire community knows "The Princess." She neither receives nor expects any more favors than are granted to the other sisters. The priests describe her as a "loyal and faithful" servant of the Lord." She has adopted with the approval of the church, the task of starting a nurse's school so that each of the villages on the island of 12,500 person could be assured of at least some form of medical assistance.

The project hasn't been entirely successful because of lack of money. Princess Alice is also having difficulty in recruiting enough Greek maidens who want to make nursing a career.

While the nursing school is her primary work, Princess Alice also crowds numerous acts of charity into her crowded day. Personal friends in London, Athens and other European capitals constantly send her packages and gifts. These she attributes to the poor and underprivileg of the island.

RARE VISIT—For the first time in 25 years triplets were born at Smiths Falls. Mrs. William O'Prey, an English war bride of Portland, Ont., was the mother of the three babies, Billy, Bernard and Bruce. Mrs. O'Prey is shown in this Beaux Arts photo with the babies, which weighed six pounds, 10½ ounces; six pounds, 8½ ounces; and six pounds, 3½ ounces.

City Trust Aid May Purchase City Hall Site

Taxpayer of Peterborough may have to provide out of their pockets only the furnishings of the Morrow city hall.

The site may be purchased with City Trust money, and the erection of the building will be financed out of the legacy of W. George Morrow.

Mayor Swanston has been intimating this possibility of late as a result of conversations with Mr. Vincent Eastwood, chairman of the City Trust. It is one of various matters calling for patience in waiting for their gradual development, but there does not seem to be any reason why the prospect of this substantial assistance from the City Trust should not be mentioned.

Presumably it was Mr. Eastwood who first suggested that the property owners might be relieved of borrowing for the purchase of the city hall site by making use of City Trust funds which in several years are to be distributed anyway, as the Trust's long service and its usefulness come to an end. The gradual elimination of sinking funds in debenture borrowing steadily reduces the fiduciary responsibility of the Commission, and its dissolution begins to loom in sight.

Both Interested

City council and Utilities Commission both have an interest in the remaining money in the care of the City Trust when they prepare to close their books. It will be the last of many grants and contributions from the Trust to the public through the City Council. Necessarily, approval of Utilities Commission would have to be obtained to the final disposal of residue funds for the buying of city hall land, and that might be given in the spirit of partnership in the civic administration.

At any rate, it is understood that an ultimate sum of $165,000 to $175,0000 may be available. Possibly it might include returns from sale of several of the council's properties: Ashburnham Town Hall, former Canadian Nashua Building at Perry and Aylmer Streets now occupied by Canadian Sealright Company.

INTERNATIONAL SWIMMING CLINIC starts a two-day meet at Peterborough's YWCA and will feature Canadian Ornamental and American Synchronized swimming. Some of the Peterborough Ornamental Club members are shown in the above photo at pool practice on Friday and include Isabel Crary, Beverley Rumary, Betty and Mary Dorsett, June Story, Norma Gant, Mary Gordanier, Maureen Finn, Jean Millard, Betty Mather and Mary Rutherford. Jews, Christians Planning Special Program

Jews and Christians will unite for a Brotherhood Week to be observed in Peterborough from Feb. 20-27. The Mayor was approached by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews and plans for the week were made by a meeting of prominent Peterborough citizens representing various Christian and Jewish organizations.

Brotherhood Week will be launched by a proclamation of fellowship from the Mayor. Brotherhood will be the special theme of meetings of service clubs and women's meetings and there will be a special program for the schools.

Secondary and public schools will be addressed by three prominent American women: Mrs. Ellen O. Gorman Duffy, president of Barnard College Alumnae; Mrs. Everett Clinchy, wife of the president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, New York and Mrs. Stella Counselbaum of Chicago.

Those who attended the meeting at which the project was launched were Alderman P. J Anglesey, representing the Mayor; Rev. Dr. Semple representing the Ministerial Association; Harry Yudin representing B'naith B'rith; Dr. F. M. Grant, Catholic clergy; Miss Helen McGregor, Teachers' Council; Jack Richardson, Y's Men's Club; J. R. Corkery, K.C., Charles Kingan, Fred Overend, Isadore Black and Richard Jones. Director of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

Distemper Epidemic Fatal To 89 Dogs Inspector Destroys 62 Cats In Month

A record epidemic of distemper for the Peterborough district has broken out among dogs, according to the local humane Society. In his monthly report Inspector Gerald Dunford said 89 dogs had to be destroyed during January.

Mrs. W. A. Young, publicity chairman, informed the Examiner that the majority of those destroyed had contracted the disease. Chief victims are pups and young dogs. The distemper speedily attacks the brain of the animals and it seems unaffected by anti-distemper serum.

Even those dogs that have been inoculated have not been immune.

Inspector Dunford also reported that seven stray dogs were picked up on city streets and six were returned to their owners. Ten dogs were killed on the streets and seven cats. Sixty-two cats were destroyed.

Two trips were made to a farm in Ennismore investigating cruelty to animals charges. No charges were laid.

There were two court cases during the month caused by charge laid by the Humane Society. A conviction was obtained on one, and the other one is adjourned.

Two Pedestrians Hit By Cars Both In Hospital

Two pedestrians are in hospital today following separate accidents with cars on Friday night and Saturday morning. Mrs. Effie Rowley, 67, of 735 Young St., has head injuries and possibly a fractured leg. Harold Delahaye, 544 Bethune St., 40 years old, has a broken arm and other injuries.

Mrs. Rowley was injured on George St., about 6:20 p.m. Friday as she was struck by a car driven by 18-year-old Leslie Murray, 199 Crescent St. Taken into a nearby office for treatment, she wa slater removed to St. Joseph's Hospital. PC Allan Edmison investigated.

A peculiar feature of the accident is that Mrs. Rowley is the owner of the home in which the late Mrs. Alice Waldron was a tenant. Mrs. Waldron died of injuries received in a motor accident in January.

Mr. Delahaye was injured about 2:45 Saturday morning as he and his wife were crossing George St at London St. Both were struck and knocked down by a car driven by Donald Armstrong, 20, of 153 Maria St. The injured man was taken to the home of his brother, 138 London St., where he received emergency treatment until removal to St. Joseph's Hospital. Mrs. Delahaye, who was shaken up by the collision, was permitted to return to her home after examination. PC Claire J. McGillen investigated.

People Favor Opening Skating Rinks On Sunday

A suggestion that skating rinks should be open on Sunday afternoon and evening seems to have struck a responsive cord with the Peterborough public. Of those who were interviewed by the Examiner a large majority plumped for the skating.

Already a sizeable number of people skate on the open air rinks but there are no dressing-rooms open for them to change their shoes and skates in comfort. If this measure of supervising the rinks between the hours of 2 p.m. and 9.30 p.m. were adopted it would require the presence of a caretaker.

The move was discussed at a meeting of the Parks Committee on Monday night. Chairman Dr. Herbert Young and Parks Foreman Armar Butcher were appointed to interview the president of the Ministerial Association and explain the situation.

Chief concern of those interviewed was whether skating would affect Sunday School attendance.

Jack Smith of Benson Ave. was strongly in favor of opening the rinks. But he was not unmindful of Sunday School.

"If skating interferes with Sunday School then why not change the time for Sunday School. At St. Paul's they have it right after morning service."

A Bit Doubtful

Mr. Smith said he thought children should go to Sunday School and under this arrangement there would be room for pleasure as well as Sunday observance.

Herbert McCannan, Wakerfield Ave., was less sure that it was a good move.

"If you open them at about 4 p.m.—when the children have had time to go to Sunday School — then I'll agree," he said. Mr. McCannan said he thought there was no more healthy sport in Canada than skating and cited the example of Barbara Ann Scott. But he added the important rider: "Sunday School should be the first attraction and skating secondary."

Mrs. Josephine Feeley, Norwood: "I definitely believe that skating rinks should be open from 2 p.m. to 9:30 on Sundays. Don't let them open in the mornings—there would be too much opposition from the churches. Not only the kids but the adults could skate. I would go myself if the houses were open where you could change into your skates."

Al Spencley, Auburn St.: "Let the youngsters get as much pleasure as they can. Let the rinks be open Sundays. Two until 9:30 is perfect with me. It's a good healthy sport, why not let them skate."

Mrs. James Collins, 215 Dalhousie: 'Yes. Open the rinks on Sunday. Make sure there is supervision on the rinks and in the dressing rooms. Adults would like to skate with their children once during the week. Two rinks open until 9:30 is all right with me."

Mrs. John Lewis, 239 Engleburn: "I'm definitely in favor of having the skating rinks open on Sundays. Even if the children do have to go to Sunday school from three to four there's still plenty of time to skate. It's a good, clean healthy sport for children."

Police Chief Constable John Thompson was emphatic in his support of the proposed Sunday use of the rinks. He said that at present his department had difficulty keeping children off the rinks. When they were ordered off, he said, there is often resentment and the destruction of property out of a spirit of revenge.

"If they are permitted to use the rinks, it will give them something clean to do, we will know where they are, and they'll be keeping out of mischief," said the Chief.

Babe Fontaine, Water St. lunch counter operator and a sports supporter said: "Absolutely" in favor of the idea.

"Young people get into trouble when they have nothing to do. There is nothing around a small city for the young people to do. What little entertainment there is, is often too expensive for them. They are having a good time on the rinks—why not let them use them?"

Utilities Adds 500 Customers

There were 500 new domestic consumers added to the electrical department of the Peterborough Untilities Commission, in 1948 the annual report of the department shows. Total now is 8,744 domestic consumers. Expansion of services marked the year. The new 300 kilowatt unit sub-station for Ashburnham has been delivered and is ready for service when the necessary changes have been completed in the distribution system. New circuits to supply the housing area near the Locks Bridge were completed. The Brookdale subdivision in the north, the Cadverly subdivision in Ashburham and on Rose and Wilson Avenues in the south-western part of the city are also new areas which have been supplied by additional circuits.

Many parts of the distribution system were rebuilt and in the southern part of the city 80 new 300-watt street lights were installed, of the latest design.

A surplus of $74,061.24 is shown for the year's operations in the department. This compares with one of $101,150.80 in the previous year. Domestic lighting revenue increased by $27,000 over last year; commercial revenue is up by $2,500 and revenue from power consumers was reduced by $4,000. Total revenue for 1948 was $27,000 higher than in 1947, which had been $50,000 higher than 1946.

Referring to restrictions on the use of electrical power imposed by the Ontario Hydro, the department report says: "Aided by the excellent co-operation of all classes of consumers, the commission was enabled to avoid shut-offs of power."

Operating expenses were increased by $33,000 over 1947. There was $16,000 more paid for power purchased from the Ontario Commission during the year than in 1947.

Average monthly peak was 23,000 horsepower, about a thousand higher than 1947.

Average monthly consumption per consumer was 330 kilowatt hours, and the net cost was .815 cents a kwhr. For 1947, the corresponding figures were 274 kilowatt hours at .87 cents. There were 1,108 commercial lighting consumers whose average cost was 1.3 cents per kilowatt hour, the same as in 1947. Power consumers paid .76 cents per kilowatt hour, or $17.85 per horsepower per year.

There were 809 three-wire services run to supply houses and stores and 125 others.

There were 488 flat rate heaters added during the year, at the expense of the consumers. There are now 4,080 such heaters with a total load of more than 3,000 horsepower.

During the year, 16 miles of new primary lines were constructed in the Peterborough Rural Operating Area and 213 consumers added to the system.

Thieves Ransack 4 Parked Cars

Four cars parked downtown within a few blocks of each other were ransacked during Friday evening, it was reported to police. Losses were minor.

Arthur Jeffery, 391 Holloway Drive, reported that the glove compartment of his car had been robbed of a wallet containing no money. The car was parked on the lot near Sherbrooke St. at 207 George St., North. A box of .22 cartridges, which do not belong to Mr. Jeffrey, was found scattered over the front seat of the car, police were told.

In the same parking lot, the car of Ray Lynch, 55 Murray St., was also entered. This was discovered by PC Douglas Farthing, who was investigating the first case reported. Check with the owner found only a flashlight and a pair of pliers missing, also from the glove compartment.

Third car reported the subject of attention by unauthorized persons was that of William J. Garner, 597 McCannan Ave. It was parked near the Odeon Theatre. There was nothing taken.

Robert Kelly, RR 1, Norwood, said that his car had been robbed as it was parked in the lot behind a hotel on Charlotte St. Missing were a pair of gloves, flashlight, overshoes, hat and perhaps some tools.

City detectives are investigating the little series, which may have been committed by the same person or persons.

Rev. Dr. Harold Young Anniversary Preacher

Rev. Dr. Harold Young of Toronto is to be on Sunday the guest preacher at the 113th anniversary of the George Street United Church Sunday School. Dr. Young is a former minister of George Street Church and since leaving this city has had successful pastorates in Toronto churches. He is the General Secretary of the Board of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the United Church. Dr. Young is an orator and one of the United Church's best preachers.

Liberal Groups May Amalgamate

Liberals of the Federal and Provincial Peterborough ridings are being called to a meeting in the Canadian Legion Hall Thursday, February 24, at 7:45 p.m. to discuss the union of their two associations.

Representatives of the executives have been giving consideration to this proposal which has been casually suggested at times in the last five or six years. The provincial riding association comprises the entire county, and the Federal association is representative of the city and other municipalities of Peterborough West.

For Federal purposes, the Eastern section of the county is linked with an area of West Hastings which are joined together as Hastings-Peterborough.

The policy of dual organization has tended to cause a division of effort in election campaigns, and also more or less lack of continuity of party interest and strength from one engagement to the next.

Unity will be submitted to the meeting, and, if it is accepted, the next step will be the adoption of a new constitution and election of officers.

Fox Hunt Underway

The weather is ideal for the second civilian-military fox hunt today and although the walking will be heavy in nine inches of new snow, it will not be necessary for hunters to use snowshoes. By eight o'clock this morning a great many car were gathered at the city's Charlotte St. parking lot. They drove east on Highway No. 7 to an area between concessions three and four of the Otonabee-Douro township area and hunters will beat north from the highway.

Due to breakdowns in equipment our Snowplowing will be delayed for our regular customers.

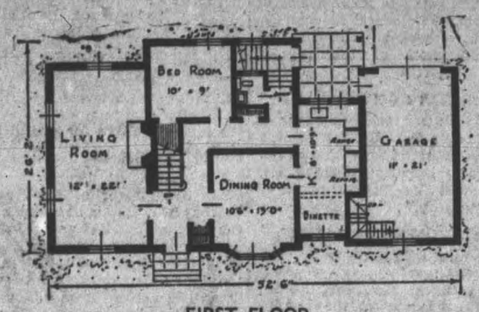
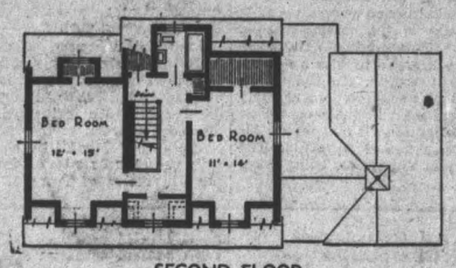
PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT



FIRST FLOOR



SECOND FLOOR

HOUSE No. 418 — It would be difficult indeed to pass this home in Chatham without being fascinated by its appearance. Every detail seems to add just the right touch to the final picture. Entering by the front door we find a wide hall, with a splendid living room, on the left. To the right is the dining room, with its wide bay window. Through this room we pass to the efficient "L" shaped kitchen and the cosy breakfast nook. On this floor we also find a small bedroom and a washroom. Upstairs are two larger bedrooms, each with cross ventilation. Notice that there is good closet accommodation throughout the house. Stairs are provided to reach the area over the garage. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Give Woodwork Three Coats When Painting New Home

From HOME BUILDING in Canada.

When it is time to apply the paint to your exterior walls be certain that the wood is thoroughly dry and clean and all holes and knots treated with shellac, or the paint work will not be permanent. A primer coat with linseed oil added should be applied first to seal and preserve the wood; then two finish coats. The materials, of course, should be of standard high quality.

All ceilings, kitchens, and bathrooms, should be painted with oil paint. Walls should be three coat work; a sealer or size coat, a ground coat and a finish coat, all of quality oil paint.

All woodwork should also be three-coat work; two under-coats and a coat of enamel. This holds true of oak floors; a coat of filler and two coats of varnish with each coat being well sanded to provide a smooth surface.

Should you want tile installed in bath or vestibule assure yourself it is of good quality and properly laid. To form a proper base, the sub-floor should be laid in between the joist and flush with the top of the joist, not two inches below. Waterproof paper should then be applied, covered with two inches of reinforced concrete On this is laid the tile, set in a mixture of clear Portland Cement, then tamped to a true, level surface. Much the same procedure should be followed in applying tile to the top of a kitchen sink. Where tile walls are installed the studding should be first covered with expanded metal, to which is applied two coats of rich cement mortar forming a base on which the wall tile is placed. Only first quality tile should be used. Note particularly the horizontal joints to see that they are evenly spaced, a sign of quality workmanship.

Linoleum

When you want linoleum on your floors and on sink boards check the way in which it is applied as well as the quality of the product. Linoleum on the sink board should be laid over a 2 lb. felt paper which acts as a cushion and prolongs the life and wear. Waterproof cement should be used in applying it. The walls in back of the sink should also be covered to a height of fourteen to sixteen inches. Chrome plated or stainless steel mouldings should be used for trim. Linoleum laid on floors should also be laid over a felt pad which in turn is cemented to a well-sanded floor.

Cement Work

Cement work in your home is an item that should not be overlooked, for if workmanship or materials used are poor, unsightly cracks will appear and expensive repairs will be called for. Before cement floors are laid the earth is well tamped to prevent settling Four inches of cinders or gravel are then spread, leveled and tamped, over which is laid the mixed concrete and rich topping of smoothly troweled cement. The same type of floor is used for porches with the addition of steel reinforcing. For sidewalks and driveways, asphalt expansion joints should be installed to allow for expansion and contraction.

THE ICE BRIDGE at Niagara Falls was very late in forming this winter. It did not appear until Feb. 2, and already is showing signs of breaking up.

City Health

His jurisdiction also includes the checking of housing to see that sanitary regulations are upheld. Overcrowding is the chief bane. Department heads agree that conditions are unsatisfactory in many parts of the city, but the present housing shortage prevents them from taking corrective measures.

Heating of apartments does not come within the Department's jurisdiction. Heating is looked on as a matter of comfort; not as a necessity.

Summing up the work of the Department of Health Dr. Kelly says: "The department can give health to no one, but it is daily becoming more competent in showing people how to earn good health."

Minden Opens New Ice Arena

MINDEN, Feb. 5—"Dreams do come true," said Ed Sedgwick, reeve of the municipality of Minden and warden of the County of Haliburton, who acted as MC in connection with the official opening of the new and modern $32,000 ice arena and recreation centre here tonight.

The village is 90 years old and youngsters and "oldsters" have been playing hockey and standing in the snowdrifts watching hockey on open air ice ever since the game was introduced here some 30 years ago.

The new arena and recreation centre, which is 95 feet by 218 feet, has an ice cushion of 75 feet by 181 feet, with a seating capacity of 800 and a total accommodation of 2,000. The rink was crowded to capacity when Warden Sedgwick stepped out to introduce Howie Meeker, of the Toronto Maple Leafs, who cavorted around a bit and was kept busy signing autographs.

W. C. Hodgson, M.P. for Victoria and Haliburton, and Provincial Treasurer Leslie M. Frost, M.P.P. for Victoria and Haliburton, were introduced, as well as Bruce McNevin, former Liberal member.

Following a pleasing performance by 16 members of the Huntsville Figure Skating Club, Warden Sedgwick dropped the puck for the first hockey game in the new arena between Minden All Stars and Lindsay intermediates. Toronto Marlboros were unable to make the trip because of adverse road conditions.

The dream of Warden Sedgwick was brought to fruition by a hard-working committee, the total amount for the building having been raised by voluntary subscription. The committee: Chairman, Roy Windsor; secretary, Mark Vassey; treasurer, Holly Dawson; Lawrence Pritchard, Ken Currie, Allan Rogers and Ed. Sedgwick.

Old Fashioned Hand Sleigh Been Replaced By Cardboard Box On Victoria Park Slides

BY G. B.

I polished up the runners last night on the new red sled I bought last week, and crept out the back way, while the folks were listening to the radio in the front room.

I plodded around the back of Central school and came out near the Court House at the top of the icy slide I've had my eye on for the past four weeks. I kept away from the street lamps and took up a position behind a big elm, where I could watch for my chance to dive out, hurl my sled to the ground and take a 'belly gutter' right down the long slope to Water St.

My feet were getting cold as I watched the kids plod up the hill and then swarm down the slide in groups and singles, some standing upright on their hard pressed goloshes and some taking the more comfortable position on another extremity.

Just then I was approached by a couple of members of the Victoria and Court House Slide Committee. One of these little gaffers pointed to my sled and asked "What's that?" I shifted my cold feet and warmed up with pride as I answered, "That, sir, is my Red Coaster Clipper, (to give it it's official name, I thought that speaking like a professional sledder, I might get into the club easier) I just polished the runners again to-night."

"We don't have sleds here." the other young committee man said. "Haven't you got a carton?"

"Carton?" I asked feebly.

"Well lend you one." said the first spokesman." Get him that big carton job with the folded sides, Georgie." he told his small friend.

My bright shiny sled was discarded and I was soon sitting facing Water Street with a long black streak of ice ahead of me running down to end somewhere among a group of maples and elms. But I was on my official vehicle, a big pasteboard box and I found it to be one of the most comfortable cartons I ever sat on at the top of an icy slide.

I was making a few casual (or almost casual) adjustments to clothing etc., when the committee started me on my ride. First you go over the brow of the hill gently, and then pick up speed like a jet. One of my feet got off the carton about this time and I went into a tail spin with trees and poles and sky went hurling around me in a crazy fashion snow pelted into my face, and I lost my cap. My right glove lost its palm and the remnants hung from my wrist. I was just expecting the trees and poles and sky to fade and take on the shape of a set of mother-of-pearl gates when I slipped off the carton and slid into the base of a big elm.

By and by the trees went back into their rightful places and I heard the small fry cheering.

"He's a Rough Rider", someone shouted.

"Boy, does he know the new tricks," cried another.

I found that I was more than just an accepted member of the club, I was appointed then and there as PRESIDENT (I wish they could have seen their way clear to make me treasurer, but I might make that before the season is over).

Now I'm an official carton glider and as I stand here writing this, I feel as though I should invite you all to meet us any night, right after supper and we'll see that you are properly coached on the use of the flattened carton.

There's no use of you just grabbing any kind of a carton and coming over to the club's course, you have to know and have the feel of a carton before you can get the most out of all the small and the large humps in the ice. Don't bring a sled toboggan or any manufactured or home made piece of equipment or you'll not be allowed in to the circle of carton gliders.

I have selected what I thought to be a nice smooth riding job this morning, someone had filled it with ashes and left it on their front lawn, that to my mind is not treating a carton decently, and of course, not knowing your carton. I dumped the contents at once and now I have a nice easy job with a few grits left in it's seems that I hope will keep me out of those tail spins to-night.

To End Annoying Cough, Mix This Recipe, at Home

Here is the well known old recipe which thousands of housewives have found to be a dependable means of breaking up winter coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs very little, but it does give quick relief.

From any druggist, get a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's easy. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Thus you make 16 ounces of a very efficient medicine, and you get four times as much cough syrup for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This home mixture soothes the irritated throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the phlegm and eases the soreness very promptly.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a well known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

The president announced that there had been no reply on the question of collecting the paper procured in the recent paper drive. In the absence of Miss Dockindorf, who was to have spoken at the meeting, E. McKeever showed movies on good health. F. Kramel and Cliff Scriver entertained on the saxophones, and Mrs. G. Thompson played the violin. Mrs. Scriver was at the piano. The committee served lunch.

Grappled With Mines Underwater Frogman Now In Executive Job

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Feb. 5—(CP)—Swimming along the bed of the ocean in a thin rubber suit, grappling with highly explosive magnetic mines might not seem like good training for running an office. But Leslie Harries, formerly of Montreal, has made it so. Today he holds an executive post in the London office of a Canadian insurance company housed in what used to be Canadian military headquarters, Trafalgar Square.

Yesterday he was one of the Royal Navy's intrepid frogmen, diving in the wake of the invading allies to defuse enemy mines in French, Belgian, Dutch and German waters. For this he received the George Cross and Bar and other decorations.

Specially trained for his highly dangerous work, the Frogmen defused mines by touch only; they had no lamps to guide them in the dark green depths; carried oxygen containers on their backs and were unattached to the vessels from which they jumped into the sea.

Working at Montreal

Harries was working in Montreal when war broke out. He joined the Royal Canadian Navy and came to England where he was later loaned to the Royal Navy as a mines Minesweeping Frogman. His preparation for the work was defusing landmines around the coast of Britain during the blitz.

As D-Day approached, the navy formed a company of frogmen composed of 40 officers and 300 ratings, promoted Harries to Lieutenant-Commander and put him in command.

As a commander, Harries was as active under water as above it. He received an O.B.E. for minework at Antwerp and the United States Navy awarded him the Legion of Merit for his exploits at Bremen.

Miss C. Bailey Addresses Parents On Special Class

An interesting Parent-Teacher Night was held by Prince of Wales Home and School Association this week, Mrs. F. Gray president, introduced Miss C. Bailey, teacher of the opportunity class, and remarked that there are only two such classes in Peterborough schools.

Miss Bailey spoke with enthusiasm and interest of her work with the opportunity class. She stressed the fact this should be known as "opportunity class" and not by other names which are misleading and might give pupils a feeling of inferiority. She said a child should be given a chance to develop according to his ability and needs. Often he is embarrased and unhappy, because of inability to keep up with pupils of his own age group, when he has been taken out of the regular class, where the teacher hasn't the time to spend on his individual needs. When placed in the opportunity class where every pupil is taught individually, he develops and becomes well adjusted. In some cases he is able to return to his regular class room in a short time. Other cases require longer supervision and sometimes he is transferred to the senior opportunity class.

Some handicaps which children suffer from are poor eyesight, hardness of hearing, inability to speak properly, epilepsy, one boy had suffered as the result of an accident, birth injuries, not enough rest or good food, and nervous disorders, Miss Bailey said.

Before a child is placed in this class he is given the Ontario General Intelligence Test and is judged according to a normal child's ability. This test has been revised so many times that it is almost perfect, the teacher explained.

If a child belongs to the school, the Principal can place him in this class if he so wishes, however a child coming from another school has to have written consent of parents. The child is also consulted and a proper explanation is given him so that he will not feel cast off or inferior, everything is done to make him feel at east and part of the school in all their activities.

The IQ of a normal child is 100 or one year mentally for one year of birthdays. After this test the teacher knows just how fast the child can absorb the work. It is given accordingly, usually starting with something he knows, so that his confidence may be restored. Gradually new words or numbers, etc. may be added and repeated over and over again until the work is known. It was pointed out that children are taught reading, spelling and arithmetic principally, from the regular text books. They do drawing and coloring with crayons which they usually enjoy very much. They are taught to use their hands, in sewing, woodwork, leathercraft, etc. Miss Bailey showed beautiful samples of work, which is a great credit to pupils. After the child realizes what he can do and that someone is interested in him, he gains confidence in himself and he is ready and willing to try other things which will make him a useful and respected citizen in later years.

Miss Bailey said she is proud of her class and wants others to be proud of them too. She especially wants children of the school to regard them as one of themselves. She hopes parents will encourage them and show greater interest in their work.

Mrs. Samson, Grade 2 teacher, gave an informative and helpful address on methods of teaching reading in primary grades. An interesting book which she showed was a reader of 1884. She emphasized the difference in readers of today with beautiful pictures and stories in them. She stressed the gradual growth of the vocabulary by phonetics and sound and by repetition and pointed out that parents can help if they will speak plainly to children and correct the little ones when they mispronounce their words.

Pupils Paul Sparrow and Tommy Krough played two delightful cornet duets, "Men or Harloch" and "The Band Played On."

Eileen Hall delighted the audience by singing "Far Away Places" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Foster.

Mrs. E. Beggs spoke briefly on home education and invited all parents who are interested to get in touch regarding formation of a study group. Mrs. Parker read an interesting item on home education.

Devotions were led by Mrs. H. J. Parnell and Mrs. C. A. Gilders played the piano for the opening anthem.

Attendance prize was won Miss M. Faukner's morning class.

Mrs. H. J. Morley expressed appreciation to all who took part in the program.

A social half-hour was enjoyed under convenership of Mrs. H. Kearns, assisted by Mrs. A. Smith and Mrs. J. James.

A report on the planning meeting for regional conference, held at Kitchener, was given by Miss Betty Piercy. Theme of the conference on March 26 and 27 will be "We'll take democracy." Eighteen delegates will go from Peterborough, their part in the conference to be opening and closing devotionals, securing a discussion group leader, and sending articles for program exchange.

Mrs. Max Reid Is Cinderella Of Y's Men's Ball

Cinderella of the Fairy Tale left the Ball at midnight in a very unhappy state of mind, and even lost her slipper. But Mrs. Max Reid, lucky Mrs. Cinderella of the Y's Men's first annual Cinderella Ball, was the happiest woman leaving Club Aragon Friday evening, and she took with her a complete spring ensemble. Her husband became Prince Charming and he is now the owner of a brand new hat.

Hope was in the hearts of 350 ladies who had registered at the dance and increased when the model displayed a beautifully tailored suit with hat, bag, gloves, shoes and hosiery to compliment. After Mayor M. J. Swanston had drawn the winning ticket, Mrs. Reid went to the dressing room for a fitting and found everything was just right for her.

A golden coach was drawn up at the back of the bandstand and the liveried coachman waited to assist Mr. and Mrs. Cinderella after the dance.

Fitting souvenir of the ball was a miniature crystal slipper, marked with the Y's Men's crest, presented to each lady at the Cinderella Ball. Novelty dances brought additional gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Stinson, Mrs. Geo. Tweedy and Mr. Chas. Goold, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Ball. A guest from Windsor, Wally Townsend, formerly of Peterborough, favored the crowd with one of his splendid piano numbers.

Next year's dance is already on the agenda of the project committee, under chairman Ryck Cochrane, who says it will be bigger and better.

Contemporary Art, Portrays Feeling Artist Explains

"Whether we like most of it or not, contemporary art is the art of our time," Mr. John Hall stated Friday afternoon. He was addressing the studio meeting of the Women's Art Association on the subject, "Contemporary art" in which he has done a good deal of highly creditable work. This teacher in the Fine Arts Department, University of Toronto, is a son of Mr. Alex. Hall who formerly lived with his family in Smith Towsnhip.

Many persons complain they are unable to see anything of beauty or even to know what is represented on the canvas of a contemporary artist. Main reason for this, Mr. Hall explains, is that the artist is painting what he "feels" rather than what he "sees." His interpretation will be governed by his attitude and the atmosphere surrounding him at the time.

It may be movement which the artist is painting as in the case of Picasso's "Nude on the Stairway," one of the pictures shown on the screen to illustrate Mr. Hall's talk. No figure or stairway is discernible and the untrained are usually quite unable to see that straight lines running in all directions are the movements of the lady as she descended the stairs.

Mr. Hall concedes that the art of the '30's was a bit strong and "hard to take" but he points out those were pretty rough years and this fact shows up in the artists' work. He sees contemporary art as alive and fluid, in keeping with the changes of the times and the growing concepts. This new form of art has been created in a similar way to which distance has been lessened.

Impressionist artists started in Paris in 1870 and gradually focussed attention of the world on the plastic qualities. "In their work is found line, color, tones, spaces and shapes, moulded and integrated, one with the other to create a kind of harmonic unity" said Mr. Hall. "They opened the door for men of greater minds and experiences to express the newly perceived world."

Th influence is now permeating the Canadidan education system, and there is constant shifting from the old drawing class copying to the effect of form and color. Contemporary art appeals to the senses of volume, space and touch in the pictures showed the interest they feel in subject matter. "When moved by events they reveal a surprising capacity for reception" the teacher said.

Applying paint in small independent strokes, the artist of today handles color as the musician does his music. He tries to create his experiences in plastic form—in idea, rather than as they look.

In thanking the speaker, Mrs. N. D. Seaton, president, said: "I feel a good deal of study is necessary to understand this form of art, and that since it is the art of our time, adopted by our educationists, we should strive to do this."

Announcement was made of the exhibition by the handicrafts group being held in the YWCA Green Room Friday, February 18. It will be open from three to six in the afternoon when tea will be served as usual, and from seven to nine in the evening. There is no charge to non-members. Proceeds from sales will go to the Association's general fund.

Linen Takes To Frills With Ultra Feminine Look

Dramatic hood on dress (above) and beruffled neckline on bare-topped frock (right) are typical of new ultra-feminine styling of Irish linen fashions.

Linen succumbs this spring to dress-up frills.

This surrender of a fabric which has long been associated with strict tailoring or classic styles makes news. Suits, jackets and dresses of linen have become ultra-feminine and look as right as rain with touches of velvet, dyed-to-match laces, gilt buttons and belts, dramatic hoods and fluttery ruffles.

Take, as an example, an outstanding design by Vera Stewart, who bedecks a bare-topped dress with a wide neckline ruffle, and corsets the bodice with boning. To this beruffled top, the designer adds a skirt as extravagantly gathered as a dirndl. The color of this dress is Bermuda blue, which is a blue typical of linen's switch from bon bon tints to stronger pastel shades for spring.

Deep coral is the vibrant color used for a linen dress which is dramatically topped by a hood and gleams from neckline to hem with gold buttons, matched to a belt.

DOROTHY DIX

Widow Becomes Easy Prey For Young Ne'er-Do-Well

Dorothy Dix

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am an unencumbered widow in early middle age and find myself somewhat enamoured of a non-professional man who is some years younger than I am. Recently he made the following statement to me: "You are my woman I want you because I believe you would DO MORE FOR ME than anyone I know." I wilted at this remark and am still wiltering because a psychologist had just given me the following advice:

"Whenever a younger man falls in love with an older woman, it is not merely love for her. The love is for whatever she can bring him in the way of advancement in business, or money, or prestige. Such men do not like responsibility and in the end will always gain more than the wife does. You had better not get too involved with this man. He will gain in a professional way through your contacts."

What is your opinion of this?

WONDERING.

ANSWER: Wonder no more, Fair Lady, for it is a commonplace of life. Everywhere there are hordes of men who are born too tired to work and who live by sponging on women. Especially are widows their predestined prey, and it must make many a man, who has worked himself to death to leave his wife a competence, turn over in his grave if he knows the way that some slick deadbeat is cheating her out of it.

"Fool and Money—"

There is nothing truer than the old saying that a fool and his money are soon parted, and that goes double when the fool is a woman. Most women never have had the handling of money bigger than the grocery bill, and when they come into husband's insurance money they go hog wild. A few thousand dollars look like a billion to them and there is no extravagance they won't indulge in, no scheme so wild that they will not back it. The insurance companies say that they give the average widow from ten to fifteen years to run through her husband's estate.

All of us have seen this happen a thousand times. Slick talkers who sell credulous women Blue Sky. Uncles and aunts and cousins who descend upon the widow like wolves on the fold and devour her inheritance. Pious thieves who rob widows of their last cent. Spurious lovers who marry widows for a living. They are all there at the killing.

Perhaps the husbands think they are making an act of devotion when they leave their whole estates to their dear Marias; but, in reality, they are dooming them to the poor house oftener than not. Every husband who isn't absolutely sure that he didn't get a Hetty Green for a wife should make a will that ties his estate so tight on his family that the men who marry for a home, the sellers of gold bricks and the promoters of causes cannot rob widows and helpless children of their rights.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18 now and have been going steady with a boy to whom I am engaged. He tells me that he will not be able to marry for three or four years and wants me to go steady with him all that time and have no other dates. Looking at it from a practical point of view I broke off with him, because I did not want any man to monopolize me when I was not certain how it would turn out in the end.

But I miss him. Can you tell me how I can get over him?

PRACTICAL, BUT LONELY

❖ ❖ ❖

ANSWER: It seems to me that both you and the boy have acted with a great deal of common sense in calling your love affair off until the wedding day was, at least, in sighting distance. I think the young man displayed a lot of character and intelligence in telling you flatly that he would not be ready to marry for three or four years. That means that he is not going to ask a girl to marry him until he has some definite way of supporting her. I think he is worth waiting for.

On the other hand, I highly commend you for not tying yourself down to any one man while you are still just a kid. You will have a far better chance of making a happy marriage if you have had your fling and are ready to settle down.

If, in the meantime, either the boy or you find out that what you felt for each other was just calf love instead of the real thing, you can break the gossamer tie that binds you without anybody's feeling being hurt.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a common-law wife. I have three children and want the man to marry me; but he claims he cannot take time off from work, nor has he the money for blood tests in order to marry me. He tells me he loves me, but I have to work to take care of the family as he never gives me any money to buy food or clothes.

I love him very much. What do you think I can do?

G. M.

❖ ❖ ❖

ANSWER: I am afraid that there is very little that you can do to solve your unhappy problem, for evidently the man you love so dearly has no intention whatever of marrying you. His excuse of not being able to take off the few minutes it requires to get married is absurd.

A day of remembrance sad to recall,
The loss of our mother, best friend of all,
One of the best God could send,
A loving mother and a faithful friend;
Two little words, not hard to write,
But I'll remember them all my life
"My Mother."

80,000 Volumes In Harvard Lamont Library

By JAMES F. KING

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 3—(AP)—Building a first class library from scratch sounds simple, doesn't it? Well, it isn't.

You need about $1,000,000, a lot of scholarship, some detective ability and plenty of hard, head work.

A gift from the late Thomas W. Lamont, New York banker, made possible the new Lamont library at Harvard College. Stocking it with 80,000 volumes was left to the college.

Haravd is placing emphasis in reading for recreation and study, rather than research.

Two years' planning went beyond gathering the books themselves. There are lounge chairs for relaxed reading; study alcoves, a long "library table" with arm chair; smoking rooms on every floor and a typewriting room.

Librarian Edwin E. Williams got off to a good start in shaping the new library. Two famous reading rooms in the big Wide-Widener Library filled the bill favorites among the undergraduates—were moved to the Lamont Library. They are the Farnsworth Room and the Woodberry Poetry Room. Both specialize in reading for enjoyment.

Culling undergraduate libraries at Harvard and editing the "Shaw list" of books for books for college libraries left only 40,000 to go in reaching the Lamont Library's aim of 80,000 books.

Research Secondary

The professors were then called in. They compiled their lists—always remembering research needs were secondary. The Widener Library filled the bill for research at Harvard.

Scouting of second-hand bookstores in Boston, Philadelphia and New York led to 2,000 out-of-print books. The search continues for 3,000 others.

Sixteen per cent of the books in this new library—5,888 of them—are on English and American literature; 4,993 on government and economics.

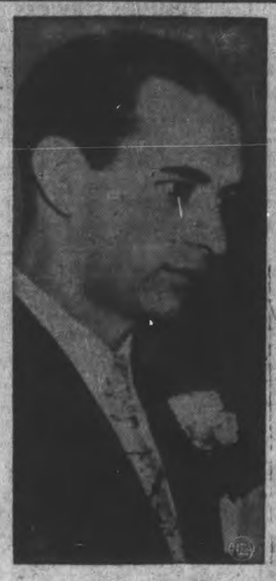
None of the natural sciences has more than 1,000 books in the library.

There are more books on religion—1,284—than on philosophy—1,264.

The arts—classroom studies for some students but pastimes for others—see 1,377 books on music, 387 on architecture, 282 on the theatre. Only 370 concern Latin; 474 Greek.

Just moving the 80,000 books into the Lamont Library provided a back-breaking job.

Back in 1775, a professor packed up the entire Harvard College library alone and carried the books off to make room for General George Washington's troops.



TO PROVE THAT CLEVELAND, Ohio's divorce court is so overburdened it grants divorces haphazardly, Cleveland Press reporter Leonard Hammer, left, posed as a lawyer and, without producing principals, witnesses or evidence, faked divorce papers for happily-married Mr. and Mrs. Richard Campbell, right. Campbell is a Cleveland Press editor. Now the stunt may back-fire. The divorce court judge refuses to vacate the "divorce." Several judges agree with the assistant county prosecutor who said "These people (the Campbells) are divorced, there's no question about that." The Campbells then sought a marriage license, but were refused until they produced a certified copy of their divorce decree. And Reporter Hammer is faced with contempt of court charges.

John W. Godfrey Dies

HALIFAX, Feb. 5 (CP) —John Wilfrid Godfrey, KC, 54, well-known Halifax barrister and Nova Scotia vice-president of the Canadian Bar Association, died suddenly here Friday night. Mr. Godfrey was a member of the Board of Governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation from 1936 to 1944.

Fisheries Treaty

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (CP) — A history-making treaty by which 11 countries will pool efforts to conserve the fisheries of the north-west Atlantic was near completion today. An informed observer said the talks under way here since Jan. 26 are expected to end today, with formal signing of the convention coming some time next week.

St. Laurent Mixes More With Colleagues In House

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Feb. 5—(CP).—Prime Minister Louis Stephen St. Laurent dined with a political enemy this week on his 67th birthday, right in front of everybody. A night or so before he was in a hotel lobby in a crowd and he was bumped and jostled by people who obviously didn't know him. On these sharp winter days, he walks through the heart of the city to Parliament Hill with a strong, straight walk, wearing a black overcoat and a black fur hat. Sometimes he stops to chat in the street with people he knows.

For an Ottawa which for years knew Prime Minister Mackenzie King only as a fleeting figure in the back seat of a car, all this is quite novel and quite strange.

Mr. King seldom if ever came to the parliamentary restaurant, the dignified rendezvous on the sixth floor of the centre block where parliamentarians, high civil servants, reporters and their ladies gather daily to eat and to gossip.

His cabinet ate without him, in a special alcove of their own, secure from the screwball ceiling which does weird things with the chatter around the tables. They still eat there but now the boss occasionally joins them or often eats elsewhere in the room.

On his birthday, the new prime minister showed up a central table with John T. Hackett (PC—Stanstead), a chum since boyhood and now one of the leading opposition critics of his government. With them were their wives.

No one batted an eye. The new era is in.

Carr Quip

It may be apocryphal, but this story was told on the Hill this week as a sidelight on the New York detention of Sam Carr, alleged ringleader of a Soviet spy ring. Some time ago, the story goes, a young civil servant was given a letter to the head of the R.C.M.P. and told to mail it.

Impulsively, he scribbled a little touch of his own on its bottom. "Ha," he scribbled, "you smart Mounties haven't caught Sam Carr yet."

The young civil servant, the story goes, was fired.

Combination

Was it more than accident that teamed George Nowlan (PC—Digby - Annapolis - Kings) and Garfield Case (PC—Grey North) as Commons deskmates? Mr. Nowlan, standing around six foot four, must be something in the nature of a foot taller than Mr. Case.

Four Nominated As Candidates By CCF Group

Nominees Thursday night for C.C.F. candidature in the federal elections were: John Beggs, John G. Morton, J H. Miles and Maurice E. Ketcheson. Walter Dinesen was chairman of the meeting.

Choice of the party's official candidature will be made from these four nominees at a meeting in March.

As a members of the provincial council of the C.C.F., Mr. Ketcheson explained its operations. The council meets at intervals in Woodsworth House, Jarvis St., Toronto.

"It outlines the way appointments of members are made, and the list of committees which carry on from one provincial convention to the next.

The council also receives convention resolutions and other business requiring attention which cannot be dealt with in the short time available during convention sessions."

Mr. Ketcheson gave a summary of the 1947-8 budget, and also the estimated income of 1948-9, taking into account increasing support. Membership had substantially increased last year, and clubs were now organized in every Ontario riding.

"The C.C.F. News has a large circulation as more people not members of the clubs are finding it of interest and appreciate the facts it publishes."

Mr. Ketcheson said the C.C.F. had increased in popular support and in the number of legislative seats now occupied by its representatives.

JERSEY EXPORTS TO U.S.

Canadian Jersey Cattle Club reported at its convention in Toronto this week export of 460 males and 3,376 females to the United States last year. It was estimated that ten times more Jerseys could have been sold if they were available. The 1948 exports were 50% higher than in 1947, and double most previous years.

The club is engaging a full time field man Herbert Armstrong of Ottawa, beginning June 1 to give most of his time in promoting the sale of special Jersey milk. At present 76 dairies in 32 Ontario markets are selling trade mark Jersey milk.

Charge 2 Men Gaffed Fish Through The Ice

COBOURG, Feb. 5 (ENS) — Evidence in charges against Willis and Milford Smoke of catching fish unlawfully and using an unbaited hook to gaff fish, occupied the session of court yesterday afternoon, adjournment being made until Monday. Willis Smoke resides in Roseneath and Milford Smoke in Cobourg. The pair pleaded not guilty.

Game Overseer Vic Harris testified that he and Game Overseer Jack Deyell along with Provincial Constables Don Nicol and Bill Baluk, were near Sandercock's Landing on Rice Lake on the afternoon of January 31 and saw two people coming across the ice from the direction of White Island towards the mainland. Two hundred yards from shore they stopped and started to cut holes in the ice. A third man appeared from the shore and joined the two on the ice.

Two of them laid down on the ice with coverings over their head to exclude the light in order to see into the water and spot the fish. Harris said he could see them jerk their hands up in the air and take the fish off the hooks. The watchers began an encircling movement and when the three saw they were being surrounded they milled about in confusion before sprinting into action. Nicol and Harris drove quickly out on the ice in their car and chased Willis Smoke.

"I jumped out of the car when we were about 25 yards away and tried to catch Smoke but he resisted and kept pushing me away until Constable Nicol came along and put the handcuffs on him, after I had tripped Smoke. They had a hand sleigh with three pickerel in a bag and three fish were on the ice," testified Harris.

He went on to explain how they caught the fish, producing two large hooks with wire attached, the hook being fastened on a curve of the wire. Above the hook, where the wire straightened out was fastened a lure and the way the fish were caught was to suddenly jerk up on the wire when the fish was after the lure, the curve of the wire rolling the fish on to the hook which gaffed it. There was also an ice chisel that had a five-foot heavy pole attached. A sawed-off .22 rifle with a home-made pistol butt was also in the equipment.

Game Overseer Deyell said that he saw the two from Braithwaite's farm and saw them joined by the third man. One of them stood away about 30 to 40 yards from where the hole in the ice and the others were, later joining them and being replaced by somebody else in what Crown Attorney Harry Deyman later called the "look-out position." When Nicol and Harris drove out on the ice, the trio broke up and ran. Witness said he saw a youth with a blue windbreaker and two pieces of adhesive on his face, answering ot the description of Milford Smoke, run by. Deyell said he went up toward the Dunnett farm where he found Milford Smoke standing beside a car which was stuck in the snow with Constable Baluk also standing by.

Baluk said he saw the three apparently fishing and when he came back to Dunnett's he saw a car stuck in the snow with Milford Smoke inside and an unidentified man trying to push it. The man ran when he saw Baluk. The constable took Milford Smoke into custody. Smoke was flushed and breathing heavily, the constable said.

Constable Nicol said that he saw three men out on the ice and recognized Milford Smoke as one of them. He and Harris chased Willis Smoke. He corroborated Harris' evidence in regard to the equipment.

Milford Smoke denied being out on the ice or fishing. He said that he had come to Dunnett's that morning and stayed around the house all day until late afternoon when he decided to drive home. He was stuck in the lane when a stranger came along and asked him if he would drive him to Roseneath. The stranger was pushing the car but when the constable came along he ran. Smoke said that he didn't know what it was all about when the constable arrested him. Court adjourned until Monday at this stage.

Canada Hits Building Stride Said Double That of 1948

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada is hitting a building stride more than double that of last year with housing in the lead. Whether or not it continues that way remains to be seen, but present indications are that it will keep up with the record pace set last year. MacLean Building Reports, Ltd., states that January contracts were $72,792,400 compared with $34,162,400 in January last year.

All types were up, as follows (1947 figures in brackets):

Residential $30,300,000 ($15,000,000); business $18,100,000 ($10,600,000); industrial $9,200,000 ($6,000,000); engineering $15,100,000 ($2,500,000).

All areas gained, with the west showing the biggest increase due to three large jobs.

Large awards include a $1,000,000 power house and dam near Orillia for the Orillia Water, Light and Power Commission.

Playing Big Part

The figures show not only a continuation of the high activity of last year, but the big part that housing is playing in the total.

Especially interesting are the projects for apartments, or rental housing, one of the most serious problems for Canadians seeking a place to live.

Some, at least, are being built up under the Government rental insurance plan which calls for a rental of not more than $20 a room, considerably under current rentals for new apartments.

Total building in 1948 was $954,000,000. Last year started with a slight hesitancy, but soon went into a steep climb, to reach a top of $139,000,000 in May, in the normally-high spring season, and dropping off to $56,000,000 in December.

Given 6 Months On Serious Count

COBOURG, Feb. 5—(ENS)—Found guilty on a charge of indecent assault against a five year old girl of Cramahe Township, Duncan Dunubar, age 55, was sentenced to six months definite and three indefinite in the reformatory by Magistrate R. B. Baxter yesterday. Magistrate Baxter drew attention to the fact that Dunbar had no previous record. There had been too many offenses of that nature in the past few years, he said. However in the case of Dunbar it was more a weakness on his part than a criminal mind.

"I don't feel that a lengthy term should be meted out. The public favours heavy sentences for offenses of this kind but the public is not always in possession of the information that the courts have, which information is taken into consideration in arriving at a sentence. I hope that after this man is released, the parole board sees that he is not placed where he can be tempted again. I don't favor whipping in this case because of the man's age. Jail sentence will give you time to reflect on your behaviour and I would suggest that in future you keep away from children when you have such a tendency as you have shown," the magistrate said.

Commits Suicide

ALBERNI, BC, Feb. 5 (CP). — Police said Friday Mrs. Ellis Ray Wiegane, 43, apparently dragged her four-year-old daughter with her to suicide by standing on the tracks until an approaching freight train ran them down. Train brakeman Roy Green said the child, Marilyn Beverley, tried to break free, but "the woman jumped up and grabbed the child as she was running away, and turned toward the train."

Experts Plan Survey Of North Sea

By CHARLES CROOT

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 5 — (Reuters)—Large-scale and detailed plans have been drawn up here for a thorough exploration of the North Sea, in the hope of discovering the answers to questions which are puzzling Europe's fishing fleets.

Some of the questions which experts of six nations will put their knowledge to answer are:

1. Why do certain varieties of fish suddenly disappear from areas in which they have been found for years?
2. How much of the water in the North Sea comes from where—and wher does it come?
3. Are fish in the North Sea changing their feeding grounds?

The plans for the survey were drawn up at a recent meeting here of the International Council for the Exploration of the North Sea.

For the purposes of this survey, six areas of the North Sea will be examined by the appropriate one of the six participants in the survey—England, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland.

The work will be carried out by the fishery research vessels, lightships and some of the weather ships stationed in the Atlantic.

Widespread Survey

A survey of the North Sea, according to the experts, must start in the Atlantic, the southern Arctic and the Baltic. Water from each of these areas flows into the North Sea and each has very different properties. Some is warm and some cold; some is salt and some only slightly salt.

A survey of the precise nature of various waters entering the area would, it was stated, provide a clue from which it may prove possible to deduce the movement of the North Sea fishing grounds.

Temperatures of water all over the North Sea will be recorded at various depths and samples of water will be taken at regular and close intervals. These samples will be examined for oxygen, salt and other chemical content, It is upon this content that depends the growth of marine plants on which fish feed.

Prof. H. W. Ahlmann, well-known Swedish glaciologist, who first discovered that the ice and glaciers of northern Scandinavia and the Arctic were melting and retreating towards the pole, was one of the scientists who addressed the international council. He said that there had been climatic changes whic had brought to Denmark 25 species of bird which had nevere been known so far north before.

In Greenland, he said, increased temperatures had become particularly noticeable. This had caused certain mammals, such as the seal—the Eskimo's main food supply—to retire to colder districts further north. Of interest to the fishing industries was the fact that higher sea temperatures had resulted in enormous catches of cod off Greenland.

He added that cold streams from the melting Greenland glaciers, similar to those which had driven the herring from Icelandic waters, were threatening the cod fishery along the Norwegian coast.

US Unemployment Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)— Unemployment in the United States mounted by 700,000 in January and food prices continued to slide, but two members of President Truman's official family declared Friday there was nothing to worry about. Labor Secretary James Tobin said "While the present level of unemployment bears careful watching, the situation is not alarming."

SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1949, may become important in the history of cattle breeding in Peterborough. It was the date of the birth of the first calf of an artificially bred cow in this area. Harold Rowan (left), R.R. 1, Ida, on the former Joseph Staples' farm, west of Springville, was one of the first farmers of this district to join the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association nearly a year ago. Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, is shown at the right. This first Holstein calf was a male, and is destined for the meat trade, presumably to be sold eventually as veal. It is a Maple offspring. Annual meeting of the Peterborough group of the Maple Association, now 118 members, will be held March 2nd at the Y.M.C.A.

COUNTY FARM NOTES

By HARRY THEOBALD

Norman W. McConkey Awarded Master Breeders' Shield At Convention Of Canadian Holstein Breeders' Association . . . Peterborough Hog Producers' Meeting Feb. 17.

Norman W. McConkey, Peterborough, has qualified for a Master Breeder Shield, the highest honor that can be bestowed by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada on one of its members. The shield was presented by W. P. Watson, Ontario Live Stock Commissioner at the annual meeting of the Holstein-Friesan Association of Canada Feb. 2 in Toronto. Since the first such shield was presented in 1930 only 37 Holstein breeders in Canada have received this coveted award.

To qualify for the Master Breeder Shield Mr. McConkey has bred the following animals: 6 XX bulls, 6 Very Good and 10 Good Plus cows. All the females have production records at least twenty per cent above the amount required to qualify in the Record of Performance. In addition, Mr. McConkey has bred 1 Very Good and 1 Good Plus cow that have not yet fulfilled the exacting master breeder production requirements. This accomplishment has been made from a herd that has averaged only 21 head from 1935 to date, making it one of the smallest herds ever to qualify its owner for a Master Breeder Shield.

Born in 1903 in Peterborough County, Mr. McConkey was a natural born livestock man being interested not only in Holstein cattle but in all types of livestock. He was just 11 years old when he bought his first purebred stock, securing a number of registered Oxford ewes from Henry Arkel, Guelph. In 1916 at the age of 13 years, he made a clean sweep of the Oxford classes in strong competition at the Peterborough Exhibition and at that time Judge Roble Garbutt, Belleville, said that "this is one of the best flocks that I have seen for some time."

During his boyhood years, Mr. McConkey had followed with great interest the development of the May Echo family in the Mallory herd at Belleville and later Hon. A. C. Hardy, Brockville. He was also greatly interested in the Highlawn herd of J. O'Reilly, Peterborough, which at that time was one of the top Holstein herds of the country. One of the great cows in this herd was Burkeje Hengerveld, the first 20,000 lb. four-year-old in Canada, a full sister of whom owned by James Seymour and Sons, Ida, Ont. is a direct ancestor of Forthlyne Dolleta Inka Posch the All-Canadian aged cow for 1948, owned by Hugh W. Ormiston, Brooklin, Ont. and recently sold to a Chilean buyer for $5,000. In 1917 Norman sold his herd of Oxford and purchased the best foundation Holsteins he could afford. This purchase was made at the annual Belleville Holstein sale. Norman's first choice was sold out of his reach, topping the sale. His second choice also sold for more than he could pay, while his third choice he was able to buy for $170. She was the ten-year-old cow, Wayne Piterje DeKol, consigned by Charles H. Taylor and Peter Cave, Bloomfield. She was in calf to King Segis Alcartra Spofford, one of the famous sires of that day and dropped a heifer calf with which Norman won third prize at the Peterborough Exhibition. He also showed the first prize bull calf that year. The daughter of the "Spoffard" bull developed into an outstanding show and foundation cow, but unfortunately she and the rest of the herd McConkey had built up were lost on the T.B. test.

In 1924 he started as herdsman for the late Monsignor McColl, Peterborough and took the herd over in 1930. The real foundation for his modern herd however, was laid in 1935 when he purchased eight daughters of Sir Philip Pabst Posch from the late George Burnside, Madoc. Each one of these cows turned out to be an excellent foundation animal. One of them was Ruby Pabst Posch whose junior four-year-old, twice-a-day milking record of 19,004 lbs. milk containing 759 lbs. fat was the second highest in the world when made. She is the dam of the noted sire Supreme Grand Slam and also af Small Slam. It is interesting to note here that a majority of the animals on which both Norman McConkey and J. T. Tully, Peterborough, qualified for Master Breeder Awards are progeny of "Grand Slam".

Another of the foundation cows purchased from George Burnside was Darkness Korndyke Pabst the grand-dam of Lifloc Mata Hari Supreme, who a year ago established a world record for butterfat production in the junior four-year-old class of 905 lbs. fat from 19,635 lbs. milk in the McConkey herd.

Other sires used in the Lifloc herd include Rightaway Creator Pat, junior champion at the 1930 C.N.E. and Reserve All-American that year. He was the sire of Mata Hari's dam. This bull was later sold to South America Rag Apple Signet, a Marksman son bringing $7,000 in 1946. The present herdsire is Pabst Posch Major, who is line bred on Sir Philip Pabst Posch and Grand Slam.

In addition to his Holstein herd Mr. McConkey, at the present time, keeps ten head of registered Guernseys and has 25 head of registered Hampshire ewes, the latter being headed by Basildon King Imp., champion ram at Ottawa in 1948.

Mr. McConkey operates two farms, the home farm is at the Lift Lock in Peterborough, consisting of 66 acres and accounts for his prefix name of Lifloc. The other farm of 183 acres is in the township of Otonabee. Mr. McConkey operates his own dairy and pasteurizing plant, and has distributed milk there since 1930. He has been president of the Peterborough Holstein Club for the last three years and is 1st Vice-President of both the County Federation of Agriculture and the Peterborough Exhibition.

Norman McConkey was a member of the Peterborough judging team at the first Royal in 1922, and was also on the Peterborough judging team at the Ottawa Winter Fair in 1921. He recalls that at that time R. H. Graham, assistant Ontario Livestock Commissioner, was also a member of the Peterborough team and that amongst their strongest competitors was professor A. D. Runions of the O.A.C. who at that time was on the Grenville county team.

Mrs. McConkey is just as interested in the farm and dairy business as is her husband, and he gives her a great deal of the credit for the success that he has made. They have seven children, three boys and four girls.

MARKETING HEALTH

"Food in Sales Clothing," farm radio forum subject Mon. Feb. 7, will deal with the merchandising of farm products.

Merchandising is the art of preparing goods for sale in an attractive form. It is a refinement of marketing. The broadcast will probably imply rather broadly that marketing is one phase of agriculture with which many farmers have been only slightly concerned. And yet it is a commonplace that no producing and marketing program is complete unless it carries through to the consumer.

The Ontario Milk Foundation, an enterprise of the dairy producers, undoubtedly increased the volume of milk sold in this province. Its method was direct advertising to the consumer, and it brought results. But, another branch of the industry, the production of Cheddar cheese, has faced the problem of stimulating domestic demand for this product without material accomplishment. Their directors have been saying for years at their conventions that they should reduce the 85-pound cheese to sizes that will appeal to consumers, but the industry is still turning out only the big cheeses, and more factories have been closing their doors for keeps here and there in eastern Ontario.

Private industry is making a high quality small cheese at Belleville, apart from the processed cheese that has been developed to large sales in recent years.

Most people will probably agree that there isn't any better cheese than the Ontario Cheddar. It lends itself to small and convenient sizes that would be bound to attract consumer attention Government can make export contracts, but left to itself the industry has accompished nothing of adjustment to the modern merchandising that will be mentioned in forum discussion Monday.

There are sound merchandising methods behind British Columbia apples, California oranges, graded eggs in the handy carton, but the lists is not impressive in the number of products exploited by their own producers.

An article in one of the newsstand magazines this week quotes the U.S. Research Council to the effect that adults should drink five quarts of milk a week for health purposes.

In that connection farmers do not generally appreciate the fact that their handiwork and their investments are the basis of the nation's health. That contribution to the well-being of the people involves a responsibility of maintaining the fertility and mineral values of the soil which man obtains through the agency of the natural foods. When farmers see themselves in that paramount place and service to society they may switch their income claims to a new and more impressive level.

Somewhere marketing is involved in all this concern of farmers, and Monday night's subject should be one of the most interesting of the winter Farm Radio Forum series.

HOG BREEDERS MEETING

Reeve M. H. Johnston of North Monaghan has called a meeting of the county hog producers at the YMCA Thursday, Feb. 17, beginning at 1.30 p.m. Mr. Johnston is president.

Matters relating to the industry will be discussed by W. E. Tummon, secretary of the hog producers' marketing board, and R. H. Graham, assistant livestock director of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. It is expected that Mr. Tummon will have a preliminary report on the first year of the study of hog production costs from the experience of the farmers who have been appointed, one in each county, by the Department to obtain practical information for the guidance of breeders.

Mr. Tummon recently emphasized the importance of the decision by Judge Ian McRae of London, Ont., directing that 34 farmers be paid in full for the hogs they marketed through a drover in the district of Perth, Oxford and Middlesex counties.

This drover made a carload shipment of the hogs to a packing plant where they were slaughtered and graded according to Dominion government hog grading regulations, each hog carrying the required tattoo mark identifying the producer. The packing plant paid the drover for the carload of hogs with one cheque which the drover deposited in his local bank and issued his own cheques for payment to the farmers. When these cheques were presented at the bank, payment was refused on the grounds of not sufficient funds. It seems the drover was in arrears at the bank and the proceeds of the carload of hogs was seized by the bank to reduce the drover's indebtedness. The chairman of the township hog producers' advised the central office of the Marketing Board, and central office immediately took action to recover the money for the farmers claiming that it was not the property of the drover and was only to pass through him (in trust) to the farmers. In the meantime the drover made an assignment of bankruptcy and some time thereafter the bank turned the proceeds of the cheque over to the trustee in bankruptcy.

Before the bankruptcy court the farmers argued that since Dominion government regulations required that all hogs must be shipped, slaughtered and graded in a packing plant before price and grade can be established then the drover was simply acting as their agent and the money belonged to them. Other creditors argued the farmers had sold the hogs to the drover and therefore were not entitled to any special consideration as creditors. A trial was ordered to determine the point with the result that the trial Judge decided in favor of the farmers. It is the first time this point has been before the courts and, since hog grading regulations are Dominion wide, it is far reaching.

CROP IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

The program for the Ontario Crop Improvement Association convention at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, next week reads like an intensive short course in agriculture. It is too long for publication, but a few of the subjects may be mentioned as a sample of the range and value of the addresses and discussions.

One of three talks Mon. a.m. is "What we can gain from our county seed shows." Evening—"Relationship of Crop Production to Soil Management"; Soil building with sod crops" by Prof. G. N. Ruhnke, O.A.C. The sessions of the potato division are on Monday.

Chas. McQuire, Colborne is afternoon chairman. One of the subjects is "Packing potatoes for profit". The registered seed meetings are also Monday.

Crop improvement resumes Tuesday. Morning subjects include: Hay pasture program for 1949; Profit from problem acres by Prof. R. G. Knox, O.A.C; My experience with improved pastures; pastures for beef and dairy cattle.

Wed. a.m.—New horizosn for grain corn production by J. A. Garner, director of extension, Ontario Department of Agriculture; Control of weeds in corn with chemicals; The path of profit is grass covered by J. M. Appleton of Wallaceburg.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, rates the Crop Improvement Association convention as one of the most practical to farmers no matter what specializing they may do.

Scandinavian Press Snubs Russian Pact Offer, Denounce Norway Overture

US Prepared To Pledge No Bases Needed On Norwegian Territory After Soviet Warning To Drop Alliance

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 7—(AP).—Scandinavia's non-Communist press defied Russia today with an editorial drubbing for her offer of a Soviet-Norwegian non-aggression pact. At the same time, a Swedish Foreign Office spokesman announced that Russia has not yet offered any similar pact to Sweden. Such a move had been predicted in Moscow. Political observers here declared any such offer to Sweden would be rejected as violating Sweden's traditional neutral position.

Virtually all the Swedish non-Communist press joined in denouncing Russia's overtures to Norway, accusing the Russians of habitually violating treaties.

Difficult Position

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Norway's Foreign Minister today turned to the State Department for the United States side of the isue: Should he back the Russian or the American plan for guarding his country against aggression?

State Secretary Dean Acheson was expected to urge him, in effect, to line up with the United States, Canada, and Western Europe in a firm North Atlantic alliance.

The Norwegian diplomat, Halvard M. Lange, arrived here on Sunday amid mounting concern in his country over a sudden offer by Russia to conclude a non-aggression pact with the Norwegian Government.

Acheson and the United States Government were reported ready to assure Lange that no bases will be required on Norwegian soil if Norway decides to join the North Atlantic defence arrangement.

Anxiety Mounts

Russia's apparent unwillingness to acept Norway's assurance that it does not contemplate offering such bases has stirred anxiety in Norwegian Government circles.

United States Government officials promptly labelled Russia's offer of a non-aggression pact a none-too-subtle effort by Moscow to frighten the Norwegians into staying out of the North Atlantic alliance

The Danish and Swedish missions here studied the note to Norway carefully. They were just as interested in the statement as the Norwegian embassy, if not more so.

Promise Verdict On Cardinal Within 24 Hours

BUDAPEST, Feb. 7 (AP)—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, the 56-year-old leader of Hungary's 7,000,000 Roman Catholics, today awaited the verdict of a people's court on charges of treason against the Communist-dominated government.

Presiding Judge Vilmos Olthys and four lay-jurists who heard the dramatic three-day trial of Cardinal Mindszenty and six others accused with him are to hand down their judgement tomorrow at 9 a.m.

If found guilty the Cardinal faces possible death by hanging.

The Cardinal, alone in jail, had his "last word" before the peoples court Saturday at the conclusion of the trial.

He prayed then "May the Lord give wisdom to the court when they pass their sentence, which may help a settlement at home and abroad."

He pleaded partly guilty but denied he had ever been "the enemy of the Hungarian people."

Whatever the verdict, Cardinal Mindszenty or his lawyer may appeal within three days. If there is an appeal, the papers are forwarded immediately to an appeals court, which must return its verdict within a week.

Members of the press, chiefly Hungarian journalists, who covered the historic trial believed unanimously the sentence would be, at least, life imprisonment. Many believed he would be sentenced to death.

100 Pickets Guard Plant

PARIS, Ont., Feb. 7 (CP)—One hundred pickets marched in front of Penmans No. 1 mill on West River Street here this morning while some 50 Provincial Police officers stood guard to prevent any violence against employees going through the picket line to work.

More than 100 employees assembled in one group at a point close to the mill before they approached the line-up of shouting pickets. Smaller groups and individuals also filed through between picket and police lines.

There was no repetition of the violence which had marked the picketing last Thursday and Friday outside No. 9 mill on Elm Street.

Police made no arrests, but town police officers had a busy time serving 19 summonses, the outcome of incidents earlier in the strike.

Find Dangerous Thug Only 3-Year-Old Girl

DETROIT, Feb. 7 (AP)—Three detectives, guns drawn, rushed up to the seventh floor of police headquarters Saturday as guards moved to block all exits from the building.

A general alarm—meaning that a dangerous criminal was making a break—was ringing from the women's division.

Bursting into the division offices, the detectives found 3-year-old Joan Herkness, who had been picked up as she strayed alone downtown. She was playing chopsticks on a panel of buttons which included the general alarm knob.

Trailed To New York

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP).—Police said Saturday that penitentiary escapee Dan Keller, 50-year-old embezzler, has been trailed to New York. Keller, former Toronto boxing promoter, escaped from a Kingston hospital Jan. 24. He became ill while serving a three-year term for frauds totalling $28,000.

Say By-Election Will Be Test Of Strength

NICOLET, Que., Feb. 7 (CY)—Politically the eyes of the Dominion today focussed on the two counties of Nicolet - Yamaska where the result of the vote in a federal by-election was expected to give an indication of which way the wind might blow in Quebec at the next general election.

Organizations of all three candidates in the field were geared to handle a heavy vote in what appeared to be a tight race, with snowmobiles mustered to carry electors to polls in the outlying areas.

Candidates are lawyer Paul Trahan, official Liberal, lawyer Renaud Chapdelaine, Progressive Conservative; and farmer Romulus Manseau, Independent Liberal, all of Nicolet. The seat was held by Lucien Dubois from 1935 until his death last Nov. 8. Dubois won the 1940-45 election as an Independent Liberal. The 102 polls, spread throughout 45 parishes of the twin counties, opened at 8 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. Barring unforseen snags, the returning officer had his staff lined up for a complete return by 9 p.m.

Prominent Liberals who campaigned for Trahan made no bones about the importance of the contest, the first test of the party strength in Quebec since Prime Minister St. Laurent assumed office and George Drew became national leader of the Progressive Conservatives.

Considered Vital

That the Liberals considered retention of the division vital was reflected in the fact that three cabinet ministers and 30 Federal deputies from Quebec Provinces took to the hustings in support of Trahan. Psychologically, defeat of the Liberal candidate might have an adverse effect on the party's chances in other parts of the country.

Transport Minister Chevrier arrived from Trahan's campaign wind-up and addressed a meeting at St. Leonard de Yamaska.

Electors described the campaign as a straight St. Laurent-Drew fight. There was political name calling between the candidates but no mud slinging.

It was a cleanly fought battle by prearrangement between Trahan and Chapdelaine.

All Comforts Of Home

BERLIN, Feb. 7—(AP).—The British-licensed newspaper Telegraf said today the Russians are rebuilding a giant air raid shelter outside Berlin. The new shelter, at Ruedersdorf, is said to be large enough to house the entire Soviet military government staff "with all the comforts," including direct communications with Moscow.

Peace Fading

RHODES, Feb. 7—(Reuters).—Prospects of an Israeli-Egyptian armistice receded today as it became apparent that the conference here was floundering in technical difficulties. Hope for the success of the conference, which for almost three weeks has been swaying between success and failure, fell when the military chiefs rose after a four-hour session last night without fixing the time for the next meeting.

Says Officer Asked Him To Drop Charge

Keays Testifies Fellow-Officer Tries To Discredit Him

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 7—(CP)—Provincial Constable J. E. Keays testified today that a fellow-officer asked him to withdraw a prosecution to help an "influential friend."

He told a Royal Commission that Corporal Sam Ervine of the Ontario Provincial Police tried to discredit him when he refused to withdraw the charge.

He asked that Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell be ordered to appear before the commission. C. P. Hope said Keays had asked him to subpoena Mr. Blackwell. The attorney-general had been out of town but had given Mr. Hope a letter explaining the reasons for the appointment of the commission.

Keays testified as a public hearing opened before Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay of the Ontario Supreme Court into allegations of fraud, perjury and maladministration of justice directed at seven Ontario Provincial Police officers and Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan of Belleville.

He read a 17-page typewritten report in which he made the allegations when he submitted his resignation from the force last Oct. 30.

Implicated In Fraud

In it, he said Mr. Donnan was implicated in a fraud with Dr. Ernest Carefoot of Belleville and threatened "to get" Keays if Mr. Donnan's name was mentioned in the investigation.

Also named in the report were Commissioner W. H. Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police, Inspector A. W. Page of Belleville; Inspector T. W. Cousins of Perth; Sergeant J. A. Stringer, Corporal Ervine and Constables G. Purdy and J. B. Driscoll.

At the start of the hearing, Constable Keays—who continually referred to himself as "Keays"—said he questioned whether it was right that he should appear before the commission and said that Attorney General Leslie Blackwell had made "false representations" against him in press reports announcing the formation of the commission.

"Far from preferring charges of laying complaints against fellow officers," he said, "Keays is not interested in their actions or those of the powers that be....Keays appears before this commission because he believes....the oath of a police officer should be sacred to every member of the force."

At Mr. Hope's suggestion, Keays read the letter he sent Commissioner Stringer, reporting his allegations.

Keays said his report explained his "reasons for resigning in reply to false representations made against him by Mr. Blackwell and Commissioner Stringer."

He was "shocked and astounded" to read Mr. Blackwell's release to the press announcing the formation of a royal commission.

He said his reputation as police officer was seriously damaged by "false allegations that Keays had preferred charges against brother officers."

Mr. Justice MacKay said allegations were contained in Keays report and it was the duty of the commission to determine whether the allegations were true.

Blizzard Strikes British Columbia

VANCOUVER, Feb. 7 (CP)—The worst snow storm to strike British Columbia's lower mainland is a long time blew itself out last night over the Kootenays after dumping 6½ inches of snow over the lower mainland and causing death for two persons.

Weather officials said the storm appeared the worst since 1935 when more than 1½ feet of snow fell within a few hours.

Power spokesmen said the storms hadn't cut into power supplies. There was an indication either snow or rain might fall today and possibly replenish water reserves that aren't expected to last much over 23 days even with consumption restrictions now in force.

THREE FOX HUNTERS come down a snow-covered ridge on Saturday to join about 75 others around a rail-fence fire to rest and have hot coffee. They took part in the second combined military-civilian hunt staged in the Douro-Otonabee boundary section which bagged three foxes. One wolf was seen but escaped. Although the hunt was not as successful as hoped for, it was a beautiful day to be in the open.

Split Develops In Ranks Of Nationalists

NANKING, Feb. 7—(AP)—China's refugee government in Canton and Acting President Lo Tsung-jen here are separated by more than distance.

There is a marked difference in policy. Premier Sun Fo brought it into the open during the weekend.

Sun warned the Communists they must soften their peace demands or Nationalists will continue the war. The Premier objected particularly to Communist demands that Communist-listed "war criminals" be handed over. Sun's name is on that list along with that of Li, Chiang, Kai-shek, Madame Chiang, her rich brother, T. V. Soong, and others.

Old Nanking associates of the Premier were openly displeased with his Canton statement. One said he considered it "most unfortunate" that Sun should suggest continuing the war when the slightest tip of the scales might upset peace feelers.

The Premier's South China warning again demonstrated that even if Li managed to get some agreement from the Communists South China leaders might not accept it.

Despite this situation, Li's associates said he had no thought of abandoning his peace efforts.

Meanwhile, the Communists, encamped north of the Yangtze, show signs of growing restless Communist Gen. Chen Yi apparently is forming his columns into groups—usually a sign of an offensive.

30,000 On Strike In Burma's Crisis

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 7—(AP)—Burma's civil war emergency was heightened as 30,000 government employees walked out today in a strike. Armed police guards were ordered to strategic points in the capital.

Government offices were empty as a result of the walkout. Official sources said leaders of the striking Federation of Services Union were arrested.

The strike was called in protest against cuts in cost of living allowances and a cut in the number of employees.

Fate of Eskimo Village Uncertain To RCAF Fliers

EDMONTON, Feb. 7—(CP).—Fate of the inhabitants of remote Cresswell Bay, 400 miles inside the Arctic Circle and 1,000 miles north of Churchill, Man., remained uncertain on Sunday night as mercy planes have failed to establish prearranged contact. An RCAF official in Edmonton said no word has been received so far as to the fate of the Eskimo population reportedly ravaged by a mysterious disease. Belated reports, brought part of the way by dog team, say that more than half of the original population of 17 persons was wiped out by the disease, possibly influenza.

Two specially equipped Dakota aircraft, carrying food and medical men and supplies, have been reconnoitring the area and were supposed to establish contact at Fort Ross, a trapper's post 40 miles to the south of Cresswell Bay.

Original plan called for the planes to drop radio equipment at Fort Ross, former Hudson's Bay post, to a district trapper, L. A. Learmonth. Following a sweep of the area, however, the planes reported no signs of life.

The report did say, however, that recent signs of life were found and no immediate concern is felt because, officials say, it is not unusual for the handful of trappers and woodsmen to be absent from the post at the same time.

Following the sweep of Fort Ross the planes sighted a small village seven miles to the south, where a group of people were sighted. They appeared to be in good health, reports say.

A small radio transmitter, together with instructions in its use, was dropped to the group in the hope they would establish contact with the planes. No contact was established. It is not known whether the group of people were Eskimos or white men.

Lawson To Get Degree

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7—(AP).—The University of Miami will confer honorary law degrees today on Ray Lawson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, and Mr. Samon Grau San Martin, former President of Cuba. Lawson will receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree and will also be the principle speaker at the commencement exercises.

Russians Should Be Told Can't Win War—St. Laurent

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 7—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent thinks Russia will have to be told she could not win a third world war if she started one.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Ontario section of the Canadian Bar Association Saturday night, he said:

"I think it is worthwhile to tell them (the Russians) that they are not going to be through with us until they have licked the whole of us."

"They have got to be told in more than mere words that the western democracies mean business. They have got to be told in something that they will recognize as more significant than mere words.

"We have got to tell them in such a way that they will understand that we mean business."

That meant that Canadians must impose on themselves certain sacrifices and burdens if they were to avoid a third world war.

He thought the North Atlantic Pact would bring together "an aggregation of strength that I do not think any realistic totalitarian will dare to attack." To preserve peace, South American countries might be linked with the Northern Democracies in a security arrangement.

Mr. St. Laurent said the North Atlantic Pact may involve for Canada "perhaps greater risks" than would a fully-implemented United Nations Charter. The Pact was "not as good" as the U. N. Charter in full operation.

"But if we can't have the best, then let us take what is nearly the best to give us that feeling of security that we need in the course of our daily lives. . ."

Outline Vast Reshuffle To Streamline US Gov't

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Hoover Commission called today for a vast government reshuffling which would squeeze 65 agencies into a tight group one-third that size, all under firm control of the President.

Reporting to Congress on its 16-month search for ways to streamline the government, the group headed by former President Herbert Hoover urged giving the President new broad powers over his official family—powers it said are needed in the present "critical state of world affairs."

The Commission proposed a government pyramid based on the 2,000,000 Federal employees and building up to a score of top-level agencies directly under the President.

At the head of this chain of command, the President would be fortified with new staff officials, a powerful "managerial arm" in an expanded budget office, much wider powers to reorganize government offices, and authority to name many officials without the Senate's approval.

The report was the first chapter of a massive blueprint for Federal reform to be handed Congress in 15 installments before March 31.

Among the shifts recommended were these: 1. The President's "multi-headed" council of economic advisers should be replaced by an "office of the economic adviser" with one head. The present three-man set-up invites "public disagreement among its members."

2. The President should be free to shake up the National Security Council—a major maker of defesce policy—which is now "unduly weighted" with the military.

Toronto Gets $40,000,000 Steam Plant

First Unit Ready By Sept 1, 1951; Built On 65 Acres

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP)—Robert H. Saunders, Chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, today announced plans for construction here of a $40,000,000 auxiliary steam power plant, capable of producing 206,000 horsepower.

He said the plant would be built on 65 acres of Harbor Commission land on Leslie Street in East Toronto. The first unit of 103,000 horsepower would be in operation by Sept. 1, 1951.

The plant will be one of several planned for Ontario.

Mr. Saunders said the new plant is urgently needed to meet short-term demands on the Southern Ontario system. The Toronto area uses one-third of Southern Ontario power.

The first unit will turn out 25-cycle power and the second unit 60-cycle. However, the 25-cycle is being designed for quick conversion to the higher power.

The Commission Chairman said Toronto was selected as the site for the development because of availability of condensing water of low average temperature; good dockage facilities, and adaptability of the site to a rapid construction schedule.

Another large steam plant now is under construction at Windsor. It will have an output of 160,000 horsepower and with additional units will cost approximately $30,000,000.

Forged Currency Charge Heard

OSHAWA, Feb. 7—(CP)—Edwin MacDonald, formerly of Toronto, was today charged in Magistrate's Court with being in possession of forged bank notes. He was remanded.

It was reported that the charge involved currency. However, the amount was not available and it could not be learned from RCMP whether it dealt with counterfeiting.

Children Rescued From Burning Home

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP)—A 35-year-old woman grabbed her three semi-conscious children out of their beds early today and ran from her smoke-filled house into the street.

The fire filled the building with smoke. It broke out in the basement and worked up through the walls.

Mrs. Mannie Yellen said "I woke up coughing and half blinded by smoke. My first thought was for my children."

The mother said she grabbed her three-year-old child out of his crib and pulled the other two—Harvey seven, and Garry, 12—out of bed.

New Blizzard Halts Armies Of Rescuers

CHICAGO, Feb. 7 — (AP)—Slashing storms had opened up a new front today against the armies of rescuers in the western United States blizzard areas while hammering again at some sections of the high plains.

High winds in Wyoming piled deep snow drifts back onto highways and rail lines, bringing traffic to another halt. A Burlington Lines bus with 36 passengers was stalled 42 miles west of Casper, Wyo., and a convoy of 14 truck loads of hay for snowbound ranches was marooned south of the city.

The newest storm swept in from the Pacific Ocean yesterday and dumped deep snow on sections of Washington, Oregon and northern California.

Three deaths, one each in Missouri, Idaho and Oregon were attributed to the weather.

Predict Russia May Offer Non-Aggression Pact To Sweden And Denmark

Moscow Papers Deliver Strongest Attack On North Atlantic Alliance, Charge It Fails To Meet With Aims Of UN

MOSCOW, Feb. 7—(AP).—Foreign observers are predicting Russia may follow up her offer of a non-aggression pact to Norway by offering similar treaties to Sweden and Denmark. Russia's note to Norway said Moscow could not agree that the North Atlantic Alliance meets the aims of the United Nations.

Russia's first note to Norway last week asked whether Norway intended to choose sides in the East-West "cold war." Norway replied she would inquire into what conditions she would have to meet to join the Atlantic Alliance, but said she would not grant bases on her soil to foreign powers. The countries now negotiating the Atlantic Alliance are the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Moscow newspapers delivered their strongest attack yet on the North Atlantic Pact. The lead editorial in Pravda, official Communist newspaper, termed the pact "a concentrated expression of a policy of aggression and international risk-taking" and "the most important lever for preparing a new world war."

Other barometers of the great interest in the Atlantic Pact negotiations involving Norway were publication of the complete text of the Russian note to Norway and an item reporting that Norwegian Foreign Minister Lange had left for Washington to "receive information on the North Atlantic Pact."

Lange refused to allow the Russian move to change his original plan for visiting Washington.

In landing at New York, he told reporters he also intends to look carefully into the "degree of security" the proposed alliance would offer Norway.

Foreign diplomatic officials disclosed that the Ambassadors of Sweden and Denmark also are tentatively scheduled to call at the State Department to explain their views on how best to defend Scandinavia against any attack.

U.N. Social Council Tackles Heavy Agenda

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Feb. 7—(CP).—The 18-member United Nations Economic and Social Council today tackles one of the heaviest agendas in its history — beginning its fourth year of work.

The Council carries the major responsibility for the UN program of economic and social betterment. Its eighth session is expected to last four to six weeks.

Canada's two-year term on the Council ended Jan. 1. But the Dominion is still represented on the Council's working commissions. George Grande of Montreal, secretary of Canada's permanent delegation to the Security Council, will sit in at the "ESOSOC" meetings as an observer.

Highlight of the new session is expected to be proposals for aid to under-developed countries. President Truman in his inauguration address spoke of a "bold new program" of technical assistance through the United Nations to backward areas.

Trenton Man Convicted Stole Jacket

The statement of a suspected person that police could not have obtained his fingerprints at the scene of a theft "because I was wearing gloves" led to a conviction in court today. Ronald Turner, of Trenton, pleaded guilty to stealing a parka coat from the car of Game Overseer Robert Trotter of Aspley on December 7. He also pleaded guilty to wilfully breaking the window in Trotter's car in order to reach the coat. He was remanded for one week for sentence on the theft charge and fined $10 and $2.50 costs with an order to pay damages of $18.60 on the property destruction charge. Alternative to payment was given as one month in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

Overseer Trotter testified that the theft had taken place while his car was parked on a side road near Hauktain while he was making routine patrols. A rock had been thrown through a rear window to obtain the coat, which was valued at $45.

He said that he became suspicious of Turner when the accused, who worked at a nearby lumber camp, said that he had passed the parked car that day and had not noticed any damage. This was unusual, the witness said, as the scene was a lonely section of country.

Later, in Peterborough, Provincial Constable Bert Howden of Apsley arrested the accused as he was waiting for a bus. It was following this that he made the damaging statement about having gloves on at the time. The coat was found in luggage which the accused had checked through for the bus.

Witnesses Trotter and Howden both mentioned that Turner had told them that he "had it in for game wardens," because of some gaming conviction in the past. PC Howden quoted him as saying, "I wanted to get some of that fine back."

Three Detroit Men Die In Car Plunge

CHATHAM, Feb. 7 (CP) — Three Detroit men died of injuries received Saturday night when their car left No. 4 Highway and plunged to the bottom of a 10-foot dredge-cut, a drainage ditch known as Mills Extension, four miles north of here.

The only survivor is Clifford Bosley, 48, also of Detroit.

Police said it appeared from tire marks that the car, believed to have been driven by Marvin Schwandt, was proceeding south toward Chatham when it left the pavement and travelled more than 200 feet along the shoulder, gradually edging away from the concrete till it finally plunged down the steep bank without striking the culvert.

Cardinal's Trial Assailed By All Nations

By The Canadian Press

Protests against the treason trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty reached a new crescendo as a people's court in Communist-dominated Hungary prepared to pass sentence.

The leader of Hungarian Roman Catholics — termed by the prosecution "one of the last remnants of reaction" in the Russian satellite—prayed alone today in his jail cell, awaiting the court's verdict Tuesday.

Millions of Roman Catholics—and a number of Protestants—raised their voice in the world outside the Iron Curtain.

On the other side of the Iron Curtain it was a different story. The Cardinal's trial was declared a triumph over a "monarchist-Catholic" plot and "reactionary propagandaists" by Pravda, official Russian Communist newspaper.

In Budapest, itself, the Communist newspaper Szafad Nep said the trial of the Cardinal—"a wretched worm, a frightened scoundrel" was a "defeat for the west."

Day of Protest

Roman Catholics in the United States observed a country-wide day of "prayer and protest" Sunday, along with others of the faith in Canada and other countries.

In Toronto, James Cardinal McGuigan, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Toronto, said that Cardinal Mindszenty's trial "followed the usual totalitarian pattern with an alleged confession by the accused and an obviously weak defence."

He said the government of Hungary was engaged in a policy of persecution and terrorism and had no regard for truth and justice.

Francis Cardinal Spellman in New York denounced, from the pulpit of St. Patrick's Cathedral, the "mock trial" and the "atheistic Communism" he said was responsible.

The Methodist chaplain of the United States Senate—Rev. Dr. Frederick Brown Harris—said in a sermon in Washington "All Christendom is on trial.... the battle is drawn between Christ and anti-Christ."

Offensive Against Religion

Archduke Otto of Austria, whose family once ruled the Austro-Hungarian empire, said in North Carolina the trial is proof of an all-out Russian offensive against religion.

Otto said he had received information from the underground in Hungary that Cardinal Mindszenty is under the influence of drugs and has been tortured. Similar charges were repeated scores of times by others protesting the trial.

Both Otto and Cardinal Spellman have been mentioned in the course of the Budapest trial.

UAW Will Ask Car Firms For 5 Per Cent of Payrolls

WINDSOR, Feb. 7 — (CP). — The CIO United Auto Workers' 1949 campaign for pensions and medical care plans will be waged simultaneously on both sides of the border.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther made that plain Sunday in a speech to several thousand employees of the Ford Motor Company of Caanda Ltd.

Because of earlier negotiations both here and in Detroit, Ford has been selected as "target" for the million-memebr Auto Union's primarily non-wage drive this year.

Reuther disclosed that UAW will ask automotive firms to set aside 5 per cent of their payrols in company-financed health and welfare funds.

Reuther said bargaining with Ford of Canada and Ford of the United States probably will be carried on in separate conferences across the Detroit Rive. from each other. But he and other UAW leaders indicated a possibility of joint sessions.

"Nobody will settle," he declared, "until everybody settles."

The Ford-of-Canada sessions are slated to get under way this week. In Detroit UAW leaders are trying to move up the scheduled May 15 opening of talks there.

Reuther said the union's demands this year are the highest the UAW ever made.

These include $100-a-month pensions, which the union president said Sunday should start at the age of 60, and possibly wage increases.

The UAW already has a $3,000,000 "war chest" to back up its demands, Reuther asserted, and hopes to have $4,000,000 "by the time these negotiations come to a showdown."

Industrials Slide Lower On Wide List

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — (CP).— Industrials slid lower on a comparatively wide list of fractional declines here to-day with papers leading the group in its downward trend. Base metals continued their easier trend dropping steadily. Golds and Western oils moved quietly on a weaker tone.

Volume for the first three hours was 444,000 shares.

Industrials opened in a downhill slide, recovered some of their losses and then continued edging downwards as trading slackened.

Waite Amulet went against the downward trend in base metals, gaining ¼ at 13⅛. Consolidated Smelters was ahead $1 at one point but then weakened to barely hold steady. International Nickel, Noranda, and Quemont were fractionally lower.

Golds were practically at a standstill with only a few issues showing any changes.

Sunday School Celebrates 113th Birthday

Discussing the church's pipe-organ as a basis for his sermon, the Rev. Dr. W. H. Young spoke particularly to the young people of the congregation at George St. United Church on Sunday morning. Dr. Young is a former minister of George St. Church and is at present general secretary of the Board of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The church was celebrating the 113th anniversary of the Sunday School.

Dr. Young compared the work of different parts of the organ to every-day life. Demonstrating with a small organ pipe which he had brought from Toronto, he likened the gilted dummies to the important looking "big" people who seemed to do the work which is really done by the "little" people which rarely get their due credit.

"Little people who work in schools and business firms produce the sum total of happiness," said Dr. Young.

"Dust collects on the shelves and in the pipes, making the tubes produce squeaky, off-key music when it should be sweet and mellow. In life the dust and grit finds its way into the minds and hearts of the people."

Illustrating the power of prayer with a case of a mentally sick man, Dr. Young said the man had been cured through prayer. He stopped brooding over himself to give a little thought and prayer for his six children.

Dr. Young spoke in the afternoon to the Sunday School, and also addressed the evening congregation. The Salvation Army band played selections in the afternoon at Sunday School. Charles E. Allen played the organ.

Abbott Says Taxes Imposed In Best Interests Of People

KINGSTON, Feb. 7—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott made only vague reference to his forthcoming budget when he addressed 225 members of the Liberal Party here Saturday night. He said taxes were not imposed "just for fun."

Speaking before the newly-organized Central Ontario Liberal Association, Mr. Abbott said: "Taxes we impose, we impose because we believe it is in the best interests of the Canadian people," he said. "That has been the principle followed by me in the last two budgets."

Mr. Abbott termed "a phoney" issue the question of Dominion-Provincial relations, raised in Parliament by George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader.

(Mr. Drew, speaking in the Commons Jan. 29, had urged that the Dominion-Provincial Conference, which broke up in 1947 without reaching agreement on tax questions, be reconvened to review the country's tax structure. He charged that the Canadian constitution was being threatened "by carefully-planned efforts to deny the provinces the opportunity to carry on their affairs freely by use of their independent taxing sources.")

Just Smoke-screen

"As far as Mr. Drew is concerned, it is just a smoke-screen to prevent revenues raised in Ontario being used for social security measures in the rest of Canada," the Minister said. "It isn't a genuine issue on which the country should be divided."

Mr. Abbott said Mr. Drew "behaved with considerable dignity in the session of the House of Commons. He is a capable debater and a fighter, but a Tory."

Brief addresses were given by three Liberal candidates for the next election. They were Wellington Munroe, representing Hastings-Peterborough, Thomas Dixon from Frontenac-Addington and Gordon Bell of Prince Edward-Lennox.

Cruelty To Children

During the past month an unusual number of cases of extreme cruelty to children have been before the Ontario courts. We do not mean the sort of cruelty which is open to question — severity of discipline or anything of that sort; we mean unmistakeable cruelty, resulting in severe bodily harm and in some instances in death. We do not wish to exaggerate the significance of these cases, or to attribute them to the unsettled nature of the times, the housing shortage, or the high cost of living, although no doubt these factors have their part in accounting for much bad behaviour. It is our intention only to remind our readers of one or two facts to which these cases of cruelty to children draw our attention afresh.

* * *

The first of these is that people can only be expected to bring up their children with decency and kindness if they possess a certain irreducible minimum of good character and education. Children are often annoying and many a mother has said "I could murder that child" without realizing that there are mothers who actually do murder their children if they cry too persistently. The list of cruelties which have been recorded in Ontario during January makes us wonder how many cruelties have gone unrecorded and unpunished. We have great cause to be thankful for the Children's Aid Society, the Salvation Army and all the other agencies which work to prevent brutality toward children, but we may also wonder whether they have all the powers they need to do the best possible job.

* * *

These cases of brutality also remind us that good upbringing means not merely an absence of brutality, but an atmosphere of love and confidence. A child's world is created by its parents. If that world is filled with threats, disapproval, nagging and uncertainty the child cannot be happy, and may carry the effects of it all his life. Between the really happy home, and the home in which crying is silenced by murder there are a million gradations, and not all which escape the attention of the law are therefore free of blame.

Oregon's Walker Tilts With Popcorn Mill

State Senator Dean Walker, of Oregon, has begun a crusade which is unlikely to get very far. We regret that it seems foredoomed, and we think large numbers of moviegoers will share our feeling, for State Senator Walker wants to stop people eating popcorn at the movies. As a preliminary step, he is preparing a bill banning the sale of popcorn in moving picture theatres in that state.

Anyone ever afflicted at the movies by a bag-rattling popcorn-muncher will sympathize with State Senator Walker, but we doubt if all their sympathy will win approval of his bill by the Oregon State Senate. Even if it did, that wouldn't stop the popcorn addicts, for persons who must stoke themselves with this confection in order to enjoy a movie would undoubtedly turn to one of many other sources of supply. Probably the only way to stop people eating popcorn at the movies would be to put the popcorn industry out of business, and since it is a legitimate, $100,000,000-a-year industry now, that seems a highly improbable eventuality.

There was a time when popcorn was largely a home-made confection. True, there were horse-drawn, bell-ringing vendors who followed irregular routes early on summer evenings; a few still hawk their snowy ware in this manner. But popcorn has popped from the home and the wagon into the chain, drug, grocery, and five-and-ten-cent stores. It has been packaged in cellophane and canned; it has been dunked in cheese, candied, and caramelized. Its flavour has been improved, the industry says, by the use of cocoanut oil and a new powdered salt. And science has collaborated in supplying the demand created by sales promotion; it has developed a hybrid popcorn that yields more corn to the acre and more pops to the popper. That brought the popcorn growers of the United States some $13,000,000 last year for 293,000,000 pounds of the raw material—enough to make about twenty bags a year for every man, woman and child in that country. Canadian production and imports probably assured an equal supply per head for the people of this country.

So forbidding moving picture theatres to sell popcorn hardly seems an effective method of stopping patrons from eating the stuff. And as long as other sources of supply are available, it seems rather unfair to forbid theatres to sell it. For that matter, forbidding it might make matters worse for those afflicted by popcorn-eaters, for theatres sell moderately-sized bags of the product—and chain and drug stores market cellophane sacks large enough to last through any double feature. We're afraid the whole thing is hopeless, and that moving picture theatre patrons may as well resign themselves to suffering—not, unfortunately, in silence—from the operations of popcorn processors, who have now become big business along with the processors of peanuts, pretzels and potato chips.

Probity In Public Office

John W. Belcher, a former junior minister in the British Government and an M.P., resigned his office in the Board of Trade a couple of months ago and the other day his seat in the House of Commons. A parliamentary tribunal investigating charges of corruption reported that he had violated trust as a Minister of the Crown and a representative of the people. Thus his public career has come to an ignominious end. It is finished, for ever and a day. Last week the Right Honourable J. H. Thomas, a former Dominions Secretary and Lord Privy Seal, died at the age of 74. Only his death raised him momentarily from the discreditable obscurity into which his own actions had cast him twelve years ago, and then only to recall to the public eye the man's betrayal of his countrymen's trust.

"Jimmy" Thomas was once a popular and highly-placed member of labour unions and the Labour Government. When he deserted the Labour Party to join the MacDonald-Baldwin coalition in 1931 he was already marked as a betrayer of the class of people in whose service he had risen to prominence. His one-time friend and political colleague, Lord Snowden, said of him then: "I calculate that Mr. Thomas spends 150 days of each year attending luncheons and dinners...smoking 320 cigars and consuming nine gallons of champagne, with a laundry bill for starched shirts of $72 a year". Other people and political leaders have lived in the way Snowden accused Thomas of doing, without being thereby blameworthy. But for "Jimmy" Thomas to do so seemed to his former comrades disloyal and dishonest. It seemed to others to mark him as a man who used parliament and people only for self-aggrandizement. The end toward which his character was driving him came in 1936. Then a judicial tribunal headed by a Supreme Court justice reported that Thomas had revealed the Budget secrets to two rich friends, who had used the information for their private gain. Before the report was delivered, "Jimmy" Thomas had resigned from the Government. He had long since been expelled from his union, the Labour Party rejected him, and no other party would have him. Society spurned him, former friends ignored him. Thus was finished this Welshman who at twelve had been a full-time engine cleaner earning $1.20 a week, who rose to the general-secretaryship of the great railwaymen's union, to Cabinet rank in two governments, and to popular acclaim. As he left the House of Commons for the last time in June, 1936, he told reporters: "This is not the end of Jimmy Thomas". It was, although he tried hard in the next twelve years to make a return to public life and grace.

As Mr. Basil Dean says in writing about Thomas: "His death has served to remind Britons of the terrible, silent punishment which the British political system metes out to anyone who transgresses the ethics of public life". It is the punishment now handed out to John Belcher. It is the punishment which any parliament and people worthy of surviving must continue to mete out to officials who fail in the essential requisite of probity.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

FEW ruling monarchs knew London and its people as King Edward VII did, writes James Bone in London Echoing. Twenty-five years ago he gave the world The London Perambulator, and now makes another enduring contribution to the literature of London. He recalls the night before the coronation of Edward VII, when he tramped the streets and spent the evening at a coffee-stall. Here, the successor to Victoria was a figure of legend. To this legend he gives some new versions which he has picked up in the poor quarters of London which the King often visited in disguise, stories that old men and women tell their grandchildren, and probably will be handed on through many generations to come. His visits brought joy and often good fortune to the meanest homes and the most wretched of his subjects. "There ain't, I should say," said one old woman to Mr. Bone, "A slum in Whitechapel that he ain't been in." She related how the Prince of Wales in one of his adventures had been sold some apples by a coster, who was not deceived by his disguise and later claimed by a sign on his barrow, the title of "Fruiterer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales." "And a pretty sum of money he had to pay to get 'im to take it off, I can tell you!" she added.

* * *

MR. Bone searched for the cigar divan in Soho over which the Prince was said to have presided, and found, not only the shop itself, but also the legend which identified the Prince with Prince Florizel of Stevenson's New Arabian Nights. He had a weakness for fires and could not resist following the firemen through the streets. After such adventures it was his desire that he and his gentleman should refresh themselves on their way back to Marlborough House. It was not unnatural that they attracted attention.

* * *

IT was clearly impossible, Mr. Bone goes on to say, for a Prince of Wales in mufti to call at a hotel or restaurant without attracting undesired attention. It happened, however, that a discreet and courteous cigar merchant who had the royal custom kept a small quiet divan in Soho with a comfortable room behind the shop with a large easy chair. Arrangements seem to have been made, plans set, and when the Prince and his gentleman drove from the Fire Brigade headquarters, probably in the royal hansom, the tobacconist, doubtless with an obeisance and a wave of his cheroot, welcomed them to the back room where brandy and seltzer were assembled on the table. There the amateur firemen would solace themselves and muse over their adventures of the night while the nocturnal life of Leicester Square roared near them with the clip-clopping of handsom cabs and "Tommy make Room for Your Uncle" choruses, and the cries of whiskered men fisticutting in the Soho side-streets. The fun loving young prince drank more deeply of the joys of the common people than any other royalty outside the covers of a fairy tale, and probably was alone in knowing the excitement of following a fire that is a frequent but never tired-of experience in the rich life of the poorest slum child.

THE lot of the penny-a-liner or free-lancer is not an unhappy one, but it hasn't the security that goes with the weekly-pay envelope, though it's free and stimulating since it depends on news, which like the struggling journalist finances, it has its ups and downs. Many a free-lancer has lived to see a by-line and even write a book about his war experiences. The road to success is not easy, and resourcefullness of one's wits must be frequently used even at the sacrifice of a few scruples. In a pinch it is sometimes necessary to make news in times of scarcity if one is to survive to serve the public, one's art and eat regularly. Mr. Bone tells us of one of the ink-stained whose most ingenious effort brought a tear to many eyes when it appeared in a London paper: "Stealing quietly past the porter of the Inner Temple Church, a thin, shabbily-dressed, elderly man might have been seen yesterday making his way to the tomb north of the Church, where all that is mortal of Oliver Goldsmith lies, and there he placed a two-penny bunch of violets. It was the anniversary of the death of the great author of "The Vicar Of Wakefield". Even newspapermen have their weaknesses, and his was anniversaries, and he had made it a specialty. Let us believe that having turned in his touching story, he did indeed become that romantic figure with shabby suit and the violets, who denied himself to pay his small tribute at the shrine of one of the great, for his emotion was very genuine by the time he had in person dropped the faded flowers and a few tears on the sacred tomb. James Bone, who was the reporter who discovered his identity, after having detected a faint smell of rat in that touching story, might himself have been deceived, if he had not possessed another quality, important in a good newspaper man, a suspicious turn of mind.

* * *

THERE is a great tendency for moderns to feel that the Victorian age was "stuffy" and I was not surprised to find in The English Language—Its Beauty And Uses that the English poets were "bearded, solemn figures, sitting in their gloomy studies, milling out their daily quota of verses." Can this verdict stand the test of evidence? I am inclined to think not.

In Ten Victorian Poets F. L. Lucas of Cambridge University has challenged this type of thinking. Tennyson had a gruff, but not stuffy sense of humour. To an effusive lady, who, at parting begged to know what she could do for him he answered, "Anything, except kiss me in front of the cabman." He would sit in the public house, over his clay pipe and port, growling, "I like my meat in wedges."

* * *

HAROLD Nicholson, Byron's biographer tells the story of how Tennyson once acted after dinner at Balliol: "Tennyson read some of his latest work, not quite up to his best standard. When he ceased, there was a long silence, broken by the chirping treble of Jowett, "If I were you, Tennsyon, I wouldn't publish those." There was a yet more awful hush and then the booming bass of the outraged poet, "If it comes to that Master (Jowett, remember was the famous Master of Balliol) the sherry you gave us at luncheon today was positively filthy."

* * *

TENNYSON'S gardener remembered the poet as a gruff old chap who loves old clothes, pipe and a joke. Once, to a party of American visitors, he pretended to be the gardener, and they gave him a half-crown tip, which he was happy to pass on. No, the anonymous author of the first book is in error. There are volumes of stories of the "bearded Victorians"; Rossetti, Swinburne, and Matthew Arnold are only a few who give the lie to his assertion. More of them later.

WORKING OVERTIME

Letters To The Editor

FORTY-EIGHT HOUR WEEK ON FARMS

Sir: At the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture recently, it was agreed that a forty-eight hour week with time and a half for overtime, should be used as a basis in determining prices of farm products.

We read that the Kent County Federation group, at a recent meeting, said that if dairy farmers and their employees worked only 48 hours weekly with overtime pay suggested above, milk would cost consumers 35c per quart. Prices of other farm commodities would rise accordingly.

There is little doubt in the mind of the average Canadian farmer that the 40-hour week with the same or higher pay demanded by urban wage or salary earners, has been the chief cause of inflation. Not all urban workers have the 40-hour week but almost every day we hear on the radio of threatened strikes with the demand for a 40-hour week. Not long ago civil service employees of the government joined the ranks of the five-day weekers. We expect that government payments of money due for work, always notoriously slow, will drag out more than ever. We think the Government should set a good example and see that business matters are looked after promptly and efficiently. We would like to see those income tax forms ready on Jan. 1st so that we could find out the worst and begin to save up our pennies to pay the tax. Both city and country women, who often help fill out those forms, are very busy in March and April.

Many farmers think it would be fair if a forty-eight hour work week would be adopted both in urban and rural districts, and prices of all good and services set on an equitable basis.

A REPLY TO MR. FENWICK

Sir: In reading your paper dated February 1st, I noticed the letter signed by Mr. M. J. Fenwick, representative of the United Steelworkers of America to which you attached the head "Quarrel is with Communists".

While I have no intention of entering a debating match with Mr. Fenwick, I feel it necessary to nail down once and for all the misleading statements in his letter.

The facts are that the United Steelworkers of America under the leadership of Mr. Charles Millard are recklessly following a policy of attacking the membership of the UE and other Unions because we refuse to accept the political dictation of Mr. Millard and fit ourselves into his scheme of becoming the Czar of the Canadian Labour Movement.

Anyone within labour who refuses to become a clerk for Mr. Millard and a small right-wing group within the C.C.F. is considered by them as fair game.

Witness the unprecedented, unprincipled attack on that old established and honourable union, the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and the expelling of its leader, Bob Carlin from the C.C.F. because he refused to force Millard's politics on his membership.

Witness the Steelworkers raiding of U.E. membership at the English Electric plant in St. Catharines with the result that the English Electric workers were saddled with a 7c per hour wage increase as compared with 13c won by the U.E. in the electrical industry.

Mr. Fenwick states that the Steelworkers Union is free politically. Then perhaps he should explain why a small policy meeting of Steelworkers leaders in 1947 gave Mr. Millard the unquestioned and unlimited power to use the funds and organizing staff of the Union for the C.C.F. Party—remembering that only a handful of Steelworkers are members of that party.

Mr. Fenwick talks about a quarrel with the Communists. This appears to be a very profitable quarrel because under the guise of this so-called quarrel, the Steelworkers leaders did the following at their last convention:

1. Increased the term of office for all elected officials (including) Mr. Millard from two to four years.

2. Increased the Steelworkers dues from $1.50 to $2.00 per month.

3. Increased (substantially) the salaries of elected officers and appointed representatives (including Mr. Fenwick).

This is the kind of union democracy that the workers in Peterborough do not want.

However, Mr. Fenwick's defence of the anti-labour activities of Millard and his raising (in common with the employers) of the phoney cry of Communist domination is probably prompted by his own conscience in light of the fact that that he, Mr. Fenwick, was a former member of the Communist Party prior to his moving into the glitter and gold embrace of Mr. Millard.

It will take more than slander, half-truths and outright lies to turn the workers of Peterborough against the UE which has been instrumental in nearly doubling wages in industry here.

Yours very truly,
GEO. HARRIS,
Secretary-Treasurer,
UER & MWA, District Five.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Doth a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter? Can the fig tree, my brethren, bear olive berries? either a vine, figs? so can no fountain both yield salt water and fresh.

Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him shew out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom. (James 3: 11-13.)

* * *

For God speaketh once, yet twice, yet man perceiveth it not....Yea, his soul draweth near unto the grave, and his life to the destroyers.

If there be a messenger with him, an interpreter, one among a thousand, to shew unto man his uprightness: then he is gracious unto him, and saith, Deliver him from going down to the pit: I have found a ransom. (Job 33: 14, 22-24.)

* * *

Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul; having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation. Marmora Good Place For Trouble Trenton RCAF Rescue Squad On Job

By JAMES HORNICK

TRENTON, Feb. 7.—The country between Marmora and Madoc is a pretty safe place for hunters these days. They may not stumble upon much game, but if they get lost they'll never perish for want of attention.

The RCAF has chosen this area for the extensive training to which one of their crack para-rescue teams is being subjected. At the very puff of a smoke signal, these boys can drop from the door of a Norseman, equipped to pitch a tent or deliver a baby.

Some of their hard-won skill is being tested this week over the frozen wastes of Somerset Island. The Eskimo village of Cresswell Bay was ravaged three months ago by a mysterious plague that reportedly killed most of the inhabitants. Two search and rescue transports of the RCAF are seeking survivors.

One of the big Dakota transports left here three weeks ago carrying two well-trained jumpers and a stock of food, camping equipment and medical supplies which can be dropped by parachute. For the Trenton team, it was the first operational mission.

Move In An Hour

With crews stationed at Whitehorse, Greenwood, Vancouver, Edmonton, and Trenton, the search and rescue division of the RCAF stands ready at an hour's notice to dispatch mercy flights to any section of the Dominion.

Two members of the para-rescue team in a Norseman transport dumped supply containers to a demonstration crew on the ground.

Sgt. Bill Farr of Hamilton and Cpl. T. L. W. Dawson of Ottawa stood in the open doorway, trying to gauge the velocity of the wind and the power of the slipstream. An error in judgment would have meant discomfort for the ground squad in an actual operation.

Farr juggled two bright-colored marker 'chutes. At precisely the right moment he dropepd one overboard. When it landed, the men on the ground used the brilliant silk cloth to signal their position.

Flt. Lieut. Milt Cowie watched Farr's arm for directions. A combination of radio and manual signals placed the aircraft on a course that would compensate for the strong wind. Over the target area Farr and Dawson dumped a 200-pound container of food and supplies. On the next pass they tossed out another.

Not Many Calls

The four-man para-rescue team hasn't been called on of late to swing into action. But, until the next call is received, they're maintaining the efficiency that was acquired during the rigorous training in the Rockies.

At Jasper they had to make 10 hazardous jumps, four into heavily-timbered country and the rest over the mountains. With 60 pounds of jump suit and equipment to load them down, it isn't easy work.

For a three-week spell, they lived in the bush. They learned bush lore and survival, ground navigation, shelters preparation, care of clothing and enough about elementary surgery to treat shock, wounds, hemorrhages, burns and fractures. In an emergency they could even officiate at a childbirth.

At the RCAF station here they make two jumps a month and practice supply dropping every week. Pilots go along as observers on most of the flights to find out how, in the case of a crash, they might best assist their rescuers.

On the simulated rescues, ground crews are driven by truck to isolated sections of woodland, where they are abandoned until search and rescue machines locate them. A lost party or the victims of a minor crash would get a supply container. If some one below was hurt, a parachutist would go over the side.

Sault Citizens Storming Liquor Stores Following Doctor's Cure For Influenza

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Feb. 7—(CP)—Medical Officer of Health Dr. J. E. Gimby—although not unanimously supported by medical opinion—is a firm believer in the medical efficiency of whisky.

Sault citizens, of whom some 2,200 have been stricken with influenza, have taken Dr. Gimby at his word and the liquor store here has had to ask the Ontario Liquor Control Board to hustle up more whisky—or rum—or brandy.

Dr. Gimby, who once tramped 25 miles on snowshoes in 30-below-zero weather to save the life of a frontiersman, prescribes alcohol and isolation to avoid pneumonia which often follows an attack of influenza.

The patient should go to bed and take two teaspoons of alcohol—whisky, brandy or rum—every hour on the hour, said Dr. Gimby. Sulfa drugs and penicillin should be used only if complications arise.

Taking Dr. Gimby at his word—and despite protests of temperance advocates—Sault citizens have stormed liquor stores, creating a temporary shortage.

Many Criticisms Recorded About Television

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7 (AP)—What do the people who own television sets think about television?

To get this information, I posed as a television repair man for a day.

The poll is not meant to be a scientific one, but I think it does show a representative cross-section of television viewers. Here are the questions and answer:

1. Do you like television?

Generally, the answer was yes. One women decared it was a Godsend to her husband, a semi-invalid—"It made his life worth living."

On the debit side, a grandmother said she didn't look at it much. A business man didn't care for it particularly, except for sport.

2. What don't you like about television?

Too Much Sport

One elderly woman said there was too much sports. A student said too much emphasis was on entertainment.

Other complaints: Lack of good shows, technical disturbances, small screen.

3. Do you listen to the radio less often?

Nearly all said yes. A housewife said she listens all day, but never after dinner when the TV shows come on. A few said they never turn on the radio at all.

4. How has television changed your way of life?

The business man reported it has increased his liquor bill, since more people drop in. Another complained it "has made a theatre out of my home," for kids from all over the neighborhood.

Nearly all answered they stay home much more and have more friends in than before.

Safecracking Foiled

OTTAWA, Feb. 7—(CP)—A store employee turned safecracker who went without food or water for 18 hours in an attempt to break open a safe containing $2,500 was captured by police Sunday, just as he was stuffing the money in his pockets. Police said Henry Hanchuck, 25, apparently remained behind when the store closed early Saturday afternoon, and started to work on the safe with tools taken from a store rack.

Locomotive Stolen

SHERRIDDON, Man., Feb. 7—(CP)—RCMP today wondered what charge would cover alleged theft of a locomotive. They said a CNR night watchman—his name was not disclosed—climbed aboard an engine early Sunday and set out for parts unknown. His ride ended at Fay Lake, 20 miles south of here, when the locomotive became entangled in switches and wound up on a siding.

Togs Take Win By 28 to 13 From Cobourg

Towne Togs avenged a previous loss to Cobourg girls when they trimmed the lakeshore lasses 28-13 in an exhibition hoop game here Saturday evetning. They opened fast to count four baskets before Cobourg could find the hoop. The large PCVS floor bothered both sides for a time but the local zone defence kept the visitors out. They led at the quarter 11-4 and had a 17-9 margin at the half.

The Togs showed up as a faster-breaking team but threw away many chances by being over-anxious. For Hy Smith's squad, Jean Caverly, Dot Callan and Bev Pringle went best, with A. Dufton, A. McCaig and Jean Allen going good for Cobourg. The Togs scored two foul shots of seven as Cobourg sank five in 15 tries. Togs play Port Hope at the YWCA next Friday. The teams:

Cobourg: A. Dufton 4, A. McCaig 4, G. Smith, B. Omerod, J. Allen 3, B. Holman, R. Waite 2, R. Chartrand.

Towne Togs: J. Castle 4, J. Plunkett 4, S. Curtis 2, E. Whittaker, J. Dunk, J. Caverly 4, J. Vass 5, D. Callan 5, B. Pringle 2, B. Deyell, A. Bowler, A. Davis.

Lloyd Mangrum Wins Tucson Open Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 7 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago sank a six-inch putt on the El Rio Country's Club's 18th green Sunday with a careless pendulum swing. The nonchalant stroke did the following:

1. Won the former United States Open champion $2,000 first prize in the $10,000 Tuscon Open Golf tournament.

2. Made him the leading United States money winner to date in 1949 with a total of $5,755.

3. Set a 72-hole El Rio course record of 263—17 under par.

4. Tied him with Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, for low scores of the day with a five-under-par 65.

Trojans In Draw

Indian River and Trojans tied 4-4 in an exhibition hockey game played over the week-end. Don Bethune and Bob Heron were prominent on the attack for Indian River, as Pagett and Johnston stood out for Trojans. The teams:

Indian River — Goal, J. Heron; defence, DeLong, Pammett; centre, D. Bethune; wings, Lang, R. Heron; alternates, W. Bethune, Varcoe, Chamberlain, D. Lang, and Edwards.

Trojans — Goal, Dorris; defence, Pagett, Stewart; centre, Peel; wings, Douglas, Carroll; alternates, Johnston, Billingsley, Parker, Foy.

Referee—E. Panter.

AN ALL-STAR CARD—A bout that can aptly be called the "Battle of Giants" will bring together Mike "The Body" Sharpe and Sky-Hi Lee the Ozark Giant, ABOVE, in the Brock Arena ring on Wednesday night. The arena ring will likely be strained to the utmost before this big brawl is over. Sandy O'Donnell will be introduced here in the semi-final when he meets Sliding Billy Hanson. They are two top-flight wrestlers in any city. Pat Flanagan and Al (Krusher) Korman will start off the evening's explosions. Truly an all-star mat card.

LED ATTACK — Tall Ed Nichols led the attack for Marines "A" cagers in Guelph on Saturday when they beat the Aggies 43-31, Ed tallying no less than 17 points in a fine performance.

Outboards Get Hoop Tilt From Aggies

Outboard Marines "A" basketeers defeated Guelph Aggies 43-31 in Guelph on Saturday evening in an exhibition hoop game. Al Clark's classy Marines finished much stronger to earn the duke after a fairly close half. They led 18-12 at the interval but kept pouring in there to pile up a 25-19 margin in the hot second half and assure the victory in a good game.

Ed Nichols turned in a stellar performance to tally 17 points, most of them in the torrid second half. Al Stewart was clicking well, too, on the attack to notch seven points as Kidd counted eight, and the whole team looked good. Kennedy scored eight and Shields seven to stop the homesters, with most of them in on the counting and all battling till the final whistle. Marines were minus their captain, Joe Stewart. The teams:

Marines "A": A. Stewart 7, Nichols 17, Burns 4, Kidd 8, Smith 2, Hanbidge, McPherson, Plunkett 3, Gillespie 2.

Aggies: Kennedy 8, Humphries, Carman 4, Hikichi, Shields 7, Slinger 2, Smith 5, Gray 3, Jay, Myres, O'Donnell 2.

May Have New Sponsor

GALT, Feb. 7 (CP) — Galt Rockets, Ontario Hockey Association Junior A entry, may be sponsored next season by a National Hockey League team, it was learned today. It is considered likely that the present sponsor, Philadelphia Rockets, American Hockey League team, will drop out of the local picture. Officials of Chicago Black Hawks have got in touch with the Rockets management and Eddie Shore, representing Buffalo Bisons, conferred with Galt club officials last week with the idea of taking the club into his system.

Marine Cagers Take Win Over Port Hope

Marines "B" cagers kept intact their victory streak of the season here Saturday as they defeated Port Hope 47-32 in a lively Lakeshore League fixture at the Collegiate. They took an early lead with Thorburn and McLaren leading the snipers to build up a 28-9 margin at the half. Port Hope had their share of play but were outlucked under the hoop.

The visitors drove hard in the second half to close up to within striking distance of Gord McIntyre's gang but Marines opened up hard in the last five minutes to assure the win. Hunt, Berry and Brandwood were most effective for the Hopers with Gillen solid on defence. For Marines, Payne and Griffin turned in a swell defensive game and the whole crew looked good all the way in a neat number. The teams:

Port Hope: Reeves 4, Berry 8, Hunt 6, Brandwood 6, Lees 2, Trenouth, Bullock 3, VanBuren 1, Hagerman 2, Gillen.

Marines "B": Payne 2,

Marines "B": Payne 2, Dadson 2, Thorburn 13, Trimm 7, McLaren 8, Smith 2, Green 8, Deroo 5, Butcher, Bachelor.

Ray Corcoran Injured In Game With Barrie

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP)—Ray Corcoran, forward line star of the Toronto St. Michael's College majors, is in hospital here with undetermined injuries suffered in Saturday's game against Barrie Flyers in Toronto. Corcoran was accidentally struck in the face by a Barrie stick in the first period of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game. His condition is reported in hospital as "fair." A brain specialist has been called to the aid of the young player, who is on the list of the National Hockey League Boston Bruins.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Christopher (Roland) Joe North, refused admission to the ball park at Victoria, B. C., because of his "Bronx cheer," must pay $96.80 for the court action he started on the issue.

He sued the Victoria Baseball Club for being refused admission to the games. The club charged he was obnoxious and gave too frequent renditions of his "Bronx cheer."

So the park management refunded the remaining amount of his season ticket. It was $96.80. Saturday Mr. Justice H. S. Wood ordered the cheque turned over to the Club for court costs.

Two rinks from Aubrey, Que., edged out their opponents from Ottawa's Rideau Curling Club Saturday to win the grand final of the Governor General's Trophy Bonspiel, Eastern Canada's premier double-irons event.

Viscount Alexander and a host of curling enthusiasts were on hand to watch the Aubrey Rinks sweep their way to victory by an aggregate score of 32-28, one of the closest decisions in the 65-year history of the bonspiel.

Aggressive, fast-breaking play by the University of Toronto senior basketballers gave them their first victory in this year's Senior Intercollegiate Loop Saturday night when they downed McGill University Redmen, 66-52 at Toronto. The Toronto Blues piled up a half-time score of 35-9.

New York Rangers Hockey Club Sunday summoned Wes Trainor, high scoring centre with the St. Paul Saints to replace Don Raleigh, it was announced last night at Chicago. Raleigh suffered a twisted knee in Rangers' game Saturday at Toronto.

Close Midget Go

Trojans pulled out a 1-0 midget PMHA victory over Jaycees at the Sacred Heart rink on Saturday. Patterson counted the only goal in the second period of a close-checking and interesting struggle. The teams:

Jaycees: Goal, Tyndall; defence, Bryan and Parry; centre, Buott; wings, Hope and Daniels; alternates, Batley, Strickland, Allan and White.

Trojans: Goal, Evans; defence, Church and Maudsley; centre, Doris; wings, Bartley and Allen; alternates, Henderson, R. Dunn, E. Dunn, Deck, Hooper, Patterson and Foster.

Towering Mike Sharpe and even taller Hi Lee will brush the ceiling lights of the Brock Arena in the main pro mat bout this Wednesday night. Popular Mike defeated John Katan here last week and Hi Lee, the tall Texan—who was in Buffalo that night—sent a challenge up to meet the winner. They're two huge and smart grapplers, so it should be quite a scrap for the large city and district following the wrestlers get. As they put on a real show every time, they rate this following. Sandy O'Donnell is in against Sliding Billy Hanson in the semi-final, and we always liked the slider. He and the Whipper put on some of the most exciting battles ever seen here more than a year ago. A good prelim, too.

Went up Apsley way Saturday expecting there'd be a hockey game, but it was postponed owing to a large funeral in the village. The Apsley Aces are in a lively Haywire League with Crowe's Landing, Young's Point, Lakehurst and Lakefield. Some good, exciting hockey, and they draw better—in proportion—than the OHA senior "B" jousts here. Husky Bert Howden is over an injury suffered recently in a game when a guy tripped him. A trip doesn't have to be with the stick or foot—it can be worked with a knee, the hip or the whole body, by dropping down fast in front of a guy. Someone dropped down suddenly in front of the big provincial cop.

Petes Play Legion

Petes play Legion tonight at 8.30 in Civic Arena, and (the saints be praised) it'll start on the dot. Since both are local clubs with no travelling to do. Legionnaires are riding high right now with but one reverse all through their schedule to date, and they figure on racking up another victory. They'll enjoy doing it muchly—if they can—at the expense of their bitter city rivals. Which adds up to a right promising night of hot puck action for the followers of both clubs. Some of these fans are pretty rabid ones, at that.

* * * * * *

The Petes aren't unduly worried. They've been through tough times before and they're pointing hard for the playoffs—meantime playing themselves into shape and juggling their players around for the best combination. A lot of fight and experience in that club, and it may cause a few upsets yet (despite a slow start) ere playoffs and during them. That's what we're hoping for, some sizzling close contests betwixt these two Peterborough clubs before spring arrives. We don't give a hoot which one wins but we want keen competition, and that's what the customers crave. The Petes and Legion may start dishing it up tonight.

Marines Take Two

On two widely-separated fronts Saturday p.m., Outboard Marines' cage teams came through with triumphs. Here at home, Gord McIntyre's good Marines "B" bunch beat Port Hope 47-32 in a neat number to keep intact their Lakeshore Loop victory streak. Jim Thorburn hasn't hurt that team a bit since he came out of retirement, scoring 13 points Saturday, but they all went well. Down in Guelph, Al Clark's classy Marines "A" cagers rolled to a 43-31 exhibition win, with Ed Nichols sparking the attack. Nice going for both clubs and, no doubt, Hugh Campbell is happy about it all. Both teams will shortly be be hitting into provincial playdowns and should make a decent showing.

* * * * * *

Other basketball games were played here over the week-end, too. Towne Togs took a 28-13 triumph from Cobourg colleens with Jean Caverly, Dot Callan and Bev Pringle showing up best for Hy Smith's squad, all turning in a neat performance. Girls' games here Friday are: Lockeys vs. Nurses, and Collis vs. Neill's. At the Collegiate, the PCVS seniors won 63-25 from Cobourg and the bantam PCI-ers took Cobourg 27-18, third straight win for both teams. Our junior "B" PCVS pack was nosed out by Cobourg to give the latter group honors. On Wednesday, the "B" boys go to Port Hope, and Friday sees our senior and junior "A" cagers in Oshawa.

Speaking Of Baseball

Might be six clubs in the COBL this year. At yesterday's annual meeting, five entered for sure: Petes, Napanee, Kingston Locos, Batawa and Oshawa. Another Kingston club and Belleville are interested. Entries close at a meeting next month and they may run two three-club sections with an interlocking schedule. Don Thomas of Belleville is prexy, Vern Dawson of Peterborough vice-president, and Jack Devine of Belleville the secretary-treasurer. Each club is represented on the executive. They brought the loop constitution up to date, decided to boost representation from this section at the annual OBA convention here in the spring, and planned to field stronger clubs in the Central League.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

Our lady curlers who have been playing down at the Seigniory Club, Que., arrived home early this morning.

The two rinks that will represent the Curling Club in the Ontario Ladies' Tankard competition to be played at High Park, Toronto, on Wednesday are;

Mrs. F. Hall, Mrs. L. Browne, Mrs. T. Doughty, Mrs. G. Wood (skip).

Mrs. M. Holt, Mrs. J. Watts, Mrs. G. Green, Mrs. V. Selkirk (skip).

We hear that it is quite likely that the Kiwanis Club will hold a two-day bonspiel, Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 14 and 15.

It is not generally known among curlers, but we have in connection with the club a Hot Stove League. This league meets each evening and sits up in the balcony that overlooks ices 3-4-5. At a snap meeting the other evening S. Lowe was elected hon. president, Rev. Wm. Macdonald, president, and Mrs. O. Steer, Mrs. H. Dulmage, Mrs. J. Green and yours truly chartered members. We might add it's some league. They discuss everything that is made right across the rink, from the south end of No. 1 to the north end of No. 7 ice. The comments are, at times, terrific. We would like to pass some of them on to our readers. Maybe we will.

Two full houses were out on Saturday. In the afternoon men's bonspiel; the winning skips were: J. McDermid, D. Charlton, K. Hamley and C. Lawrence.

At the evening mixed rink bonspiel, R. Bastable and R. Payne skipped the winning rinks.

No. 2 schedule continues this evening at 7 o'clock and 9 o'clock.

Central Loop May Have Six Clubs In

Prospects of a six-club Central Ontario Baseball League this year appear bright following the annual meeting yesterday in Belleville. Five clubs are definite entries: Oshawa, Kingston Locos, Batawa, Peterborough and Napanee. Another Kingston club sent a letter up but did not have a representative on hand. And the CNR Diesels of Belleville expressed interest in entering. Another meeting to close entries will be held sometime in March.

Don Thomas was returned as president for 1949, with Vern Dawson of Peterborough again named vice-president, and Jack Devine of Belleville re-elected as secretary-treasurer. The executive committee consists of a representative from each club.

Various matters were discussed after the 1948 reports were presented. The constitution was thoroughly checked and amendments made where advisable. An effort will be made to get a strong representation from eastern and central Ontario for the annual OBA meeting to be held in Peterborough this spring. COBL clubs will likely be strengthened considerably this year, as Manager Eddie Murphy advised them all to bolster, promising to field a much stronger squad in Peterborough than the Petes of 1948, the COBL champions.

Lakefield Wallops St. Andrew's By 5-2

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 7 — Lakefield defeated St. Andrew's, 5-2, here Saturday in an Independent Prep School League hockey game. It was a close match all the way down to the final period, when Grove broke a 2-2 tie by rattling in three straight goals.

Wilkes, from Clarke and Easson scored for Lakefield in the first period, offsetting a St. Andrew's tally by King. Ketchum converted Arnoldi's pass in the second to give Lakefield a 2-1 lead, but Powter, from Currie, tied it early in the third before Clarke, Gibson and Burns, from Gibson, made it 5-2.

Hawks Take Tilt

NORWOOD, Feb. 7—(ENS)—Elwood Bey, Black Hawk's goalie, secured his second shut-out Saturday morning when they blanked Red Wings 5-0 in the second game in Norwood Arena. Two penalties were handed out in this stanza, F. Rooney for boarding and G. Aldred, tripping. L. Peoples scored the fifth goal when Mervin Millett passed an easy one over and earned an assist.

Leafs Upset Bruins 4-2 Rayner Sparks Rangers

By BERT ALLEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New Yark Rangers are out of the National Hockey League cellar for the first time in 2½ months, and the one guy the blue-shirts can thank for their "lofty" fifth-place position today is goalie Chuck Rayner.

The Rangers finally evacuated last place by garnering three points in their two week-end road games. Rayner was terrific in both contests, when New York rallied for a 1-1 draw at Toronto Saturday and when they blanked the slipping Black Hawks 2-0 in Chicago Sunday night.

Other week-end jousts saw the high-flying Detroit Red Wings run their win streak to five straight Sunday night with a 1-0 shave over the slumping Montreal Canadiens. It was the fifth setback in a row for the Habitants who blew a 3-2 home-ice decision to Boston Saturday. Toronto upset the Bruins 4-2 in Beantown Sunday night.

The third place Canadiens now lead Toronto by only one point.

Obstacle Too Big

A first-period goal by little Pete Horeck proved too big an obstacle for the punchless Canadiens to overcome Sunday night at Detroit and the Wings coasted home with a 1-0 win for Harry Lumley's fourth shutout of the campaign.

Boston had to come from behind with a pair of third-period goals for their 3-2 triumph over Canadiens Saturday night at Montreal. After Eddie Sandford opened the scoring for the Bruins defenceman Doug Harvey and Leo Gravelle scored to give the Habs a 2-1 edge going into the final frame. Milt Schmidt tied the count and then set up Pete Babando with a beautiful pass for the clincher at 14.28.

Has Big Night

Centre Cal Gardner had himself a big night when Toronto upset the Bruins 4-2 before a crowd of 13,909 at the Hub. The former Ranger pivotman notched three goals, all in the first period, and then made the play for the fourth Leaf counter scored by Jimmy Thomson.

Woody Dumart and Pat Egan were the Bruin marksmen.

At Toronto Saturday, the Leafs appeared to have a 1-0 victory in the bag with only minutes remaining. But Rookie Jack Gordon ticked in Allan Stanley's long shot to knot the count at 17.14 and give the Rangers a tie.

At Chicago Sunday night, Alex Kaleta banged home the first Ranger goal at 7.33 of the initial session. The Flying Finn, Penti Lund, made it 2-0 at 18.33 of the middle stanza.

Ottawa Stages Sporting Show

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP)—Starting next Friday, this capital will feature more winter sporting events than you can shake a snowshoe at.

Everything from choosing carnival queen to fireworks is on the agenda. It will be the first winter celebration Ottawa has seen in years, and its sponsors, the Junior Board of Trade, have assembled an impressive list of events.

Top billing of the week of outdoor sports is given the International Dog Derby, last held here in 1930. Additional highlights are the Central Canada Ski championships, Feb. 11-13; the Central Canada Curling Bonspiel Feb. 14-18; the Canadian Figure Skating championships Feb. 18 and 19, and Snowshoe races at Rideau Hall.

The whole thing will wind up with a fancy-dress competition at Lansdowne Park, a giant bonfire and fireworks.

Oddly enough, the dog derby will be dominated, if not completely monopolized, by New Englanders. Canada's sole entry is Edwin Lambert, a trapper of The Pas, Man., and it is believed that lack of travelling expenses will prevent him from making the trip.

NEW COUNSEL

John Corkery, Jr., a recently admitted member of the bar who has set up practise in the city, made his first appearance as counsel in police court this morning.

FEW VEGETABLES MARKETED

A poor market, similar to the one a week before, was reported on Saturday. The snowstorm is believed to have caused drifts on side roads cutting down on the number of marketers. Most significant feature of the day's selling was the scarcity of vegetables. There was a drop in the price of eggs; the range was from 40-45 cents, with 50 cents a dozen being paid for specials. Young chickens sold at 50 cents and broiling chickens at 40 cents.

HAD NO GUIDE

Peterborough Chamber of Commerce arranged a tour of the city Saturday to entertain out-of-town attendants at the International Swim Clinic. The visitors had many favorable comments to make, but felt they would have enjoyed it more with a guide to explain the sights. They were shown the lift lock but not informed that it is the only one of its size and kind. After seeing a large picture of it in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room and noting reproductions on Ornamental Club girls' sweaters, they asked why it was so featured. Various factories were pointed out to them but they were not told this is the home of so many internationally known products.

MOTOR BURNS OUT

Firemen were called to the residence of A. Peeling, 628 Gilmour St., shortly before midnight on Sunday when smoke was reported rising from an electric motor in the basement. The motor's wiring had burned out.

All three girls have experience in hospital work, the last two having served three years each in Vienna hospitals, and are anxious to continue this work in Canada to become qualified nurses. They arrived in Halifax aboard the SS Marine Shark on Jan. 30.

75 Hunters Bag Three Foxes; Wolf Escapes

A shaggy grey brush wolf is alive today because three radio announcers were on the air Saturday somewhere in the United States.

This incident, a freak in radio, played havoc with walkie-talkie communications on the fox hunt, and the total bag was three foxes. The lone wolf spotted by the hunters, broke through when members of the 50th Heavy Ack Ack regiment on communications had their messages interfered with by the American broadcasts.

The amazing thing about it, is that the walkie-talkies with a normal broadcasting range of a mile and a half, were bringing in messages loud and clear from hundreds of miles away. Love Easy Fox was the central radio station of the hunt, a 19 set, and the walkie-talkies were Love Easy Fox No. 1 and No. 2. When a message was being sent from a gunner, slogging through 15 inches of snow, in the swamp a message would be heard either from an American army man or a traffic officer with a eorgia accent. It went like this "Love Nan 4 Able, calling Love Nan 4 Jake," or Love Nan 4 Able calling Love Nan 4 Item." The station was apparently "Able," and the other two sets were in the field, but they were having trouble hearing each other. Not so in the swamps of Douro township, as every message came in clear and strong.

Signal Sgt. Ed. Killingbeck on a 19 wireless set called back trying to reach the Americans but had no luck. In radio parlance, reception from such a great distance is called a "kickback out of the sky." It happens occasionally when weather and cloud conditions are conducive to such an occurrence.

Music Also

That wasn't all. Several times during the morning and afternoon there was classical music, then popular as some disc jockey hit his stride, and finally Hawaiian music. Before the hunt ended Lt. Tom Duffield, recently from England said "It's like lugging a blasted parlor set around."

About 75 men took part in the hunt, only a third the number expected, and the area selected which was said to have six wolves in it, only produced the one that got away. They killed every fox in the area, a section one and a half miles wide and two miles deep, and the men were a bit disappointed.

Coffee Served

They had coffee at two stops on the hunt, and a jeep was parked alongside the fire, so the men could listen to the broadcasts from the States. Now the big question is "Where is Love Nan 4 Able located?"

The men hunted north of No. 7 highway in Otonabee and Douro, finishing at the road leading to the Douro church. This section embraces the three concessions due east of the area covered two weks ago when two wolves and six foxes were shot.

Campbell Rowatt, and Norman Bradley of the Peterborough Fish and Game club were hunt leaders, with Capt Phil. Sargeant, A. and T. officer of the 50th Heavy A.A. regiment in charge of communications.

EGG INSPECTOR HERE

As an educational aid to farmers the local egg inspector has set up a booth in the Market Hall. While the grading of eggs is compulsory there are many marketers who have not yet learned the proper way to do so. Candling and other techniques will be shown to those interested. It is expected that the Inspector will be there each Saturday morning. The emphasis at this stage is on education.

Cancelled or suspended during the year, 13; recipients moved into the city, two.

The Pensions Board also dealt with six applications for blind pensions; two were granted by the Ontario commission and four were pending at the end of the year.

$43,737 Spent

Total welfare expenditure last year was $43,737.75 as compared with $32,088.50 for 1947.

Receipts were: From province, $15,350.61; chargeable to other places, $752.11; refund, funerals $191.77, refund on post-sanitarium care $43, from office rent $157, telephone readjustment $2.85. Total, $16,497.84, leaving the actual cost to the city last year at $27,239.91, of which administration costs were $6,338.

Hospital Cases

Mr. Metheral also reported 171 investigations of hospital cases, resulting in 156 admissions. Some were refused because of residence or financial circumstances. Of the 156 admissions, 48 were to Civic Hospital, 55 to St. Joseph's; the remaining 53 were to outside hospitals: sanatoria 24, Ontario hospitals 11, other hospitals 18.

Total cost in local hospitals was $13,427.23, of which $1,695.70 was for relief recipients and the rest for indigent residents. Collections amounted to $1,640.35; net cost to the city for last year was $11,786.88; an increase of $4,059.55 over 1947.

Peterborough paid for 21 patients in outside hospitals, including four in the Ontario hospital for epileptics at Woodstock. Net cost of those patients was $2,607.15.

Hospital Bill Up

Total hospitalization costs last year, $14,394.03, as compared with $9,693.33; an increase for all hospitals of $4,700.

The following figures were quoted from the general welfare report.

"In Dec., 1948, there were 196 persons who received help from the department; 97 registrations for relief were received during the year; 12 were entirely chargeable to the city; of the others 50 received temporary help owing to illness, imprisonment of the head of the family, awaiting mothers' allowances, old age pensions, etc. During the year the number of registrations for assistance ranged from four to thirteen monthly; home visits and investigations, 196.

Twelve ex-patients of sanatoria, including two charged to us from other places, received care. Total after-care costs were $2,329.59, of which $630 was the charge-back from other municipalities.

One Peterborough resident was recommended to receive free insulin. Three applications were refused; 16 persons received free insulin chargeable to this municipality 25 per cent. last year. The sum of $86.44 was paid to the Provincial Department of Health for this purpose.

From the Almira Grover Foley estate $520 was received and distributed quarterly to thirteen needy residents. Orders for twelve funerals, seven ambulance services, four to outside hospitals, were issued. Two of the latter were to sanatoria.

Insurance Policies Cover Fuel Oil, Official Says

Peterborough residents who have installed oil furnaces need not worry about insurance companies paying off in the case of fire, several local fire insurance agents said today.

A Toronto lawyer, speaking in Niagara Falls on Sunday night raised some consternation by stating that "an often-overlooked" provincial statute requires a special clause in fire insurance policies covering households storing more than five gallons of fuel oil. He told householders to search their policies to make sure that a clause is included to override the government statute.

He said he had been misquoted in newspaper reports of a speech to the Ontario section of the Canadian Bar Association at Niagara Falls last night. The reports quoted him as saying that householders needed a special clause if they stored more than 50 gallons of fuel oil.

According to Canadian Press Fire Marshal Scott of Ontario said that special clauses to cover stored oil are included by most insurance companies. He said regulations regarding just how it should be stored are laid down and enforced by municipalities. In Toronto, the limit was 500 gallons.

R. L. Jones, research officer for the Canadian Underwriters' Association, said householders are protected by an "overwhelming proportion" of fire insurance companies whether or not they store fuel oil in their homes. He said this was done through a "permit" inserted in the policy, overriding the government statute.

According to Darling Insurance the customer does not have to worry. The company has been paying claims no matter how large the storage of fuel oil, providing the fire was bona fide. In cases of doubt the insurance company could refuse payment and point to the provincial statute justifying its action.

In future, however, a specific clause will be included allowing the customer to store a safe tank in the basement or in the ground. Upstairs tanks will not be allowed because of the danger of a leak.

"If the oil leaked from upstairs it could run all through the house," was the reason given for this qualification.

Roy Dixon of Dixon and Hurley said there were two types of policies: a standard policy and "a broad form with a supplemental contract which allows the fuel oil to be stored in any place if in a proper container."

Mr. Dixon added that the best place for the tank was in the basement but with the supplementary contract the householder could please himself as to its location or the amount.

He added that this latter policy was the one now being sold.

J. D. Collins said he was unaware of any provincial statute limiting the amount of fuel oil that could be stored. He quoted from a clause on one of his policies: "...permission is granted complete construction, to make alterations, additions and repairs, to keep and use coal oil and fuel oil."

This applies to all dwelling fire policies, he said.

Hit-Run Driver Damages Parked Car

A hit-and-run driver chose a dangerous place to stage a collision Saturday. It was on Water St., near the Market Square and almost next door to the Police Station. D. S. Darling, 196 Reid St., was leaving the station when he heard a crash. He ran to the parking lot, where he had left his car, in time to see another car pull away after tangling fenders. He was unable to stop it. There was minor damage to the Darling car.

Thousands of Volunteers Fought For Israeli State

By JAMES M. LONG

TEL AVIV, Feb. 7—(AP).—The story of the foreign volunteers who helped the fledgling army of Israel win the battle of Palestine is one of the hardest to tell. Censorship doesn't like it. At the outset it was not permitted to write about foreigners in the fighting forces. As recently as two months ago censors wanted to cut out all references to non-Jews in the Israel army.

Even now correspondents are not permitted to speculate on the round numbers of, for example, Americans who are in military service here.

For one thing the Israeli state does not want to be accused of importing mercenaries, or bringing in adventurers. Undoubtedly, some did come here for both reasons, but it was felt here these were not representative.

For another: many of the volunteers, again for example, the Americans, risked loss of their own citizenship by serving in the armed forces of another country. The State here did not wish to heighten that hazard.

Hundreds of Volunteers

It can be said, however, that the total number of volunteers who came here and fought — many now have gone back to their homes—ran well up into thousands. Of these some hundreds were not Jews.

The service with the most foreign volunteers, of course, was the Israeli Air Force. This is the service under the greatest security secrecy, the most difficult of which to write.

But it can be said, at least, that at the start of fighting there were virtually no Israeli pilots. The only ones available were the few — and these without combat experience — who had completed RAF training courses just as the Second World War ended. There were only about 30 of them.

But even in the Air Force, which attracted many Americans, they were not as numerous as the British and South Africans. These constituted the largest group of the men who flew for Israel.

Need Special Clause If Fuel Oil Stored

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 7—(CP)—A householder who stores more than 50 gallons of fuel oil in a cellar tank needs a special clause in his fire insurance policy.

T. N. Phelan of Toronto explained the requirement Saturday night during a discussion of fire insurance claim procedure at the annual meeting of Ontario members of the Canadian Bar Association.

He said the little-known statute affects a great many persons who store fuel oil in their houses for various purposes. If policies lack the special clause, insurance companies can refuse payment on claims, he added.

Big Barn Destroyed

BARRIE, Feb. 7—(CP)—Fire gutted a large barn on the farm of W. H. Wright, on the outskirts of Barrie Sunday night. Mr. Wright, a well-known figure in Ontario mining circles, moved his thoroughbred racing horses to another farm last fall and the only loss was 40 tons of hay and several farm implements.

Fire Damages 8 Buildings

SHOAL LAKE, Man., Feb. 7—(CP)—Fire Sunday night swept this western Manitoba town's business section, destroying eight establishments before being brought under control by the fire department from Hamiota, 20 miles away. Believed to have started in the J. J. Destiatnyk butcher shop, the blaze caused damage estimated at approximately $50,000.

Always Dependable SOLEX INCANDESCENT and FLUORESCENT

WHEN THE AIR FORCE PILOT of the near future says "Well I've got to go and stretch out on the couch," he'll mean he's going to work and is about to take a ship up. The "couch" is the bed pictured above, which may soon replace the conventional seat in the cockpit. Tests at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O., indicate that operating controls from this prone position is easier on pilots than the old sitting posture. Flying fatigue is said to be lessened and danger of blackouts reduced.

Government To Introduce General Bill On Pipe Lines

OTTAWA, Feb. 7—(CP).—The Government is going to place before parliament this session a general bill on interprovincial and international pipe lines that will become the legislative foundation for a possible splurge of cross-country construction somewhat reminiscent of the early growth of Canadian railways. The bill will bring into effect a parent act which, as the Railways Act does for railways, will lay down the general laws to which all operators of boundary-crossing oil and gas pipe lines must conform.

Any new firm which wishes to go into the business—the oil discoveries in Alberta have made it big, big business—first will have to get sanction under the Act.

It will be the legislative instrument for the regulation and control of the lines that are expected in time to sprout out of Alberta fields. Across the prairies and eventually into the United States.

May Go To Senate

It is being prepared by the Transport Department and there is a chance that it will be introduced in the Senate, with Transport Minister Chevrier entering that chamber to launch it as he did last session with the shipping act.

The general act was promised a Senate Committee last year at the time it was considering a private application fo ra gas line from southern Alberta into Winnipeg. The western provinces intervened and in the ensuing battle senators reached the conclusion that Canada should have a parent act, rather than a series of individaul incorporations under no over-all statue.

Mr. Chevrier undertook then to bring in the parent act.

Informed quarters here say several applications which would involve the expenditure of millions of dollars may develop once the act comes into force.

Labor Code

Expectations are that the Federal Government's National Labour Code will be under submission to the government, the Canadian Congress of Labor will renew criticism it offered last year. One proposal probably will be for extension of the scope of the new law, which now covers chiefly interprovincial industries.

However, the government has not made any plans for major amendments to the code at this session.

State Government Cost Up 2 Billions

CHICAGO, Feb. 7—(CP)—The cost of state government in the United States is going up by more than $2,250,000,000 compared with the 1948 fiscal year.

Virtually all 48 states this year are asking for or already have recorded high-spending programs.

An Associated Press survey today showed that the total budget requests or grants for the 1949 fiscal period in 44 states come to $11,524,,200,000.

The comparable figure for the previous period is $9,280,200,000. This represents grants by 45 states for 1947 or 1948 periods.

Education is the chief reason for the increases in more than half of the states. At least 26 states find their biggest single money problem is for higher teacher salaries, for more state money to help local schools, and for improvement of state-aided colleges and universities.

Poetry Society Split Healed After Two Years

BY WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, Feb. 7—(CP)—(CP).—British poets can sing of peace with a full heart now. A row which split their famous Poetry Society seems to have ended.

The storm blew up in 1947 when Mrs. Muriel Stark was appointed editor of the society's "Poetry Review." Under her direction the magazine concentrated on the often-obscured works of the modernists. "Straight" verse was seldom seen.

Many writers withheld contributions from the review. Two presidents of the society—Field Marshal Earl Wavell and Lord David Cecil—resigned within a year in protest, followed by many other members.

After a year Mrs. Stark withdrew to found the rival "poetry forum." Her supporters followed her. John Gawsworth, 37, self-styled King of Redonda, a Caribbean Island, became editor of the poetry review. Now the society's old members are drifting back.

Promising Writer

Poet Laureate John Masefield once described Gawsworth as "one of the most beautiful and promising of our younger writers."

He inherited Redonda last year from Irish poet M. P. Shiels, calls himself on occasion "King Juan I," and occasionally holds "court" in Hampstead.

The society becomes 40 years old during his first year's editorship and as an initial move to restore peace Gawsworth invited all members, former members and contributors to support the production of three anniversary numbers. The first two would embrace work from all quarters, the third the cream of the new generation's only.

Contributions flowed. Lord Derwent, who died early in January in Paris, wrote what is believed to be his last poem and sent it. Gawsworth says it is a "gem." Famous names in his first number include Gilbert Murray, Walter de la Mare, Hilaire Belloc who wrote for it his first verse in years, Laurence Whistler, Edward Shanksand, Eden Phillpots.

Factory Making Steel Houses At Pittsburgh

BY WILLIAM G. SMOCK

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7 (AP)—Would-be home-owners in some 20 cities across the United States are getting their first look at an all-steel house designed for buyers with about $10,000 to spend.

Manufacture of the homes, if the product proves popular, could open a great new market for the steel industry.

More than 5,000 persons trooped through a Lustron porcelain enamel steel home in a Pittsburgh showing this week.

Factory produced, the five-room, ranch-type structure has 1,085 square feet of floor space with seven closets, two bedrooms, 16-by-14-foot living room, kitchen, dining alcove and bathroom, plus a utility room with a heating plant hung from the ceiling.

Lustron homes are being produced in Columbus, Ohio, by the Lustron Corporation. Lustron President Carl G. Standlund said: "At peak production of 160 homes a day, which we expect to reach by early summer, we will use approximately 500,000 tons of steel annually."

The makers plan to ship complete, but unassembled, homes on trailer trucks which deliver the unit to the buyer's lot. About two weeks later the owner can move in.

Strandlund said his industry's new steel demands should help stabilize business in this area if the present abnormal demand for steel falls off. He also predicted his homes would influence convention building to the extent that more steel will be used in other types of new homes.

About $2,000,000 in orders already has been recieved from the firm by steel suppliers in the immediate Pittsburgh district.

Britain Wins First Round In Australian Food Battle

BRISBANE, Australia, Feb. 7—(Reuters).—Britain has won the first round in a battle for food fought in the Australian State of Queensland. The opponent was the weather. Good rains, which fell less than a month before the end of the planting season enabled the sowing of grain sorghum to begin at Peak Downs Jan. 13.

This meant the passing of another important milestone in a scheme, the ultimate object of which is the establishment of the biggest pig farm in the world to supply Britain with pig meats and involves an expenditure of $8,000,000.

Discusions between Queensland ministers and members of the British Overseas Food Corporation resulted in a decision to go ahead with the Peak Downs project and the Queensland-British Food Corporation was set up. The State Government agreed to contribute $2,000,000 of the $8,000,000.

Seven-Year Plan

The long-range plan called for an annual output, after seven years, of 500,000 pigs to be fed on 7,500,000 bushels of sorghum a year.

Ploughing was completed last October 31. All that was needed to begin sowing the first crop was rain, at least two inches of rain.

For more than two months, although thunderstorms fell in the nearby areas, Peak Downs missed it.

Then with less than four weeks of the planting season left, the rain came.

The probable yield is 1,000,000 bushels, enough to feed about 60,000 pigs. This, in terms of export figures, would represent about 10,000,000 pounds of pig meat.

Most of this year's sorghum crop will be exported to Britain, but quantities will be retained for seed for the big sowing program planned for 1950, when 60,000 acres are to be worked.

The area will be larger if more tractors and plough become available.

LIGHTING AND OTHER REGULATIONS ARE STILL IN EFFECT

Favourable water conditions and the wholehearted co-operation of all classes of Hydro consumers have made it possible to discontinue allocating power on a quota basis to Southern Ontario municipalities. In some cases this has given rise to the assumption that the power shortage is over. This is definitely not the case. Lighting and other regulations are still in effect. There is still not enough electrical energy to meet all of Ontario's growing demands.

If conditions remain unchanged there should be no need to resume the practice of allocating power. However, unfavourable weather and the excessive use of electricity CAN easily make such a step necessary.

For this reason then, we ask you not to waste electricity. Every Hydro user can help . . . commercial and business users by avoiding unnecessary use of power at all times and by adhering strictly to existing regulations respecting the use of electricity . . . factories by cutting down during the daytime hours and making the most effective use of electricity over the 24 hours of each working day . . . home and farm consumers can also do their part by continuing to save electricity wherever possible.

The power situation is constantly under review by the Commission and it is to be hoped that supply conditions will soon permit wider use. In the meantime please continue to conserve electricity at all times.

Says Television Will Give Movies Boost

BY WAYLE OLIVER

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (CP)—Film magnate Spyros K. Skouras predicts television "will give the motion picture industry the greatest impetus since the advent of sound."

He foresees the use of television to project shows simultaneously in circuits of theatres, 300 or more at a time.

The programs would be sent over "closed circuits" directly into the theatres and would not be broadcast over the air. Hence you couldn't get them on your home set and would have to go to the theatre to see them.

The cost of such programs would be too great for them to be telecast into homes free of charge.

Films would remain the feature attractions, he went on, with other entertainment built around them. But the films would be telecast directly into the theatre, reducing part of the industry's overhead and distribution costs under present methods which require a separate film for each theatre.

Other Major Events

And television would enable theatres to present symphony orchestras, concert artists, popular entertainers and major public events on the same program.

If some plan could be worked out under which the government would permit a fee to be charged for first-run movies and other premium entertainment received on home sets, Skouras said that "might change the whole form of this entertainment."

A Chicago radio and television firm already has developed a plan along this line called "phonevision," you couldn't get a program on your home set without a telephone connection to the station. You would be charged according to the number of programs ordered.

Skouras recently negotiated unsuccessfully to buy the American Broadcasting Company for Twentieth-Century-Fox to obtain its television stations and net work. The company still has applications pending with the Federal Communications Commission for five stations of its own —the limit allowed under single ownership or control.

Mrs. Forbes - Rielly also performed American routines for demonstration on request of Mrs. Derosier to illustrate her explanation of their tricks.

It offers practical, psychological and spiritual help to the unload difficult, lonely and straying people, unmarried mothers, families needing personal adjustments and to adolescents in moral danger. Mrs. Bobson writes "I shall be in Central London and look forward with eagerness, though much trepidation of starting this work. The training has been intensive and very practical, but one sees such rewarding results in many cases that I know it is that I am meant to do with my life."

Warm clothing was obtained for a young girl, and groceries sent to needy families.

At the conclusion tea was served by members of the executive.

IF MRS. E. I. HOLMES of Montreal, had delayed a while before returning to college, she would have had her 18-year-old daughter as a classmate in law. Mrs. Holmes began her college career early enough in life. But her days of student routine were interrupted by a 20-year-period when she devoted time and energy to husband, home and family. Three years ago Mrs. Holmes returned to university. Last spring she graduated in law from McGill University and passed her bar exams last month. Last fall her only child, Diane, followed in her mother's footsteps and enrolled as a student in College of Law at McGill.

Montrealer Praises Club That Brought U.S. Closer

A dinner concluded the first International Swim Clinic, held in Peterborough during the past week-end. Hostesses to Swimming Club representatives from United States and Canada were Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club members. Miss Marguerite Buck, president, was chairman, and the dinner was held in the Empress.

"Peterborough Club has shown what can be done and has brought us closer to the United States than we dreamed possible" said Mr. Roy Ashworth of Montreal, president of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association. "Perhaps if world leaders and representatives could do as we have done this week-end, our outlook for the future would be a great deal better."

"The friendly spirit out-of-towners have felt here is 'out of this world,'" he declared. "I have attended a good many meetings in many places and never have I had the same feeling."

Started Success

Mr. Ashworth praised the girls of Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club who have made names for themselves in United States for the spirit of good sportsmanship they exhibited. both as winners and losers in competitions. Of their coach Mrs. Pansy Forbes he said "She is building a club with good morale and good character, and in addition is exerting a broadening influence on the CASA, a Dominion-wide organization." As head of this organization he believes it is now starting to "go places" and declared Peterborough started it.

U.S. Good Friend

The speaker strongly denied press reports that Canadians did not do well in the last Olympic games. He quoted a number of reasons for unfortunate showings in some cases as given by the Governor General Viscount Alexander in a public address. He said the American teams had proved very good friends to the Canadians, and were responsible for the only practice periods they were allowed in England.

"We have better feelings in the governing body of Canadian swimmers today than ever before" said Mr. Ashworth in conclusion. "You do things in this city that they can't seem to do in others—smile and accomplish what you set out to do."

CASA secretary Mrs. Peg Sellers, six times a winner of the Gale Trophy before retirement from competition, introduced the speaker. He was thanked by Miss Jean Millard of Peterborough Ornamental Club, one of the US Junior duet championship winners at Detroit and Gale runners-up last year.

Send Greetings

Greetings and best wishes for success were brough to the Peterborough Club from Quebec City's Mayor Lucien Borne by three residents of that city, representing two swimming clubs

Other messages of good wishes came from Ann Ross, USA diving champion, and Dick Dodson of Chicago, Gus Ryder of Toronto Lakeshore Club, and Kay Kerr of Winnipeg, Dominion committee member and ornamental swimming chairman for Manitoba. These were acknowledged by Mr. N. C. Munro, manager of Peterborough Ornamental Club, who extended greetings sent by Mayor M. J. Swanston of Peterborough and the Chamber of Commerce.

A toast to the American guests was proposed by Mrs. L. E. MacKellar of London, Ontario, and replied to by Miss Jane Houghton of Detroit, who said "The Peterborough girls are not only good swimmers but good friends."

Mrs. Ellen Murphy Wales of Chicago toasted the Canadians. A reply was made by Miss Marjorie Cochan of Montreal who thanked the Americans for the help they have already given.

American and Canadian flags were hung wherever meetings were held during the Clinic.

20 Plus Club Arranges For Dancing Lessons

Recreation room of the YWCA was again the scene of gaiety and enjoyment Saturday when 20 Plus Club's social evening was attended by 120 members and guests.

Previous to the entertainment Mrs. Clark, a qualified dance instructor from England, spent an hour teaching the basic and more advanced steps of ballroom dancing. Engaged by the Club, Mrs. Clark will be on hand every Saturday evening that members may learn good dancing.

Under guidance of Mr. Bill Wright the evening was very enjoyable and made original by introduction of several novelty dances, to the music of records especially imported from Europe for the purpose.

Prizes of chocolates and theatre tickets were given for novelties and spot dances.

Details of a sleigh ride and stocking dance to be held next Saturday were announced.

Swimming Rules Will Be Defined

Tentative rules for international swimming competitions between Canada and United States were made in Peterborough during the week-end. These will enable the Swimming Associations to present a united front at Olympic, Pan-American and British Empire games of the future.

In charge of the discussions were Mrs. Mary E. Derosier, Detroit, National AAU chairman of synchronized swimming; Mrs. Ellen Murphy Wales, Chicago, one of the originators of synchronized swimming in United States; Miss Jane Haughton, coach of Elmwood Michigan Club; Miss Marie Hubbard, vice-chairman of synchronized swimming for Michigan. Canadians taking part were Mrs. C. R. Seller, national chairman of ornamental swimming and Dominion secretary of CASA; Mrs. Lillian E. MacKellar of University of Western Ontario, London, U.S. winner in synchronized swimming; and Miss June Taylor, swimming coach and assistant; Mrs. Pansy Forbes of Peterborough, Ontario chairman of ornamental swimming in CASA.

International Swim Clinic Exceeds Hoped-for Success

Peterborough added another "first" when this city was hostess to the first International Swimming Clinic during the week-end. The honor came through Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club members, who have twice gained honor in the United States. They have been the only Canadian girls yet to enter U.S. synchronized swimming competitions, and thus their club was asked to sponsor the two-day meeting of Canadian Amateur Swimming Association.

The clinic itself was an outstanding success. Every official, coach and swimmer attending claims to have gained more information than at any former meeting. As a result it was decided to hold two international clinics each year, one in U.S. and one in Canada In addition, the coaches formed an international committee with Mrs. Jessie Powell of Peterborough YWCA as chairman.

New Name

The term "synchronized," already used by the Americans, was adopted as the over-all name for fancy swimming in Canada and United States. This supplants the name "ornamental" which Canadian swimmers have long felt to be out-dated.

Hope of all registrants for a clearer understanding of fundamentals of this type of swimming was realized to a greater extent than many thought possible. Saturday there were discussions of the manner in which tricks of synchronized swimming are performed, led by Mrs. Mary E. Derosier of Detroit, and Mrs. R. C. Seller of Montreal, Meetings were held in the Public Library.

Water Demonstrations

Girls from the United States went into the YWCA pool and gave practical demonstrations of the figures, executed in the manner which they find most pleasing to watch.

After more discussions on the positions of the body and movements that produce these figures, Canadian girls gave demonstrations of the old and new way in the YMCA pool. With very little practice on the changes, Jean Millard and Jill Groombridge of Peterborough Ornamental Club followed the movements as written in the new Canadian Brochure after many hours of work in pools with swimmers of all types and ability. For comparison the former way of doing the tricks was demonstrated by Marjorie Cochand of Montreal AAA.

Local Club Praised

Miss Marguerite Buck, president of Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club, and Mr. Roy Ashworth, president of CASA, were chairmen during the general discussion which closed the clinic.

In conclusion Mr. Ashworth commented on the "extremely live-wire Peterborough Club coached by Mrs. Forbes." To its members he said, "Stick to it and you will get a lot out of it. There is nothing like membership in a happy club and that is my impression of yours." He further remarked "No one can swim for you. You must get into the water and practice."

Many tributes were paid Mrs. Pansy Forbes, coach of Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club. As chairman of the CASA she has worked hard to broaden the organization. Her work is greatly admired and her teachings copied by the American coaches. In Canada she is pointed to as an example for the growing number of club leaders from Halifax to Vancouver.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Could Marriage Succeed If Man Wed Older Woman

DEAR MISS DIX: Inasmuch as women have a six or seven-year greater expectancy of life than men have, I am of the opinion that wives should be from two or three years older than their husbands. This would enable both of them to spread out their span of life. Of course, I realize that there are many other things to be considered in the choice of a mate, but to me the factor of age seems of great import.

Dorothy Dix

I would like to know your reaction to this problem.

A MAN

ANSWER: The leopard could change its spots easier than you could convince a romantic youth that he should marry a woman older than himself. Little do boys and girls care about equalizing birthdays. What they want is somebody to play with who is in their own class and who is just as young and gay and foolish as they are.

Of course, there are exceptions to all rules. There are men who have the mother complex and who are never happy unless they are tied to some eldrely woman's apron strings. Many other men, who are shy on romance and long on common sense, are bored stiff by young girls who giggle and jump about like a monkey on a string, and they are only attracted to mature women who have seen and know, enough of life to be interesting companions and, as everybody knows, rich widows have a fatal fascination for lads who would rather marry money than earn it.

Moot Question

But whether it would be advisable for all men to marry women older than themselves is a moot question. It would have its advantage in that the mature wife who had a boy husband would be likely to spoil him to death and to make of him a Mama's pet. Also, he would escape the ordeal of having to eat a young wife's cooking. But, on the other band, he woud be the victim of the tyranny of a wife who was oldwer than he was and really did know what was best for him.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a working girl of 20 and all my girl friends are married, and they are always kidding me and asking me when I'm going to get married. They keep telling me that I am going to be an old maid, which is one thing I don't want to be. plenty of fellows have asked me to marry them, but they didn't seem to be just the type that I wanted as a husband.

Do you think I should marry the one that I like best, or should I just keep on looking for what I really want?

A WORRIED GIRL

❖ ❖ ❖

ANSWER: One of the most curious things in the world is that girls who have the intelligence to hold down good jobs will let the kidding of a few silly girls drive them into committing a folly that will ruin their whole lives. One woud think that no one outside of a Feeble-Minded Institute would marry a man she didn't love and didn't want just because somebody twitted her with the likelihood of her being an old maid. But thousands of girls do it.

Why girls, and women who are old enough to know better for that matter, are brainless enough to marry just to keep from being old maids is the $64 riddle of the world.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My boy friend and I are both 19 and we are very much in love, but we have decided to save our money and not get married for two years We figure that will enable us to go housekeeping in our own home. What do you think about it?

BEWILDERED TWOSOME

ANSWER: I think when two 19-year-old kids decide to put off their marriage for a couple of years that they are showing a very high order of intelligence. They will have accumulated something far more valuable even than a home .They will have learned self-control and courage and the determination to wait for what they want until they can afford it.

If you will look around among your friends who have rushed into teen-age marriages, you will be perfectly appalled at how many of them are getting divorces and how many others are living cat-and-dog lives. And it is all because they didn't have the stamina to wait to marry until they were ready for it.

The love of children doesn't last long, and many a marriage is a failure because a boy and girl wanted to dance and had to stay at home with the baby, and because the boy couldn't make a living and they had to go back and sponge on their parents.

QUESTION: I have been buying nut bread and raisin bread instead of cake for my daughter's lunch which I pack every morning, because she does not want cake—she says it is too sweet to eat with her fruit, which is usually an orange or an apple or grapes. Now these loaves cost me about $1.00 per week because the rest of the family wants them too. Please give me a recipe so I can make them myself. Teen.

❖ ❖ ❖

ANSWER:

Nut Bread

Three cups flour, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon and salt, 1 beaten egg 1,½ cups milk, 1 cup each chopped nuts and raisins, 2 tablespoons melted shortening or butter or salad oil. Sift the flour with the baking powder, sugar, cinnamon and salt. Beat egg and mix with milk. Add these to first mixture and stir very well. Add nuts, raisins and shortening and pour into buttered loaf pan and let stand 30 minutes, before baking in oven of 325 deg. Fahr. for about 50 or 60 minutes. This slices best when 24 hours old. It makes delicious cream cheese sandwiches.

❖ ❖ ❖

QUESTION: I think Chicken Maryland with Popovers is a way you can prepare fowl. I think I remember seeing this recipe in your column once. If not would you print a recipe for using boiling fowl that is not boiled? I would like the cream gravy and popovers too if you have space.

Muriel S.

Chicken Fricassee With Cream Gravy

Chicken Maryland is made from young chicken, and is merely glorified fried chicken served with cream gravy, and often with popovers.

The nearest approach to this dish—and it is close—is to use boiling fowl in a fricassee and make the cream gravy and popovers as for Maryland.

Singe, dress, disjoint a 5 or 6-lb. fowl. Shake in a bag containing about 1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon salt, and ½ teaspoon pepper. Saute until all sides of each piece are gold in deep oil or fat or butter. Remove from drying pan to large casserole or baking dish, make thin cream gravy using about 4 to 6 tablespoons of frying-pan fat and 4 tablespoons flour mixed together and about 2½ cups liquid; this can be cream and boilin gwater or milk. Stir until thick; pour over chicken in pan, cover, bake at 300 deg. Fahr. (very slow oven) for about 3¼ hours or until chicken is tender. Serve on hot platter, surround with small very hot popovers. If you have only one oven (and why would anybody have two) you must remove the chicken, raise the heat, and bake the popovers after the chicken is done, but do keep it very hot in warming oven while popovers are baking. The gravy may need to be thinned with water or milk, and if you like, strained over the chicken. The popovers must be served as soon as done.

Popovers

Mix and sift 1 cup flour with ¼ teaspoon salt. Add 1 cup milk gradually. Add 2 beaten eggs and 1 tablespoon melted shortening and beat hard for 5 minutes. Pour batter into greased hot iron popover pans or hot greased earthen cups. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes and reduce heat to 325 to finish baking—about 15 more minutes. Do not open oven door during first 15 minutes.

Social Situations

MONDAY

SITUATION: You have accepted a number of dinner invitations and decide you must do something to repay the hospitality shown you.

WRONG WAY: Decide to have a big cocktail party and invite all those who have entertained you at dinner, thinking that would be an easy way to take care of your obligations.

RIGHT WAY: In repaying hospitality always try to return a dinner invitation with a dinner invitation.

Mince Tarts Coffee

One-Burner Dinner
Chicken a la King on Toast (made from canned chicken—see below)
Potato, Celery and Green Pea Salad on Lettuce
Steamed New Rhubarb, Chilled Graham Crackers
Coffee

Directions:

I have mentioned the canned special process peas because they are so green in tins, and will remain green when heated if not kept hot after they are heated through; they are about 21 Cents per tin, but well worth it for their flavor and good colour.

A generous meal from 1 7-oz tin canned chicken can be made for two people, where only one hot dish is possible. Make 1 cup medium white sauce, rather rich with cream; add chopped parsley and a few peas, and a little pimiento and the chicken and serve on toast or puff pastry.

The new rhubarb is being sold by some farmers on the market Treat it with care and you can retain its red colour; cut it up cook in top of double boiler with some sugar, stirring only enough to mix sugar in. Remove from heat as soon as tender.
